ENGLISH BENEDICTINE NUNS IN FLANDERS, 1598-1687
ANNALS OF THEIR FIVE COMMUNITIES

By Lady Abbess Anne Neville

The following Annals are in the handwriting of their authoress the fourth Abbess of a community which was founded from that of Ghent about the middle of the seventeenth century, and finally settled at Pontoise in 1658. This Abbess was Mary Neville, daughter to Henry, Baron Abergavenny, by his first wife, the Lady Mary Sackville, whose father was Thomas, Earl of Dorset. Mary Neville was born in 1605; she made her profession as Dame Anne in 1634 in the Benedictine Abbey of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, at Ghent, which had been founded eleven years previously from the first Post-Reformation Monastery at Brussels.

Dame Anne filled in succession the offices of chief importance in the House of her profession, during some thirty years, after which she joined its daughter community at Pontoise, of which she was elected Abbess within a year, on the death of the third Abbess, having reached the age of 62. She governed for 22 years, and died in 1689 at the age of 84. The annals break off abruptly at the date of 1687.

After her death her Religious daughters wrote of her that "her humility, charity and motherly hart, was soe remarkable that it extend'd to "every one in perticular, as if she had had no other or greater business, then "to comfort and assist those who address'd themselves to her in theyre necessityes, and this even in the midst & height of those many heavy crosses, "which god was pleas'd to favour her with, having given her an invinsible "Courage & vertue above y^{e} ordinary to suport y^{m}, not only patiently, but "with allacritye & cheerfulness. She was endowed with a great & generous "spirit, & all her actions were accompany'd wth Justice, worth & affabillity "w^{ch} gave that Luster to them as became y^{e} noblenes of her mind and birth; "the love of god incessently inflam'd her hart, wth zeale & devotion, & she "had soe familiar a conversation and strict union wth All^{ty} god y^{t} what she "spoke in edification to her community she generally drew from y^{e} intertainements she had wth him interiourly." These words are sufficient introduction to the person of our authoress.

But the connection between her community and that of St Scholastica's Abbey, Teignmouth, where the Pontoise Records are now preserved, remains to be traced.

Ten years after the Ghent Abbey sent out the filiation which eventually settled at Pontoise, that Mother-house again overflowed, and made a second foundation at Dunkerque in 1663, where it flourished with a large school for the daughters of English Catholics who could no longer be trained in the ancient faith in their own land.

During the eighteenth century the Pontoise community dwindled in numbers, and notwithstanding a school in which were educated many children of the nobility of England, Scotland and Ireland, it sank deeper and deeper into poverty, until in 1786 the Archbishop of Rouen, as their superior, decided that a longer struggle was useless, and that the dissolution of the monastery was inevitable.

The Abbess, Anne Clavering, with the larger number of her Religious were received into the community at Dunkerque, only to be expelled with them seven years later, in October, 1793, by the French Revolutionists, who imprisoned them at Gravelines during eighteen months, with two communities of English Poor Clares. In May, 1795, they were released and returned to London; they reopened a school at Hammersmith until 1863, when again a move was made to Teignmouth, and before long the school gave place to the work of the Perpetual Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament.

from y^{e} Lady vavousir y^{n} Abs in Brussels

This holy hows had both blessings and Crosses w^{ch} are often times y^{e} greatest blessings. as I esteeme y^{s} was y^{t} befell thos good Religious in theyr very first beginnings, ~ for in y^{e} yeare 1609 ~ it pleased God to permit, that a very devout good man fell into so great a disgust agaynst y^{e} monastery, and so ill an oppinion agaynst y^{m}, as he determined some great mischeefe. to y^{e} hows and beeing full of perplexity disturbance, and ill intentions. he went to bed: it was in february, and not so hott as to distemper his rest, yet he could take non; but whither sleeping or awake, it is uncertayn; ~ it seemde to him our B^{d} lady, having all y^{e} Religious of y^{e} monastery under her mantle, warnd him with threats to desist from his ill intentions, adding y^{t} her sweete Sonn Jesus & her selfe had taken y^{s} monastery under theyr protection, and wold take, as to y^{m} selves w^{t} soe ever, shold be acted to y^{e} preiudice of y^{e} hows; very Rnd father Chambers was y^{n} Confessarius to y^{e} Com̃unity; a most wyse, and worthy learned and sayntly man; to him y^{s} mane, who was of y^{t} Country came y^{e} next morning to Confession, willing him to impart y^{s} to y^{e} Religious. only concealing his name; y^{t} it might increas theyr devotion to o^{r} deare Saviour and his B^{d} mother: y^{s} relation was sent me by my Lady Mary Vavouser w^{n} I began our chronicle, and she affirmd she had it from father Chambers his owne mouth and very often from divers of ye other auntient Religious; ~

Lady vavouser

God's providence raysed great frends to ys Com̃unity in theyr begiñing and as my lady Mary Vavouser declars cheefely by ye mediation and assistance of ye fathers of ye society of Jesus ~ very Rnd father Holt and father Baldwene, procured for ym by ye liberallity of some Collonells & soldiers partly english ~ ye summe of ~ 12000 florens; severall Abbots of our holy order gave us some assisting helps and sum̃es towards our building; By ye wisdome & industry of father Holt & father Baldwin other good summes of mony du to ye lady Mary percy were recovered in england & made good to ye monastery. The society hath binn ye cheefe and in ye first place, Rnd ~ father Holt, whom as yu see acted with so much success for us in our begining establishment; ~ very Rnd father Robert parsons at Rome. procuring ye pope his Breve in so favourable and paternall terms as nothing could be more obliging; ~ dutyes, laying a most excellent foundation in y^{s} monastery of all solide vertu and perfection according to y^{e} Rule of o^{r} holy father s^{t} Benedict; ~ Wherin most happily concurd Rnd father Robert Chambers y^{n} Confessarious of y^{s} holy hows; a most grave and prudent personn, singularly knowing in church cerimonys and dutyes, a man of a gallant presence and generous nature, most devout to our B^{d} father s^{t} Benedict, skilfull in y^{e} rule and antiquityes of y^{e} order. w^{ch} he had studdyed for many years, and was to y^{s} monastery at Bruselles Confessarious, for 20 ~ years.

Father William Baldwin who from ye beginning for 12 years assisted and instructed ye Religious of ys monastery in all spirituall

very Rnd father Charles Manners of y^{e} holy society of Jesus may well be counted a tru frend & Benefactor, who w^{n} ye Bishope wold have sold that hows and disperst y^{e} Com̃unity to other monastereys, diverted y^{t} blowe, and soe wisely and pyously accorded all things both within and wthout y^{e} monastery as settled much peace and satisfactiō between y^{e} Bishope and y^{e} Com̃unity, and with the Religious amongst y^{m}selves, to y^{e} singular comfort and edification of all both at home and abroade; ~ This Com̃unity hath binn always very zealous in the pursuite of vertu and ambitious to pertake of the participation of merits. with y^{e} most eminent monasteryes of our holy order,

The lady vavesir

first they enioy y^{e} happines of a spetiall participation of merits with Mount Cassin, and for Masses and prayrs after theyr death w^{ch} very justly they much esteeme, and some years since procurde a confirmation of it; ~
And y^{e} same advauntage they have allso from montserat, And wold gladly procure y^{e} same benifit and favour from y^{e} Congregation of S^{t} Maure;
Thus you may see in w^{t} a flourishing condition y^{s} holy hows was establisht in both for temporall and spirituall blessings; and w^{n} it was uppon y^{e} eve of dissolving by y^{e} Arch Bishope; Allmighty God mercifully prevented y^{t} misfortune, and by y^{e} favour of our B^{d} Lady will I hope ever protect and assist y^{m} and rays y^{m} frends from time to time; still to support y^{m} till ether england be converted or heaven be ready for y^{m}; ~

A letter

from my lady mary vavouser, from whos penn I had all thes intelligences concerning Brussells and w^{t} els I shall heerafter sett downe;—
I have endeavoured to amass to gether all y^{e} memorialls I can collect concerning y^{s} our monastery; ~ I have binn about 60 ~ years in y^{e} monastery and have had y^{e} happines to know all y^{e} Religious profest heere from the beginning, who were all truly vertuous good soules but as amongst saynts contradictions will some times ryse; so in y^{s} holy Com̃unity some differences arysing, ther was some opposition made agaynst y^{e} statutes; but y^{e} greatest part of y^{e} com̃unity, stoode for y^{m}; and wee y^{n} made our humble recourse to his holiness, and y^{e} sacred Congregation for y^{e} deffense of or statutes; and God be praysed y^{e} holy See allways protected us, but yet in y^{t} time wee suffered much but God assisted us, and all concluded happily; ~

Ther is nothing I more desire, y^{n} y^{e} continuance of a most cordiall correspondence between our tow howses so much as I hope devoted to y^{e} love and practis of our constitutions, and constant dependance one y^{e} dirrection and assistance of y^{e} society of Jesus. wher uppon certaynly depends both our temporell and spirituall good; ~ I now send y^{u} y^{e} coppy of the first confirmation of our statutes w^{ch} sufficiently proves y^{e} honnor and obligation we owe unto thos sacredd lawse; ~ and w^{ch} will ever be best observde, under y^{e} guidance and dirrection of y^{e} fathers of y^{e} society of Jesus; experience having taught us w^{t} domage wee sustayned w^{n} deprived of y^{t} benefitt. and y^{e} happiness we now inioy by our return to that aduauntage agayne; ~ soe as I trust in God we shall ever remayn constant to both and not admitt of changes, ~

Mary Vavousore
Abbesse ~

I thought it necessary to make known from w^{t} hand I had my information to render it y^{e} more acceptable to thos y^{t} may peruse y^{s} litle abridgment of o^{r} Congregation. and as certaynly y^{s} worthy Abbess was a person of great vertu and integrity, and knew all passages and persons from y^{e} beginning, her words can not but carry full authority wth y^{m} in all respects, and w^{t} I have or shall wright of y^{s} first Monastery of our Congregation I had my intelligence from y^{s} worthy lady. and shall accordingly deppend uppon it. and esteem it; as I desire and wish others may doe y^{e} same.

Father Sub pryor

And though wee have no perticuler knoledge of y^{e} life of y^{s} worthy Abbesse, yet her having binn chosen by y^{e} Divin providence, to be y^{e} first of a Congregation, we are therby obliged to conceave a high esteeme of her person, becaus ye adorable providence who as much as possible brings all things to a unity. gives to ye heads. ye Institutors of orders, and beginners of Congregations. lights and perticuler graces. wch by ym he also intends shale discend to thos, who shale succeede ym, and make profession of ye same institute.

The very Rnd father Rosendus Barlow, y^{n} president of y^{e} Congregation of y^{e} english Benedictins, and Superiour of theyr hows at Doway. came to require y^{e} Bishops favour and approbation with y^{e} lady Abbesse and Com̃unityes consent, for some of theyr Religious, to begin a hows of english of our holy order at Cambray; ~ Having y^{e} lord Arch Bishope of Macklin his approbation; wth y^{e} consent of my lady Mary percy and her Com̃unity. to treat privatly wth each Religious; and sound theyr inclinations for such a desighn after ~ 4 ~ days com̃ending y^{e} matter to Allmighty God, and treeting with all apart; there was only ~ 3 ~ y^{t} declard y^{m}selves ready to undergoe y^{s} great work, and willing to imbrace such hardship as can not be avoyded in thes occasions.

Anne Nevill abs. unworthy

This monastery of Cambray is subject to y^{e} order; but still retayns a du affection and refers much to theyr Mother Monastery at Brussells: God preserve y^{t} spirit in all good Religious howses: and grant a perfect union amongst all Religious orders. and though I have many other greater faults to blush for; yet I can affirme: I have allways made it my endeavoure; both wth my owne Com̃unity and externs. to express my affection and du esteeme for all; and though I have not found y^{e} same return from some, yet I shal still continu to pursu y^{t} better practis. as having more of honnor and virtu in it; and mor conforme, to a good religious spirit and conciens: This hows of Cambray. are very strict observors of Silence and retreats and are not seen at Grates: they ar worthy good Religious persons. and were for 41 years governed by a very peasible holy person y^{t} was theyr Abbesse; very Rnd Mother Catherin Gascoygne; who ended her life with much repute of sanctity.

Brussells monastery beeing y^{e} first of y^{e} english Nation established since ye fall of Religion; except y^{t} of Lisborn in portugall it soone grew numerous with persons of a great reputation and vertu. this made some of y^{e} wysest of theyr friends cast theyr thoughts uppon a transplantation, of som̄e of y^{e} Branches of this flourishing Cedare, into another soyle;—

Thos of Cambray being much com̄ended for theyr zeale in propagating God's Honnore and y^{e} good of Religion, gave incouragement to others to be willing to undertake y^{e} like ingagement. if God shold call y^{m} to it.

very Rnd father Jhon Norton of y^{e} society of Jesus alias Knatchbull, and brother to D Lucy Knatchbull y^{n} a profest Religious at Brussells and afterwards y^{e} first Abbess at Gant, y^{s} worthy father of y^{t} society beeing y^{n} actually at Brussells and in some perticuler manner dirrector at y^{t} monastery; and finding y^{n} some litle difficultyes begin to appeare and to easy a parting wth theyr worthy ghostly father M^{r} Chambers. first by introducing an other and dividing y^{e} Com̄unity and nextly by intirly dismissing M^{r} Chambers;

—Rnd father Norton beeing a wyse man discerning somme less deppendance then formerly uppon y^{e} fathers of y^{e} society. w^{ch} divers of y^{e} Religious much lamented and spoke freely to him of; but observing ther was litle or noe probabillity of redress; but by some seperation; recom̄ending y^{s} great affayre to Allmighty God; industryes were used both at home and abroade, to bring y^{s} good designe, to a happy effect, as by the helpe of holy providence soone came to pass;~

R father Norton knowing y^{t} to work contrary to Gods will is to row agaynst y^{e} streame; he and y^{e} Religious made theyr first address to my Lord Arch Bishope of Macklin; ye superiour of Brussells Monastery his Lorsp much approving y^{s} desighn gave y^{m} his blessing and approbation to act. fully in it; but wth all the privacy y^{t} could be;

It fell out very happily for y^{e} advauntage of y^{s} concern. y^{t} Rnd father Norton had y^{e} spanish toungu and many powrefull frends both in spayn and flaunders that were very capable to promote y^{s} affayre and so accordingly it most prosperously,and effectually succeeded; nothing seeming harder in y^{s} Iron age y^{n} y^{e} establishing of Religious howses, so cold is grown both pyety and charity as scarsly all thos allready founded can subsist; and much less probabillity how to increas y^{e} number. and yet w^{n} God desighns. a new establishment shall take, tis strange to see how all things fals out prosperous, and proper for it; and how sweetly Allmighty God disposeth all persons necessary to y^{s} affayre, to concur with it; as in a most especiall manner he did in y^{s} of Gaunt;

Theyr letters and patents from spayne were very ample and compleate, with all y^{e} orders grants and privilidges y^{t} could be given in theyr behalfs to ye Arch Bishope. or Bishopes; princes and Magistrates. to protect and assist ym in ys great work: and yt wth all ye kynd expressions of esteeme and preferrence, yt could be wisht or desired, and soe seald and sighnde for ym on ye 24 day of September, in ye yeare ~ 1623 ~

Thus all things went prosperously on; in a silent quyet wth out noys, whilst in ye interim. Rnd father Norton and others of ye society, writt to frends in england to dispose and prepare ym for such a work. which divers ingagd in, ~

The consent and approval of my lord Bishope of Gaunt, ye governor and magistrates. was also procured, a hows taken, and prepard in readiness for ym and all seeming now compleate. my lord Arch Bishope of Mackline declaring it his will and pleasure yt D Lucy Knatchbull; as Superiour by his Lorsps appoyntment shold goe wth D Eugenia pulton ~ D Magdilin Digby ~ and Dame Mary Roper ~ wth tow novices. ~ Str Elizabeth Bradberry. for ye Quire; ~ and sister lucy Bacon for a Convers Sister; to transplant ymselves to ye citty of Gant, ther to found a new monastery; ~ acquitting ye sayd appointed Superiour D lucy Knatchbull, and ye rest, of theyr obedience du to us. uppon express condition, by her and ye other profest Religious accepted; ~

That they shale carry nothing wth ym wt soe ever out of ye sayd Cloyster of or lady ~ ether in pensions rents ~ or process of pursuance for ym any other way, yn as ye Right Honnorable Lady Abbesse, and ye Com̃unity will freely give ym, in witnes wher of. wee have sighnd this with our own hand, and causde, our seale to be fixed uppon ym. in ye town of Brussells. ~ on ye 5th ~ of January, and in ye yeare of or lord 1624 ~

This is ye tennor of the cheefe poynts of my lord Arch Bishope his grant; and dismission of thes Religious: from under his jurisdictiō and remayning in the monastery at Brusselles.

The authority of my lord Bishope, and his com̃and yt no disputes or difficultys or any kynd of exceptions shold be obiected, on the on side or ye other; but yt they shold part wth all love and kyndness, to wch theyr owne good natures easily disposed ym, and ther was nothing but embracings and tears of sisterly love amongst ym: but as theyr time was but short after my lord Arch Bishope had declared his orders for theyr remoue, so ye dispatch of so great an affayr requirde theyr whole attendance for preparing for theyr journy agaynst ye appoynted day;

In y^{s} yeare y^{e} lady Mary percy y^{n} Abbesse of Brussels was very solicitous to put her selfe and her Religious vnder y^{e} congregation of y^{e} English Benedictin Munks or some other different to w^{t} they had hitherto made vse of, she and her Religious were very much diuided in y^{s} perticuler. ~

My Lord Arch Bishope of Macklin informde of y^{s} diuision, and disputes gaue y^{m} to vnderstand y^{t} in y^{s} affayre, w^{ch} he esteemde of so much consequence, they ought to haue recource to y^{e} holy Apostolicall Sea and know theyr sentiment; he therefore writt to y^{e} Cardinalls, to w^{m} his holiness y^{e} pope, had recom̃ended y^{e} ordering the concerns of y^{e} Regulars—and his lor^{sp} received this answere;

To y^{e} most illustrious, y^{e} very Rnd Lord Arch Bishope of Macklin;

The most eminent fathers to w^{m} his Holines hath com̃itted the regulating y^{e} affayres of Regulars, are informed of y^{e} great payne & care, wher with y^{r} greatness hath laboured to conserue union amongst thos English Benedictin Religious women at Brussells. as we haue all ready often by our letters made known. how much we were satisfyed and edifyed by y^{r} lor^{sps} conduct and now again by this repeate y^{e} same sentiments, soe as nothing is to be added to y^{e} preecedent; but y^{t} after hauing seariously examined:if it wold be aduauntagious, to y^{t} monastery, to submit y^{m} to y^{e} conduct and direction of y^{e} English Benedictin Fathers, or some other Congregation of Religious;~ it hath bin concluded, by y^{e} vnanimous suffrages, of all uppon w^{m} y^{s} union, depends. y^{t} it is no ways proper to be donn, nor wold it proue any benefit to thos Religious to haue it soe;

Y^{r} Greatnes therefore must take care, to dissipate this affayre, and to do it in such sorte, as y^{t} noe more be spoken of it;—

And as y^{u} shale iudge most to y^{e} purpose, you shale aduertis y^{e} Abbesse and her Religious, y^{t} they continu, vnder y^{e} same conduct, w^{ch} they haue had from y^{e} beginning, of theyr beeing founded. and y^{t} they seek not after nouel tyes; or loue changing but y^{t} they keepe y^{m} selues in a holy peace, and vnion, by w^{ch} they will deserue y^{e} prays and approbation of y^{e} holy sea; producing great fruitt; and receaue many Benedictions, from Allmighty God; y^{e} giver of all good gifts. and so crown y^{r} labours, by y^{e} recompence of most happy success;

I shale not at all dispute y^{s} proceeding. or in any was giue sentence on y^{e} on side or the other, beeing not to render an account of others proceedings. yet certaynly thos howses y^{t} are begun vnder a good conduct ar happy if they perseuer in it;

but it seems y^{e} Lady Abbess wth her party. y^{e} Bishope beeing inclind for it, found reasons and means to affect y^{e} change they desired, at least to such a proportion as y^{t} y^{e} Munks were setled wth y^{m}, but whether independant of the Bishope or noe I can not tell, nor will I any ways mention heere such difficultyes of that holy hows as came to bee too much blowne abroade, for certaynly though ther were some disunion and disturbances yet y^{e} world can not deny but ther was much pyety, and tru solide vertu euer practised amongst y^{m}, and thos troubles, were but as y^{e} greater tryalls of theyre most eminent vertues; sufferings and persecution is y^{e} tru touch stonn of our perfection; as I hope it proued wth y^{m}, since all was so happily ended & setled according to theyr first beginning: in time of my lady Vauousor;

But we must first discharge all due respect to my lady mary percy, yet much can not be expected from my penn; ~ But as w^{n} we see, deepe foundations. and great extent of building in y^{e} out side appearing to y^{e} eye we easily conceaue y^{e} inward appartements are answerable; ~ so y^{s} Noble lady beeing brought from a depraued Nation, and made y^{e} first stonn in y^{s} spiritualle building, hath by y^{t} preheminence a veneration du; & w^{ch} she may iustly challeng from all y^{t} shale succeade her in y^{s} Congregation; she Gouerned y^{e} monastery 26 years. She was of a graue sober spirit; much addicted to prayre and pyety; ~ w^{n} she dyed she was burried in y^{e} Church of her owne monastery, and had y^{s} following Epitape uppon her Thombe; ~

After my lady mary percy her death, my lord Arch Bishope of Macklin came to take y^{e} votes of y^{e} Religious for y^{e} Ellection of her Successor; and ther was chosen for Abbess; ~ The lady Agnes Lenthalle she was of illustrious birth; and in y^{e} flourishing years of her youth forsaking y^{e} world entring y^{e} monastery at Brussels was ther at 21 years of age solemnly profest; ~ and according to y^{e} extreaordinary pyety euer remarked in her euer imployed in y^{e} most considerable offices ~ and after y^{e} death of my lady mary percy. was ellected Abbess ~

And blest by y^{e} Arch Bishope of Macklin ~ blest on y^{e} 13 of Nouember; ~ 1642 ~

She was of very worthy extraction, of a most vertuous and exemplar life, fauoured by All^{ty} God, wth extreaordinary Graces, and spirituall visitations. she was very humble and of an affable mild spirit; yet vigourous and full of zeale for the mayntayning regular disciplin and y^{e} obseruance of y^{e} Rule; she rendred her soule to God uppon y^{e} 30 of January ~ 1651 ~ and tho ther is no other epitaph yet made of her, yet y^{e} impress of her vertues, uppon thos y^{t} liude wth her, hath giuen so good a reputation to her, as will liue to eternity

y^{e} XI On y^{e} ii ~ of September following D Mary Vauosor was to y^{e} ioy and singular satisfaction of all y^{t} knew her ellected Abbess of Brussells monastery and was blest by y^{e} Arch Bishope of Macklin, she was a person very eminent for vertu and prudence; hauing past through all thos troubles and difficultyes, w^{ch} though I rather decline y^{n} treate of; yet all y^{t} were acquaynted wth her in thos days. highly com̄ended her prudent conduct in thos troubles and disputes, w^{ch} were but too much known abroade; yet she very happily came before her death whilst she was Superiour to clos y^{m} all up and setle y^{e} hows in much peace and vnion; vnder y^{e} du obseruaunce of our holy Rule & Constitutions, according to the first spirit in w^{ch} y^{t} hows begann; vnder y^{e} spirituall direction of y^{e} Fathers of y^{e} Society of Jesus; uppon w^{m} she much depended; and with a most vnanimous approbation brought y^{e} whole Com̄unity to do y^{e} same;~

The parants of y^{s} worthy lady were persons of vertu and quality. Her mother was daughter to Sir Thomas manners sonne to y^{e} Earle of Rutland. ~ Her father squire Williame vauousor of hasselwoode; a family very auntient and of much esteeme in y^{e} North. but more illustrious by his pyety. sufferance and glorious Confession of the Roman Catholicke faith. ~ for w^{ch} he suffered 5 years imprisonment; wth loss of a great part of his estate; his howses seased and posest by heriticke Lords, all w^{ch} he ioyfully and patiently suffered for y^{e} loue of christ; Nor was his lady exempt from her share in thes sufferings;~

The example of y^{e} parants wrought so much uppon the children, as most of y^{m} tooke to be Religious. and on of y^{m} a secular priest who dyed at antwerp on y^{e} 6th of Aprille, 1660 ~ with great oppinion of sanctity. ~ The pyous father many years before his death, obligde him selfe to y^{e} 3rd Order of s^{t} francis wearing publickly y^{e} habit and cord;~ And hauing long laboured in y^{e} vineyard of o^{r} Lord. was in a good old age, about 70 ~ called as we hope to receaue y^{e} reward of his patience & pyous sufferings;~

~ requiescat in pace ~

My lady mary vauouser for seuerall years was a great sufferer both by sickness and other great Crosses by w^{ch} it seemes Allmighty God preparde her; for y^{s} great worke of setling y^{e} hows of Brussells in its first spirit; and way of conduct; w^{ch} she performde wth efficacy and zeale: but yet wth much sweetness and peace

In y^{e} yeare—1666—uppon 5th of october, she made her Jubely wth great solemnity, and satisfaction to all. she had y^{n} gouerned the monastery in quallity of Abbess 22* years and was still vigorous and able in all respects; and all that knoweth her prayeth y^{t} her life, may be long and happy ~

But as her age was great soe many years could not be expected, though she continued vigorous and strong. for on of her years till y^{e} winter before she dyed; y^{n} she was much exhosted yet held out till the 4th of * September; 1676 w^{n} she rendered her pyous soule into y^{e} hands of her Creator; and was much regretted by all her Comunity as well as all others y^{t} had y^{e} benefit to be acquaynted wth her; ~

* The figure 22 is a mistake. She was made Abbess Sep. 11, 1652, therefore had been only 14 years in the office. See above.

she was buried in y^{e} church of her own monastery from whence I have not yet receaude ye epitaph; but shale leaue place for it;

my lady Mary Vauousor beeing deade; the next day beeing y^{e} 5th of December ~ 1676 ~ my lady Anne Forster was ellected Abbesse Her Benediction day was uppon y^{e} 6th of January 1677 ~

Her time of gouernment was but short; for beeing in hard times and y^{e} reuenew and temporall state low, wth some other litle occurring diffcultyes y^{t} then happened to fall out she beeing of a timide sensible nature and apt to malencholly. past her time of gouernment wth much sufferance to her selfe; but wth out trouble to her Comunity. by any other way but theyr discernment of her dissatisfaction in her selfe. w^{ch} they labored by all the ways imaginable to diuert but could not; ~

I do not wonder at her sence of want of temporalls, for certaynly it is a weight y^{t} can not but lye heauy uppon the hart of any Superior let her courrage be neuer so great; & withall highly assisted by diuin grace, and supernaturall helps from Allmighty God; of w^{ch} I make no question but she had a very assisting share w^{ch} inabled her at least for 5 yeares with necessary resignation and exterior cheerfullness. to bear it out; but y^{n} finding her hart still much opprest, wth deepe apprehensions by her owne great emportunity. she obtayned y^{e} Bishope and Comunitys consent to lay it down resighning it up one y^{e} 13th of october in y^{e} yeare 1682—— The Bishope wth much expression of respect to her; ordayned all thos necessary considerations to be allowed to her w^{ch} are usuall in our Congregation and practis of Religion appoynting her a chamber wth a fire, and a Sister to attend her, and y^{t} all shold shew her y^{t} respect w^{ch} was proper to y^{e} vertu she had exprest in y^{s} her humility,

After her deposing she was most free from thos malencholly fancyes, and came to be so well as to come constantly to y^{e} Quire to all but matins: and so to y^{e} Sacraments as y^{e} rest; w^{ch} is a great comfort to y^{t} Comunity, occations they haue made apparant and it is beleeude and ther is iust reasons for it, that our Royall Queene will not ommitt to minde his Maiesty w^{n} time may be proper, for monasteryes of woemen to setle in our Nation, to haue that holy Com̃unity in du season cald in; w^{ch} tho I do not expect to liue to see yet non more heartily desirs y^{t} they may haue all y^{e} preference of hon^{r} and esteeme y^{n} I do as bearing to y^{t} mother hows of our congregation. a most sinceare affection; nor do I want it for any of our monasterys thos espetially of o^{r} Combination, w^{ch} I account so necessary a spirit for all to haue y^{t} are, of a congregation as it can not be mayntaynd or held out long without y^{t} loue and esteeme Brusselles hath certaynly had, as many eminent persones in it, as most howses of o^{r} holy Order, hath produced, and this last weeke I had letters from my lady Abbess, very sensible of theyr great loss By y^{e} death of deere D M Bedingfield uppon a short sickness of 3 howrs dyed pryoress, and her death much lamented and regretted by y^{e} lad Abbesse, and all the Religious; she was educated at Gant ther entred y^{e} Nouishipe, and was profest, and tho very sickly and for severall yeares not able to goe through wth y^{e} dutyes of Religion, w^{ch} was y^{e} occation of her remoue From Gaunt to change ayre for y^{e} recovery of her health her worthy father hauing maryed a Duch Damoisell liude at Brussells w^{ch} caused his daughters remoue thither, and for y^{e} benefit of a good ayre, was first placed in a Duch monastery of our Holy Order a litle out y^{e} Towne, but wanting Language stayd not long ther; but Conditions were made, between her father, and y^{e} 2 howses of Gant and Brussells, for y^{e} resighning theyr interest in her yearly pension to Brussells, wth all other necessary and requisit agreements and free approue and consent; for her entring and perseuering in our first monastery at brussells, where to Gods honore she became soe healthy and strong as she went, constantly through wth all y^{e} dutyes of Religion rysing to matins at 3 in y^{e} morning, ringing y^{e} rysing belle, calling y^{e} Religious keeping Quire wth constancy and zeale, she was allways a very spirituall person, and more y^{n} a litle fauoured by Allmighty God, by espetiall lights and graces very deppendant uppon holy obbedience and superiours by w^{m} and by her dirrectors she was allways both beloude and esteemde

I was her Superiour at Gant, in all y^{e} degrees she passed through, in y^{e} Conuict, Nouishipe, and profest Religious; and allways had, a perticuler frendshipe, and intimacy wth her; not only to my great satisfaction and edification, but aduauntage in severall occasions and as she still continued y^{t} good spirit of loue, and re^{nce} where she owed duty. so Allmighty God still increast her stock of vertu by it; for w^{n} I past by Brussels to come to pontoys; my lady vauouser who was then Abbesse ther; told me, D Bedingfield was one if not y^{e} cheefe comforts, support, and assistance she had in all occasions and continued soe till y^{t} good lady dyed; and then not to fall from y^{e} good custome she all ways had of bearing a high respect to all superiours, she fully as much applyed her selfe wth an indefatigable zeale to serue y^{e} Com̃unity, and as pryoress to assist y^{e} Lady Abbes y^{t} succeeded D Vauousor w^{ch} she did wth soe much affection and duty. as her death was much regretted by both ye Lady Abbesse and com̄unity.

requiescat in pace

~ Wt of cheefe remark hath past in ye monastery of Gant; since ye first foundation in ~ ye yeare ~ 1624

The monastery of Cambray went out from Brussells to yt new beginning wth father Rudesin Barlow yn president of ye English Benedictine Munks; ~ on ye 3d of December ~ 1623 ~

Septem 24 ~ The same yeare ye patents from phillip King of Spayn were sighnde and sent downe for ye beginning of Gant monastery ~ wt past in ye dispatch of thos Religious from theyr own monastery of Brussells to yt of Gant, is allready set downe; in wt belongs to the concerns of Brussels, as you may see folio ~ 39 ~ to folio ~ 53 ~ where we left ym in theyr hyrde hows, with litle grates & accom̄odations as proper as yt place and theyr smale purs could provide ym; you may remember, my Lord Arch Bishope of Mackline gave his permission to thes good Religious to go to Gant to establish ther, on condition they sholde lay no clayme or right to any thing but wt ye Lady Abbess & her Community of Brussells shold freely give ym; and ys monastery not beeing yn in a condition the most flowing in temporells, so they had only theyr owne litle furnitur for theyr persons and cells, wth some smale parcell of Church stuffe & howshold stuffe, yt my lady Mary percy and yt Com̄unity bestowed uppon ym; thus wthout on penny in theyr pockets they intirly depending on prouidence; wth my lord Arch Bishope his blessing and yt of theyr Abbess they tooke leave of yt worthy Comm̄unity not wth out many tears beeing shed on both sides; [Janu 16 ~ 1624]

Mr Colforde an english gentleman yt wth his whole family resided at Brusells had often made iournys for ym to hire theyr hows and make it fitt for theyr seruice, but at theyr charge ys expens wth many other occurring disbursmints. in procuring ye Bishope and magistrates grants. with other dispatches cost ym ~ 1500 ~ florence, in debt; before euer they entred ye town; wthout any such secure way of repayment; or of theyr subsisting but only by theyr totall dependance uppon God's prouidence; for though theyr hopes was on sister Bradbery's portion; ~ 3000 ~ pound yet of certaynty theyr could be no assurance, in regard both of mortallity. and ye casuallity of other reasons . yt might be incident to work a change in a Nouice; but they cast ymselues totally uppon Allmighty God and his holy prouidence; were not dismayd with any apprehensiō or difficulty. but wth all cheerfullness setled ymselues in ye hows taken for ym; and were most kyndly welcommed by ye Bishope Magistrates, and all the towne; who yn seemde much ioyed at theyr setling ther and hath euer since continued to express much respect, and esteeme, for ys monastery; ~

Mr Chamberline an english gentleman, and of good family beeing retyred into flaunders . with his sisters and other relations liude ther wth much pyety, and beeing cald to an exclesiasticall state by Allmighty God & liuing with much exemplar vertu was by my Lord Antony Tryst . y^{n} Bishope of Gant; made Deane in y^{t} Cathedrall; and so well demeand himselfe in y^{t} charge, as in few years after he was made Bishope of Ipers; but inioyed it but few years;

W^{n} our Religious arriued at Gant; my lord Bishope sent M^{r} Chamberlin to giue y^{m} his Benediction & welcome, and they ouerioyed to find so worthy a person of theyr own Nation ther, to w^{m} they could com̃unicate theyr affairs and confide a good dispatch as they always found by him;

For y^{e} Bishope who had a singular kyndness and esteeme for M^{r} Chamberlin, made him visitor and superiour under himselfe of y^{e} new beginning, w^{ch} his lor^{sp} cherished with much fauoure and benevolance;

My lord Bishope of Gant finding by my Lord Arch Bishope of Macklin his dismissin letters y^{t} my lady Lucy Knatchbull was ordered to be Superiouris till an ellection. or other appoyntment shold be mad, his lord^{sp} confirmed y^{t} prerogatiue uppon her, till his lor^{sp} could have time to send to make a new ellection and y^{t} they were more in number to do it;

This litle Collonny went on very prosperously hauing in y^{e} Town a Colledge of English Jesuits that much conduced both to their spirituall and temporell benifitt; for thes good fathers dealt with seuerall familyes in england to send theyr children and relations to y^{s} new plantatione, so as it began much to flourish wth a good reputation both at home and abroad, w^{ch} inuited many to setle ther

The first that offered herselfe was M^{rs} Mary Knatchbull Niece to my lady Lucy; and of a most exemplar vertu and sweet humor; with her came M^{rs} Elizabeth wigmore, a person of greate prudence and pyety. ~ worthy M^{r} Vincent a secular priest brought y^{m} ouer; a kinsman to my Lady Lucy Knatchbull and partnor in y^{t} stock of vertu and naturall goodness, wth w^{ch} y^{t} happy family is endowed ~

He was y^{n} setled Ghostly Father and continued so aboue 30 years with much satisfaction and edification to all;

~ 1624 ~

march 2i D. Elizabeth Bradbery was profest; ~

25 ~ soone after y^{e} same yeare and month; ~ s^{sr} Lucy Bacon was profest; ~

Now diuers came ouer to setle in y^{s} new plantatione, D Gertrude lawson, and on M^{rs} mary pease both discreete and vertuous persons very proper for y^{s} new plantation; ~ M^{rs} Mary southcott; and M^{rs} Walgrave came both very young but theyr discretion & vertu made it out; to a great supply

M^{rs} margaret Knatchbull sister to M^{rs} Mary y^{t} first entred wth an other of her Cossen Knatchbulls came about y^{e} same time; so as ther was now a full Nouishipe;

my Lord Bishope finding ye hows increas so fast was now fully perswaded y^{t} all wold aduauns prosperously and that he might now setle y^{m} with an Abbess;

March 21 ~ * she was ellected by all ye votes of her Com̃unity for theyr Lady Abbesse and mother; the day and yeare she was blest in her owne church uppon

In ye first desighn of errecting ys monastery it was determined to be dedicated. to ye Im̃aculate Conception of ye euer Glorious virgin mary mother of God; and to be of ye Benedictin order, for yt ye children of or holy father st Benedict had binn ye zealous promoters of that singular grace and priuiledge, ~ especially st Anselmne, who in ye yeare 1109 ~ first ordaynd ye seruing of ys feast; ys Saynt was a glorious ornament of or holy order. and of the church of england, & gaue us yt first grownded authority of solemnysing this festiuity: ~

My Lady lucy caused ye picture of the Im̃aculate Conception to be drawne As discribed in the Apoalipx; ~
A virgin clothed wth ye Sunne crowned with 12 starres, hauing for support ye moone, & her foote crushing ye head of a serpent; our Holy Father st Benedict on ye right hand; and st Ignatius ye founder of society whos order hath allways strongly diffended ys her priuiledge and title ~ on the left hand ~ supports her Throune;

This afterwards was desighned to be ye dedication and alterpeece of all ye monasteryes, issuing out of Gaut; at least desird it shold be so; —

This monastery increasing much both in vertu and good subiects. all went on wth much improuement and aduauntage in all respects;

Mrs Roper str to D mary Roper yt came from Brussells following her sisters good example entred and was profest on ye 14th of september 1628—An other of my lady Lucy her Neeces sister to D Paula Knatchball was profest this year 1628—on ye 8th of December; ~ she is now Abbess of ye monastery of Gant, wch wth great wisdome and pyety she hath gouerned aboue 30 years; and still liues in perfect health, and highly esteemde by all as well for her great parts as vertu;

The last yt my lady Lucy receaude and profest was D mary Triuelian on ye 30 ~ of January 1630 ~ she was a most eminent person in ye practis of humillity, shrinking at no difficulty, but with much zeale and courage passing through all degrees of suffering both in sickness, and all other tryalls and Crosses;

Out of ye portions of ye Dames. wch my lady Lucy profest for ye Quire she purchased seuerall howses & gardens. on mont Blandinus. with in ye Jurisdiction of st peeters Abbey; with ye good Approbation of ye prince; Abbot and City of Gaunt; who all afterwards accorded to yt amortment of ye saide ground. as amply appeares by ye patents granted for it;

In ys purchase my lady Lucy Layd out;——13516 ~ florence; ~

The heauens grew enuious of our bliss,
And drew her to y^{m}selues in hast;
we to theyr wills must be submiss,
Ther lik^{e} y^{e} moone in full, she shines in glory and will on earth assist and ayd us in o^{r} story

This worthy Abbesse was most sincerly beloude by her Comunity and highly esteemde and reuerenced by y^{m} and by externes. for y^{e} great sanctity of her life; wisdome in management of affayres. wth suauity in gouernment, ioynd with a most admirable humility Solicitude, retyrement & prayre; in w^{ch} Allmighty God did her many singular and extraordinary fauours; ~

The grandfather of y^{s} lady Knatchbull, was in great esteeme wth Queene mary ~ and her successor allso Queene Elizabeth, beeing y^{n} Gouernor of Douer Castle, and wold he haue forfitted his faith & gonn to church, shold haue continued y^{t} charge, and binn soone rayde, to many higgher dignityes but he humbly besaught her Royal Maiesty to permit him to lay down his imployment & retyr into Irlande wth his family, and relations; ther to serue God more freely, y^{e} pennall laws. not being yet ther in force;

This family flourisheth both for ritches and antiquity still in Kent. ther cheefe hows bears y^{e} name of mersam hatch; or y^{e} hatch of mercy. from an auntient custome w^{ch} they had in Catholicke times. my lady Eugenia Pulton ~
2nd Abbesse at Gant; ~

After y^{e} death of my lady Lucy Knatchbull, my lady Eugenia Pulton, beeing cannonically ellected by all y^{e} votes of y^{e} Comunity on s^{t} Lawens his day y^{e} 11th of August; ~
And uppon y^{e} 17th of September y^{e} same yeare; 1629 ~ was blest Abbesse, by my lord Antony Tryst. y^{n} Bishope of Gaunt; ~ she was descended of an auntient Catholick family but most eminently Glorious by y^{e} faithfull practis of her holy Rule;

she tooke y^{e} habit of holy Religion in y^{e} yeare of o^{r} lord ~ 1604 ~ on y^{e} 12th of may. she was one of thos 4 y^{t} came from Brussells for y^{e} beginning of y^{s} monastery of gaunt. she was very much esteemde at y^{e} monastery at Brussells, from whence she was dismist to y^{s} beginning, and was y^{n} actually pryoress, to y^{e} great satisfaction of y^{t} Com̄unity, and regret to part with her;

she was both eminent in pyety and not less seruisable in Domestick affayrs. her first care was to emproue the Quire both in saying and singing and all other dutyes of prayre and spirituall exercyses. and nextly like a good steward and M^{rs} of y^{t} Com̄unity she was warry and frugall in all expences. vigilant ouer all y^{e} occasions y^{t} might aduaunce y^{e} temporallityes, of her young but yet unfounded hows;

many things in her time were agitated of great importance, & carryed on prosperously, as farr, as humayn prudence, and industry could extend, though it pleased God y^{t} nothing tooke y^{e} desired effect

Her Sacred maiesty Donna maria infanta of spayne, at her departure from y^{t} Kingdome to y^{e} Empire, out of her singular affection to y^{e} english Nation, and to Rnd father Ihon Norton, alias Knatchbull, Brother to my lady Lucy ~ who was y^{n} resident in spayn and procurator for his order at Madride, and had often opportunity to wayt uppon y^{s} lady; at his request both undertooke & obtaynd of her father-in law that was y^{n} Emperor; a foundation for y^{e} Dames of Gaunt; of 12000 florence a yeare; in y^{e} lower Austria; ~ The prince of Osnaburge was appoynted ouerseere & comissary in y^{s} affayre, ~

Alferius Crips a kinsman to y^{e} lady Knatchbull a man of great experience in affayrs and who had language was sent into germany ~ 1631 ~ to take possession and agitate y^{e} full setlement of y^{s} concerne;

But y^{e} same year y^{e} bloody wars broake out in Germany by the vyolent inuasion of Gustauus King of Swethland, who wth y^{e} other confederate heritike princes took & possest y^{m}selves amongst other places in germany, wth thos yt were assighnd for us; ~ And at y^{e} tryst at munster w^{n} peace was accorded, thos were left in theyr hands; so as we can only say, y^{s} foundation was giuen us but we neuer inioyd it; ~ God desighning o^{r} lot to be that of his saynts, an intire dependance on his fatherly prouidence, ~

This lady pulton w^{n} she first tooke up y^{e} Gouernment, found y^{e} hows incumburd, wth many litle troublesome debts; w^{ch} she of a frend bowrrowed 100 pound to pay of; Allmighty God blessing y^{e} endeauours of y^{e} wyse lady & y^{e} zeal of y^{e} Com̄unity in concurring with her frugallity and parsimony in all things; as far as possible theyr health wold permitt, nay even beyond it; for of 3 things they vsed to have at dinner; they tooke of y^{e} last—the offring dish; ~ and non but y^{e} sick had any thing in y^{e} morning; ~ & for a yeare nothing was eaten by any between meals. but in case of sickness. and on tuesday nights for a yeare also; no flesh. or any other thing for thos in y^{e} Refectory but bread & butter ~ all other things were answerably stated, aduauncing y^{e} howre of prayre & prime, at y^{e} halfe howre; and as soon as euere mass & reading was donn, all sitting down to work; tow howres of y^{e} Canonical Office were sayd before ye Com̄unitye masse. and sext and 9th iust before dinner; ~ the 2nd halfe howre of recreation; all setled to worke; and wn it rung to 9th howre; silence began and on redd for half and howre; and sayd other deuotions alowd ye last part ~ At tow o'clock it rung as usuall to reading at wch all mett & disperst im̄ediatly wn it was ended with great recollection & silence;

It not beeing permitted for any to speak to others or devert ye time; but wth much zeale, to return every on to theyr owne affayres; and ys was ye constant practis at all other times. wn ye Com̄unity was to meete and disperse after euery duty;

Thos days yt were not talking seuerall things were redd of history, or according to seasons or times proper: in work times espetially in times of Souerayn Silence ther was allways ether reading or praying, thos yt were workers by weeks made but halfe an howre of meditation in ye morning and yn came to work after mass till ye first peale to dinner; agayn from ye time of recreation beeing halfe ended till ye first peale to supper; all saying theyr beads together as they sat at work. ~ So yt generally thos that were zealous persons. and made a scruple of loosing theyr time, sat some 4 howrs before dinner wth ye interuall of mass only; and after dinner with out remouing they sat about 4 howrs also in ye afternoone; wch could not as many feared, but much preiudise theyr health. but it was for God. and good of a Com̄unity wch stoode yn in neede of theyr assistance and seruice; and they very cheerfully embrased ye opportunity; hauing yn by seuerall marchants very good vent for theyr silke flowres some times 30 pound at a time; they preferd ye generall good before ymselues thus by theyr good complyans wth ye desighne & endeauours of theyr worthy Abbess. and aduis and assistance of ye fathers of ye Society & other frends. many persons of quallity and fortune came to be Religious in ye monastery and by degrees seuerall portions were put out; and all debts payd; in acknowledgment and thanksgiuing to Allmighty God for ys great mercy and bounty from his fatherly prouidence; ye whole Com̄unity mett in ye chappell of loretto ther to sing a Te Deum, as well to owne, our Bd Ladys most fauourable concurrance to this greate worke; as to implore, her assistance for the future; in all yt might concern ye temporall or spirituall good of ys Com̄unity she beeing theyr mother and protectris;

The hows was now full, yet many still desiring to adde to ye number; it was thought fitt yt we shold enlarge and build wt might be proper for a monastery. and we were the rather perswaded to ys by reason, many of our ablest Religious vnexpectedly fell into caughes and dyed. wanting ayre & conueniency of loging;

Seuerall frends were aduisde wth all about this matter, and all were of oppinion yt build we must. and ye sooner we went about it the better it wold proue;

My lady Eugenia perceauing yt building was to bee sett uppon out of hand. cast about to see wt stock she could make to begin ys work withal; and hauing some 5 or 6 thousand Pound sterli – or rather more, out at rent in england, and 1000 in Irland wth other mony out in flaunders & 800 pound y^{n} to be receaued now my lady reserud out of y^{es} last portions payd in 2000^{lb} sterling to begin theyr building

Ther was a Duch marchant on Mr Hobroocke who hauing liude some time in england spoke english as well as any stranger could doe; he had a great affection for y^{e} Nation and in perticuler for this Com̃unity; we came to haue a correspondance wth him by reasō our monys were remitted out of england by his father; and y^{s} 2000^{lb} sterling desighned for y^{e} building was put into his hands to bargayn and pay the workmen; other knowing personnes were called to aduise wth about y^{s} affayre;

On M^{r} Dum̃ass a graue and well experienced personn: of w^{m} we had bought that hows and grounds w^{ch} standing uppon y^{e} rise of a great hill, was very hard to build uppon; y^{s} gentleman. entring wth M^{r} Hobrook and y^{e} workmen to suruay y^{e} ground and measur it after he had scene y^{e} platforme, & considered y^{e} situation of the place, offered to exchaung and let vs haue an other hows in w^{ch} he liue; iust opposit to y^{s} on y^{e} other side y^{e} streete; on y^{e} tope of the hill with gardens and grounds very proper for building; declaring y^{t} according to y^{e} experience he had in building y^{s} uppon y^{e} hill if carryed on by y^{e} platforme, wold before it was ended cost at least 7000 pounds at w^{ch} y^{e} workmen & M^{r} Hobrooke smild and offered to make out y^{e} whole desighn for 2500 pound:

The first stonn of y^{s} building was layd in y^{e} yeare 1639 ~ and all w^{n} it had layn to setle y^{t} was necessary beeing dispatcht aduaunst very prosperously but as y^{e} heigh of y^{e} building was to be very high, and y^{e} foundatiō uppon y^{e} side of a hill they were accordingly to desend in laying a deepe foundation vnder ground. so y^{t} before; y^{e} wals were a yard high aboue ground. y^{e} whole 2500^{lb} was despatcht; and ther was nothing left to conclude all with; but new supplyes were to be found out; to goe one wth y^{e} building. we had y^{n} or a litle after seuerall in y^{e} Noviship. whos portions were very probable to discharg y^{e} work so as ther was litle apprehension of any difficulty in taking upe monys. w^{ch} M^{r} Hobrooke shewd him selfe very willing to lend; at 6 and a quarter; y^{s} was a high rate, and lay heauy uppon y^{t} hows a long time; but thos persons and portions they had y^{n} in y^{e} hows and others in prospect abroade; made them sighne to y^{e} conditions, M^{r} Hobrooke promissing to pay y^{e} workmen as he did euery weeke, y^{e} work went on a mayne;

times were in a very promising prosperity w^{n} we began o^{r} building but in 40 ~ and 41 ~ the troubles weer grawn high, and as our frends and relations were both Catholicks and of y^{e} Royall party. so o^{r} interest in y^{m} and the monys wee had in theyr hands. soe fell to y^{e} ground as y^{t} from y^{e} yeare 1642 ~ we neuer receaud any penny of rent for w^{t} we had in england; and but litle of the principall many years after; and thos y^{t} were both in y^{e} conuict * & Nouiship were forst away, by want of abillity in theyr frends to pay ether theyr pensions or portions: so y^{u} may conceaue to w^{t} a condition y^{s} poore Community was reduced unto ~ and w^{t} a chang y^{s} made in all things; and how heauy it lay uppon y^{e} thoughts & harte of my Lady Eugenia Pulton who had a vast building in hand; a great Com̄unity to mayntayne, and all temporall probabillitys in soe low an ebbe as ther was litle grownd for any promising hopes to build uppon and it could not but shake a great hart; yet y^{s} worthy Abbesse; held fast uppon that neuer fayling Anchore, of God his holy will and prouidence into y^{e} deph of whos Secrets we must not search into;

* Convict was the name given to the school.

if y^{u} cast y^{r} eyes uppon the good success y^{e} temporall affayrs had in y^{e} beginning of y^{s} Superiours time; you will see, no humayn prudence or forcast was wanting parcimony & œconimy in howshold affayrs was very well adiusted, promissing hopes and expectations ready at hand; w^{n} at an instant all fayles even necessary subsistance; for uppon such a cessation of rents and all other monyes. and y^{e} weight of y^{e} building uppon y^{m}, difficultyes and debts. could not but ensue; to a great proportion, to make God's mercy & holy prouidence, y^{e} more apparantly propitious to y^{s} holy hows after wards; yet not by y^{t} first ouerture of his fauour w^{ch} was y^{n} very promising; ~ my Lord Marquiss of Worster; had still my lady Ann his youngest daughter to dispose of: my lady Elizabeth y^{e} older was maryit; to my lord viscount montigue; ~ my lady Anne hauing some thoughts of Religion w^{ch} declaring to my lord her father; he encouraged her much in y^{m}; and Gaunt monastery beeing y^{e} hows pitcht uppon for her retreate; all things were accordingly proposed and prepared; for her iourny.

we had a litle garden hows w^{ch} was some times out of y^{e} enclosurr, as o^{r} extern frends might have occasion for it: This was taken by my lord of worster his order—and 12 young youths of y^{e} welch nation wth a good graue priest; and a rent payd us for it; and the hows furnisht wth proper mouables for theyr use; and wee were to dress theyr meate: and prouid y^{m} with all things necessary for 20 pound a year for y^{e} present but if my lady Ann shold perseuer to be profest wth us. y^{n} wee were to haue for portion wth y^{t} lady 10000 pound in mony. besids jewells and many other aduauntages ~ wth 5000 pound land a yeare of inheritance; uppon w^{ch} we were to be obliged to mayntayn y^{t} welc colledge in y^{e} same way it was begun. but without any pensions; w^{ch} were to be inuolud in y^{e} 5000 pound land a yeare;

Thus crosses and comforts go hand in hand: but alass this was no lasting satisfaction for though my lord of worster setled all wth as much security and kyndness for us as was in his powre; yet his daughter com̄ing but not perseuering with vs all y^{s} fortun and great hopes soone vanisht; & y^{s} lady went wth 3 y^{t} came with her to y^{e} Carmelets at anwerp; where in a sharpe fitt of sickness soone after she dyed; but was profest more y^{n} a yeare; with 5000 pound portion taking in seueral upon it. ~ This really was a blowe y^{t} fell heauy uppon y^{e} whole Com̄unity, but was certaynly most felt by my Deere lady Eugenia; for though she bore it out wth a Religious courage and cheerfullness, yet soone after we began to find a great change in her; by a decay of memory wch deturned her to a state of iñocency, for euen yn she was capable of ye practis of pyety, so far as frequently to receaue the holy Sacrament of ye Aultar. wth sighnes of tru deuotion, but wholly insufficient in all things of gouernment; and domesticall affayres; all tryalls and remidyes by phisick for some monthes were applyed but no alteration appearing probable ye phisitians declaring ther was no hopes of her recouery the Com̃unity made theyr addresse to ye Bishope for theyr electing an other Superiour;

At first his lorsp seemde vnwilling for any change; and 2ndly he wisht vs only to take a Coadiutrise but ye Com̃unity persisting in ye positiue demaund of an other Superiour his lorsp sent ye cheefe pastor of ye Cathedrall to come and examine ye affayre, both by speaking wth ye Abbess and others, as he did: and it is strang wth wt a Religious temper my lady Eugenia comported her selfe; declaring how vnworthy she was to gouerne such a Com̃unity of saynts, and how much she desired to be deposed; and render it to a better hand; & ys so rationally as ye good priest began to thinke it was rather our inclination, yn any iust caus for it on her side, but by degrees finding a sufficient caus to prosecut ye matter he began to tell vs yt ye Bishope wold be wth vs ye next morning and yt he had appoynted him his interpretor, speaking some litle english
This very much surprizd vs beein a short warning and a positiue appoyntment of an interpretor wch was rather to be at ye Com̃unityes choyce; yn by any other way of ordering.

The Religious ciuilly obiecting his not hauing sufficient knowledg of ye language for that affayre he returned to my lord Bishope, to giue account how all had past, and our refusing him; uppon ys my lord Bishope sent Mr Hobrooke to be interpretor but his beeing no priest or Religious man soone cut of yt pretence; yn his lordshipe sent an Irish priest Mr Dalton, the pastor of the great hospitall, a freind to ye Com̃unity and a man without exception for abillity; yet ye Com̃unity remaind constant to ye refusall; alleaging that they wold not quitt theyr priuiledg of making theyr owne choyce, for no person liuing. Mr Daldton returning to ye Bishope he sent ye deane and 4 more of ye chapter to examin or Rules and constitutions to see uppon what title we made so strong a plea for our selus, to refuse; wm his lorsp namde, wee im̃ediatly gaue ym ye latin statutes to peruse, and poynted out ye place where it giues ye Com̃unity ye choyce of tow Religious men to be present with ye Bishope, and assist in theyr behalfe in thes concerns; they also showde ye Deane yt ye Statutes were confirmde by ye popes authority, and so were not lyable to those frequent changes, as other Constitutions are yt are made by ye single authority of ye Bishops only approbation. they tooke ye statutes wth them and went to ye Bishope; where ther was assembled; all ye greatest Diuins to consult this affayre; in ye meane time our Com̃unity meeting in chapter concluded to wright a petition to ye Bishope to request yt in granting ym theyr priuiledge to chues ye assistants yt were to attend his lordshipe in y^s affayre, he wold also approue y^e choice they made of tow of y^e Society ~ very Rnd father Jhon faulkner, ~ & fathere George Duckett, both y^n resident at Gaunt, and father faulkner y^e only man that beeing a Jesuit y^e Bishope admitted to visit; and discource wth him; for though in former times his lor^{sp} had binn very obliging to y^e fathers of y^e Society, yet of late that was grown cold, and rather a distance on my Lords side w^{ch} some conceaued might haue proceeded from some perticuler accidentall occasion y^t had raysde some difficultyes on all sides, and it is probable enough, and to y^s may be added y^t Jansenius, y^t was promoted from beeing Deane of y^e Cathedrall at Gaunt. to be Bishope of Ipers. was entirly mayntaynd he and his Doctrin; by my Lord Bishope of Gant, and his Clergy. as also by my lord Archbishope of Macklin, who ioyntly wth y^e Bishope of Gant, writt to Rome or in some perticuler manner soe declarde for Jansenius and his wrightings. as they were both excom̃unicated, and exempted, at least in a perticuler manner, from all publick appearance, and acting, whilst theyr caus was in tryall at Rome in w^{ch} interuall, of things beeing decided: our affayr fell out to be acted, w^{ch} made y^e Bishope as wee conceaud willing to declin the hauing y^e Jesuits to attend uppon him;

The petition beeing written & sighnd by euery perticuler person. of y^e Dames; it was sent away to y^e Bishope, and his lor^{sp} was much satisfyed with it; and y^t assembly of diuins and priests all concluded y^t we had iust reason to mayntayn our right, and so y^e Deane comming back brought y^e Statutes to us much com̃ending y^e zeale and vnion of y^e Com̃unity, and assuring vs y^t my lord Bishope was much better satisfyed wth our refusall y^n had wee binn less zealous of our obligation; and y^t wee might take y^e tow fathers wee had namde to his lor^{sp} in our petition, w^{ch} he very willingly granted;

This poynt of chusing thos that are to attend and assist the Bishope at visits and ellection of y^e Abbesse . is of so great importance to be mayntayned in vigor . as shold it ons come to be at y^e Bishops appoyntment; you wold hardly find it restord agayn to its former latitude: and though at visits it may seeme rather a restraynt y^n aduauntage, yet certaynly it is very emporting; and considering the freedome all may haue of wrighting theyr mind to y^e Bishope w^n they please; they were better in priuate cases y^t they wold not haue known to come from y^m, raher to make vse of theyr penn, y^n exclude y^t benefit from y^e generall of hauing tow present, w^{ch} can not but ballance all sides wth much equity and prudence, as experiens will best make appeare in this occurrances;

The day and howre beeing come y^t was designed for y^s great action; y^e Com̃unity hauing made 3 days retyrment, to prepare, for a new ellection; ~

All being assembled in chapter; my lady Eugenia very humbly presented herselfe before my lord Bishope uppon her knees. and ther made her resignation, deliuering up her pastorall stafe; and wth much cheerfullness and respect; receaud my lord Bishope's blessing; his lor^{sp} much com̃ending her vertu in y^s great act and giuing her thanks for y^e well gouerning her charg wth a com̃and y^t she shold be attended and treated w^th^ all respect as y^e^ statuts appoynts she went forth of y^e^ chapter to her chamber, as not beeing iudged capable to giue her voyce for her successor; her surrender caused tears in many eyes, but y^e^ edification her religious comportment gaue to all was of much comfort and satisfaction; hauing thus sweetly layd down y^e^ stonn of Gouernmen, she now seemed to be retyred into y^e^ Iland of peace, inioying y^e^ pleasing calme of a disingaged life, free from all cares, but how to dispose her soule; for y^e^ sweet embraces of her heauenly spows, when he shold pleas to call her from a temporall to an eternall life; ~ she still retayned her owne loging chamber w^th^ y^e^ same Sister to attend her; and on of thos Dames y^t^ formerly had belonged to her seruice; to be still with her to serue and assist her; y^e^ Community continuing y^e^ same duty and respect as to theyr mother . visiting of her . and demaunding her blessing euery on striuing who shold express most duty and affection to her; watching w^th^ her tow and tow a night . for aboue a yeare together: ~ w^n^ my lady Mary Roper was blest, y^e^ whole time of y^e^ cerimony my lady Eugenia remaynd uppon her knees before y^e^ Quire grate; with such a modest humble sweet comportment; as Collonell Gage, and some other english of quality then in y^e^ church, who had binn well acquaynted with her . in time of her beeing Superiour . w^th^ w^m^ she had dealt many affayrs of consequence w^th^ much conduct and discretion, could scars forbear tears; to see her so inconcernd in w^t^ so nearly related to her;

And she was y^e^ first y^t^ decended to y^e^ quire dore ther to meete my lady Mary Roper, and offer her obedience to her, w^ch^ she did uppon her knees w^th^ so much cheerfulnes and humillity, as made all ther admire her vertu & from y^t^ howre she rendred all imaginable testimonys, of loue and duty to her; as beholding God in her, for whos loue she took delight to become again a subiect, and liue and dye vnder obedience; and pay respect to a Superiour; ~

~ Ther was nothing wanting to haue compleated o^r^ happines in y^s^ lady, had Religion only depended uppon naturall abillityes, or interiour graces for in thes she was incomparable; but alas ther must be a sufficient fund to subsist by or all y^e^ rest will come short of w^t^ we most desire; for perfection it selfe is preiudist where necessarys are wanting; and though we vow pouerty yet Religion it selfe can not subsist w^th^ out such a proportion of temporalls, as may mayntayn a Community. out of such distresses as must both distract, and destroy y^m^ if not releaud in time; y^s^ worthy Abbesse was of a most Noble and generous spirit; she had a large hart and propens

desirs to doe great things for y^{e} Glory of God and good of y^{e} Com̄unity and y^{e} more intensly she suffered, y^{e} more streight y^{e} prison of impossibillity seemed to her; to accomplish euen w^{t} was decently necessary for y^{e} seruice of God and Religion; ~
she was a person most accomplisht, in all thos gracefull quallitys, w^{ch} could possibly giue luster to her Noble birth or Abatiall title; w^{ch} gaue her a great reputation in y^{e} world abroade, and much esteeme at home but she had y^{e} misfortune, to begin her gouernment, uppon infinitt disaduauntages; ~ for besides thos resulting difficultys from so great debts, and great number of Religious. wth litle or noe reuenews to mayntayn y^{m}; ~
Rebellion in england with ciuill ware with y^{t} horrible sacrilegious murther of y^{e} King himselfe had so disordered y^{t} poore Nation and inuolude all our frends and relations. in such a sea of suffering, both theyr persons and estates; as wee became victimes in y^{e} same sacrifice, for they became uncapable, to pay ether rent or principall. so y^{t} for about 7 years and some few months, w^{ch} was y^{e} full time of her gouernment; she had nothing but y^{e} portions of thos she profest to subsist by; ~ Her owne hart was not less sensible of y^{s} Cross, though she carryed it with much cheerfullness and allacrity. so as some conceaud she did not feele it to y^{t} degree as but too late we found she did; for she wold often say her harte was girded round with Iron; and nothing could giue her ease; yet still she bore it out wth courrage and conformity to Gods best will.

The disturbance of thos times. drew many of quality out of england, both Catholicks and Heretickes, and as they came often to y^{e} grate; so answerable to theyr concerns my lady had often occation to treate wth y^{m} now amongst other gifts y^{t} God had bestowed uppon her y^{t} of conuinsing & conuerting hereticks. was remarkable in her; to y^{s} aduauntage, y^{e} modesty and grauity of her Religious behauiour and thos conuincing reasons, w^{ch} with such an humble maiesty she would dileuer; wrought more effectually uppon theyr minds y^{n} her elloquence; yet she was not wanting in y^{t} art but was as well verst in all poynts of conuersation as any one wold be

My lady Duchess of ~ Buckhinghame; was forced by y^{e} trouble to fly both from Irland and england retyring into o^{r} monastery for 15 monthes. liuing with much pyety in a solitary life, taking soe much content in y^{e} monastery, y^{t} had not y^{e} necessity of her maryed condition forst her away she wold ther haue ended her dayes; ~ and y^{s} lady layd y^{n} y^{e} dissighne of beginning a hows in Irland imparting thes thoughts to Rnd father Duckett who I suppose gaue her permission to aske 3 or 4 whither or no if God shold enable her to establish a monastery they wold be contented, y^{t} she shold demaunde y^{m} of the Superiours. they wold submit, to w^{ch} they consented

~ wee must now diuert a litle from going on wth my lady mary Ropers time of prelature and returne to lay my lady Eugenia in her Tombe; ~ I haue already told you how weak ys good lady was growne so as to be watcht by tow a night; yet she continued like an innocent lambe only capable of ye Sacraments and spirituall things but as she grew more languishing. so she seeming les sensible she com̃unicated seldome; yet wn ye day and howre of her death aproched she, seemde rousde up to receaue with much pyety her holy viaticum, all beeing assembled and assisting her yn wth theyr prayres, and performing all other dutyes to her with great respect and affection; after she had binn annealled she peasibly and happily rendred her pyous soule into the hands of her Creator; on ye 9th of Nouember ~ 1645 ~

The memory of my lady Eugenia's vertues did not dy with her; nor y^{e} affection of y^{e} Com̃unity w^{ch} they still retayn to y^{t} maternall care and kyndness they euer found from her; ~ my Lady Mary Roper finding dayly y^{e} weight of many occurring difficultis by want of supplyes of monys from england. y^{e} Bishope very seuerly opposing, as he had reason y^{e} professing any with out theyr portion; 4 nouices went out all to gether and diuers others stayd some 3—years. some seauen befor they were or could be profest; y^{s} gaue much affliction to my ladys sensible and generous nature. but she supported all with much sweetnes and patience but yet grew dayly much indisposed in her health.

The Duchess of Lorrayn then resident at Gaunt, whilst her procee was handled at Roome and she by y^{e} popes order confinde to remayn in so many leagues. distant from y^{e} Duke. procurde leaue of his holiness for 12 times a yeare to enter with 3 or 4 to attend her into our inclosure; and she fayld not to make vse of y^{s} priuiledge. and as no person was better verst: both in y^{e} ciuill and Religious way of entertayning persons of y^{t} quallity. y^{n} my lady mary Roper. so no person could better discharg y^{m} selues of such a cerimony y^{n} her la^{sp} could do and y^{t} to so great a degree of satisfaction to y^{e} Duchess as she declarde her selfe incomparably pleased with my ladys way of treating of her; and as highly edifyed with the Com̃unity, and theyr Religious comportment;~

Dame Christine forster Daughter to S^{r} Richard forster was y^{n} a young Religious and spoke french excellently well; and was my ladys interpret, w^{ch} she dischargd soe well and soe much to the Duchesses content; as proued of aduauntage afterwards, w^{n} my lady Christina was sent to bullogne; ~ my lady was allways very zealous of all y^{e} dutyes y^{t} belonged to y^{e} Diuine seruice and though her health was but weake; hauing binn ill all winter; yet now in holy week uppon palme Sunday coming to Euensong she sung wth much alacrity y^{e} magnificate antiphon ~ The words of it were I will strike y^{e} pastor and dispers y^{e} sheepe;

The next day she was taken wth a shaking agu. w^{ch} soone tooke her out of y^{s} life; and y^{e} yeare following y^{e} Com̃unity was diuided ~ & some of y^{e} Religious sent to Bullogne;~

All sorts of endeauours were applyed to preuent death, and restore y^{s} worthy lady to her health; but wth out affect; for each moment y^{e} approches of death seemde to be so neere at hand;
This holy weeke was y^{e} last of a preparation for y^{e} Jubily, w^{ch} fell very aduauntagious for my ladys satisfaction; she made a generall confession and most pyously disposd her selfe to gayn y^{t} great pardon; on Easter eue she com̃unicated at 12 ~ at night. not beeing able to fast till morning to gayn y^{e} Jubily. next day, she lay very quyet till y^{e} consult of physitians came to giue theyr orders to her they & y^{e} Com̃unity were much amazed to find so great a chang to y^{e} wors, so y^{t} now all hopes of recouery was layd aside, and theyr endeauours applyed to haue her take ye last Sacraments, as she did im̄ediately with much deuotion;~

The court of england was iust remoude into holland to attend his Maiesty for his Coronation in scotland; some of ye Nobillity yt past by Gant; and rid post gaue ye King notice of my ladys desperat condition, his Maiesty im̄ediatly sent away Doctor frazer, wth a command to employ all his skill to saue ye life of so wise & worthy a lady; and yt he shold take no recompence for it; but from his owne Royall hand, assuring him a larg reward, if he shold bring him ye good newes of ys ladys recouery; Doctor frazer came uppon thursday in Easter weeke but my lady dyed ye night before his arriuall; and was layd out in ye Quire; he lookt seriously uppon her, and sayd ther appeard so much wisdom and maiesty. uppon her dead brow. as sufficiently witnest wt great treasurs lay hid wth in wn she was aliue;~

This lady was allways extreamly apprehensiue of death; and wn she first fell ill. we were in much payn how to diuert all things from her sight or hearing yt might make her reflect of beeing daungerously sick or dying. but Allmighty God. so disposd, as yt after ye first day. she seemd vnconcernd for all things. but God: and how to loue & pleas him; ye transports she had were only in restles sleeps; and some expressions not corresponding to ye sence; but nether any thing appeard in her yt was extrauagant or vyolent

~ As my lady her selfe and her whol family had euer showde a great respect and dependance, on ye Rnd fathers of ye Society, soe now at her last howre she exprest a great desire to be assisted by ym and ye fathers fayld not to comply wth ys her inclination so far as yt day and night tow of ym were by turns watching and praying by her; from ye time she tooke ye Sacrament to ye moment of her death; wch was from Sunday till Wensday; in all wch time ye Com̄unity was not less watchful and attendant uppon her by day and by night extreamly sensible to loose so good a mother and gallant Superiour; but wt God hath determined can not be preuented, so wn her howre was come she most ~ peasibly and wth all the euidences of a happy death tooke leaue of ys fading world surrounded by all her children who in sighes and tears payd theyr last dutys to her; and fayld not with theyr pyous prayres in yt last moment to serue her;

This wyse lady soone found out y^{t} y^{e} most pressing affayr of her Com̄unity was theyr temporall distresses: therefore next to y^{e} seruice of God. and aduauncing his honnore by y^{e} du obseruance of Religion . she was perswaded y^t if she began wth y^e discharg of her duty to God & Religion . he wold not fayle to assist her in w^t must cost her soe much care; so y^t in y^e first place she establisht y^e keeping of all Rules most exactly . thos of y^e Quire and other spirituall exercyses, had y^e precedence, y^n finding y^t many sickly & weak persons. could not pass without some consideration she at least endeauoured to bring it into as strict a compass as could stand wth charity and theyr necessity, to w^{ch} end a strict law was made that for on whole yeare leaue shold not be granted to any. to eate, any thing betweene meals, but for theyr health, and euen this was tyed to certayn places, as y^e refectory y^e Infirmary . and y^e Lady Abbess her Chamber; ~ I was then thow vnworthy pryoress and I can affirm it was soe inuyolably obserud . as I can say wth truoth . there was not an aple or a nut eaten out of order but was acknowleged wth as much humillity and sincerity. as if it had binn some great fault; and y^s years exactnes and good practis of regularity & mortification setled so good a custom in y^e Com̃unity as gaue great edification to all and tru aduaunsment in vertu ; taking of y^e least liberty in y^t kind; thus from time to time ; and euery yeare w^n she and y^e Com̃unity took y^e spirituall exercys. she layd hold of some one espetiall Rule to take to hart; to improue y^e Com̃unitys vertu by;

The King of england often entred y^e monastery and exprest much esteeme and respect to y^s worthy lady conferring wth her and intrusting her; wth many affayrs of great concern & consequence in y^e transport of his letters . and y^e dispatch of much business y^t most imported his maiesty . and y^t y^n afflicted Nation in w^{ch} it pleased God to bless her with such good success as neuer any of thos affayres she had y^e conduct of in sending letters or y^e lik, euer came to miscarry

This was y^e time in w^{ch} y^s worthy lady exprest how great a concern she had for his maiesty, who y^n wanting mony & supplyes in y^t kynd. she wth y^e consent of her Com̃unity, ingaged her monastery to thos persones y^t uppon y^t condition promised to lend y^e King mony. my lord Chancelor Hyd giuing caution to saue her and her Religious harmless: if it sholde pleas God to preserue his maiesty. & restore him to his owne. but for y^e present many rather blamed her loyall generosity, y^n com̃ended it. but she went on in her owne accustomed sweetness with out disputing theyr disapprobation or iustifying her own action, leauing all to God.

When y^e prince had nothing in his power but honnors to bestow; and express kyndness and fauor to thos y^t serue and expres loue & duty to him; thos y^t are not y^n contented wth w^t is in y^e princes powre; deserus not to tast his bounty w^n his abillity, may be more compleate. but y^s generous minded lady was so farr, from expecting any other recompence, y^n the Kings acceptance of w^t seruis she could do his maiesty or any of his Royall party, as she still added. her owne dayly endeauours to serue him and his, and employed all y^e frends she could make, to assist him;

Tis tru, y^s did not encreas her reuenew or giue her any present ease, or assistance to support y^{t} debt contracted by y^{e} building or help her to mayntayn a numerous family; so as she began to cast about w^{t} releefe could be had from any other way; ~ as wee owde M^{r} Hobrooke more y^{n} 6000 ~ pounds; and payde him 200 pounds a yeare interest; and as y^{t} year came aboue, & we faylde y^{e} payment y^{e} interest was ioyned to the principall: ~ y^{e} security he had y^{s} was y^{e} hows it selfe with all y^{e} ground goods and mouables. and w^{t} soe euer y^{e} Com̄unity shold be worth till y^{t} debt was fully discharged.

This lay heauy uppon y^{e} hows besids other debts for hows hold expences. and litle or nothing receaued from england soe as all y^{e} world declared we shold be ruind wth out releefe unless. ther was a stope put to y^{e} entrest; ~ uppon y^{s} her La^{sp} made her address to y^{e} Bishope and y^{e} Cathederall chapter; to treat with m^{r} Hobrock and bring him to some more easy conditions, after many meetings and proposalls. y^{e} last agreement was y^{t} from y^{s} time y^{e} yearly rent of interest shold cease and noe payment of it expected, till y^{e} monastery was out of debt; all entirly built and had a good foundation and revenue so as y^{t} wth out preiudice they could pay y^{e} arrears of y^{e} interest mony; ~ nextly y^{t} every on y^{t} was for y^{e} future profest a Dame of y^{e} Quire, m^{r} Hobrock shold haue 200 pound of theyr portion. and y^{t} w^{t} soe ever summe they receavde less or more: uppon thes conditions wrightings were drawne sighnd and seald on all sides. and invyolably observd. by y^{e} Religious and theyr worthy Ab^{s} though it was many years after before y^{e} whole debt was payde, not wth standing y^{s} gave y^{m} a capacity to compass it in time, as through Godes assistance they did but y^{e} arrears of the interest mony is not yet payd w^{ch} gives y^{m} prejudice sometimes for m^{r} Hobrooke his heyres do much pursu y^{e} hows for it; and w^{n} they can heare or know of any monys belonging to y^{e} monastery if they can come at, they presently seize uppon it, and take all y^{e} advauntages they can agaynst y^{e} monastery but all y^{t} consciens could exact was dischargde.

Though y^{s} put a stopt to y^{e} great increasing weighty debt yet it gave no despatch of payment or bringing any monys into purs, for w^{ch} this discreet Lady tryed all y^{e} ways in y^{e} world; and at last by y^{e} help of frends, my lord of Bristow in perticuler, who had y^{n} a great powre in france, and was Highly in favoure wth Queen Regent, and had procured of her a grant for an establishment for some of o^{r} Religious at Bullogne. This history is so excellently pend and set down by my lady mary Knatchbull as I shall mension no perticulers of it heere; ye personnes y^{t} went first for y^{s} great work was ~ D Catherin wigmore pryoress ~ D paula Knatchbull, Celleriere. & D Margaret Markhame Guardrobe D Eugenia Thorold Thoughrier; S^{tr} Agnes pickering Convers.

D Christina forster was not accounted as of y^{e} Number though she was sent to assist y^{m} as interpretor for a time; uppon the 8th of January in a most bitter cold season y^{e} river all frozen. and they in a pleasur boate, exposde to wind and weather, began theyr iourney. loging y^{t} night at y^{e} english monastery at Bruges; and y^{n} at Nieport and Gravelin passing by many sad incounters. by

y^e way; at Calis they lay in a french hows, and y^e next day arriving at Bullon at y^t towne gate they met a com̄and from my lord Bishop that they shold not enter y^t towne; under excomunication. y^s so much frighted y^m as they knew not w^t to do . but y^t good priest y^t came wth y^m going to y^e Bishope and assuring his lorsp that w^t had binn om̄itted in order to his lor^{sps} having not been made fully acquaynted wth y^e affayre nor sufficient mayntenance for y^m made out to his lor^{sp}, shold be amply supplyed or els they shold return again and not remayn a burthen uppon y^e town; uppon this condition they were permitted to enter. but were to lye private; and go early to Mas in y^e morning, as they did y^e next day; beeing y^e 18—of January theyr arrival y^e night before on y^e 17 y^e feast of great s^t Antony; was iust y^e same wth y^e first beginners of Gaunt hows w^{ch} was a great incouragement to y^m to hope y^t theyr success wold prove as happy; many rubs and difficultyes dayly occurring held y^m more y^n a litle time unsetled; at last S^r Richard Forster sent y^m 2000 pistols to begin theyr foundation. uppon w^{ch} my lord Bishope of Bullogne permitted y^m to proceede to ellect an Abbess . his lordsp demaunded tow more to make theyr number more compleate and then D lucy perkins ~ and D francisca Carrington ~ was sent to y^m w^n they were all met together and had made theyr 3 days of retreate to prepare y^{m}selves, Rnd father Jhon Clerk of y^e society of Jesus beeing chosen by y^m wth another assistant, y^e Bishope wth his secretary etc having sayd Mass of y^e holy Ghost and y^e veni Creator breefly exhorted y^m to a du discharge of theyr duty in y^s great action. The votes were given and by all y^e voyces but her owne D Catherin wigmor was ellected Abbesse; August 18 ~ 1653 ~

The Bishope with all the assembly gaue theyre applaus to y^s action and giving y^m his blessing took leave returning to his pallas and they to theyr chapter hows to perform y^e usuall cerimonyes ~

By the last tow Dames y^t came from Gaunt; my lady sent all things necessary in y^e compleatest manner for the installment of theyr new Abbesse ~ The Duches of lorrayn sent y^e Crozier and tow Rings, my lady Knatchbull supplying y^e rest;

The Benediction of y^e Abbesse was uppon y^e 18 of Octo in the Bishops pallass wth all du devotion and solemnity: his lordship continuing his paternall kyndnes for y^m all went on very prosperously; and y^e tow D Ropers wth severall others came to y^e Convict and noviship; my lady Abbesse whos vertu was compleate, made it still more and more to appeare y^e higher she was raysd, y^e lower she cast her selfe at y^e Feete of all, imploying her self in y^e humblest actions, and attending with infinit zeale to ground y^e hows in y^e tru practise of all regularity, both for Quire and disciplin in all places and times; in w^{ch} she her selfe held allways y^e first rank. This hows of Bullogne beeing sent out by my lady Mary Knatchbull from Gant; and till y^e ellection and Benediction of my lady wigmore, deppending entirly uppon her and y^t Com̄unity. I have not in y^s first setlement made any division betweene y^e tow howses. but for y^e future ; as bullogn came to be independent on Gant hows. so we will divide the concernes of both places; and first go on wth Gant.

Ys great work and new establishment being so happily setled my lady Knatchbull yn made ye Ellection of Officers wch with ye Bisps leave was transferd till bullogn hows was out of danger to return; tis strange wth wt fervour ys Com̃unity began anew uppon ye renown of some yt were gonn to grow emulaus to imitate theyr vertu and supply theyr places . not only personally but even spiritually to, soe yt it was ~ ecce novo facio omnia . ~ . all concurring in a most espetiall maner to advaunce perfection in ym selves and ye Com̃unity; ~ The Duke of York and Gloster wth all ye other Nobillity. before they left Flaunders came by degrees as ye King himselfe had to take leave of my lady Knatchbull and give to her and hers severall testimonyes of theyr esteeme and good wishes. hartily desiring prayres: wch was indeede or dayly task to pray for ym. His Maiesty beeing now uppon ye eve as it were of yt happy day assighnd for his return to England, sent away mr william Roper of Tenham with 500 gold pistols in a purs. with a letter in his owne hand to my lady and her Com̃unity. The letter was; ~

My Lady Abbess I have receaved yrs of ye 25 ~ and I do assure yu; that as I have ever since my beeing in thes parts, receaved many evidences, of yr good affection, to me, so I shall never forget it but shall all wais have a perticuler kyndness for yu and care of yr Com̃unity as yu shall find by my taking all occastions to oblige you. ~ for ye present, I have ordered ye chancelour, to send yu 400 ~ english pecies in gold; for ye supply of yr present distresses and yu shale find yt hearafter I will do all I can, to make yr condition more easy: and to approve my selfe;

Yr affectionet frend

About ye latter end of March my lady came back by Dunkirk wher she found ye gouernor and all ye com̃anders ciuill and obliging to her: ys made her soe deale with frends in England to procure leaue of his Misty for our setling ther; wch he made no difficulty to grant uppon condition yt ye poore clares wold let us have theyr hows and setle in some other p'mes, wch they were yn labouring to do at Gant: and ther wanted nothing but ye sighning of ye patents by ye King & councell, all ye rest from ye Bishope and Magistrates beeing by my ladys mediation dispatcht: and ys also from ye King in a fayr way for it. so as my lady doubted not of ye Nuns consent; but they refusde it;

howeuer my lady hauing ye Bishop of Gant his leaue and yt of my lord of Ipers under wm Dunkirk is: a secret permission from England and ye incourragement of her best frends ther. On ye 6th of May last with Mr Gerard or Confessor; ~ Dm Ignatia fortescu ~ D Ursula Butler; D Mary Carrill and myselfe ye most unworthy, with a man and mayde servant; went in a private coach; to Dunkirk where we arrived uppon ye 8th of May before dinner My lady sending for some of the officers, to informe ye Gouernor, his lorsp came wth divers other Collonells and taking us out of ye boate carryed us to dine at ye Gouernors hows. his lordsp appoynting ye private magistrate to lodge and entertayn us till things shold be otherways disposd: but after 2 or 3 days my lady remoude to an other magistrates hows larg & com̃od for us, heere we drest our owne dyet, ye Gouernor lending us excellent new bedding out of ye magazin. his lorsp also made a bargayn wth on of ye King of Spayns officers y^{t} had a new build hows iust out of y^{e} gates n^{r} y^{e} town, walled round about. he obligde him to let my lady have y^{e} hows addicuit for 12000 florence; paying down Y^{n} 500 florence and y^{e} other 500 at christmas. y^{s} was a most excellent Bargayn and all beeing compleated, uppon the first of July wee took possession and loged ther; thus beginning y^{t} foundation: ~ he y^{t} was y^{n} bishop of Ipers was not yet admitted by his clergy so as wthout theyr permission we could not have Mass in or litle chappell but sending M^{r} Gerard to y^{e} Vicariat. and had y^{n} all necessary grants from y^{m} for Mass and all things proper to o^{r} dependans on y^{m} ~ y^{e} same day my lady Knatchbull setled us in y^{s} new hows she returned by boate to Gant, ther to profess D Midlemore and dispatch away y^{e} rest of y^{e} company for Dunkirk; w^{m} she sent with S^{tr} Hellen to be wth us by y^{e} 12th of August y^{t} we might alltogether have o^{r} first Mass and devoutly celebrate y^{e} feast of or B^{d} ladys assumption as we endeauoured to do on y^{e} 15th ~

D Ursula Butler was y^{n} to return wth Sister Hellen to Gaunt, she had binn a very powerfull instrument to engage y^{e} Irish regiment to show us much kyndness as really and effectually they did. ~ from y^{s} time we kept quire and all other observances with exactnes; as soon as things could be accom̃odated we chose a pryoress for y^{t} hows hauing yet no foundacion was still dependant on my lady Knatchbull who payd y^{m} 100 pound a quarter to mayntayn y^{m}. M^{r} peeter Carrill had all ways a great kyndness for y^{s} Sister and now exprest it as much by letters as was possible; ~ Dunkirk beeing sold by the King of england, to y^{e} King of france y^{e} establishment of o^{r} Monastery was very honorably inuold in y^{e} conditions of y^{t} surrender, wth all y^{e} priuileges of a Royall Monastery & y^{e} consent sighnde & seald by all y^{e} Magistrates and religious howses i^{n} towne; —my lady of Gant fayld not to be with us at All S^{ts} w^{ch} was y^{e} time desighned for y^{e} King of france his com̃ing to take posession as he did and behaud himselfe very brauly and obligingly to all, my lady Knatchbull returned not to Gaunt till y^{e} beginning of Lent: ~ At Easter M^{r} peeter Carrill came to stay a while wth his sister. Finding noe setlement of temporalls he went to aduise wth my lady of Gant and they concluded y^{t} my lady Carrill y^{n} pryoress shold wth on more of her Hows goe for England and act ther for y^{m}selves: I though least fit for such a mission was nominated by my lady Knatchbull and M^{r} Carrill & so uppon y^{e} 11 ~ of June my lady Carrill my selfe and a schollar with M^{r} Gerard took our iourny com̃ing to london fryday before whitsuntide My lady Carrils parants were not so well satisfyed wth casting y^{s} weighty charg on theyr daughter she seeming sickly, and without all supplyes of mony but from y^{m}; but beeing pyous & worthy persons came very obligingly off wth y^{s} affayre for Gods honor and their daughters content . the succeeding November she was ellected Abbesse: and y^{t} hows oweth much to her la^{sp} and her relations for y^{t} assistance & aduauncement they have had from y^{m};

My lady Knatchbull came soone after my lady Carrill and my beeing in England, to us. and acting for y^t 2000 pounds formerly promised her. found monys hard to be had in such a bulk: and aduising with some frends who promoted her business wth his Maiesty he gave her a promis of 500 pound yearly out of y^e priuy purs. till he was able to setle her a foundation: now she was aduised to keep some of hers in england to receaue y^s reuenew and I beeing actually ther: She left me and sent soon after her own Sister D. paula Knatchbull whom she fetcht from pontoys to place her in england wher we had y^s pension to receaue every six months and it was constantly payde as long as my lord falmout liude, some 4 yeares. but after y^t neuer came ther any penny from y^e priuy purs to Gant hows: soe y^t fayling and severall other businesses dispatcht for w^{ch} we were imployed in England my lady Knatchbull cald us away. My lady Carrill was importun with me to goe wth her to Dunkerk; to w^{ch} my lady Knatchbull at first consented but afterwards declind as well as I, and so to take of all exceptions, I hauing had a kynd inuitation from my lady Eugenia at pontoys, past only by Gant to pontoys. where I arriued uppon y^e Conuersion of s^t paule 1667 ~ all concerning my entrance and setlement in y^s holy hows being largly exprest in other places shale not heere be repeated: ~

The establishment of a Monastery of o^r Congregation at Ipers ~ 1665 ~

The R^t Rnd and most illustrious Lord Martin Le prats; Beeing made Bishope of Ipers: and hauing had for some years much affection and kyndness for y^e Monastery of Gaunt and in perticuler for Dame Marina Beaumont, by w^m by reason of her language speaking both latin and french he had most acquayntance: his lor^{sp} demaunded her by name, of my lady Mary Knatchbull and y^e Com̄unity of Gaunt: to begin a new Monastery in his dyocesse & in Ipers towne; towards w^{ch} foundacion he promissed to contribute liberally; soe all things beeing agreede uppon My lady Mary Knatchbull went wth her by Dunkerk to see her and her Religious happily setled in theyr new plantation; ~

In y^s beginning ther was soe fauourable a concurrance in all thos circumstances w^{ch} useth to render new plantations hard, and thorny. as may well be admired. and taken for a happy Augure. of its future progress ~ For wheras y^e princes Grant, y^e Townes admittance, and y^e Bishops Satisfaction; in temporalls; useth to be euen masterless, by o^r best contryuances in all other beginnings. ~ heere though nothing but y^e Bishops fauour supported y^e caus; ther was not in anything y^e least single opposition; It is strange y^{t} so promising expectations shold so soone dissipate and come to nothing yet soe it fell out; Nor can any say or think ther was such want of vertu in y^{e} persons as to be y^{e} caus of it; for they were all sinceare good Religious persons; and for my lady her selfe; certaynly she had as many naturall abillityes as could be found in any of o^{r} sex; nor did she want pyety: w^{t} y^{n} could be: y^{e} ouer waying ballance y^{t} ouer powrde soe much good in her; or y^{m}; ~ All y^{t} I can alleadge to haue receaude light by, is in y^{s} and y^{e} like circumstances, to consider and examine how prouidence hath swaid y^{s} affair I must say wth out bitternes or animosity thos natural deffects, and propensions to w^{ch} all ar subicct more or less; ~ may some times hinder w^{t} is desired. And obserue how they ether guide y^{m} selus by prudence ~ mortification ~ and recource to God, in y^{e} ouercom̄ing thos deffects w^{ch} may be apt to sway y^{m}; and whether they discern y^{m} in y^{m} selues or noe; & take it well to be admonisht of w^{t} may be deffectiue in y^{m}: and will give y^{e} preferrance to councell and good aduise; and not rather leaue theyre frend; y^{n} lay downe theyr own desighn,. or following theyr passion or humore; and so hauing ons brought y^{m} selues uppon y^{e} stage; will rather mayntayn theyr own errors by vyolence y^{n} yeald to draw of wth out crying victory w^{ch} few allow y^{m} but y^{m}selues; thus bringing y^{m}selues into a laborinth. they meet wth thorns on all sides: and if patience and humility be wanting all comes to be lost; ~

I do not apply y^{s} to my lady Marina or hers: or to any more y^{n} to myselfe, and all y^{t} are or may be Superiours. or ioynt actors with y^{m} in y^{e} setling or gouerning a Com̄unity for unless all such persons as are chosen by Allmighty God for such imployments; resolus wth themselues. to obserue y^{e} different motions of natur & grace and to tak up y^{e} weapons of mortification, and fight couragiously agaynst y^{m} selues; and both to implore God's assistance, to becom victorious. and to make use of councell and aduis how to manage such a warefare litle aduauntage will be made; certaynly ther ar some things w^{ch} w^{n} we obtayn of God Allmighty by importunity. he grants us but maks us pay deere for it—and it is a mercy in him to do it; many times deuout soules perswads y^{m} selues that if they were in such or such an office; or had such or such an imployment or dignity they wold employ it much to God's honnore and seruice; and really intend it; and many times God taks y^{m} at theyr word. and gives y^{m} theyr asking ~ and w^{n} they come to find how smale a stock they haue of vertu, and y^{e} great expens they must be dayly at. in all incounters. to render w^{t} is du to euery on: they soon discouer theyr own indigence, and find y^{t} a sinceare intention though it carryeth farr in y^{e} way of vertu, yet it is not y^{t} aloan y^{t} can dispatch y^{e} busines ~ nor will thos other naturall parts do much. Humillity patience and a tru indifferency. or rather a contempt of all y^{e} world esteems great; will auayle more to aduauns our interest both uppon earth and for heaven, y^{n} all y^{e} naturall and acquired parts w^{t} soe euer; and generally Allmighty God doth so dispose that thos y^{t} are great in theyr owne or in others eyes so often fals short of giving y^{m}selues or others satisfaction for as y^{e} way to heauen is strait and narrow, we must draw o^{r} selues into as litle and low a compass as we can; and w^{n} we can not stoope to y^{s} no wonder if we fall short of giving and receauing satisfaction; ~ for we must first studdy to pleas God. and for his sake endeauoure; not to disoblige o^{r} nabours: for when ons difficultyes arise within doors and with out; it is impossible; it shold not destroy y^{e} strongest building ~ and unless o^{r} Lord builds the hows he labours in vayn y^{t} builds it; ~ And euen w^{n} it is built; yet unless o^{r} Lord keepes y^{e} hows he labours in vayn y^{t} keepes it: So oftentimes Allmighty God carryeth on our endeauours for his seruice; wth a probable prosperity. and yet w^{n} we think y^{e} work well aduanst, he is pleasd to let it fall to y^{e} grawnd y^{t} we may learn to loue and seure him as well in aduersity, as in prosperity. and so know all things depends more uppon his will and prouidence y^{n} any humayn industry, or abillity and least any shold too much count thos naturall parts, or to much prize y^{m} in y^{m} selues or others, Allmighty God often permits y^{m} to be less successfull in great affayrs, y^{n} other less gifted persons are; ~ chusing thos y^{t} are weake and humble; as fittest instruments to aduaunce his honnor and Glory.

The Bishops death, and some other things occurring in y^{s} setlement brought it into hazard of utter ruin, but not wth out some signall marks of God's fauouring prouidence; ~ wth in a yeare thos 3 formentioned Dames, y^{t} went wth D^{m} Beaumont to y^{t} new beginning came bake, finding smale hopes of a wished setlement they returned to theyr Mother Monastery at Gaunt; ~
And 3 Nouices admitted for y^{e} Quire, also left, y^{t} place, and went to other Monasteryes wherby in an instant, so hopefull a plantation seemde to be quite dissipated; ~ But at y^{e} same time, y^{e} plague raging much at Dunkerk 3 of thos Dames y^{t} had gon from Gaunt to y^{t} foundation, to auoyd y^{e} daunger wer content to remoue to Ipers: and assist y^{e} lady Marina in her enterprize:
They continued wth her some years, buckling through many great difficultyes, but finding no probable ground to expect any increas or hopes of other aduauntage by theyr suffering y^{n} w^{t} heauen had in store for y^{m}. they resolued to lay down y^{e} acting any longer in y^{t} establishment; and to prouide for theyr owne peace and content: and soe In y^{e} yeare —— Dame Ignatia fortiscu ~ and D^{m} Viuina Eyre wth Sister Martha ~ a Conuers Sister, returned to Gaunt;~ D Hellen wayte; to Dunkerke; ~ And ther remaynd with my lady Beaumont, only D flauia Cary a most excellent regular good Religious woman, y^{t} was sent to y^{e} neu establishment at Dunkirk and from thence sum̃oned by my lord Bish^{p} prats to assist my lady Marina at Ipers. he being Superior both to Dunkerk & Ipers; she was obliged to obey, and was a great support to My lady Marina; ther was also tow young Dames y^{t} had binn profest ther wth a conuers sister y^{t} came Nouice from Dunkirk; but D Beazare went to Graulin; y^{e} other Dame dyed a yeare or tow after; and y^{e} Conuers Sister was put to y^{e} black Sisters; thus non beeing left to make upe a Com̃unity, in y^{e} yeare 1680 and 81 ~ my lady Marina writ to y^{e} Abbess at pontoys offering to her & y^{t} Com̄unity hers at Ipers to be supplyed by Subiects from y^{m}; and so by consequence to be by consent of all for futur times to be dependant on y^{t} of pontoys; Severall letters past but nothing was effected and in y^{e} yeare 1681 my lady Marina came priuatly to paris. and it fell out y^{t} at y^{e} same time y^{e} Abbess of pontoys had an affaire y^{t} Cald her to paris, wher they both mett and conferde uppon y^{t} proposall, but not agreeing about it: my lady Marina made conditions with the Benedictin Dames at paris and tooke tow of theyrs away with her. y^{e} tow Dame Conniers, wth severall others y^{t} desighned to be Religious, Secular persons. but of noe considerable rancke or fortune not wth standing by y^{e} fauour of frends, my Lady Marina procured some good charityes and a yearly pension from y^{e} King of france she and her company returned home wth much ioy; ~

About y^{e} same time my Lady Mary Carrill Abbesse at Dunquerk finding most of y^{e} Com̄unity sickly by reason of y^{e} sea and other inconueniences. were determined to make tryall of remouing from thence to some other part of france but y^{e} tow Irish Religious D Legge and D Mull Ryan, was sensible of parting wth so aduantagious a place wth a fine conuenient monastery new built; at a less rate y^{n} they thought it worth. and so proposed to y^{e} Vicariat, and my Lady Carrill y^{t} if they wold permit y^{m} to goe into Irland and try theyre frends and relations to see whether they wold not make up such a summe as might purchas y^{t} hows at Dunquerke for y^{t} Irish Nation, and send theyr children thither both for Religion and Education; ~ to y^{s} proposall y^{e} Vicariate gaue a very satisfactory eare, and so my lady finding y^{m} disposed for it: gaue y^{m} also her consent; and though winter yet they im̄ediately began theyr iourny. and were to pass by Ipers soe to goe to Ostend. and ther to take shipe for Irland, my lady Marina was very kynd to thes tow Dames & made y^{m} great offers if they wold come at theyr return from Irlande wth w^{t} company or fortunes they might bring & setle wth her: y^{e} vicariat was very kynd to y^{m} and made them all proper offers for theyr aduantage ; ~ w^{ch} was very much to theyr comfort: But as to theyr passing to Irland by Nieport all disswaded y^{m} from it; in y^{t} ill season. so they past priuatly to mardycke where taking ship they went to england and so from thens to Irland w^{ch} my lady Carrill did not take well of y^{m}; but they excused it as being necessitated to it. They had so good Succes ther as in 7 or 8 monthes they returnd with very good assurance and bills for considerable sum̄es put into M^{r} Bertine his hands. Supposing y^{t} hows and establishment shold be made good unto y^{m} and y^{t} they might send theyr daughters and frends to it;

Now they finding my lady Marina as it were entred into a Setlement wth thos tow Dames from pariss. & my lady Carrill at Dunquerk not fully resolued uppon selling y^{t} hows they went to paris to negotiat theyr affayrs in y^{t} Court, but wth out effect though y^{t} Queene by means of her Confessor, was very gracious to y^{m} and many other frends espetially Irish y^{t} did endeauour to promote y^{e} worke. and my lady M Knatchbull Abbess at Gaunt; wth theyr own Superiour my lady Mary Carrill, but nothing was donn in it. in y^{e} enterim, my lady Marina dying. and D Coñiers y^{e} eldre, went into england before her death and ther was only y^{e} younger wth D flauia Cary and a conuers sister; Dunkerk and Ipers beeing on Bishoprick, y^{t} vicariat wth D flauia desired some of my lady Carrils Religious to come to Ipers and some time before y^{s}; D leg beeing dead at paris, by aduis from̄ my lady Knatchbull and my lady Carrill our Bishope approuing of it, wth y^{e} aduis of our indifferent man, by consent of y^{e} com̄unity, and request of y^{e} best of y^{e} Irish Nation heere in france, tow of our Religious, D Butler a cossene to my lord Duke of Ormone, and Count d' Albie his daughter D Christina Whight were sent first on and y^{n} y^{e} others to Paris to D Ryan: and at last; D Ryan and D christina went away to Ipers, but did not enter y^{t} Monastery, in regard y^{t} D Conniers wth company from England beeing arrived, stole first into y^{e} monastery, disputing and making great clamours. but at last by y^{e} authority of very Rnd fa^{r} Shirborn y^{n} president of the english Munks. conditions were agreed uppon. and y^{e} tow D Conniers were returned to paris, D Ryan and D christina enterd y^{t} monastery, my lady Carrill bringing wth her thither 3 or 4 of her young Religious. y^{e} Election past for y^{e} chusing an Abbesse & D flauia Cary was ellected; and after some litle time, my lady of Gant. as well as my lady Carill wth my lady Flauia agreed uppon hauing D Ursula Butler from Gaunt and o^{r} D M Butlere from pontoys and accordingly they went back to Ipers ~ poore D christina whight soone tooke leaue of y^{s} world and dying of a vyolent feuor left y^{m} to deplore y^{t} loss they had in her. w^{ch} certaynly was great for she was a personn of very good parts tru pyety and vertu; D ursula Butler wth D Ryan went for Irland to procure thos monys formerly promised, and some fitt subiects for y^{t} new beginning monastery and had very good success; D Ryan returning to Ipers ~ 1684 ther came wth her 5 or 6 — for y^{e} conuict but on or tow of y^{m} were for y^{e} nouiship; — a litle before theyr arrivall my lady Knatchbull and my lady Cary were very importune to haue D Laurance Lawson to be sent to y^{m} to assist D Butler in y^{e} teaching and other affayrs of y^{t} hows w^{ch} was graunted though with much unwillingness on o^{r} side, to part with her: but theyr much importunity preueyld. D Ursula stayd behind in England for y^{e} dispatch of some affayrs, and is ther still, and will not I presume retyre from thence, till the Coronation of o^{r} Souerain King James is past: assighned to be on s^{t} Georg his day y^{s} 1685; but death surprisde D Ursula Butler by a vyolent fauour in England and not long since y^{s} year 1686 D flauia theyr last ellected Ab^{s} dyet sudaynly of an Apperplex D Ryan beeing in Irland, ther is only D M Joseph Butler, and D Mary laurance lawson, both of our hows, now remayning ther. and till some news or y^{e} return of D Ryan from Irland no positive determination can be taken, wee pray dayly for a happy conclusion for y^{e} glory of God, and good of Religion; ~

Queene Mother of England beeing recald thither, my lord Abbot Montagu as grand Almonier to her Maiesty was to goe with her; his lordsp taking leaue of ye Com̃unity, left mr Digby his supply in absence; and tooke mr Walsinghame with him:~

it was but a short time yt mr walsingham liud after his arriual ther . not withstanding he gaue soe signall proofes of his tru concern and affection for y^{s} hows. and how reall a frend he would haue proued had he not binn cut off by a suddayn sicknes and death in October 9th y^{e} year 1663 ~ my lady Eugenia & y^{s} Comunity were very sensible of theyre loss. and accordingly performde all in du expressions of gratitude by theyr redoubled prayrs & deuotions for y^{e} good of his soule.

Of some things omitted in seuerall years, y^{t} are here briefly supplyed

1663 ~ Whilst my lady Knatchbull was wth my lady Mary Carrill and some other Religious in England; she had a Neece heere; whos frends by the misfortun of y^{e} times were disinabled to give her y^{e} hows portion, and she beeing young hauing more zeale y^{n} discretion, pretended to be a sister, but upon tryall found wholy unfit for it: of w^{ch} my lady Knatchbull being advised

July 14 desired she shold be sent to her into England; and it was thought fit y^{t} sister mary joseph shold goe to conduct her thither; wth M^{rs} Anne Bruning, whos vocation her frends were resolued to examine y^{m}selues before they wold permit her to proceede; but she beeing both pyous and desirous to ouercom theyr importunity and endeauours to diuert her, as they gaue her theyr approude consent; and setled her portion and all other considerations full and compleate. and she ioyfully returned wth sister joseph on y^{e} 4th of October wth a kinswoman of my lady Eugenias m^{rs} Dobson, and m^{rs} Winnefred philpott & litle miss mary wyborn for y^{e} conuict, they took ship 2 or 3 times, beeing still beaten back by tempests and very neere casting away. but Gods merciful hand and prouidence landed y^{m} at last safe at Diepe; where Rnd father confessor m^{r} Conniers stayd to expect y^{m} and brought y^{m} home to y^{e} monastery:

1668 May 27 ~ Rev^{d} father Edward Simeons was chosen by y^{e} votes of y^{e} Comunity indifferent man.

1672 May 1 Very Rev^{d} father Jhon Warner was chosen indifferant man.

June 26 St Gotiers* body was carryed in procession to obtain rayn, and was for o^{r} deuotion brought into o^{r} church.

Sept 28 her Royall Highnes princess Louisia; Abbess at Mouboyson having binn at paris in her return home, did us ye honnore to spend some howres in o^{r} monastery.

1674.

On y^{e} 18 of January being y^{e} 50 year since y^{e} beginning of o^{r} Mother Monastery at Gant we had a Solemn high Mass Sung by Very Rnd father pryor at St Martins; we shold by y^{e} great Duke of Tuscanys means have had a jubily for Gant and all y^{e} houses decendant of it, but it arrived not in time but will be supplyed.

This noble princely Duke having a great kyndness for y^{e} english Nation and hearing theyr hows was in want sent y^{m} 300 pistols—my Lady Knatchbull returning her obliged thanks for such a bounty y^{t} Duke sent her y^{s} letter.

Madame,

I have so great a valu for y^{e} whole english nation, and so perticuler an affection and kyndnes for all y^{e} Catholicks of y^{r} kingdome, y^{t} I could be content to shed my bloode to assist y^{m} and contribute to theyr felicity even in y^{s} world; since theyr invincible constancy in suffering persecution, makes y^{m} merit an eternall Crown in the next. I shale conclude to assure you; y^{t} you have not in any part of christendome a frend more desirous to serve you than. Madame,

Y^{r} most devoted Servant;

I have allready declarde folio (200) and agaȳ folio (201) how in y^{e} yeare 1663 ~ my Lady mary Knatchbull came a 2nd time into england; and had left me ther for y^{t} affayers of Gant hows ~ her la^{sp} y^{n} returning wth madame Carrill to Dunkerk went from y^{nce} to pontoyes and after a most obliging reception by my Lady Eugenia She soone let y^{m} know her affayr was to request y^{s} Community to let her have her Sister D. Paula, w^{m} she was to imploy for some concerns of Gant hows in england; they though sensible to part wth theyr Nouem 4 cheefe auntient and a regular pirson, could not refuse to grant what was demaunded; so after a day or towes resting at pontoys with all the testimonyes of respect and kyndness to my Lady Knachbull and deare D. Paula, they took leave and returnd for Dunkirk where D. Paula was admitted for on of y^{e} chapter at y^{e} election of y^{e} Abbess; and my Lady Mary Carrill beeing chosen, my Lady Knachbull sent her Sister for my Companion into england, to negotiat in cheefe y^{e} yearly payment of y^{e} 500^{lb} promist by his majesty out of y^{e} privy purss. ~

~ 1664. ~

The building debt lay heavy uppon my Lady Eugenia & y^{s} Community but y^{e} tow eldest Sisters of y^{e} D. Ropers, beeing profest. and of full age to require theyr portions w^{ch} by right should have binn more y^{n} 1000 pounds a peece; was now to be payd in, but theyr Aunt mrs Gifford though she had had her full portion, payd by m^{r} Roper theyr father and her brother; yet she pretended y^{t} she and her children ought to have a part in y^{s} large fortune of theyrs, and y^{t} it shold not be all burried in a cloyster; y^{s} made such a noys and she did so importune Queene Mother about it; as my Lord Abbot montagu could have no peace or quyet, til his Lordship condescended y^{t} in case all y^{e} 3 Sisters took to religion she shold have 500 pound. 300 now to be payd downe, and tow more if euer m^{rs} catherine Roper be profest.

This news coming from my Lord to my Lady and y^{e} Community many proposalls was made, but y^{t} w^{ch} most swayd theyr hopes to be prevalant with my Lord in it; was for my Lady to take y^{e} elder Sister and go suddaynly and privatly for england. M^{r} John Digby was y^{n} Superiour & did not only approve y^{e} iourny but intended to accompany y^{m} thither; Very Rnd father Wigmore was persuaded it was y^{e} best cource could be taken, so accordingly all was concluded and every thing preparde; m^{r} Digby was a sever man to him selfe, and fasted Lent most strictly. and having a great weaknes in his head by y^{e} many wounds he had receavd in y^{e} wars, was subiect to payns in his head, in thos wounds; and fasting y^{s} lent wth nothing but a mess of peas porridge and bread, being a corpulant man became weak of his head by it; and some day or tow

y^{t} was y^{e} tru emblim of that profound humility lodgde in y^{t} great hart, w^{ch} both in life & death dispisde all y^{t} y^{e} world held great. all dutyes appertayning to his person and funeralls being dispatcht with as much respect and affection as was possible, the sudaynes of y^{e} accident, and y^{e} loss of so worthy a frend struck deepe wth my Lady and all y^{e} Community, but time was not to be lost in order to my Ladys iourney plans beeing taken and all things in readiness. Very Rnd father Wigmore dispatching y^{m} from paris ther beeing only in company my Lady Eugenia ~ D Mary Roper, ~ and D Aloisia Eliot.

Their iourney was safe and speedy. and I and M^{rs} Knatchbull was surprizde to meete them, but truly glad to see y^{m}. my Lord Abbot Montagu very civilly receaved y^{m}, but requested they wold nether pretend or act anything contrary to w^{t} his Lor'sp at Queene Mothers request had aggreed uppon, to w^{ch} conditions uppon y^{e} reason my Lord alledgd they agreed to:—

Some time past before all things could be endid; in y^{e} meene time my Lady and her litle company gave much edification and satisfaction to all by theyr Religious proceedings in all occurrances:—

My Ladys owne relations were very Noble and obliging in entertayning both herselfe and all her company; with all expressions of esteeme and affection:

So was my Lady Southcote; M^{rs} Eliot and all D. Aloysias relations: D. Mary Ropers relations invited her into y^{e} country, where she found a very kynd reception, from her uncle M^{r} petit, M^{r} Collins and y^{e} rest; and w^{n} she was at London, my Sister Dowager Bergaueny, my sister francis Neuill and several more of our neere kindred was overioyd to see her; and I was allways much satisfyed with her company; and as often as occations wold permit I endeavoured to be wth y^{m}. or have y^{m} with me; y^{s} meeting soe renewed y^{e} auntient frendship y^{t} had ever binn betwixt my Lady Eugenia and myselfe: and we many times held discources of it; my lady stil assuring me a harty welcome if I wold come to pontoys.

Whilst my Lady Eugenia was in england, order was given by her La^{sp} and my Lord Montague his approve, y^{t} D. Francisca Carrington as she proposed should return to Gant; Sister Agnes pickering and Sister Ann Solomon attending her thither; and were ther receaude with all kyndnes; as also in there return back at Dunkirk:—

my deere Lady finding that my Lord was ingaged to give by the Queens importunity and others m^{rs} Gifford, Aunt to D Ropers 300 pound sterling ~ and hearafter if D Cathrin shold profess; she was to have 200 more; thought it best to follow advis and not dispute

it with my Lord: so her la^{sp} gave all into my Lords powre: and ther was recavd payed then to m^{rs} Gifford 300 ~ pound sterling ~

1664 June My Lady having dispacht y^{s} cheefe affayre taking leave of my Lord and all frends she made all y^{e} hast possible away, intending to goe by bullogne to receave w^{t} she could procure to be payd off there of theyr remayning fond; I wayted uppon her to lambeth to see her take coach; her la^{sp} renewde her promis of a kynd welcome if I wold come to pontoys; and I gave her my humble thanks and assurance of my sincear affection;—W^{n} they came to bullogne y^{e} summe her la^{sp} receavd ther was 11250 livers. Very Rnd father Thimblebee came out of england with my Lady, and going to St Omers her la^{sp} was very obligingly entertayned in y^{t} Colledge wth all thos testimonyes of kyndness in theyr powre to show her; from thence she made hast home where she arriued uppon and was most ioyfully receaved by all her Community wth seuerall testimonys of respect and congratulation; very Rnd father wigmore was cald away to be rector at Gaunt, very Rnd father Thimblebee was chosen by y^{e} Community indifferant man:

1665

Feb 1622 My lady Eugenia was all ways very zealous to advauns y^{e} profitt of y^{t} hows, by anything in her powre and poynt beeing y^{n} much in mode she her selfe and divers of her Religious, wrought very hard at it, and though it was an advauntag for y^{e} howses profitt, yet it much preiudist both theyr eyes and health my Ladys in perticuler; for she wold commonly rys about 3 in y^{e} morning, and dispatch her prayr and goe to work, her zeale for y^{e} Divin Service & Singing in y^{e} quire sat of all other things y^{e} nearest to her hart; and accordingly she was all ways in a readines to assist ther both for saying and singing though she had a weake brest; and she nether spared her hart or hands, w^{n} she could serve Allmighty God by y^{m}.

The plague, and burning of london being both in y^{s} yeare, and y^{e} warr between Holland & england, in w^{ch} my Lord Falmouth was kild: hath made y^{s} year very remarkable; y^{s} worthy Lord beeing dead, and he y^{t} succeeded to have y^{e} purs no frend to o^{r} profession, my lady Knatchbull cald me and her sister away, and finding I was much prest by my Lady Carrill to go with her to Dunkirk; I requested my Lady Knatchbull to permit me to accept my Lady Eugenias invitation for pontoys; w^{ch} my Lady of Gant was not at first very forward to grant but after wards; letters passing on all sigdes it was agreede uppon; and as I have already noted folio ~ passing out of england by ostend wth M^{rs} Knatchbull to Gaunt wher I made a short stay; finding my good frends ther dissatisfyed with my remove; but I beeing tyrde with my remove first to Dunkirk and y^{n} staying 4 year in england I was glad to retyre more out of y^{e} Roade. and so I hasted to pontoys, wher I was by y^{e} 25 of January ~ and coming 1667 with a spanish marquiss was robde by y^{e} way. ~ it will not become my penn to express y^{e} kynd reception I found from my Lady and all ye whole Community, I confess I was much edifyed, at their regularity and religious comportment of every on, my Ladys silent sweet way did much pleas me and all things seemde to breath forth vertu; and yt good character wch very Rnd deere father Thomson had given me of yt hows appeard so truly verifyed as I was much satisfyed in all respects: ~

That summer Queene Mother of england coming to st Martins bestowed an howre or tow with all her court; in or inclosure, and was very obliging to my Lady and all ye Community. Towards michalmass my Lady began to be a litle indisposde, but made as litle show of it as was possible, but in october she was for a great catar constrayned to keepe her beade; but growing a litle better. her Lasp having more zeale and courrage ~ yn strenth or health, my Lady rise both to Mass and Com̃union being present at high mass. and saying all her office; was so much tyrde yt in ye afternoone she was confinde to her bedd from wch she seldome ris but to have it made; yet continued some tow months with a continuall cough and lingring feavour her silent patience was so natural and customary to her, as she was allways uppon her gard, never permitting any word or action to appeare; yt might disgust or dissatisfy any: she seemde unconcernd for all things of ys world even from ye first howre of her falling sicke, imploying her whole time in silent recollection, and frequent aspirations: ~
The Community was truly sensible of her Suffering and of yt great loss they shold have in her; and accordingly all endeavours devin and humayne were employed, and nothing neglected yt they could imagin might give her ease; or advaunce her recouvry but God permitted nothing proved to any other effect, yn to make her vertu and yt of ye community the more apparant; Very Rnd father Thimblebee was yn our dirrector and very obliging in coming down frequently to visit and assist her; both with his councell and prayres. she ever having binn most dependant on her dirrectors it was of ye more comfort to her;

Ther was a Jubily ys year to be gaynd at ye end of Advent. and as her ladiship was ever singularly devoted to thes great advauntages soe she took singular comfort in ys great benifit, and accordingly prepared for it; her peasible and silent way made ye doctors less knowing how neere she was to her last howre; but she dessirde very Rnd father Thimblebee; uppon st Thomas his eve to Com̃unicate her for her Jubily; and after having taken som broth was layd to rest. Rnd father Thimblebe and all retyrd to theyr beds, of a sudayn a new defluction falling uppon her breast; ye watchers finding her speach to alter, they speedily recald father Thimblebee, and cald up father Confessor to bring her viaticum, and all ye Com̃unity beeing assembled pardon and prayrs was demanded wth tears, and after she had receaved or dear Lord she with much earnestness strove to speak to ye com̃unity recommending charity and zeale to ym but yt defluction stopt her speach and ye hasted to give her the holy oyles, between tow and 3 o clock in ye morning and she remaynd in a strong agony. All y^{e} com̃unity praying by her truly sensible of theyr approching loss; ~ for at 7 of y^{e} clock uppon S^{t} Thomas his day in y^{e} morning she rendred her happy soule into y^{e} hands of her Creator; ~ I shall not heere enlarge uppon any thing by reason that duty is payd in an other place more proper;~ her la^{sp} was exposde in y^{e} Quire vested wth her Religious habit; and all thos other ornaments that belonged to her Abatiall dignity. She was buried in our church and hath heere following that Epitaph w^{ch} was made for her by Rnd father y^{n} Sub pryor at S^{t} Martins of y^{e} reformde munks; ~

The funerall and all other dutis dischargde for my deere lady Eugenia; y^{e} retreat of 3 ~ days beeing taken, my Lord Abbot Montagu presiding at y^{t} ellection by y^{e} Appoyntment of my lord Arch Bishope of Roane our Superior; having sayd mass of the holy Ghost, and communicated y^{e} Religious, they had before chosen Rnd father Thimblebee and Rnd father Confessor, conformde to y^{e} statutes; all beeing assembled y^{e} votes were given; ~ and I y^{e} most unworthy was chosen ~ Though I blush and hold y^{s} and severall other things of y^{s} nature improper for me to wright; but having begun our Annals and finding yet non of ours willing to ingage intirly in it; I am constraynd to take y^{s} mortification uppon my selfe; till death easeth y^{m} of me; or they shall pleas to take ye trouble from me: w^{ch} I am could not possibly be in readiness by yt soe neere approching day, yet we differd it but on weeke, wn all was most unanimously dispatcht; all officers and offices well sorted, according to a tru religious spirit; yt appeared (blank —) every on:

The 12th his lorsp having designd to take up all March accounts, and examin ye state of ye hows, all things and officers beeing prepared ready for it. I gave my lord a breefe account; That we had a farm yealding us in rent yearly ~ 600. theyr remaynd of or principal at Bollogne ~ ys lay dead and gave us no rent:—livers 6900.

In yearly pensions we yn had some— 900, besids our young ladys —wch might come to some 1500—many other debts we have yt ar considerable, but of litle probabillity to be payd ~

We are in family 52—and ys is all we have got to support it; thus my lord I have declard very sincearly ye temporall condition and beeing yet a stranger in ye way of gouvernment, and indeed in all affayrs, it beeing but 15 months since I had ye honnore to be made a member of ys Com̄unity yet I must affirme yt for order regularity and zeale I have receavd much edification from ym, and so in order to theyr spirituall dutyes, obedience and submission; so as I can not but confide God's providence will ever assist us.—As through his mercy he hath very liberally donn. ~ I yn gave my lord ye knowledge of wt yr debts were, and wt monys we had yn taken of a frend to lessen ym and conclud ye litle building yn in hand of ye refectory, infirmary and cells; my lord was well satisfyed wth all but sensible of finding so slender a fortun; but his lorsp encouraged us to confid in God, and very exact in ye observance of poverty.

1668 finding many stops in ye payment of D Catherne Ropers portion, my lady Lee, desiring yt D mechtilda might go to St Winifred's well for ye cure of her eyes my lord gave leave for it and concluded yt it might be a proper occation for me to procure ye dispatch of D Catherin's portion. ~ so ye day after midsummer day Mrs Jun 25 Mary Smith, with her sister D michtilda Smith and I went for england, having a speedy & safe passage and found ther a reception of much kyndness from all frends, and after I had visited St Winifrids well wth D smith. I returned to London and found it hard enough to bring friends together yt were engaged in that affayr but at last all was happily concluded and 800 pound sterling payed downe, and 200 of it im̄ediatly given to Mrs Gifford, according to ye bargayn made, by my lord Abbot Montagu and my 1668 lady Eugenia; ye other 600 was made over by bills
Nouem 5 and I im̄ediatly left england, and coming by Bullogn wold have receaved wt monys was ther remayning of ours; but found it not feasible not having all thos formalitys ther in wrighting required by ye Bishope; ~ I writt to requir leave yt D Aloisia and deere D. Justina Timperly yn procuratrix might meete me at paris; we lodgde and dyned at madam Timperlys and very obligingly treated by her and her Religious, nor were we less kyndly entertayned by my lady Treddway, and my lady Gascoyn; ~ my Lord Abbot Montagu was extreamly civill and obliging carrying us to kiss Queene mother of englands hands. and madames; but as I was never fond of living at court. so I was as litle ingaged by thes visits ther, and having dispatcht those litle affayrs I had to do at paris I made hast to pontoys, but could not declin y^{e} favour of loging on night at mauboyson receaving ther all possible expressions of kyndness from y^{e} Royal princes and her worthy Religious.

Uppon y^{e} 6th of Decm I arriued at our own monastery

Decm who y^{e} remoue of Rnd father Thimblebee to be master of y^{e} Novices. came hither to supply his place, and was by y^{e} votes of y^{e} Com̃unity chosen indifferent man y^{s} yeare 1668 ~ y^{e} 27 of may; and coming down to pontoys now with Rnd fa^{r} Confessor with theyr surplis and stole met me, & having receavd holy water and kist y^{e} Cros Rnd father Sim̃ions gave me y^{e} welcom in a very proper exhortatiõ, entring y^{e} monastery I found so many tru expressions of loue and respect as gave me a double joy: ~

Y^{e} 3^{d} of Jā D. Catherin Roper was profest. all things
$166\frac{9}{8}$ went on wth much satisfaction on all sides; about y^{e} midle of January faling very sike. I expected death, w^{ch} I prepard for, by making my confession to my Lord as to my Superior, and rendring him a cleare account of all things, both of o^{r} temporall and spirituall concerns. in y^{e} presence of y^{e} pryores and consult. Very Rnd father Sim̃ions and our worthy confessor M^{r} Coñiers, and as in all occations so now I found y^{t} vertu and goodnes of y^{e} Com̃unity very evident by theyr patience wth me, and assisting charity; now and in all my concerns; ~

This year M^{r} Robert Riddall a neer relation to M^{r} Conniers, coming down from Roome made conditions to stay with us as a chaplin to sing & say y^{e} masses ~

This year y^{e} remaynder of o^{r} fond at bulloyn was sold 1669 of ~ to y^{e} valu of – 6900 – liv and were thus disposed of – 4000 livers – was plast first in mouns^{r} Cursils hands – y^{n} at hostell de ville – where it is now ~ the other tow 2000 – payd y^{e} munks of S^{t} Denis for w^{t} was du to y^{m} for our indemnity for y^{s} purchas.

~ 1670 ~

My lord finding our smale incumme to draw increas of debts; he was pleased to assure us y^{t} as soone as God shold inable him to help us to increas y^{t} stock he wold not fale to do it. And now his lord^{sp} payd many debts, w^{ch} gave us much assistance: ~ in gratitude for y^{s} and those other advauntages his lord^{sp} gave us so iust hopes of. y^{e} com̃unity made an act y^{t} was sighnd and seald by all to make my lord living and dead participent of y^{e} prayers and merits of ye Com̃unity : ~

May My lord beeing to tak a long iourny his age and infirmity considered his return might be uncertayn, y^{s} made me propose to my lord y^{e} making of a formall visit, and I sent by Rnd fa^{r} Confes y^{t} chapter of y^{e} statutes to his lor^{sp}, and proposing it to y^{e} com̃unity all was concluded, and y^{e} day named ;

May My lord having sayd mass of the holy Ghost: Rnd father Simions beeing gon to gant, we made use of no other in his absence in y^{s} concern but in w^{t} I thought fit to imploy o^{r} Confessor, w^{h} was only in my owne concern, and so w^{n}I went first in to my lord I took fa^{er} Confes^{r} ye pryores consult and procuratrix—I told my lord though I knew he was no stranger to me and y^{e} Com̃unity, we having ever held a free and oppen way of dealing wth his lord^{sp} both for y^{e} spirituall and temporall affayrs of o^{r} hows, yet duty and Religion obliging to thes visits I desired to acquit my duty in w^{t} I was obliged;—our family now is amounted to—69. persons—our revenew as y^{r} lor^{sp} knows is only——our debts——
So y^{t} y^{r} lor^{sp} can not but iudge how impossible it is with all y^{e} industry possible to keepe wth in compass; ~ as for y^{e} order and regularity of y^{e} com̃unity I have no reason to complayn, finding all so well disposed as readily to admit of making satisfaction w^{n} they com̃it faults, and as long as y^{s} continueth wth y^{t} tru union and charity w^{ch} now through God's goodnes flourisheth in y^{e} com̃unity; I hope no great disorders will ever be a mongst us. I y^{n} also gave my lord account of y^{e} dispensations I and other superiors some times gave, wth y^{e} reasons for it and so went through all y^{t} order of gouvernment; adding ~
That for all greater matters I always made my recourse to his lor^{sp} as occations occurd; and in all things as much as lay in me, I endeavoured to cary on y^{e} gouernment of y^{e} monastery as neere as possible conformde to y^{e} Rule and constitutions. ~ w^{n} my lord and we had discourst a while uppon thes points—I knelt down and requested his lord^{sp} considering my want of health and ability y^{t} he wold pleas to procure of y^{e} Comunity, y^{e} ellection of an other Superiour. My cheefe reason of doing y^{s} was y^{t} in my great fit of sickness I made a purpose y^{t} if I could meet with a fitt opportunity, I wold offer to my Superiour and y^{e} Comunity y^{e} surrender of my place to on more worthy of it.

May My lord and all y^{e} company seemde surprisde for I had made no overture of y^{s} to any not y^{t} I wanted confidence or any free com̃unication with my Confessor, but had I told him of it probably he wold have diverted me, and I was not willing to dispute it wth any, but to put it into y^{e} full powre of my Superiour and y^{e} Com̃unity, w^{ch} I conceaud to be my best way. to find out y^{e} will of God in y^{s} affayre, sincearly desiring and resolving y^{t} as it shold please God to direct my Superiour and y^{e} com̃unity I wold submit, and rest satisfyed; for as I freely made offer of y^{s} dignity into theyr hands to dispose of. so I concluded having y^{t} power at theyr own choyce, they wold be so much theyr own frends, as not to stand uppon tearmes whether I really desird it or noe; though for as much as I can iudge, I did sincearly desir it, as farr as I wold find or prove it to be God's will, or most to theyr satisfaction; ~
My lord sayd not much y^{n} but only y^{t} was an affayr y^{t} wold require consideration.~ w^{n} we went out some of the Religious y^{t} seemd concernd at w^{t} I had donn and sayd, spoke freely to me not wth out tears on both sides, w^{ch} I also found from some others y^{t} came to know it; nor did I pas wth out a check from good fa^{r} Confessor, but as I told y^{m} I had acted nothing, but only put y^{t} powre into my Superiours hands and y^{e} Comunityes to act for me and y^{m} selvs, as God shold dirrect y^{m}, w^{eh} was to be my discharg and theyrs, as well as our comfort. ~

The first day as I had tow or 3 times occation to wayt uppon my lord, he told me had I not made y^{t} offer he nor y^{e} Comunity shold never haue had any thought of such an accident, but now they ought to consider y^{e} affayr with much deliberation. ~ I had some reason to think I might haue binn set at liberty till y^{e} day following, w^{n} my lord told me the Comunity wold not accept my resighning, saying many things of my high obligation to y^{e} Comunity, w^{ch} were trueths I was very well conuinst of, and of theyr great vertu in supporting my many infirmityes and errores; w^{n} my lord with much satisfaction had treated aloan with every on of the Comunity, his lor^{sp} desird to haue y^{m} all assembled together: my lord spoke very obligingly of y^{e} great comfort and edification his lor^{sp} had receaued by making y^{s} visit incouraging all to go one in y^{e} same way of vertu and peace he now found y^{m}.

We all knelt downe as I told my lord to receaue his fatherly reprehensions for o^{r} faults, and wold not fayle to comply with his paternall admonitions, and obey in w^{t} so euer he shold comand us: his lor^{sp} speaking very sensibly of our temporall condition, recommended to us frugallity and care of holy pouerty in all things; and y^{n} in perticuler his lor^{sp} gaue me to understand, my high obligation to y^{e} Comunity's kyndness in theyr not accepting y^{e} surrender of my office w^{ch} he also desired I shold continu, wth a searious application to my duty, in y^{e} spirit of sweetnes & charity, yet with zeale and vigor in seeing disciplin obserud with y^{e} Rules and Constitutions; and to haue a care of little faults: ~ so with a most paternall expression of honnor and esteeme for y^{e} Comunity he gaue us his Blessing and tooke leaue; ~ his lor^{sp} gaue us advis to profes non under full 5000 livre. Now as I found my obligations to y^{e} Comunity redoubled by this last favour; so I was in payn for y^{e} litle abillity I had to make my gratitude appeare; but as formerly I had found theyr kynd acceptance of that litle I could do to serue y^{m}, so I now confided they wold not be less ready to take y^{t} litle in good part; w^{ch} I could compass to do y^{m} seruice, ~ all things went on with much evenness and peace, and my lord took much pleasur to com downe frequently to pontoys spending many howrs in hearing confessions and treating of spirituell things wth divers of y^{e} Religious, retyring from y^{m} with much edification and satisfaction ~

His Lordship finding our great want of a good foundation to subsist by caused us many debts and preiudices, he now put into my hands a wrighting constituting 10000—to give us a rent by of 500 livers yearly ~.

His Lords^{p} made it his studdy to render all things comod for y^e service of the hows, and having parted the cells, he made a receuoyr at y^e fountayn and pipes to conuey water to the Kitchen;~

After the death of Madame, and Queen Mother, my lord determining to lay down all y^e pompe and honors of y^s world procurde leave of y^e King of france, to part with his Abbey at S^t martin's, into my Lord Cardinal de Bulliogn* his hands, as confident it wold prove both of honor and advauntage to y^e whole town, and to us in perticuler; whom he seriously recom̃ended to my lord Cardinall's favour, as his Em̃inence hath not fayled since, to let us know and find, by very ample effects in all occations his most sensible concern for us:

The more frequent my lord's visits were to us y^e greater esteeme and concern he was pleased to have for us and to take to hart y^e supplying of us with monys both to pay debts and help us to subsist; now as my lord was very obliging and preventing in his favours to us, so was he much incourraged in y^s perticuler by very Revd father Jhon warner, of y^e society of Jesus, who came to succeed father Sim̃ions last yeare may y^e first; ~We tryed all ways to help ourselves for our temporall advauntage but found litle by any endeavour ether by work or address to frends. all our supplys were from my lord who never seemed weary of releeving his poore children; we did not fayle to try to put out part of y^e portions we receaved, but with very litle fruiet, for generally w^t wee put out on month or yeare, we took in another: to help us to subsist:

1674

his $lord^{sp}$ always took a singular content in clothing and professing y^e Religious, and w^e no less satisfaction to see his lor^{sp} do it w^{th} soe much searious devotion:~

he still persevered frequently to visit and treat with y^e Com̃unity with much satisfaction and content.

his lor^{sp} had allways a singular devotion to y^e Feasts and Cerimonyes of y^e church, and at y^e request both of y^e Cardinal and y^e munks, his lor^{sp} came down to officiat at theyr prime Solemnityes, w^{ch} gave us also an advauntage of more frequent visits and conversation w^{th} his $lord^{sp}$ much to his and o^r content; and though for y^e most part w^n we began to lay oppen the temporall distresses, he wold be a litle concernd and troubled but uppon a longer time of conversation of spirituall things with y^e Religious he would fall into excellent humour and on way or other give or send us some summe that was considerable, to let us se how much he was satisfied w^{th} y^e advaunce the Com̃unity made in vertu, though theyr temporall condition of a smale fortune held his lor^{sp} still in care, and concern for us: I had ever a singular comfort in y^t tru intelligence and right understanding my lord had, of myne & y^e Com̃unity's proceedings in all respects, w^{ch} as it was still y^e greater evidence of his lor^{sp} prudence; so it was also the greater proof of y^e union peace and vertu of y^s holy hows.

My lord Cardinall de Bulliogn made us a visit with an excuse for not having yet given y^{e} Com̄unity his blessing, recom̄ending y^{e} King and Royall family, with his own concerns to y^{e} prayers of y^{t} Religious very obligingly tooke leave. my lord Cardigan with his Daughter y^{e} Countess of Shrewsbury, and her sonne my lord of Shrewsbury, with divers other english persons of quallity, com̄ing to live in france, were much edifyed by y^{e} visits they made to theyr relations and frends heere at ye grates as well as others were w^{m} my lord gave permission to enter the enclosure;

May M^{rs} Selbee having declard her desire of Religion, my lady her mother sent to have her meet her at Calis; Sister Mary Joseph Bolny went with her, my lady finding her desirs setled for religion gave her her blessing and permission to enter y^{e} Noviship; so they returnd back, and brought y^{e} tow M^{rs} Standlys wth y^{m} who entered y^{t} convict; ~

Janu 15 This day was a sad on to us . by y^{e} vyolence of the river breaking in and casting down our walls, bringing a great distruction uppon us in all kynds. I was much edified at y^{e} payns y^{e} poore Religious took to save and preserue w^{t} they could from spoyles, and to support y^{s} cross with a cheerful patience;

I fayled not to give my lord a speedy account of y^{s} new charge his lord^{sp} im̄ediatly sent me, 500 liuers to begin y^{e} wals wth ~ letting us know he was a litle better; w^{ch} was welcome news to me and y^{e} Com̄unity; but as all humayn comforts pass like a flash of lightning so did y^{s} for im̄ediatly word was brought he was daungerously il, I instantly sent away m^{r} Coniers our worthy Confessor, who found his lor^{sp} very ill. but most pyously disposed for y^{t} last houer. He cald for y^{e} holy Sacraments w^{ch} his lordship recvaud wth much devotion, and as y^{e} Community was his cheefe care and concern in his life. so now at his death both to o^{r} Confessor and Rnd fa^{r} warner, his lor^{sp} made many livly expressions of his sensibillity. in leaving us in so low a condition.

March ~ The pope his Nuntio, coming to s^{t} martins to retyre some days . he came on afternoon to o^{r} church, and then gave his blessing to all y^{e} com̃unity, seeming much satisfyed and pleased ~

The noys of warr began to be whispered up and down, and my lord Cardinall com̃ing to give us a visit, and his blessing he was very pleasant and well pleased saying, though ther shold be wars between france and england, yet ther shold be non betwixt saynt martins and o^{r} monastery;

Septem ~ Father Clifford beeing suddaynly cald away to loretto very Rnd father Clare was sent in his place; and thus y^{e} promissing hopes given us, of many advauntages by his assistance; yet y^{e} effects hath much exceded all y^{t} was promist. nor is it to be im̃agined or exprest . how tru a father and kynd a frend, he hath binn and is dayly to y^{s} com̃unity; ~

The ill seede y^{t} Oates had sowed; began now to appeare ripe, and y^{e} disturbances in o^{r} nation fell heavy uppon us . by a stope of all necesary correspondance: and du payments . we were advised to send some of o^{r} Religious to paris.

my lady mary Carrill and her Com̃unity at Dunkerk by y^{e} stopping up of y^{e} goffers found y^{t} town grow less wholesome; so she with sume of her community came to paris, and mad also a step to pontoys. beeing first inuited, by me and y^{e} Religious. ~ they stayd heere sume time; and y^{n} returnd to paris to deale theyr owne business, desighning to procure a patent, if possible to remoue her whole family, I beleeue theyr ayme was for paris, but not succeeding they obtaynd on for Abbeville.

some days before my lady Carrill went from us to paris; M^{r} Joffos o^{r} Superiour gaue me his approbation to send D Aloisia Elliot and D mary Christina Whight to paris to try w^{t} aduauntage could be had ther; y^{s} ought to be more perticulerly and clearly sett downe; and so is referd to a more proper place; all I shale now say is y^{t} from y^{t} address y^{n} made to madame y^{e} Duches of riechlu and madam mayntenoone recom̃ended by Rnd pere Rapin and assisted by Rnd father Clare * his aduis and endeauours: uppon theyr presenting a placet to his Royall maiesty wee may iustly as it shale be made cleare, attribute y^{e} succeeding almes of y^{t} and latter yeares.

THE WILL OF CHRISTOPHER STONEHOUSE OF DUNSLEY IN THE PARISH OF WHITBY, A NOTED RECUSANT. Circa 1564-1631.

Volume XLI, Folio 387 in the York Registry.

IN Volume IV, p. 378, a reference to this "constant Catholic" is made. Since then I have been able to procure a copy of his will. In The Northern Genealogist, III, 50-3, I ventured to assert that "Andreas Stonas," born at "Easbrow," or "Eastbrow," which Foley took to be Andrew "Stone" and "Easby," must be the priest brother of Anne and Mary Stonehouse, lay sisters at St Monica's Augustinian house at Louvain, and born at the hamlet of East Row in Dunsley in the parish of Whitby, three miles from the town of Whitby, and son of Christopher Stonehouse, whom Foley* refers to under the spelling of Stayanus and Stayhouse (III, 755-8, MS. of Father Christopher Grene, S.J.) as being arrested late in December, 1591, for recusancy, and escaping from York Castle with Francis Younge on August 23, 1593, after one imprisonment of twenty months. His son Andrew, born 1597, seminary priest 1621, a Jesuit 1634, was also a prisoner in York Castle in March, 1657-8, to September, 1660, under the name of John Fairfax, and is supposed to have died in 1664. Other aliases of his were John Cuthbert, John Stone and Andrew Town.

The conjunction of Christian and family names frequently is worthy of note, as seen in the Index of wills and administrations (Yorks. Archæol. Soc. Rec. Series):

1588 Stanus, Christopher. Barmby, Cleveland. Adm.
1592 Staynas, Christopher, Myton on Swale. Adm.
1597 Stones [?], Christopher, York. Adm.
1616 Stanous, Christofer, Lythe, yeoman. Prob. 8 Sept. 1617.
1616 Stonas, Christofer, Whitby, burgess. Prob. 20 Mar. 1616.
1613 Stonas, Christopher, Dunslay. Prob. 9 May. 1633.

And the one here given. The sirname was and is common throughout Cleveland.

This undated will tends to show that the Testator survived until the year 1631, that he had two properties in Dunsley, one being in East Row, where Father Andrew Stonehouse must have been born, and that he had a son named Joseph, whose connexion did not appear before. "Joseph Stonehouse of Egton Chapelry, labourer," appears in the Recusant lists for 1632 and 1633, and Joseph Stonas, with Alice his wife, of Newholme-cum-Dunsley, in 1641. It shows, also, that besides being a worker in jet (jeater☩) and amber, that the testator was a farmer of land, probably not freehold, but copyhold or tenant-right.

Andrew and Anne are not mentioned, as both were in religion abroad, the latter at Louvain, where Mary must have gone shortly after settling her father's affairs.

J.S.H.

* Foley might well be ignorant of the connexion of father and son with such extraordinary spellings, due to broad Yorkshire pronunciation, not Latin as he imagined.

☩ The late Canon Atkinson (N. Riding Rec., II, 67) contended that "jeater" meant a "jet-digger or miner," in spite of the same people, on pages 70 and 140, being called "jeaters" and "jeat-workers": but the Annals of St Monica's, I, 187, conclusively disprove his philological conjecture. The Middlesex Recusant lists, 1629-37, describe the sons, Cuthbert and Thomas, as "yeomen," whilst the first is described once as a "jeweller." Query a lapidary.

"IMPRIMIS I gyve this my farme in Dunsley to Ursula✱ my wyfe Xpõffer✠ Stonehouse my sonne and all my goods my debts payd and my will ꝑved and my funeral expences discharged I gyve to my sonne Josephe and my daughter Marie always provided that Mary shall have some ꝑte of the pewther and brasse more then Josephe shall have so much as ther frends shall thinke fyttinge Likewyse my farme at East Row I gyve unto my sonne Cutbert and my sonne Thomas provided alwayes that my sonne Cutbart shall be the better in valew by the some of three pounds sex shillinges and eight pence This farme at East Rowe I have letten for the tearme of twelve yeares unto Willm̃ Hill wch I charge yow by this my last Will to ꝑforme els to pay him his money back agayne which I have receyved his tearme began at Lady Day last past also I make Christopher Stonehouse my sonne & Marie my daughter Executors of this my last will and Testament."

"Witnesses, Henry§ Fairfax. William¶ Cooke."

"Probate granted on 28th April 1631 to Christopher Stonehouse and Mary Stonehouse the sole Executors named in the Will."

✱ They are described as secretly married in Peacock's List of 1604. She was the second wife and the maiden name is unknown. The first was Frances Smith, possibly of the Egton family.

✠ Probably the only child by the second marriage.

§ Henry Fairfax must be absolutely one of the family of Walton and Gilling. In 1604 (Peacock's Yorks. Caths) he and his unnamed wife are described as "Recusantes old" and "secretly marryed," whilst Ralph Fairfax is a Recusant since March 25, 1603. Under Acaster-Malbys we read: "Raulf ffairfax gentleman who dwelleth at Dimsley [sic.] & sometimes resorting into ye said parish to ye house of Cuthbert ffairfax for a fortneth together or there aboutes & cometh not to ye church." Cuthbert Fairfax, whose daughter Mary was then a Recusant, was grandfather of Thomas F., who begged to compound for an estate at Dunsley worth £60 rental on July 4, 1646, and who declared his pedigree at the visitation on March 22, 1665, as of Dunsley, aged sixty (Surtees, XXXVI).

The Recusants of Newholme-cum-Dunsley indicted July 8, 1614, contain "Henry Fairfax, gent^{n} 50, and Edith his wife about 30, both Rec^{t} 14 years"; "Will. Cooke, jeater, and Jane his wife, both about 40 (R. 20)"; "Chr. Stonas, jeater, 50, and Ursula his wife, 47, both Rec^{t} 20 years with Tho. and Cuthbert his sons, both 20 (R. 3)" (N. Riding. Rec. II, 70).

The will of Sir Nicholas Fairfax of Walton and Gilling, of 7 July, 1570, proved 30 Oct. 1572, he having died 30 March, 1571 (Yorks. Archæol. Jour. XIX, 188), contemplates the possible contingency of his two eldest sons, Sir William and Nicholas, dying without issue, and leaves the remainder of his great estate to Henry the son of his third son George, to whom he bequeaths only £20, and who had married Frances, daughter of Sir Francis Salvin of Thorpe-Salvin and Newbiggin in Egton. The will entrusts the education of the grandson to Cuthbert, the seventh of eight sons, but later on to the eldest son during his life. Henry Fairfax, the Recusant, if fifty in 1614, would be six when the will was made.

¶ Christopher is said to have converted his master, and, after the latter's death, to have taught the son the trade. He is probably this witness, a jet-worker and Recusant, said to be aged forty in 1614, or ten years younger than Christopher.

No. III

A LIST OF CONVICTED RECUSANTS IN THE REIGN OF CHARLES II.

British Museum, Additional MS. 20739

THIS collection of the names of Recusants from schedules of the Pipe Rolls for specified years, a portly volume, bound in red gilt leather, needs no description, as it is not an original document, being only a copy of returns from parts of England made by the clerks of the peace in their respective administrative areas. There are many blanks.

When attention was first called to it, it was understood to cover the whole of England. This is clearly shown in the preamble not to be so. But there are other lists, which the Society will be able to print later, covering the whole of England and Wales at different periods.

The returns for Lancashire are the amplest, containing more than half of the whole. No one more competent to deal with these exists than Mr Gillow, our Recorder, who has annotated a large number from the garner of his vast researches of over thirty years. Catholic Lancashire is fortunate in having such an historian amongst its natives. As regards the rest it has not been easy to know where to turn to for help, and it is better to leave blanks than do the work badly. The loss of the Lancashire notes might be irreparable. At the same time annotating is in no sense necessary, our great object being to save records from oblivion. The present writer has ventured to add a few notes, and is indebted to a few persons for information about their families. Yorkshire's part, although the second longest, is disappointing. The City of York and the North Riding are not mentioned; but some places in the latter and the West Riding are misplaced under the East Riding. These defects are emphasized when we turn to Hist. MSS Commissioner's ninth Report, Part I, and find a list of one thousand seven hundred and fifty-five North Riding Recusants presented at Thirsk on February 24, 1690. Other counties seem inadequately dealt with.

The preamble of the paper is so explicit that comment is unnecessary; but it is interesting to see the distinction drawn between "Papists" and "fanaticks" by men of affairs at the time.

It has been necessary to curtail the work. No useful purpose could be served by repeating the convictions, names of places (sometimes repeated to each person), amounts of fines, etc., some of which had previously been abbreviated. The original sequence has been kept, although inconvenient when the names of places are repeated at intervals or for repeated convictions. They are here transposed above the names of the persons. Corrections are made by footnotes and in square brackets. The object is to obtain the names of the Catholics, occupation, status and residence with dates, in the simplest form for ready reference. The fine was uniformly £20 per mensem for each adult, except one half for a wife; but in some entries, notably in the York shire part, £20 is wrongly put down as their fine. It will be seen that twelve calendar months are computed instead of thirteen lunar months.

As a dry, statistical, sordid exchequer document prepared for financial purposes, it lacks much of the interest contained in local ones, such as Peacock's Yorkshire Catholics, 1604, and the Masham Recusants (Cath. Rec. Soc., III, 82). But such information must be important to genealogists; and, above all, it saves from oblivion the names of those who dared all things for the one Faith and conscience.

land are worth all together And yet none of the Nobility and very few of the Gentry are here mentioned

In those Countyes where I have been able to make enquiry as in Yorkshire the persons are unknown or so poor they are scarce worth the penalty of one 20^{li} much less responsible for the growing penaltys of 2 or 3 yeres

In Suffolk there are pirsons of Quality but such as either in person or their fathers did eminently service for the King

I have had no opportunity to inform myself in other countyes nor could the Clarks tell me the names of the severall Informers at whose prosecution the partyes were convicted so I can give no character of their persons, fortunes or merits

Upon the whole matter, without question, a considerable summe might be raise by putting these laws in execution

But what disorder it might produce in his Majesties affairs is worthy consideration

[1] In the Royal Kalander 1831, the year before its disenfranchisement it is still called Agmondesham; but at an earlier date it was known as Amersham i.e., Amers-ham, or Amersom. Heraldry connects the place with the sirnames of Anselme, Awns-ham or Amondes-ham, Ensam, Hansom, etc.

[2] Query Burghfield or Burfield.

[3] In the Non-jurors 1715 is probably his widow: "Elizabeth Martin, of Woose Hill, in the parish of Wokingham, widow of Anthony Martin—House as her jointure." And this for a husbandman!

[4] Possibly one of the Yate family, long settled in the county, whose property at Buckland passed on the death of Sir Charles Yate, Bart, in 1728 to his daughter and heir, Mary, wife of Sir Robert Throckmorton, 3rd bart, and continued till lately in that family. The name may be held to come from the parish of Yate in Gloucestershire, in spite of the canting arms of three gates, yates or yats. It may be doubted whether Jane, sister of Sir Benjamin Tichborne, 1st bart, who married Francis Yate of Lyford, could be alive in 1667.

[5] Mrs J. Hautenville Cope says that in 1698 Richard Bayley of Pangbourne and his sons Thomas and William held lands on the north side of the Kennet in Sulhamstead-Banister. See p. 83 also.

[6] Mr Gillow suggests that this was Mervin Touchet, third son of Mervin, twelfth Baron Audley, and second Earl of Castlehaven, who succeeded to those titles in 1684.

[2] William White of St Martin's-in-the-Fields, and his wife Martha, declare their right for her life to a house in Lawrence-Waltham, yearly value £15 10s.0d., by the will of her first husband, Francis Underwood (Payne's Non-jurors, 1715).

[3] Sir George Browne, K.B., of Shefford and Wickham-Breux, co. Kent, grandson of Anthony, first Viscount Montagu, who married Eleanor, daughter of Richard Blount of Maple-Durham, had two sons named George (his father's name) when he attested his pedigree at the Visitation in 1623.

[4] John Doncastle [sic], who married Mary, daughter of John Browne, brother of Anthony, first Viscount Montagu, certified his pedigree at the Visitation of 1665, when he was aged sixty-eight.

[5] Perhaps the son of the last, aged twenty-nine at the time of the Visitation. Married to Anne daughter of Francis Fettiplace of Swyncombe, Oxon, whose son was a Catholic Non-juror in 1715.

[6] At the Visitation of 1665 he appears as the son of Sir Francis Englefield, baronet, of Wootton-Basset, Wilts, and Jane sister of Anthony first Viscount Montagu. He married first Elizabeth Pickford, second Elizabeth dau. of Sir Walter Blount of Soddington, and third Anne Husband, by the last of whom he had issue.

[7] Robert Smeaton certified his pedigree March 23, 1664, as grandson of Thomas S. of Golton [sic, query Youlton] N. R. Yorks, his father Leonard S. of Huthwaite, N. R. York, and his mother Isabell, daughter of Robert Sothaby of Pocklington, E. R. Yorks. The Visitation shows he had married thrice, the last wife being Jane Eyston (1621-1688) sister to William.

[1] " John Smal'bone " as he signs his pedigree at the Visitation 1623, shows his descent from the Smalebones of Steventon, Berks, his mother being Elizabeth daughter of Robert Fettiplace of Buckland. He married Dorothy daughter of William Molines of Mongewell, Oxon, and had a son John aged eight in 1623.

[2] Perhaps a mistake for " John." At the Visitation of 1665 Mary, dau. of Francis Perkins of Ufton and his wife, Margaret Eyston, is called wife of John Hyde, of Hyde End in the parish of Brimpton, and in the Non-jurors 1715, Mary, widow of John Hyde, and their sons, John and Francis, are mentioned.

[3] At the Visitation of 1665 " William Turbill alias Turbervill," whose name does not even appear in the pedigree (but who may be the same who claimed descent, at the same Visitation, from his grandfather William Turberville of Cirencester, and used the family arms undefaced. [Harl. Soc. lvi]), " certified on the behalf of Anthony Turbervill, Esq^{r}," who was of Penllina Castle, co. Glamorgan, and Bradley in Cookham, a pedigree deducing from his great-grandfather, Christopher T., of Penlline, Glamorgan, and so on, up to the Conquest by other pedigrees. His grandparents' names are given as Jenkin T. and Cecilia, dau. of Matthew Herbert of Swansea, instead of Jenkin T. and a dau. of Rees ap Rees, as by Burke (Commoners, IV, 653). The Turberville arms quarter 2 Jastin ap Gurgant, 3 Norreys or Norris of Speke, not Penlline, 4.   , and over all a bend sinister. Anthony's wife is given as Mary, dau. and heir of John Farmer of Bradley, Cookham, which accounts for his presence in Berkshire. It is their son John, aged thirty-two in 1665. He married Anne, dau. of Christopher Anderton of Lostock, Lancs. Their three sons, Christopher, Anthony and John, are named.

[4] The Englefields took their name from the place in the county near Reading, and were consequently very ancient. The baronetcy expired in 1812, the last baronet being a Catholic of distinction (See Gillow's Dict. Eng. Caths; Burke's Extinct Baronetage; Harl. Soc. LVI).

[5] The Fettiplace family acquired the manor of Denchworth about the reign of Henry III, and continued in the county.

[6] Son of William Eyston of East Hendred, by Eleanor, dau. of George Smith of Eshe, co. Durham. Born 1636; married 16 Feb., 1663-4, Anne, dau. of Robert Dormer, of Peterley in Great Missenden, Bucks, and certified the family pedigree in 1664. He was made J.P. in 1688, died 24 April, 1691, and was buried at E. Hendred. An old family MS. says: " He was a great sufferer on the score of Religion, was imprisoned and sequestered in the time of Oates's Plot and paid 80 pounds for Latmer [a manor] alone then valued at 120 pound per annum." The family inherited the estate about 1443, and still flourishes there, consistently Catholic.

[2] The Napiers were a Scotch family settled in Dorset and connected by marriage with the Russells of Swyre. George Napier, priest and martyr, was of this family, being of the Oxford branch (see C.R.S. 1, 123). In the Visitation of Dorsetshire, 1623, Arundell Napier is shown as the seventh son of Robert N. of Bexington in the parish of Abbotsbury, by Katharine daughter of Edward Warham of Osmington. He must have been quite an infant then, as his eldest brother was only sixteen.

[3] Owermoigne, near Bridport.

[2] Perhaps first son, by his second wife Mary Skinner, of Richard Pulley of Leigh

[3] Eight generations of Battles appear in The Visitations.

[4] In Berry's pedigrees (Harl. XIV, 723), mention is made of Sir Thomas Kemble, which must be Campbell in 1609.

[5] John Pinchon of Writtle, and his wife Elizabeth, dau. and h. of Thomas Cornwallis, are the last mentioned in the Visitation of 1634.

[6] A. Wale pedigree in 1634 Visitation.

[7] Sir John Watts was Lord Mayor of London 1606, and his fifth son Thomas was of Thundridge; but no Michael appears in the pedigree (Harl. Soc. XVII and XXII).

[8] Perhaps a relation of the Grubbes of North Mimms.

[1] Mary, youngest dau. of Sir Thomas Tyldesley.

[2] Dau. of Peter Anderton, of Anderton, by Grace, dau. of Wm. Rishton, of Pontalgh.

[3] The Sumpners were a substantial yeomanry family, and long retained the faith. Eliz., dau. and coh. of John Sumpner, of Leyland, married Nicholas Fazakerley, of Fazakerley House, Kirkby, a few years before this date.

[4] Eldest son of Roger Charnock, of Blacklach House, commonly known as the Old Hall, Leyland, by Anne, dau. of Robert Manley, of Sprotton, co. Northampton, and of Rosliston, co. Derby. Leaving no issue, he was succeeded in the estate by his brother, the Rev. Robt Charnock alias Manley, archdeacon of the Chapter, and V.G. in Lancashire, who died at the Old Hall, 2 Feb., 1670–1, when the family became extinct in the male line.

[5] Dau. of Alex. Rigby, of Burgh Hall, and widow of Edward Chisenhall, of Chisenhall.

[6] Of an old recusant family in Charnock Richard, where they were tanners. In the eighteenth century there were several priests of the family, who were allied to the Tootells and Daniels.

[7] Park Hall, in Charnock Richard, was the seat of the Hoghtons, descended from the Hoghtons of Hoghton Tower.

[8] Roger Ashton, of Littlewood Hall, Ulnes Walton, in the parish of Croston, was son and heir of Henry Ashton of the same, by Juliana, dau. of Wm Elston, of Brockholes Hall. His father was the youngest son of Thomas Ashton, of Croston Hall, by Eliz., dau. of Sir Henry Twyford, of Kenwick, co. Salop. Roger married Eliz., dau. of Richard Depdale, of Stratford-on-Avon, co. Warw., and left at his death in 1675, a son Henry and five daughters. Croston Hall passed to the Traffords through the marriage of Anne, dau. and eventual heiress of Richard Ashton, with John Trafford, fourth son of Sir Cecil Trafford, of Trafford, and is still in that family.

[1] 2nd dau. of Roger.

[2] Ancestor of the Chadwicks of Burgh Hall, which was finally sold by John Fred. Chadwick, who mar. Alice, dau. and coh. of Robt Gillow, of Clifton Hill. Several secular priests, Jesuits, and nuns came of this family, the late Rt Rev. James Chadwick, bishop of Hexham and Newcastle, being one of its most distinguished ornaments.

[3] The Gradells of Barbles Moor in Ulnes Walton were an ancient family, and remained staunch to the faith until they became extinct in the direct male line upon the death of the Rev. Christopher Gradwell at Sheffield in 1758. There were several priests of the family, and from a very remote offshoot derived Bishop Robert Gradwell and his nephews the Rev. George Gradwell and the late Mgr Robert Gradwell of Claughton. The wife of William Gradwell mentioned above was Eliz., dau. of John Butler, of Kirkland Hall. There was a chapel and priest's hiding-place in the house at Barbles Moor, which is now a farmhouse known as Gradwell's.

[4] Eldest son of William Anderton, of Anderton Hall, by Magdalen, dau. of Thomas Lacon, of Lindley, co. Salop, and his third brother Roger and his sisters Mary and Grace. His next brother, Peter Anderton, of London, citizen and dyer, joined with Roger in the sale of the estate for the sum of £2,800, on 7 April, 1668, to their distant relative, Francis Anderton, of Lostock Hall, subsequently created a baronet. It comprised the hall and manor of Anderton. Soon afterwards, in the same year, Roger fell dead from his horse whilst riding from Ormskirk races.

[5] The Nelsons of Mawdesley and of Fairhurst Hall in Wrightington returned very imperfect pedigrees at the Visitations of 1613 and 1664. At this time there were two branches of the family, one residing at Mawdesley and the other at Fairhurst, the rather distinctive name of Maximilian being common to both. Several members of both families became Benedictine monks. There was a chapel in Fairhurst Hall which was regularly served till the beginning of the nineteenth century. They were allied to many of the most ancient Catholic families of the county.

[1] A junior branch of the Hesketh of Rufford Hall. She was probably the mother of Dom Thomas Hesketh, O.S.B., born at Mawdesley in 1655.

[2] The Harsnepps (Haresnape) appear in the rolls from the time of Eliz., and two of them became Benedictines in the eighteenth century.

[3] The Dicconsons were at this time represented by Hugh Dicconson, of Wrightington Hall, a county justice, whose grandfather, Edward Dicconson, of Eccleston and Dicconson in Coppull, brought Wrightington into the family through his marriage with the dau. and heiress of John Wrightington. Bishop Edward Dicconson, V.A.—N.D., third son of the above Hugh, was born at Wrightington Hall in 1670. There was a chapel in the hall, which is now occupied by the representative of the family, who has assumed the name of Dicconson, and the mission is still in existence.

[4] The ancient residence of this staunch family is still held by them, and the old chapel and priest's hiding-place, containing the skull of the martyred priest, George Haydock, may yet be seen. Father James Bruno Finch, the last of the English Carthusians, was the grandson of Thomas Finch, of Mawdesley, and his wife Mary, dau. of Wm Haydock, of Cottam Hall, by Jane, dau. of Hugh Anderton, of Euxton Hall. He was admitted into Douay College in 1761, and after the dissolution of the monastery at Nieuport found shelter for a time under the roof of the Augustinian convent of St Monica at Louvain, whence he came to England, and died at Fernyhalgh, Lancashire, in 1821. John ffinch, the layman martyred at Lancaster in 1584, was a member of the family.

[5] Laurence was the favourite family name of the Worthingtons of Crawshaw Hall in Adlington, who were intermarried with some good Catholic families, and some of them appear in the recusant rolls. Lau. Worthington, of Crawshaw, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1665.

[6] Thomas Nelson, of Fairhurst Hall, was son of Capt. Maxey Nelson, of the same (by Ellen, dau. of Wm Travers, of Nateby Hall), who was slain in the royal cause at Marston Moor in 1644. Thomas Nelson married, first, Bridget, dau.

of Robt Molyneux, of The Wood, by whom he had a dau., Ellen, wife of Nicholas Halliwell, of Harrock Hill, both named in the text, and, secondly, Anne, dau. of Thomas Hesketh, of Maynes Hall, by whom he had seven sons (besides two daughters), of whom Richard, the third, named in the text, was professed a Benedictine at Paris in 1679, and two others, Maurus and Anselm, were professed there in 1681 and 1683 respectively. The eldest son, Maximilian Nelson, succeeded to the estate. Eventually Fairhurst passed under the will of his uncle, another Maximilian Nelson, in 1764, to James Nelson Assheton, son of John Assheton, and ultimately was transferred through an heiress to the Riddells of Cheeseburn Grange, by whom it was sold. The last resident chaplain was Father William Hyacinth Houghton, O.P., who died at Fairhurst Hall in 1823, aged eighty-six. The estate now belongs to the Catholic family of Ainscough.

[1] Laurence Vaux, or Vause, as the name was generally spelt, the last Catholic warden of the collegiate church of Manchester, was of this stock. He was born at Blackrod, where the family mostly resided. He died of starvation, a confessor of the faith, in the Clink prison, in 1585. He was at one time sheltered by Edw. Standish, of Standish Hall, with whom he is said to have deposited his books, as well as some of the Manchester church plate and vestments. The Vause family appear in the recusant rolls throughout their continuance.

[1] Anne, dau. of William Blundell, of Crosby Hall, mar. Thomas Gillibrand, of Lower Chorley Hall, subsequently known as Gillibrand Hall. This ancient Catholic family ended in an heiress, Jane Gillibrand, who married John Hawarden, of Lower House, in Widnes, of another very eminent Catholic family, whose son, Thomas, assumed the name of Gillibrand. The latter's grandson, Henry Hawarden Gillibrand, in his infancy, in 1814, took the name of Fazakerley, agreeable to the will of Samuel Hawarden Fazakerley, of Fazakerley. Henry's father, Thomas Gillibrand, quarrelled with the priest on account of his refusal to allow him to smoke a long clay pipe, or churchwarden, whilst sitting in the family pew at chapel, and in consequence let his family wander off to the Protestant church, though he himself did not apostatize. Upon his death-bed he begged to be reconciled to the Church and requested his family to send for the priest, but instead they brought him the parson, and the poor man died in great distress. His grandson, a second Henry Hawarden Gillibrand Fazakerley, came to an untimely end, and the extensive estates passed to his three sisters and coheiresses, one of whom married Joscelyn Fazakerley Tate Westby, of Mowbreck Hall, and are now entirely dispersed.

[2] Bridget Chorley, baptized at Chorley, 25 Oct., 1597, was one of the daughters of Wm Chorley, of Chorley Hall, lord of that manor, by Elizabeth, dau. of John Crosse, of Crosse Hall, and died at Chorley in 1675. This family remained staunch to the very last, being literally stamped out by its sufferings for the faith and by its unfortunate adherence to the Stuarts. Richard Chorley, of Chorley Hall, was executed at Preston for taking part in the Rising of 1715; his son Charles was also condemned to death for the same cause, but died in prison at Liverpool, 8 March, 1715-6; another son, Richard, had his estates forfeited, and died s.p.; and two others, Dom John Edward Chorley, O.S.B., and Father Thomas Chorley, S.J., both came to untimely deaths caused by these troubles in 1718.

[3] The Tootells of Lower Healey Hall, Chorley, allied to many leading county families, were distinguished for their adherence to the faith. Oliver and Hugh were favourite family names. The most notable amongst the priests of the family were the Rev. Hugh Tootell alias Hesketh, otherwise known as Charles Dodd, the church historian. He was nephew of the Rev. Christopher Tootell alias Blacoe, dean of Amounderness and grand-vicar for Lancashire, etc.

[1] Thomas Worthington was a younger son of Thomas Worthington, of Blainscow Hall, in Coppull, by Mary, dau. of George Allen, of Rossall Grange, brother of Cardinal Allen. He died in 1679, and his widow in 1685. His nephew, Thos Worthington, of Blainscow, the squire at this period, was probably abroad. The family was descended from the Worthingtons, of Worthington, and acquired Blainscow with the heiress of Adam Blainscow. They were always staunch to the faith, for which they suffered extremely, both by fine and imprisonment, and finally came to an end about the middle of the eighteenth century. They gave many priests and nuns to the Church.

[2] Thomas Worthington, of Worthington Hall, a wood and plaster building erected by Edward Worthington in 1577, was son of Wm Worthington, of the same, who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, being then of the age of sixty-five. Thomas Worthington died in 1670, shortly after which the estate seems to have passed from the family.

[1] The name Critchley, Critchlow, Croitchley, Crouchley, Chrichlow, Chricklow, Churchloe, etc., may be found spelt in as many different forms as that of Shakespeare. The family annually appears in the recusant rolls from beginning to end. At one time it enjoyed a good position. Oliver Chrichlow, born about 1607, son of Ralph Chrichlow, sen., of Clayton, and Cath. Tootell, his wife, was thrown into the Tower of London whilst proceeding to Douay College in 1624 with his brother William. Another brother, Richard, was also captured on the Thames, and was imprisoned by the Archbishop of Canterbury. All three were subsequently ordained priests at the English College at Rome, and used the alias of Foster. Oliver eventually became chaplain to the Andertons at Clayton Hall, where he died and was buried at Leyland, 29 Augt, 1671. One of them about this time married a Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower, and obtained Clock House, Lea, where they resided till the early part of the nineteenth century.

[2] Her family probably resided here. Her husband, Ralph ffidler, resided at ffidlers, in Sidgreaves Lane, Lea, where his descendants continued till 1827. They were intermarried with the Halls, Haydocks, Postlethwaites, Carters, and other good Catholic families, of whom came many priests.

[3] An old recusant family. Dom William Dunstan Garstang, O.S.B., was born at Brindle in 1736 and died in 1814. Rev. Robert Garstang, who died in 1869, was of the same family.

[4] The Gerards, of St Helen's Well, Brindle, were a branch of the Gerards, of Bryn, now represented by Lord Gerard. One of them was ancestor of Henry Gerard, of Bamfurlong Hall, who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664. Early in the seventeenth century the Brindle Gerards obtained property at Haighton, their residence being subsequently known as Gerard's Hall, and finally as Haighton House. The last of this branch was a nun at Taunton, her brother, Evan John Gerard, having died unmarried in 1832, aged twenty-eight. His grandfather and namesake married secondly the widow of Henry Roper, tenth Baron Teynham. Haighton was then purchased by James Francis Anderton, whose son Wilfrid is the present owner. Some of the Gerards continued to reside at St Helen's Well, where Mass was said by Father John Penketh alias Birkett, S.J., in 1669 and subsequent years. They retained the faith, but gradually descended in the social scale, and the name is still common in Brindle.

[5] The Abbotts of Brindle were recusants throughout penal times, and in the nineteenth century gave several priests to the Church.

[1] The Cowpes, Coupes, or Coops were closely connected with the mission at Brindle, as they kept the chapel-house. Dom Thomas Jerome Coupe, O.S.B., born in 1754 at South Hill, Chorley, where the chapel was removed, came of this family.

[2] Andrew Almond was buried at Brindle 14 Nov., 1669.

[3] Of this family was Dom John Anselm Bolton, O.S.B., born at Brindle in 1735, and died at Birtley in 1802.

[1] Descended from John Breres, of Adlington, second son of Lawrence Breres, of Walton Hall, in the parish of Walton-on-the-Hill, by Eliz., dau. of Thos Gillibrand, of Chorley Hall. They appear regularly in the recusant rolls.

[2] John Trafford, sixth son of Sir Cecil Trafford, of Trafford, Knt, married Anne, dau. and heiress of Richard Ashton, of Croston Hall, and thus brought that estate into the Trafford family. He died 25 Feb., 1686, aged fifty-two, and his wife 15 Augt, 1699.

[3] Dorothy Osbaldeston was the sixth dau. of Alex. Osbaldeston, of Sunderland Hall, by Holcroft, dau. of Robt Hesketh, of Rufford Hall, and would only be on a visit to Croston Hall.

[4] Ursula was bur. at Croston 6 Augt, 1678, and her husband 27 Sept., 1679.

[5] There were several recusant families of the name of Watmough, probably related, as Laurence was common to them all. Dom Arthur Francis Watmough, O.S.B., born in 1665, came of one of them.

[6] Temperance Spencer was bur. at Croston 27 June, 1698.

[1] Dorothy Eastham was bur. at Croston 30 March, 1684.

[2] The Jumps were recusants at Hesketh cum Becconsall from the reign of Elizabeth, and have always retained the faith. Dom Harry Gilbert Jump, prior of Sheen Anglorum at Nieuport, who died in 1774, was a member of this family. He was born 1 Aug., 1712, admitted into Douay College, 14 June, 1730, left on account of ill-health 15 May, 1733, and subsequently joined the Carthusians.

[3] The Banisters of Hesketh Bank, recusants throughout, were an offshoot from the Banastres or Banisters of Bank Hall, now represented by Lord Lilford. Adam and Henry were names common to both families. There were several priests of the junior branch, the last of whom, the Rev. Henry Banister alias Rutter, of Dodding Green, son of Adam Banister, of Hesketh Bank, was uncle to the Rt Rev. Alexander Goss, D.D., second bishop of Liverpool.

[4] Richard Girlington was no doubt one of the family of Girlington, of Thurland Castle, but his name does not appear in the very imperfect pedigree returned at the Visitation of 1664. He died at Withnell, and was buried at Brindle, 23 Mch, 1698. His dau. Elizabeth was bur. 26 Jan,, 1693.

[5] Alexander Cliff was bur. at Brindle 10 June, 1685, and another of the same name, of Withnell, 23 March, 1687.

[6] In the Brindle registers this name appears as Fanderschew, Fendestcure, Fandersker, Faneskun, Fanscure, Fanspurr, and Vandersouer.

[7] His wife was bur. at Brindle 27 Dec., 1694, and he himself 16 Oct., 1709. The family at various times resided at Hoghton, Thorp Green in Brindle, and Balderstone. Dom Peter Wilcock, O.S.B., professed in Spain, died at St Gregory's, Douay, about 1619. Another Dom Peter Wilcock, O.S.B., born at Thorp Green, died in 1776. His brother James, by his first wife Margery, dau. of Mr Gerard, of Brindle, was great-grandfather of Edward Wilcock, born in 1810, a solicitor in Preston, who published some small pieces of poetry; and James's grandson by his second wife was the the Rev. Peter Wilcock, a Lisbon priest, who died in 1857, aged seventy-nine, and was the translator of Bede's Lives of the Abbots of Wearmouth.

[1] Ralph Woodward, of Shevington Hall, married Fleetwood, dau. of Alexander Breres, of Lathom, son and heir of Edmund Breres, of Lower Brockholes Hall, by Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Tyldesley, attorney general for the county. Ralph had a son and namesake, born in 1656, and another named John, besides three daughters, according to the pedigree he returned at the Visitation in 1664, but about twenty years after his death in 1683 the estate seems to have passed out of the family after a possession of centuries. The Woodwards were staunch recusants, and intermarried with many leading families of the county.

[1] Richard Longe, son of Elias Longe, M.D., of Ormskirk, and his wife Alice, dau. of Richard Ashton, of Croston Hall, was born in 1634, and resided, with his younger brother Hillary and his sister Ann at Burscough House, otherwise known as the Hall of Burscough or Little Burscough, in Lathom. In this very year, 1667, he and the above brother and sister joined by their only surviving brother, Henry Longe alias Cansfield, chaplain to the Sherburnes at Stonyhurst, conveyed Burscough Hall and fourteen acres of land to Peter Lathom, then of Mawdesley, but subsequently of Bispham, who by will dated 2 Apr., 1700, left the estate in secret trust for the benefit of the priest serving the mission. Lathom died in 1702, and from that period down to the present day there has been an unbroken succession of incumbents, though a new chapel replaced the old one in the hall about 1815, when the moat surrounding the mansion was filled up.

[1] The Goldens or Gouldens had always retained the faith, and were a very good Catholic family. Richard Goulden, of Winwick Hall, which at a later period became the rectory, was son of Thomas Goulden, of Winwick, and his wife Jane, and married Anne, dau. of John Hawarden, of Widnes, gent. He died in 1690. He had several brothers, John, Henry, James, all recusants 1623-39, and apparently Nicholas, who is said in an old clergy obituary to have gone to St Omer's College, whence he went to that at Valladolid, and subsequently passed under the names of Nicholas Fortescue and Fortescue Goulden. The same record says he was born at the Hall of Winwick, and died in London 5 May, 1676. He does not appear under his own name or that of Fortescue in the Valladolid Diary, but he may probably be identical with Nicholas Collins alias Ashton, who went to the College at the age of nineteen in 1627, and having been ordained priest was sent to England in 1633. The Goldens early in the eighteenth century resided at Hardshaw Hall, in Windle-with-Hardshaw, when Thomas Golden, of that place, and Richard Parkinson, of Broughton, married the two daughters of Richard Cottam, of Bannister Hey in Claughton. The latter was father of the Rev. Thomas Parkinson alias Golden and James Parkinson alias Cottam, born in 1713 and 1715 respectively. Mr Parkinson alias Golden served Blackbrook and Hardshaw Hall missions, was killed by a heavy stone slate falling upon his head, 7 March, 1751, and was buried at Windleshaw. Hardshaw Hall and the manor of St Helens subsequently passed to John Penketh Cottam, whose descendants spell their name Cotham.

Bart, at the age of twenty-one went to Maryland with Mr Calvert, Lord Baltimore's uncle. In 1635 he returned to Europe and raised a company of foot, with which he went into the service of the King of Spain in the Low Countries. Upon the civil wars breaking out he raised a regiment of foot guards for Queen Henrietta Maria, and upon arrival in England marched with her Majesty to Oxford. After the restoration he became cup-bearer in ordinary to the Queen-mother at Somerset House, an office which he retained till her majesty's death. He married, first, Frances, dau. of Sir Ralph Hansby, of Tickhill Castle, by whom he had a son who died in infancy, and, secondly, Judith, dau. of Sir Nicholas Stewart, of Pateshall, co. Northampton. Colonel Gerard died at Ince Hall, which he had purchased from his cousin Thomas Gerard, 5 Sept, 1686. Ince descended to the colonel's great granddaughter, Mary Gerard, who carried the estate in marriage to John Walmesley, father of Richard Walmesley, of Westwood House, in whose descendants it still remains. Ince Old Hall was a half-timbered house surrounded by a moat, and the domestic chapel was regularly served throughout the days of the penal laws.

[1] Ancestor of the Rev. Ralph Platt, forty-five years priest at Puddington Hall, Cheshire, who died there 13 Feb., 1837, aged seventy-eight, whose brother, John, of Orford, near Warrington, was father of Canon James Platt, of Bishop Thornton, and the Very Rev. Ralph Provost Platt, D.D., of Dodding Green, who died in 1874.

[1] Edward Winstanley, gent., died in 1680, and his wife six years earlier. The family was descended from the Winstanleys of Winstanley Hall, in the adjoining township of Winstanley, where Edmund Winstanley died in 1593. A namesake of the latter in a previous generation married Mary, relict of Thomas Byrom, of Byrom, and dau. of Sir Thomas Langton, Baron of Newton, by Eliz., dau. of Sir Edward Stanley, Lord Monteagle; and the family intermarried with the Molyneux, Crosse, ffrance, Culcheth, and other leading families, Edward's son William, of Highfield, in Pemberton, was a non-juror in 1717, and his son Edward married Margery, dau. of Thomas Hothersall, of Hothersall Hall, and coheiress to her brother John. There were several priests of the family, of whom Edmund, some time chaplain to the Duke of Norfolk at Worksop, died at Maple Durham in 1783, and his nephew and namesake, Dr Edmund Winstanley, died president of the English College at Lisbon in 1852.

[2] Ralph Scott married Eliz., dau. of Cuthbert Hesketh, of White Hill, and died in 1669. The family was a very ancient one, and always remained staunch to the faith. The Scots subsequently intermarried with the Hawardens and other good families, and ended in the last half of the eighteenth century with Mary, dau. and heiress of Thomas Scott, of Wigan, and his wife Alathea, coheiress and surviving sister of Christopher Anderton, of Wigan.

[3] James Orrell died in 1671. His father, Humphrey, was a recusant as early as 9 Car. I. The family claimed to be descended from the Orrells of Turton Tower, who represented the original family seated at Orrell. James's son Humphrey removed the family seat to Blackbrook House, in Parr. He married Ann, dau. of Christopher Gradell, of Barbles Moor, and his wife, a Nelson of Fairhurst, and was succeeded by his son James, who was father of the two priests, John and Joseph. The last male of the family, the Rev. Philip Orrell, died at Ushaw College in 1866, after which the estate passed to charitable uses, and the mansion became a convent. The Orrells claimed the lordship of Parr, but held no manorial court.

[4] Of this family were the Revs. James Rigby alias Barker, D.D., born about 1671, and Lawrence Rigby alias Barker, born 1675, sons of Alexander Rigby and his wife Margaret Jameson. The former died in London in 1731, and the latter, after being Superior of St Gregory's Seminary at Paris, died in the same year at Wycliffe. Of a later generation were the Revs Thomas Rigby, D.D., V.G. of the London District, who died in 1815, aged sixty-eight, and John in 1669. His father died in 1686. William Cowley alias Martin, who became an alumnus of Douay in 1672, was a member of the Chapter in 1710. Dom Wm Greg. Cowley, O.S.B., probably of the same family, born in 1732, died in 1799.

[1] Henry Eccleston, of Eccleston Hall, died in 1665, aged twenty-eight. His widow, Eleanor, was dau. of Robert Blundell, of Ince Blundell. Their only son, Thomas Eccleston became a Jesuit, and died 30 Dec., 1743, aged eighty-four. Consequently the estate passed to his second cousin once removed, John Gorsuch, of Gorsuch Hall, whose grandfather, Edward Gorsuch, who died in 1656, had married Mary, dau. of Henry Eccleston, of Eccleston Hall, by Mary, dau. of John Osbaldeston, of Osbaldeston Hall. John Gorsuch assumed the name of Eccleston, but died s.p. in 1742, when the Eccleston estate passed to Basil Thomas Scarisbrick, of Scarisbrick Hall, who likewise assumed the name of Eccleston.

[2] The Malbons, descended from an old Cheshire family, were recusants residing at "Glugsmore" in Eccleston temp. Eliz., and also at Prescot. One of them, John Malbon, was at Scarisbrick Hall in 1688, and was supposed by Father Bulbeck to be the chaplain (Foley, Records S.J. VII, 1404), but there is no record of the name in any of the college registers. In 1717, Robert Malbon, of Wootton Wawen, co. Warwick, gent., registered an estate in Lancashire. The family was connected with the Gerards of Bryn.

[3] He died in 1670. The family appears in the recusant rolls as of Windle and Parr from a much earlier period.

[4] Henry Norreys returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1665, being then of the age of sixty-five. His wife was Catherine, dau. of Sir Alexander Barlow, of Barlow Hall. His son Richard, who died in 1687, aged forty-four, married Helen, dau. of Henry Carter, of Roby. Richard Norreys, younger brother of Henry, married Anne, dau. of Sir Cuthbert Clifton, of Clifton and Lytham.

[1] The Shepherds of Sefton, and of Broughton near Preston, where their residence adjoined the old chapel at Lady Well, Fernyhalgh, were a family greatly respected by the clergy, who entrusted them with much church property. The above Robert Shepherd is described as of Broughton, gent., in 1685, and one of the same name, with a wife Alice and a sister Cicely, of Sefton, registered his estate as a non-juror in 1717. Robert's son, John, born 7 Jan., 1678, was ordained priest at Lisbon, and died in London, 27 Oct., 1761. He was related to the Tootells and Mellings. Another priest, the Rev. Thomas Shepherd, born 28 Oct., 1720, was son of William Shepherd, of Croxteth, gent., and his wife, Mary Blundell. He was ordained at Douay, and died at Nuthill in Holderness 19 Jan., 1774. Joseph Shepherd, son of William Shepherd, of Broughton, gent., and his wife Priscilla Barton, born 27 July, 1738, was ordained at Douay, 22 Dec., 1764, and died rector of the English College at Valladolid, 3 Oct., 1796. His nephew and namesake, born at Bolton, was ordained priest at Valladolid, and established the mission in his native town, whence he promoted missions at Rochdale and Bury, and died at Bolton 28 Jan., 1825. Dame Anne Mary Teresa Shepherd, O.S.B., born at Sefton in 1762, and her sister, Dame Helen Augustina, born in 1764, were abbesses of the convent at Cambrai 1802-6 and 1814-18 respectively.

[2] Henry Hulgreave, of Halewood, died in 1672.

[3] The Norreys family, of Speke Hall, in the parish of Childwall, one of the most ancient in the county, hitherto had been staunch in its recusancy. Thomas Norreys, the squire of this period, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664. He appears in the recusant rolls temp. Car. I, but through marrying a Protestant his family fell away from the faith of their ancestors. William Norreys, mentioned above, was a younger brother of Thomas, and was still on the rolls in 1681, and descendants of younger sons retained the faith for long afterwards. Many of them joined the Society of Jesus, of whom were three of the sons of John Norreys, of Speke, and his wife, Eleanor Beauvoy, one of them dying in 1722, aged sixty-eight. The family soon came to an end after its apostacy, and the estate passed with the marriage of a coheiress in 1736 to Lord Sydney Beauclerk, fifth son of Charles, first Duke of St Albans, a worthless fortune hunter, whose son sold the estate to Richard Watt. The Hall, re-erected by Edward Norreys in 1598, is the finest specimen of black and white existing in the county.

[1] The Chaloners of Speke and Garston were great sufferers for the faith,and annually appear in the recusant rolls. For several years from 1582 one of the daughters, Helen Chaloner, was immured in Salford Gaol, and very cruelly treated. Another member of the family, John Chaloner, was ordained priest at Douay in 1605; William was ordained at Valladolid, entered the Society in the Province of Castile in 1659, and died at St Albans College; Henry Chaloner alias Ormes, only son of William Chaloner, and his wife Alice Ormes, of Garston, entered the Society, and died at Liége in 1673, aged thirty-four; and finally Edward, son of Edward Chaloner, of Speke, and his wife Jane Harrison, the widow named above, born in May, 1640, died a student in the English College at Lisbon in 1662. The Chaloners always retained the faith, In the nineteenth century they amassed a considerable fortune in the mahogany and timber trade, the last of the family, Edward Chaloner of Oak Hill, Liverpool, dying 12 Feb., 1874, aged seventy-five.

[1] Fourth son of William Norreys, of Speke Hall, by Margt, dau. of Sir Thomas Saulesbury, of Llewenny, co. Denbigh, and younger brother of Thomas Norreys, the then squire of Speke, who married Cath., dau. of Sir Henry Garaway, alderman of the City of London, and whose children were the first to be brought up Protestants.

[2] The Dwerrihouse family, always Catholic, leased a farm in Greasindale within Garston for many generations from the Norreys family. Sister Mary Josepha Dwerrihouse, O.S.B., dau. of Thomas Dwerrihouse, of Greasindale, yeoman, died at Cambria in 1786, aged twenty-five.

[3] The Hitchmoughs of Garston and Speke, tenants of the Norreys family, annually appear in the rolls from the earliest period. Otherwise such good Catholics, they had the misfortune to give birth to one who turned out perhaps the worst informer, priest-catcher, and persecutor of the eighteenth century. This was Richard Hitchmough alias Barker, grandson of Edward Hitchmough above, and son of Thomas Hitchmough, of Garston, and his wife Mary Barker. He was sent with some of his relations to Douay College, whence he was expelled for ill-behaviour in 1699, but proceeding to Rome obtained admittance into the English College there, at the age of twenty-four, and was ordained priest in 1702. Upon his return to England he served at several missions in Lancashire, but owing to his irregular life he was sent to a community in France. Thence he was quickly expelled on account of drunkenness, in or before 1714, and coming to England set up as government-informer and priest-catcher, and in that capacity apprehended in London in 1714 his old college friend at Douay, the Rev. Laurence Breres, and also endeavoured to seize Bishop Giffard. When the Forfeited Estates Commission was appointed after the Jacobite rising of 1715, Hitchmough became very active, especially in his native county, and was responsible for the incarceration of many Catholics and the loss of an immense amount of Catholic property. For his infamous services he was rewarded, in Nov., 1720, with the vicarage of Whenby, in the arch-diocese of York, but this he did not long enjoy, for, as Mr Payne points out (Records of the English Catholics of 1715), the living was declared vacant "per mortem naturalem Richardi Hitchmough" on the date of the next presentation in April, 1724. This appears to be the only record of the death of this unhappy wretch.

[1] Eleanor Holcroft, senior, was the widow of Thomas Holcroft, of Holcroft Hall, in Culcheth. She was daughter of Thomas Birch, of Birch Hall. She had two daughters, coheiresses to the Holcroft estates, Eleanor, named in the text, and Margaret. Mrs Holcroft married, secondly, Henry Bunbury, of the family of baronets of Bunbury and Stanney, co. Chester, and died at Holcroft Hall in 1711. The mansion and a moiety of the manor of Holcroft passed to the Tyldesleys, her daughter Eleanor having married in 1679 the Jacobist diarist, Thomas Tyldesley, of Morleys Hall in Astley and Myerscough Lodge. Mrs Tyldesley died in Nov., 1693, and the moiety of the Holcroft property passed to her son, Edward Tyldesley, who joined the Chevalier de St George at Preston in 1715, and was tried for high treason but acquitted. His son, James Tyldesley, who was out with Prince Charles Edward in 1745, died in 1768, soon after which Holcroft Hall, Morleys Hall in Astley, and the remnant of the ancient Tyldesley estates passed into the hands of strangers, and the family is now lost in obscurity. Margaret, the younger daughter of Mrs Holcroft and coheiress to the Holcroft estates, married, first, Sir Richard Standish, Bart, of Duxbury, by whom she had a son, Sir Thomas Standish, and, secondly, Sir Thomas Stanley, Bart, of Bickerstaff Hall, whose eldest son by his first wife, Sir Edward Stanley, succeeded as eleventh Earl of Derby.

[2] Richard Mascy, of Rixton Hall, who died in December of this very year, 1667, was twice married, first, to Frances, dau. of Francis Plowden, of Plowden Hall, co. Salop, who died in 1645, and by whom he had two sons—Hamlet, born 1641, who died in his father's lifetime in Dec., 1665, and Francis, born about 1642, who died in 1675, when Rixton passed to his son Richard—and two daughters, Doro. and Frances, who were already nuns abroad at this time; secondly, to Alice, dau. of Sir Cuthbert Clifton, of Lytham, who died in May, 1674, and by whom he had a son, Richard, who died in 1681, and a daughter, Catherine, who became a nun. The last may be identical with "Hamletta" of the text. Eventually the estates passed to George Meynell, of Aldborough, co. York, whose father and namesake, of Aldborough and Dalton, married, in 1681, Mary, sole child and heiress of the above Hamlet Mascy, by Margaret, dau. and coheir of Sir Edward More, of Thelwall, co. Chester, Bart.

[1] Richard Sale, of Hopcar, Bedford, in the parish of Leigh, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664. The family always retained the faith, and appears on the recusant rolls from the very first. Richard Sale was the son and heir of William Sale, of Hopcar, by Anne, dau. of Sir John Nevill, of Leversedge, co. York, and coheiress of her brother, Father Edmund Nevill, S.J., who died in 1646, aged eighty-six. His uncle, John Sale, younger son of Gilbert Sale, by Agnes, dau. of Roger Urmston, of Lostock, was a priest serving in this district in 1632, and probably used the alias of Urmston; and his younger brother, Father Edmund Sale alias Nevill, S.J., died in 1647, aged forty-three. He married Philippa, dau. of Christopher Wyvill, eldest son of Sir Marmaduke Wyvill, Knt and Bart, of Constable Burton, co. York, and died in 1685. He had three sons and two daughters—Gilbert, his successor, aged thirty in 1664; Richard Sale alias Nevill, a secular priest, baptized 1641, came to England from the English College at Rome about this time, and eventually was stationed at Burs-cough Hall till his death about Nov., 1713; John, who died in 1701; Anne, as in the text; and Mary, who was probably married at this time. Gilbert died at Hopcar in 1715, and his widow, Alice, registered her estate as a Catholic non-juror in 1717. They had two sons, William and Richard, the latter of whom was residing at Astley in 1754 with his wife Mary and son John. The eldest, William, succeeded to Hopcar, and registered that estate as a non-juror in 1717. He married Jane, dau. of Edmund Tristram, of Ince Blundell, the marriage covenant bearing date 22 Apr., 1718, and had two sons, Gilbert Sale, who succeeded his father and sold the Hopcar estate 4 July, 1770, and Father John Sale, S.J., born in 1722, who served at Crosby Hall, Bedford Leigh, Holywell, and Furness, dying at the latter place in 1791. For a very long period Mass was said in Hopcar, an old mansion surrounded by a moat, where the Catholics of Leigh attended as well as in the chapels at Bedford, the seat of the Shuttleworths, and at The Parsonage, the seat of the Urmstons.

[1] Richard Shuttleworth, of Shuttleworth House, Bedford, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, being then of the age of twenty-two. His ancestors had been lords of the manor of Bedford for many generations, and he himself became joint-lord of West Leigh through his mother, Frances Bradshaw, of the preceding entry, whose first husband was Richard Shuttleworth, who died 1651, and her second, George Bradshaw, of Greenacre, whose will was dated 24 Dec., 1656, and proved in 1661. She was one of the daughters and coheirs of Richard Urmston, of The Parsonage, lord of the manor of West Leigh, by Alice, daughter of Edward Eccleston, of Eccleston Hall, and her son, Richard Shuttleworth, administered to her estate in 1696. The latter's son and namesake was a spendthrift and an apostate, and brought the family into obscurity. Anne Shuttleworth, referred to in the text, was Richard's sister. They had an uncle Edward (or Edmund) Woolstan Shuttleworth, O.S.B., who died in 1677. He was one of the three younger sons of Richard Shuttleworth, of Bedford, by his second wife, Mary, dau. of James Holland, of Dalton, and whilst on the mission used the alias of Dalton.

[2] Peter Urmston in later rolls is described as of Bedford in West Leigh, gent. His son John Urmston, baptized by Father Alexander Holland, S.J., 4 July, 1665, went from St Omer's College to that at Rome in 1684 to study for the Church, but he does not appear to have persevered. He stated on entering the college that he had one brother and three sisters, and also an uncle, John Urmston, a priest, then studying in Spain. The latter statement wants some explanation, for the Rev. John Urmston was chaplain at Broughton Hall, the seat of the Tempests in Yorkshire, from 1655 till 1673, save a brief interval, and in 1675 he was serving the mission in Lancashire. Peter Urmston's will was proved in 1693. He was probably a grandson of Peter Urmston, of West Leigh, younger son of Richard Urmston, lord of West Leigh, by Katherine, dau. of Thomas Starkey, of Stretton, co. Chester. All the family were staunch recusants.

[1] Brian Arrowsmith was a nephew of the martyr, Father Brian Edmund Arrowsmith alias Bradshaw and Rigby, S.J., whose "Holy Hand" is now at St Oswald's, Ashton. The martyr was the son of Robert Arrowsmith, of Haydock, and his wife Margery Gerard, a daughter of a junior branch of the Gerards of Bryn. In her widowhood this lady is found annually in the recusant rolls from 42 Eliz. (1599–1600) to 20 Jac. I (1622-23). The martyr took the name of Edmund, by which he is generally known, in confirmation, no doubt after his uncle, the Rev. Edmund Arrowsmith, D.D., who was ordained priest at Rheims in 1587, and 1591 became professor of casuistry in that college. Father Brian was born at Haydock in 1585, and suffered at Lancaster in 1628. Robert Arrowsmith, of Haydock, the martyr's brother, appears on the recusant rolls in 1625-26, and his widow Sibyl was living at Parr in 1630–31 with her son Brian, who subsequently seems to have returned to Haydock as in the text. Some of the family eventually settled in Barton, near Preston. Richard Arrowsmith, of this branch, married a daughter of Nicholas Roskell, of Garstang, and established a banking business in Preston, which was carried on by his son Robert under the title of Roskell, Arrowsmith, and Kendall till its failure about 1870. Their relative, the Rev. Roger Arrowsmith, died at Lytham n 1886, aged sixty-two.

[1] John Barrow, of Standish-gate, Wigan, died in 1676. He was probably nearly related to Gilbert Barrow, of Wigan, who died in 1669, and whose daughters, Anne and Jane, married respectively Henry Ashton, of Preston, and Nicholas Pennington, of Wigan. About the same period Anne, dau. of Hugh Barrow, of Wigan, married Richard Molyneux, of Hawkley Hall.

[2] The fforths, or Fords, were an old family in Wigan and district. Alexander fforth, of Standish, who died in 1624, appears in the rolls temp. Jac. I. Hugh fforth, who was an alderman of Wigan and died in 1581, married Ellen, dau. of Adam Rigby, of Wigan, and her brother, Alexander Rigby, who married Jane, dau. of Thomas Laithwaite, of Wigan, was father of Father Alexander Rigby, O.P., and founded the family of Rigby of Burgh Hall and Layton Hall. A later Hugh fforth of Wigan left a dau. and heir Dorothy, the wife of Col. Wm Daniell, of Wigan, aged forty temp. Visitation 1665.

[3] The Laithwaites formerly owned The Meadows, Pemberton, in the parish of Wigan. About this time it passed to the Marklands, of Pemberton Hall, one of whom appears in the text. There is still an old farmhouse in Pemberton known as "Laithwaite House." Henry Laithwaite, of The Meadows, by Jane Bolton, his wife, had four sons Jesuits, all of whom used the alias of Kensington, and one, the eldest, that of Scott also. Their names were Thomas, born 1576, Edward, born 1582, John, born 1585, and Francis, born 1589. Their father and their uncle John Laithwaite suffered imprisonment and great persecution in 1577 (vide Gibson's Lydiate Hall, pp. 214–45, 240, and P.R.O. Dom Eliz., Vol. CXVIII, Nos. 20–1). In 1579 a priest named John Lowe alias Jenson came over from Rheims and was entertained at The Meadows by Henry Laithwaite; and in 1586–88 Alexander Markland, another Rheims priest, one of the family previously mentioned, served the mission at The Meadows.

[4] The Farnworths would seem to have acquired Runshaw Hall, in Euxton, parish of Leyland, soon after this time, and this estate was registered by Edward Farnworth, of Runshaw Hall, as a Catholic non-juror in 1717. He was son of William, named above. Dom John Jerome Farnworth, O.S.B., and his brother, Dom Ralph Cuthbert Farnworth, O.S.B., were both born at Runshaw, the latter in 1680, and were apparently brothers of this Edward. The non-juror's dau. Mary married William Patten, of London, third son of Thomas Patten, of Patten Lane, Preston, ancestor of Lord Winmarleigh, and had issue one son, Dom Thomas Patten, O.S.B., born in Lancashire in 1727, who came to the northern province in 1758, served Standish Hall in 1767–69, and died at Douay in 1787, and two daughters Margaret and Elizabeth.

His mother's marriage settlement was dated 2 Oct., 1634, by which the manor and family chapel at Formby were entailed. The Formbys did not return a pedigree at any of the Visitations, and that appearing in Foster's Lancashire Pedigrees, in 1873, is most unsatisfactory. Richard Formby, the recusant of 1667, died in 1681. His wife, Ann, is said to have been the widow of Robert Hesketh, of North Meols Hall, the marriage taking place in 1647. He was succeeded by his son and namesake, who died in 1698, leaving by his wife, Alice Rimmer, whom he married in 1682, a son and successor, Richard, born in that year, who married in 1705 Mary, dau. and heir of Thomas Norres, of Ince, belonging to a Catholic yeomanry family said to be descended from a younger son of Norreys of Speke Hall. This Richard would seem to have been the first of his family to apostatize. His descendant, the Rev. Henry Formby, who died in 1884, aged sixty-seven, was one of the Oxford converts of 1846. Mass was said in Formby Hall down to the end of the seventeenth century. One of the family, Edward, became a Carthusian, and died at Nieuport in 1720. Junior branches of the family were settled at Formby and Ince Blundell, and to one of these belonged Richard Formby, an alumnus of Douay, who left the college on account of ill-health in his second years' philosophy, 23 Mch, 1723 (Douay Diary MS.). Other members of one of these branches were the Very Rev. Matthias Canon Formby, who died at Stretford in 1892, and his nephew, the Rev. Henry Formby, who died in 1890.

[1] A cadet of the Ditchfields, of Ditton Hall, in the parish of Prescot, who returned a very long pedigree at the Visitation of 1567, and another at that of 1613. He died in 1683, and his widow in 1686. He may be identical with John, younger brother of Edward Ditchfield, of Ditton Hall, a recusant, whose dau. and heir, Elizabeth, married John Hoghton, of Park Hall, and was living a recusant at Ditton, and then a widow, in 1680. Edward's uncle, Edward, was ordained priest at Douay in 1619, was subsequently imprisoned and pardoned by Charles I, and was living in Lancashire in 1632. In recent times the hall became the residence of the late Marchioness Stapleton-Bretherton, who in 1872 allowed some exiled German Jesuits to open a college there. Upon their departure, in 1895, it was carried on as a Jesuit mission, and in 1903 the Sisters of Nazareth opened a home in the old hall.

[1] The Hawetts were intermarried with many good Catholic families. Richard Hawett, of Ormskirk, died in 1668. He was probably father of Dom Edmund Hawett, O.S.B., born at Ormskirk, and professed at Paris in 1683, who died in Dublin in 1688. Jane, dau. of Thomas Hawett, of Ormskirk, and his wife, a dau. of Hugh Holland, of Roby, married in 1709 John Westby, of White Hall, in Upper Rawcliffe, and died in 1745. She was probably sister to Dame Frances Mary Winefrid Hawett, O.S.B., of Cambrai, who was born in 1685 and died in 1734. In 1717 Cecilia Hawett, widow, returned as a Catholic non-juror an annuity of £80 out of the Bamfurlong Hall estate in Abram, the seat of her former husband, Henry Gerard, who died in 1691, when the estate passed to his brother, Ralph Gerard alias Harrison, priest, who died there in 1699. In 1716 Hitchmough, the apostate priest, declared that the house in Liverpool held by the widow of Richard Hawett, of Liverpool, merchant, belonged to James Almond, senior, a priest at Speke. This good priest's death is commemorated in the Rev. Thomas Anderton's MS. in Sept., 1719. One of the same name, born in 1645, and ordained in 1667, is recorded in the diary of the English College at Rome to have died in England 22 April, 1670 (Foley, Records, S.J., VI). This was probably an unfounded report, for apparently he lived till 1719.

[1] These Blundells may possibly have derived from the family of the territorial lords of Ince Blundell, but they can be traced back as yeomen for a very long period. Laurence Blundell's will was proved in 1682. He was probably son of Richard Blundell, of Ince Blundell, and his wife Cicely, who were recusants as early as 1633 with Henry Blundell and his wife Margaret. Richard was still on the rolls at this time and appears elsewhere in the text; his will was proved in 1668, and that of his widow, Cecily, in 1692. In 1717 Richard Blundell, yeoman, apparently son of Laurence, registered as a Catholic non-juror his leasehold house at Carr Side in Ince Blundell. By his wife, Elizabeth, he had sons, Laurence, Francis, born 13 Aug., 1717, and Richard. Francis became a Jesuit, was at Brough Hall, Yorks., from 1741, or earlier, till his removal to The Grange, Formby, where he is found in 1767, and remained there till his death 1 Feb., 1779. Richard, the second son, married (covenant dated 24 Nov., 1748) Ellen, dau. of John Chadwick, of Birkacre, Chorley, and sister of the Rev. John Chadwick, of Weld Bank, V.G. of Lancashire, and removed from Carr-Side to Preston, where he became a corn-merchant. He had sons Richard, John, and Francis, born 30 June, 1753, who arrived at Douay from the junior school at Esquerchin 2 June, 1767, was ordained priest in 1779, and sent to Formby to take his uncle's place. In 1784 he was transferred to Stonyhurst, commenced the register there on 26 Sept., and remained till his death 23 Dec., 1792. John Blundell, the second son, succeeded to his father's business in Preston. His son, Francis Blundell, settled in Drogheda, and married his second cousin, Frances, dau. of John Chadwick, of Drogheda, and sister of Dr James Chadwick, Bishop of Hexham and Newcastle; and two of his daughters were mothers respectively of Dr Bernard O'Reilly, Bishop of Liverpool, and the Rev. John Canon Worthy, of Weld Bank, and a third, Helen, born 21 June, 1785, died a nun at York Bar in 1862.

The Blundells, lords of Ince Blundell, for some reason seem to have escaped being on the roll for this year, though the squire of the day, Henry Blundell, who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1665, appears with his wife in later years. He married Bridget, dau. of Major-General Sir Thomas Tyldesley, of Morleys and Myerscough, and died in 1688. His great uncle, William Blundell, born 1568, studied at Rheims and Rome, was ordained priest, and died in the latter college in 1596. The family retained the faith till it became extinct in the male line upon the death of Charles Robert Blundell, of Ince Blundell Hall, 28 Oct., 1837, when the estate passed to the Welds, who assumed the additional name of Blundell.

[1] The will of Wm Blanchard, of Ince Blundell, yeom., was proved in 1668, and that of a namesake in 1676, and of Edward Blanchard, of the same, in 1676. Edward's son George settled at Alston, near Preston, and founded the family of Blanchard of Grimsargh House, the last of whom, Capt. John Blanchard, died in 1835, aged twenty-eight.

[2] William Blundell, of Crosby Hall, best known from his Cavalier's Note Book, edited by the Rev. T. E. Gibson in 1880, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1665. He represented one of the most ancient families in Lancashire, and a tolerable but not very full pedigree appears in Foster's Lancashire Pedigrees of 1873. He married Anne, dau. of Sir Thomas Haggerston, of Haggerston Castle, co. Northumberland, Bart, and died 24 May, 1698, aged seventy-eight. His brother Richard died a scholastic S.J. at Rome in 1649, aged twenty-three; and his eldest and third sons, Nicholas and Thomas, born in 1640 and 1648, became Jesuits, and died respectively in 1680 and 1702. His second son, William, named in the text, succeeded to the estate, and married Mary, dau. of Rowland Eyre, of Hassop Hall, co. Derby, and was father of Nicholas Blundell, the last male representative of the family, who died in 1737. By Frances, dau. of Marmaduke, second Lord Langdale, Nicholas left two daughters, the younger of whom, Frances, eventually became sole heiress to the Crosby estates. She married Henry Peppard, whose son Nicholas succeeded to Crosby and assumed the name of Blundell, the estates having since been held by his descendants.

[1] Bryan Lea married Eleanor, dau. of William Holland, of Sutton Hall, whose grandson, Edward Holland, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664. Brian registered his estate as a Catholic non-juror in 1717. Elsewhere he is described as of Lea Green in Sutton, gent. His dau. and heir, Catherine, married John Hawarden, of Lower House, Widnes, lord of that manor, and registered her estate as a Catholic non-juror 16 April, 1717, being then a widow. Her second son, Captain Bryan Hawarden, married Mary, sister and heiress of Robert ffazakerley, of Fazakerley, and was father of John Hawarden ffazakerley, whose son Lieut.-Col. Samuel Hawarden ffazakerley, of Fazakerley Hall, was the last of that branch of the family. Mrs Bryan Hawarden subsequently married Thomas Mostyn, brother of Sir Piers Mostyn, of Talacre, Bart. Bryan Lea was still living in 1717, when he registered his estate as a Catholic non-juror.

[2] His will was proved in 1692.

[3] She was dau. of John Molyneux, of New Hall, and widow of John Johnson, of Great Crosby.

[4] He died at Eccleston about March, and his will was proved in 1679. His description as husbandman is evidently an error for gentleman, like that of Bryan Lea and many others. His sole dau. and heir, Margaret, born 24 Dec., 1672, and therefore not the one named in the text, who was probably his sister, married 10 Feb., 1688, Richard Worthington, of Blainscow Hall, who was born 17 Oct., 1664, and was outlawed in 1716 for joining the Chevalier de St-George in the previous year. His father, Thomas Worthington, of Blainscow Hall, who married Jane, dau. of John Plumpton, of Plumpton Hall, co. York, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, and appears in the recusant roll for 1679.

[1] In all probability Miss Langhorne was a near relative, perhaps a sister, of the venerable martyr, Richard Langhorne, barrister of the Inner Temple, who fell a victim to the machinations of the Green Ribbon Club, worked by means of the perjuries of Oates, Dugdale, Bedloe and Prance, and suffered at Tyburn in 1679. The will of James Langhorne, who was probably employed in some professional capacity by Lord Molyneux, at Croxteth, and had thus brought Miss Langhorne into Lancashire, was proved in 1682. The name is otherwise foreign to this county. It may account for a relic of the martyr in a cross having been preserved in this locality to the present time, now being in the possession of Mr James Barton, of Weld Bank.

[1] John Harrison and Alice, or Aloysia, his wife, previously resided at Windle, in the parish of Prescot, where their son, Matthias, was born, and baptized 6 March, 1638, by the Rev. Peter Travis alias Barber, who may have been a relative and suggested Matthias in memory of his own grandfather, Matthew Travis of Windle, who underwent so much persecution during the reign of Elizabeth. Matthias Harrison was ordained priest at Rome in 1665, came to the mission in 1666 (Foley, Records S.J., VI, 403), and died in the village of Upholland, near Wigan, 16 Dec., 1675, and was buried there two days later (Chapter Records MS.).

[2] Mrs Lathom was probably the mother of Dr Richard Lathom, of Aintree House, whose wife Judith opened a school at Liverpool during the reign of James II, and received a royal mandate in its favour in 1686, after she and her husband had been prosecuted under the penal laws for keeping a school in Liverpool (Picton's Memorials of Liverpool, I, 132). He appears in the recusant rolls for 1679, seq., as residing in Aintree. He had a chapel in his house, and after his death some of the pictures were removed to the chapel in Ned Howard's house in Little Crosby. Richard Lathom, surgeon, of Aintree, was buried at Walton-on-the-Hill 24 June, 1713, the corpse being carried to the church in the coach of Nicholas Blundell, of Crosby Hall, who was one of his executors (Blundell's Diary, pp. 91, 107, 115, 120–2).

[1] The Hawardens of Widnes returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1613 and 1665. The family had always been staunch to the faith, and gave many priests to the Church. John Hawarden, who was sixty years of age in 1665, died in 1667 or 1668, and was succeeded by his son and namesake, the one of the text, Jane née Culcheth, being the widow of his great uncle, Thomas Hawarden, a younger son of John Hawarden, of Widnes, by his second wife. About this time a younger son founded a branch of the family at Upton, in Widnes cum Appleton, and the parent line, of Lower House in Widnes, lords of the manor, again divided into two families, the elder line taking the name of Hawarden-Gillibrand, after marrying with the heiress of Gillibrand of Gillibrand Hall, and the younger the name of Hawarden ffazakerley, after marrying the heiress of the ffazakerleys, of Fazakerley Hall. All these properties were eventually united in 1814 in the person of Henry Hawarden Gillibrand ffazakerley, about which time this hitherto staunch Catholic family lapsed into Anglicanism, nominally through a difference with the priest at Chorley declining to allow the squire to smoke in chapel. One misfortune after another quickly followed, and the family became extinct in the male line upon the tragic death, through a coal-pit explosion, of the young squire, Henry Hawarden Gillibrand ffazakerley, in the middle of last century, after which all the estates were dispersed.

[1] Margaret, dau. of Edward, second son of Edward Norreys, of Speke Hall, became the second wife of Edward Ireland, of Lydiate Hall, who died 1 April, 1637. She lived to a great age, continuing to pay her fines for recusancy, as all her family and her husband's had done, till her death in 1695. The first wife of Edward Ireland was Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Biddulph, of Biddulph Hall, co. Stafford. The Irelands of Lydiate, descended from a second son of Sir John de Ireland, of The Hutt in Hale, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1657. The widow's son, Laurence Ireland, born about 1634, married Anne, dau. of Edward Scarisbrick, of Scarisbrick Hall, by whom he had two daughters, Margaret, the wife of Sir Charles Anderton, of Lostock Hall, Bart, and Katharine, a nun at Dunkirk. After his wife's death, in 1663, Laurence Ireland became a Jesuit, and died at York in 1673, when the Lydiate estate passed to the Andertons. A picture of the beautiful old black and white hall, with its full history and pedigrees of its various owners, will be found in Gibson's Lydiate Hall and its Associations, 1876.

[2] Robert Molyneux, of The Wood, in Melling, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, being then of the age of twenty-five. He married Frances, dau. and heir of William Lathom, of Mosborough Hall, in Rainford, to which he removed and died in 1680. His son and namesake succeeded to both estates and married Anne, dau. of Sir James Poole, of Poole Hall, co. Chester, Bart, and his son and heir, William Molyneux, seems finally to have abandoned The Wood as a residence. The latter married Frances, dau. of James Gorsuch, of Gorsuch

Hall, and dying 11 Mch, 1744, the family became extinct in the male line, the extensive estates devolving upon his dau. and sole heiress, Frances, who in 1752 conveyed them in marriage to Sir Edward Blount, of Sodington, co. Worcester, Bart. The Molyneux family of The Wood, always staunch to the faith like the parent stock, was descended from a second son of the Sefton line, and in 1567 returned a pedigree of fourteen generations.

[1] Edward Tatlock, of Kirkby, yeo., a recusant in 1626, had a son, John, baptized at Walton in 1613. He may be identical with the Edward named in the text. The family resided at Tatlock House, in Kirkby. John Tatlock, late in the sixteenth or early in the seventeenth century, leased Cunscough, in Melling, from the Irelands of Lydiate, and his grandson and namesake returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, being then forty-four, and his son, John, ten years of age. The elder John died in 1675, and the son in 1712. Of the Kirkby line were Jane Tatlock, who married Hamlet Mascy of the Rixton Hall family 13 Jan., 1639; Henry Tatlock, a recusant in 1679, and Thomas and Richard in 1716—all of Walton-cum-Fazakerley. Thomas Tatlock, of Fazakerley, yeo., married Mary, only dau. of Henry Eccles, of Meanfield, in Winwick, gent., by Anne, dau. and coheir of Richard Blackburne, of Stockenbridge Manor, and had two sons, Thomas Tatlock, of Tatlock House, in Kirkby, dyer, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and Richard Tatlock, of Prescot, gent. The former married Ellen Fazakerley, of Fazakerley, and had two sons, Thomas and Henry. The latter, born in 1709, became a Jesuit, and spent his missionary career in his native district, and used the alias of Forster. For many years, certainly between 1741 and 1752, according to Bishop Dicconson's list, he resided with his father, but also attended to another mission, probably Lydiate Hall. He was still residing at Tatlock House with his brother in 1767. He finally removed to Moor Hall, and either died there or at Tatlock in 1771. His nephew or grandnephew, James Tatlock, went to Douay College in 1778 to study for the Church, but left six years later, obtained a dispensation from his college oath, married a sister of the Rev. James Lancaster of Chester, and set up some kind of cotton business there, which, proving unsuccessful, he relinquished, and went to live for a time with his brother-in-law, John Lancaster, watch and clock manufacturer at Prescot. He then opened an academy for young gentlemen at Scholes Hall, and subsequently leased Cowley Hill in Scholes, where he died 4 Feb., 1815. His school was continued by Mr Robinson, who removed it to Woolton Grove about 1823. Mr John Tatlock, coroner for Chester, and his brother, the Very Rev. Thomas Tatlock, canon of Shrewsbury, and formerly professor at Ushaw for very many years, who died at Chester 4 Mch, 1899, aged seventy-two, were the last representatives of this family.

Hall, in Scarisbrick. Their brother, Edward, married Mary, dau. of Henry Eccleston, of Eccleston Hall, and dying in 1656 left a son, James, aged eight at the Visitation of 1665, when a pedigree was returned. The latter married Abigail, dau. of George Metham, of North Cove, Metham, co. York, and had four sons, all of whom died sine prole, one, James Gorsuch alias Metham and latterly Eccleston, being an archdeacon of the Chapter and many years priest at Burscough Hall, probably till his death 19 Jan., 1738–39, aged fifty-four. An elder son, John Gorsuch, of Gorsuch Hall, married, Winifred, dau. of Anthony Lowe, M.D., of Tabley Hill, co. Cheshire, in 1725, assumed the name of Eccleston, upon succeeding to the Eccleston Hall estates, and died in Dec., 1742, when the Gorsuch and Eccleston estates passed to Basil Thomas Scarisbrick, of Scarisbrick Hall, who assumed the name of Eccleston. John's widow then removed to Cowley Hill, in Eccleston, where she died 15 June, 1743, aged eighty-one. The Gorsuch family was always recusant.

[1] Daughter of Christopher Gradell, of Barbles Moor, in Ulnes Walton, the representative of a very ancient family. Her brother, Thomas Gradell, alias Middleton, a Douay priest, died in Oct., 1672, at an advanced age. Her nephew, Christopher, married, first, a Nelson of Fairhurst Hall, and, secondly, a Winckley of Banister Hall, and had issue by both marriages, but as his sons (by the second wife) died s.p., the youngest, Christopher, a priest, dying at Sheffield 25 Sept., 1758, aged fifty-nine, the daughters became coheiresses, one of whom married Humphrey Orrell, of Blackbrook.

[2] The Hesketh, of Aughton Hall, lords of the manors of Litherland and Aughton, were descended from the Hesketh, of Hesketh, Rufford, etc., and returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1613 and 1664, Bartholomew being of the age of sixty-four at the latter date, and his son Gabriel twenty-three. The father, who appears in earlier recusant rolls, married, first, Anne, dau. of Sir Cuthbert Halsall, of Halsall Hall, by Dorothy, natural dau. of Henry Stanley Earl of Derby, and, secondly, Alice, dau. of Edward Pilkington, of Coppull. By the first wife he had three sons, the above Gabriel, who married Alice, dau. of Edward Ireland, of Lydiate Hall, and appears to have died s.p., Bartholomew, and Alexander, named in the text, who seems eventually to have inherited the Aughton and Uplitherland manors, and to have resided at the latter at the time of his death in 1708. Alexander's son and namesake apostatized, and was made a justice of the peace for the county. He soon came to grief, and disposed of his estates of Aughton and Uplitherland in 1718 to John Plumbe, an eminent Liverpool lawyer. He was twice married, and by one of his wives left a son, Thomas, who died at Aughton in 1741; by the other he had a daughter, married to Edward Molyneux, of Formby, younger son of Richard Molyneux, of New Hall (by Eliz., dau. of Robert Harrington, of Huyton, which manor was subsequently inherited by her grandson, the squire of New Hall), and her son, Edward Molyneux alias Harrington, born 10 Mch, 1700, was ordained priest at Douay, and died chaplain at Moor Hall, Aughton, 20 Oct., 1739.

[3] Edward Stanley, of Moor Hall, in Aughton, returned a very imperfect pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, being then of the age of forty. His wife was Margaret, dau. of Thomas Gerard, of Gerard Hall, in Aughton, and at the time of the Visitation had two daughters, Anne, aged thirteen, and Elizabeth. He was possibly away at this time, for he appears on later rolls down to 1684. His father, Peter Stanley, a staunch recusant like all the rest of the family, married Eliz., dau. of Thomas Wolfall, of Wolfall Hall, in Huyton, by Mary, dau. of Sir Richard Molyneux, of Sefton. Peter's grandfather and namesake was the second son of Sir William Stanley, of Hooton, co. Chester, and acquired Aughton and Bickerstaffe. Thomas Stanley, named in the text, was one of Edward's younger brothers. Edward's daughter and ultimate heiress, Anne, married her relative, Richard Wolfall, of Wolfall Hall, who died 1 Feb., 1718, s.p., at Moor Hall, where she continued to reside till her death, her will being dated Sept. 14, 1731. By a spiritual will, dated 9 Oct., 1728, she left certain funds for the use of the secular priest serving the mission at Moor Hall or neighbourhood. This mission, which may be said to have been continuous from the reign of Elizabeth, is now represented by that of St Mary's, Aughton. Moor Hall then reverted to the Stanleys, of Hooton, and after the breaking up of Hooton Hall, became the residence of Lady Stanley, whose two sons, Fathers Henry and Thomas Stanley, S.J., lived there between 1763 and 1786, in which latter year the former died at Moor Hall. This ancient and picturesque mansion was ultimately sold by Sir William Massey Stanley, Bart, in 1841, to John Rosson, J.P. and D.L., a Liverpool barrister and a Catholic, and was sold by his sister in 1873.

[1] Richard Wolfall, of Wolfall Hall, in Huyton, returned a decidedly unsatisfactory pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, being then of the age of twenty-one, and his son, William, one. No doubt the William named in the text was one of the family. Thomas Wolfall alias Butler, a secular priest, who died at Ince Blundell in 1720, aged forty-five, was brother of the Richard Wolfall mentioned in the preceding note. It is probable that Father John Wolfall, S.J., who died in 1742, aged sixty, was another brother. After the death of William Wolfall, of Wolfall Hall, who was buried at Aughton, 12 Oct., 1720, the estate passed to the Harringtons of Huyton Hey, one of whom, Robert, had married Anne, daughter of Thomas Wolfall, and through them Wolfall Hall passed to the Molyneux family of New Hall.

[2] Thomas Gerard, of Gerard Hall, in Aughton, died in 1671. His daughter, Margaret, married Edward Stanley, of Moor Hall. Lyonel Gerard, mentioned later on in the text, was a yeoman in Aughton, whose will was proved in 1669. He possibly derived from the same family, which was descended from the Gerards of Bryn.

[3] Robert Walshe, of Walshe Hall, a quaint edifice in Aughton formerly surrounded by a moat, was son of Thomas Walshe, of the same, by Frances, daughter of Richard Molyneux, of New Hall. His will was proved in 1668. His grandfather and namesake, and Isabel, his wife, were recusants 1613–36, and probably earlier. In the rolls for 1682–4 Thomas Walshe was in possession of the estate. The hall is now a farmhouse.

[4] The Aspinwalls of Aspinwall Hall in Aughton were recusants from the time of Elizabeth. Shortly before this date the family removed to Hale upon the marriage of Edward Aspinwall, with Eleanor, sister and coheiress of Sir Gilbert Ireland, of Hale Hall, and their son, Gilbert Aspinwall, succeeded to the Hale estates. The latter's son, Edward, died in 1719, leaving a son, Ireland Aspinwall, and a daughter, Mary. The son died unmarried in 1733, and his sister became sole heiress, married Isaac Green, upon whose death, in 1749, the estates were divided between his two married daughters, one, Ireland Green, the wife of Thomas Blackburne, of Orford, and the other, Mary, the wife of Bamber Gascoyne, the Blackburnes obtaining Hale and the Gascoynes Childwall. The Aspinwalls lost their faith about the time of the Ireland alliance.

[1] The Aughton Morecrofts were a junior branch of the Morecrofts of Ormskirk, who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, and whose names occasionally appear in the recusant rolls. The Aughton branch was always staunch to the faith. The will of Humphrey Morecroft, of Ormskirk, was proved in 1608. At the Inq. post mortem of William Morecroft, of Aughton, 4 Augt, 6 Jac. 1, it was shown that he died 12 Mch, 1608, leaving property in Aughton. Hurleton, and Scarisbrick, and that by Anne, his wife, he had a son and heir, Humphrey, then of the age of twenty-one, whose wife was Agnes Holland. [1] Richard Lathom, of Parbold Hall and Allerton Hall, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, being then of the age of forty-one, and his son, Thomas, seventeen, younger sons being Richard, William, and Christopher. His wife was Katherine, dau. of Sir William Massey, of Puddington Hall, co. Chester. The family was descended from the Lathoms, of Lathom, the ancestors of the Earls of Derby. They seem to have acquired the manor of Allerton at an early period. Richard Lathom's father, Thomas Lathom, died at Parbold, in 1628, a staunch recusant like all his family. The son rebuilt Allerton Hall in 1659, though his estates had been forfeited as a recusant and royalist, and he had had to compound for them in 1649–50. Notwithstanding, the Cromwellian Government sold Allerton to John Sumpner, of Midhurst, in Surrey, in 1653, with whose son, Charles, the Lathoms came to some arrangement in 1669, which, however, did not prevent the estate passing finally from the family in the following year. Christopher Lathom, the secular priest who signed the declaration of the Lancashire clergy 3 Mch, 1697, is probably identical with Richard Lathom's fourth son. Henry Lathom alias Anderton, another secular priest, born about 1626, and ordained at Piacenza, was probably Richard's younger brother. All their estates have been dispersed, and the family is lost in the crowd.

[1] Thomas Mossock was the eldest son and heir of Henry Mossock, of Keniscough-Hevenhead Hall, in Melling, who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, by Jane, dau. and coheir of John More, son and heir of Edward More, of Bank Hall. At the time of the Visitation Thomas Mossock was forty-nine. He resided on the estate of his second wife, Anne, youngest dau. and coheir of Richard Urmston, lord of West Leigh, but had no issue by her. His first wife was Anne, dau. of Thomas Berington, of Mote Hall, co. Salop, by whom he had a daughter, Magdalen, who died in infancy, and hence upon his death in 1677 the estates passed to his sister (or her heirs), Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Walmesley, of Showley Hall. His only brother, Richard, born in 1627, was ordained priest at Douay, and used the alias of More on the mission. He was a member of the Chapter, Archdeacon of Lancashire, and also treasurer of the Clergy Fund, and died 20 Mch, 1673–4. He is credited with having written the curious inscription for his father in 1661, describing him " Ætatis suae 74 " (whereas Dugdale at his Visitation of 1664 put him as seventy-four in that year), which appears on a brass plate in the parish church of Ormskirk, headed: " Jesus Maria, God sauve the King," and finishing " Ad Majorem Dei Gloriam, Richard Mosock scripsit." It refers to Henry's ancestors having been buried there for 385 years. Another brass plate in Aughton parish church bears a somewhat similar inscription, commencing " Jesus Salvator," and ending " Richard Mosock, 1686. God save the King. To the Greater Glorye of God." Unless there was some error on the part of the engraver, this would appear to have been an imitation of the Ormskirk inscription by Richard Mossock, of Bickerstaffe, who died in 1692. The family had always held property at Bickerstaffe. Their ancient residence, now a farmhouse, was Mossock Hall, in Aughton.

[2] Eleanor was sister to Mrs Mossock. The Urmstons of West Leigh were a very ancient family, and always true to the faith. A long pedigree of the family was entered at the Visitation of 1664, probably at the instance of one or other of the husbands of the coheiresses of Richard Urmston, who died in 1659, aged sixty-nine.

[3] The Liptrotts appear in recusant rolls from the commencement. Two of them in modern times became priests, Peter and Richard, sons of William Liptrott, of Bold, and his wife, Jane, dau. of George Gillow, of Moor House, Newton-cum-Scales, the former, a canon of Salford, dying in 1893, aged sixty-four, and the latter in 1878, aged forty-four.

[4] The Culcheths, of Culcheth Hall, in the parish of Winwick, returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1567 and 1664. At the latter date Thomas Culcheth, who appears in the later rolls till his death in Dec., 1683, was thirty-six years of age. His wife, Anne, dau. of James Bradshaigh, of Haigh Hall, and sister of Sir Roger Bradshaigh, now represented by the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, was the mother of three sons, two of whom, Thomas and James, became Jesuits, and died in 1730 and 1692 respectively, and seven daughters, five of whom became nuns at Dunkirk, Pontoise and Gravelines. Of the other two daughters, one, Anne, married Richard Stanley, of Great Eccleston Hall, whose son, Thomas, succeeded to the Culcheth estate, and the other, Catherine, married John Trafford, of Croston Hall, to whose grandson and namesake the Culcheth estates passed in 1794, upon the death of Thomas Stanley's daughter, Meliora, wife of William Dicconson, fourth son of Edward Dicconson, of Wrightington Hall. The eldest son of Thomas Culcheth, John, born in 1650, succeeded to the property, and married Mary, dau. of Hugh Dicconson, of Wrightington Hall, and had two sons, Thomas, his successor, who married Anne, dau. of Sir Piers Mostyn, of Talacre, Bart, but died s.p. in 1747, and John, a barrister of Gray's Inn, who died s.p., and two daughters, Benedictine nuns at Dunkirk. William Culcheth, younger brother to Thomas of the text, died this very year, 1667, a Jesuit at Ghent, and possibly his absence from England on this account may account for the name of Thomas not appearing in the roll.

[1] Probably widow of Henry Travis, of Culcheth, chapman, whose will was proved in 1665, and perhaps mother of Edward Travis or Travers, alias Hill, admitted to the English College at Rome in 1619 as a convictor, and left in 1621.

[2] Although the father appears to have lived to 1674, Thomas, the son, signed the pedigree returned at the Visitation of 1664, being then of the age of twenty-seven. The Lancasters had held the manor of Rainhill from an early period. John, aged three at the Visitation of 1613 (a pedigree also appearing in that of 1567), married Elizabeth, dau. of Edward Ditchfield, of Ditton Hall, and his eldest son, Thomas, mar. Elizabeth, dau. and coheir of William Mere, of Mere Hall, Cheshire. The latter, having been almost drowned in a brook, died a few days later, in 1679. His grandson, John Lancaster, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, resided at Rainhill Hall, and his namesake, and probably grandson, sold the hall about 1783, which after passing through the Fleetwoods and Beaumonts, was purchased, just before her death, by the Marchioness Stapleton-Bretherton, Mary, daughter and heiress of Mr Bartholomew Bretherton, the great stage-coach proprietor, of Rainhill House, who died in 1857, aged eighty-two, having acquired much of the old Lancaster property in Rainhill. Her first husband was William Gerard, second son of Sir William Gerard, eleventh bart, of Bryn, and elder brother of the first Baron Gerard, and after his death, s.p., in 1844, she married, secondly, the Hon. Gilbert Stapleton, brother of Lord Beaumont. Eventually she assumed her paternal name in addition to that of her husband, was created a marchioness by the Pope, and died childless in 1883. The Lancasters were always staunch recusants, and Mass was often said in the chapel in the hall. Several of the family were priests and nuns.

[1] Dorothy, dau. of Sir Richard Fenwick, Bart, of Meldon, co. Northumberland, whose nephew, Sir John Fenwick, was executed in William III's reign, brought her husband, Edward More, of Bank Hall, in Kirkdale, a portion of £700 a year in land. More Hall, the site of which is now the centre of Liverpool, was the seat of the Mores for twenty generations, and after it was superseded by Bank Hall, erected in the thirteenth century, it was frequently used as a jointure-house. The family, which returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1567, had up to that time retained the faith, but the squire in the time of Elizabeth was a temporizer, and his descendants became rank Puritans, the father of the Edward More of the text, the author of the "Moore Rental," having the unenviable distinction of being one of the regicides. Through this circumstance, the intention to create the son a baronet in 1660 did not finally pass under the great seal till 1675. After the death, in 1673, of Sir Edward's Catholic wife, Dorothy, by whom he had four sons, the second son apparently being the one of the text, Richard Fenwick More, who died 28 June, 1672, he married, secondly, a daughter of Sir Thomas Bloodworth, by whom he had one daughter. His eldest son and namesake predeceased him, and the baronetcy passed to the third, Sir Cleave More, who speedily dissipated his estates, and the family became extinct upon the death of the fifth baronet in 1810. To one of Sir Edward's ancestors is attributed the story of "The Dragon of Wantley."

[2] Roger Breres (Breers or Bryers), of Walton Hall, in the parish of Walton-on-the-Hill, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, being then sixty years of age. He married, first, Margerie, dau. of Robert ffazakerley, of Fazakerley Hall, by Anne, dau. of Edward Molyneux, of The Wood, by whom he had two sons, and, secondly, Alice, dau. of Richard Hulme, of Maghull Hall, who appears with her sister, Elizabeth Hulme, in the text. Roger Breres died in this very year 1667. The family was very ancient, and obtained Walton through the marriage of Roger Breres, of Chorley, with Blanch, dau. and coheir of Richard Cross, of Cross Hall, by Elizabeth, dau. and coheir of Roger Walton, lord of Walton. They appear in the rolls from their commencement, and were always staunch to the faith. Roger's eldest son, Lawrence, mar. Mary, dau. of Sir Cuthbert Clifton, of Lytham Hall, and relict of William Lathom, of Mosborough Hall, but died s.p., and was buried at Walton, 2 Nov., 1663. The second son, Robert, appearing in the text, aged thirty-two in 1664, mar., first, Mary, dau. of John Molyneux, of New Hall, by whom he had sons, Roger, of whom hereafter, and Lawrence; and daughters, Catherine, a nun at Gravelines, and Elizabeth. Lawrence was ordained priest at Douay, and died in London, 13 Nov., 1744. Robert, who died at Wigan in 1708, mar., secondly, Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, by Catherine, dau. of Thomas Carus, of Halton Hall, and relict of Lawrence Hoghton, and had a son, Thomas, born in 1692, and three daughters, Bridget, Mary and Margery. Roger Breers, Robert's eldest son, by his wife Bridget had a son, Lawrence, who joined with his father in 1746 in the sale of the Walton Hall estate, after which the family sank into obscurity.

[3] The ffazakerleys of Spellow House, in Walton, and of Fazakerley Hall, staunch recusants and royalists, returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1613 and 1664. William was the third son of Robert ffazakerley by Anne, dau. of Edward Molyneux, of The Wood. His eldest brother, Captain Nicholas ffazakerley, born in 1600, was at the English College at Rome from 1623 to 1626, and was slain at Liverpool in the royal cause in Oct., 1643. Another brother, the second, Thomas Fazakerley alias Ashton, born about 1611, was ordained priest at Rome, and died chaplain to Lord Molyneux at Croxteth Hall, 22 Mch, 1664–5. The captain was succeeded by his eldest son and namesake, who married Winefrid, dau. of Edward Tarleton, of Aigburth Hall, and his grandson, Robert, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, dying without issue, about 1730, the estate passed to his sister and heiress, Mary ffazakerley, who mar., first, Captain Bryan Hawarden, and, secondly, Thomas Mostyn, younger son of Sir Piers Mostyn, of Talacre, Bart. This lady died in 1775, aged seventy, leaving a son, John Hawarden, who assumed the name of ffazakerley, and was succeeded by his son, Lieut.-Col. Samuel Hawarden ffazakerley, who, dying 20 June, 1813, s.p., devised his estates to Henry Hawarden Gillibrand, infant son of Thomas Hawarden Gillibrand, of Gillibrand Hall. He was born 6 May, 1808, assumed the name of ffazakerley by sign manual 11 June, 1814, and was brought up a Protestant owing to his father's unhappy negligence. Thus the extensive estates of these three ancient Catholic families were united—only to be dispersed in the next generation, and culminating with the destruction and extinction of the family.

[1] Ellen Hawarden (pronounced Harden), wife of Thomas Hawarden, of Croxteth (probably steward to Lord Molyneux), second son of John Hawarden, of Fenistrete, Appleton, in Widnes, was dau. of Edward Tarleton, of Aigburth Hall; and Maria Tarleton, named in the text, was probably her sister. Her son, Edward Hawarden, D.D., was the famous Douay theologian.

[2] Several members of this family joined the ecclesiastical state. James Dennett, born in 1702, son of James Dennett, of Lydiate, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, became a Jesuit, was serving Houghton Hall, Yorks, in 1734, and died at Bury St Edmunds in 1789. Another member of the family, Dom Joseph Dennett, the Carthusian, died at Nieuport in Dec., 1761. Henry Dennett, son of William Dennett, of Lydiate, by Margaret, dau. of William Tarleton, of Orrell, yeoman, born in 1754, was ordained priest at Douay, and after serving Roundhay and Ugthorpe, in Yorkshire, removed to Birchley, in Lancashire, where he died in 1803. His nephew, James, son of William Dennett, of Eccleston, and his wife, Mary Valentine, born in 1767, was ordained priest at Lisbon, and died at Ormskirk in 1845. The prioress of the Regular Canonesses of the Holy Sepulchre at Liége, Mary Christina Dennett, died in 1781, and her sister, Helen Teresa, of the same community, died in 1794, aged seventy-one.

[1] The will of Robert Cross, of Hale, yeoman, was proved in 1661, and that of Thomas Cross, of Halewood, in 1699. The latter was a recusant in 1680.

[2] John Barker, of Halewood, married Susanna, dau. of Henry Lathom, of Whiston, gent., and died in 1672. The Halewood family probably belonged to the Barkers of Dalton, mentioned later.

[3] Robert ffrith, of Halewood, was still on the rolls in 1680.

[4] Alethea Anderton was the widow of Christopher Anderton, of Lostock Hall, the royalist captain who was despatched by the Earl of Derby from Wigan to try and carry the town of Bolton-le-Moors by assault. He has generally been identified with the captain of his name who so stoutly defended Greenhalgh Castle for the Earl of Derby and was slain in 1645, but this is apparently an error, for in 1651 administration of his estate was granted in the Prerogative Court of Canterbury to Robert Harvey, of London, gent., and in October of that year his son, Francis Anderton, was admitted into possession of Lostock. Captain Anderton was twice married. His first wife was Agnes, dau. of John Preston, of Preston Patrick, co. Westmoreland, and of the Manor of Furness, co. Lancaster, and the occasion of this child marriage, in 1621, was celebrated in a long poem by his eminent relative, Lawrence Anderton alias "John Brereley, Priest," known at Cambridge as "Silver-mouthed Anderton." ture death of his wife, probably in child-birth, the captain married secondly, in or about 1627, Alethea, third dau. of Sir Francis Smith, of Wootton-Wawen, co. Warwick, and sister to Sir Charles Smith, of Wootton-Wawen, co. Warwick, and of Ashby Folville, co. Leicester, who was created Baron Carrington in 1643. Her sister, Frances, was an Augustinian nun at Louvain. Both she and her husband were put to much privation by the forfeiture of Lostock and other estates. Indeed, after her husband's death, Mrs Anderton, who went to reside at Clitheroe, had scarcely sufficient to maintain herself and her children, of whom she had fourteen. To make her cross heavier three of her children were forcibly taken from her to be brought up Protestants, a son and two daughters. The story of their ill-treatment and eventual recovery by their mother is told by Brother Foley in his Records S. J., Vol. III. One of the girls, Alethea, became an Augustinian at Louvain in 1656, and the other, Dorothy, died through the effects of her hard usage in 1653. The boy was apparently one of the two priests of the family, either Thurstan or Bruno. Stephen Anderton, the sixth son, born in 1637, married Kath., second dau. of Thomas Tempest, by Ann, dau. and heir of Henry Scrope, of Danby Hall, and sister to Stephen Tempest, of Broughton Hall, co. York, and had issue a son, John, who was professed at the English Benedictine monastery at Lambspring under the religious name of Michael, and ordained priest. After serving the mission for some five years he apostatized, and forthwith, without further ordination, was inducted to the curacy of New Church, Pendle, July 30, 1721, married in 1725, and died in 1742. His descendants became lost in obscurity. Mrs Anderton's eldest son, Sir Francis, born in 1628, married in 1655 Eliz., dau. and coheir of Sir Charles Somerset, C.B., of Troye, co. Monmouth, second surviving son of the Earl of Worcester, and in 1677 was created a baronet. He died at Paris 9 Feb., 1678, and was succeeded by his son, Sir Charles Anderton, second baronet, of Lostock and Lydiate. Christian Anderton, named in the text, is probably an error of the transcriber for Christopher, born in 1629, who was a widower without children in 1668. In 1657 he had married Anne, dau. of Peter Anderton, of Anderton Hall, but she died soon afterwards. Later he took a second wife, Grace, but she, too, had no issue. Thurstan, the priest, was serving Lostock Hall in 1676, and subsequently assisted at Crank, and was living when his nephew, Sir Charles, made his will in 1691. It does not appear where he was ordained. His brother, Bruno, was sent to the English College at Rome in 1662 by Lord Carrington, and in consequence adopted that name as his alias. He was ordained in 1667, returned to England in 1669, and died May 19, 1723, aged eighty. He was born during the Civil War, when his parents were in Wales.

[1] Alexander Osbaldeston, of Sunderland Hall, in Balderstone, married Holcroft, dau. of Robert Hesketh, of Rufford Hall, and had a son, John, born in 1634, and seven daughters. He was aged fifty-six when he returned his pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, showing his descent from his great-grandfather, Richard, of Sunderland Hall, a younger son of Sir Alexander Osbaldeston, of Osbaldeston Hall, by his second wife, Ellen, dau. of Thomas Tyldesley, of Wardley Hall. He died in April, 1681, aged seventy-two. The family were staunch recusants, and annually appear in the rolls. Alexander's grandson and namesake was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, died in 1729, and was succeeded by his son Alexander, who married Cath., one of the four daughters and coheiresses of John Westby, of Mowbreck Hall and Burne Hall, and had two sons, Alexander, M.D., of Sunderland Hall, and William. Upon the death of the former, in 1750, the estate, which had been heavily mortgaged, passed from the family, and Sunderland Hall, which had been erected in 1596, was eventually taken down and replaced by a farmhouse. There was a chapel in the hall, where Mass was said throughout the days of persecution. The Rev. Thomas Brockholes was reported as the resident priest in 1690, and from 1743 till his imprisonment in York Castle in 1745, Father John Joseph Greene, O.P., attended to the mission.

[1] John Cunliffe, of Banks, in Great Harwood, died in March, 1691, and his widow, Isabel, of "Harwood Banks," in June, 1708. Their son, Richard Cunliffe, of Great Harwood, yeoman, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717. It is said that the Cunliffes, bankers, of Blackburn, from whom derived the late Sir William Cunliffe Brooks, Bart, were descended from a branch of this family.

[2] Cornelius, bapt. 14 Sept., 1622, was the fifth son of Cornelius Towneley, of Hapton, son of Lawrence Towneley. It was probably owing to their being Catholics, and married by priests, that the father is entered in the registers at Burnley as a base child as well as the first two sons of the elder Cornelius, after which the parson seems to have tired and entered the other children correctly. Cornelius had a brother, Ambrose, born in 1628.

[3] The will of Jennet Fraine, of Hapton, was proved in 1684, and that of William Fraine, of the same, in 1698.

[1] The will of Ralph Rishton, of White Ash, in Oswaldtwistle, was proved in 1666, and his son and namesake appears in the rolls until 1682, in which year administration to his estate was granted. According to the rolls White Ash had sixty acres belonging to it. These Rishtons were, no doubt, descended from a younger son of the Rishtons of Pontalgh Hall, in Oswaldtwistle, deriving from the Rishtons, of Rishton Hall and Dunkenhalgh.

[2] The Holdens had resided for many generations at Chaigley Hall, in the parish of Mitton, and were always staunch recusants. John Holden appears in the rolls till his death in 1637, leaving by his wife Elizabeth, dau. of Edward Worthington, of Wharles, two daughters, Ann, wife of Robert Hesketh, who died s.p., and Mary, eventual heiress, wife of Thomas Brockholes, of Claughton Hall. After the death of Dr Henry Holden, the eminent theologian, the manor of Chaigley was sold, in 1665, to Richard Sherburne, of Stonyhurst. Notwithstanding, some of the family continued to reside at Chaigley, gradually descending in social scale. Richard Holden, yeoman, returned a leasehold farm of forty acres in Chaigley as a Catholic non-juror in 1717. There were several notable priests of the family.

[3] Richard Sherburne, of Stonyhurst, in the township of Aighton, Bailey, and Chaigley, was son of Richard Sherburne, of the same, by his second wife, Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Walmesley, of Dunkenhalgh. He was baptized at Mitton 3 July, 1626, and succeeded to the extensive family estates upon the death of his father, 11 Feb., 1667, aged fifty-five. He married Isabel, dau. of John Ingleby, of Lawkland Hall, and had two sons, Richard, who resided at Wigglesworth Hall, co. York, and married Anne, dau. and coheir of Sir John Cansfield, of Cantsfield Hall and Robert Hall, but died sine prole 16 April, 1690, aged thirty-seven, his wife following him on Feb. 4, 1693; Sir Nicholas Sherburne, born 29 July, 1658, who was created a baronet 4 Feb., 1685, and married Catherine, dau. and coheir of Sir Edward Charlton, of Hesleyside, co. Northumberland, Bart; and Elizabeth, who married William, son and heir of Sir John Weld, of Lulworth Castle, co. Dorset, whose great-grandson, Thomas Weld, of Lulworth Castle, succeeded to the Sherburne estates upon the death of the Duchess of Norfolk in 1754, and in 1794 placed Stonyhurst at the disposal of the English Jesuits expelled from their college at Liége during the French Revolution, to whom it was afterwards conveyed by his son, Cardinal Weld. Sir Nicholas Sherburne died 16 Dec., 1717, and his only son, Richard Francis, having died at the age of nine in 1702, the estates passed to his daughter, Mary Frances Winefred, born 26 Nov., 1692, who in 1709 became the wife of Thomas Howard, eighth Duke of Norfolk. The duchess died at Stonyhurst sine prole 25 Sept., 1754, and the Sherburne estates then passed to her aunt's representative, Thomas Weld, as previously stated. The Sherburnes returned pedigrees at the various Lancashire Visitations.

[1] Andrew Snape, tailor, subsequently removed to Moorhead, Over Wyresdale, where he died in 1715. His widow, Margaret, whose maiden name was Parkinson, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, as well as two of her daughters, Ellen Snape, of Moorhead, spinster, and Elizabeth, wife of John Robinson, of Lancaster, joiner.

[2] Seth Jolly, probably son of Seth Jolly, of Catforth, who died in 1662, was still here and a recusant in 1680, about which time he returned to Catforth, where he died in 1681.

[3] Dom John Richard Isherwood alias Sherburne, O.S.B., professed at Lambspring in 1685, was probably a son of the above.

[4] John Sherburne, of Bailey Hall, is described as gentleman in the 1680 roll. Sherburnes of Bailey appear annually in the rolls from the reign of Elizabeth. Richard Sherburne, of Bailey Hall, engaged in the rising of 1715, and made his escape after the battle of Preston, but was outlawed and his estate forfeited. He had a younger brother, John, who owned Stydd Lodge, Dutton, in the parish of Ribchester, which subsequently became, and still is, the seat of the Ribchester secular mission. The chapel in Bailey Hall was served by Father Walter Vavasour, S.J., in 1700, as well as that at Stydd, where he died in 1740. An ancient triptych, dated 1594, which formerly hung over the altar at Stydd Lodge, was removed to St Michael's House, Broughton, the residence of the Rev. Thomas Smith, who died in 1882, and of his brother, the Rev. William Smith, who died in 1892.

[1] Probably Elizabeth, dau. of Robert Sherburne, of Little Mitton Hall, by Katherine, dau. of Richard Lathom, of Parbold Hall, and widow of John Shuttleworth, younger son of Richard Shuttleworth, of Gawthorpe Hall.

[2] Frances, dau. of Christopher Towneley, of Patrick Prompton, co. York, younger son of John Towneley, of Towneley Hall, and widow of Richard Sherburne, of Little Mitton Hall, who died in 1664. Consequently she was sister-in-law to the preceding Mrs Shuttleworth. The Sherburnes, of Little Mitton, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664. Her husband's younger brother, Francis Sherburne, was a recusant of Salesbury in 1680. He had three uncles priests, sons of Thomas Sherburne, of Little Mitton, by his first wife, Margaret, dau. of Francis Tunstall, of Arncliff Hall, co. York, Dom Thomas James Sherburne alias Tunstall, O.S.B., who died in 1657, Richard Sherburne alias Tunstall, ordained at Douay in 1622, who was probably priest at Ladywell, Fernyhalgh, where many of his books are still in the library, and Matthew Sherburne alias Tunstall, ordained at Douay in 1622, elected archdeacon of the chapter in 1658, and represented Lancashire and Westmoreland at the general assembly in 1667. The grandfather of the priests, Robert Sherburne, second son of Thomas Sherburne, of Stonyhurst, obtained the manors of Little Mitton and Catterall with his wife, Dorothy, one of the daughters and coheiresses of Thomas Catterall. Mr Sherburne was reader of Gray's Inn, and died 14 Eliz., 1571–2. His widow was still on the recusant rolls in 10 Jac. I, 1612–3. Immediately after the death of Richard Sherburne, in 1664, Little Mitton was sold to Alexander Holt, of Grislehurst. The ancient hall is one of the most interesting in the county. Mass was said here during the time of the Sherburnes.

[3] The Boltons, of Bolton Hall, Copthurst Green, in Salesbury, appear annually in the rolls from the earliest period. In the reign of Henry VIII they owned Loveley Hall in Salesbury. Adam and Thomas Bolton were recusants in 1601, and Launcelot Bolton, of Bolton Hall, till his death in 1623. In 1633 Adam Bolton appears, and in 1654 he bought the sequestrated estates of Sir John Talbot, of Salesbury Hall. George Bolton, named in the text, died in 1679. In 1680 Margaret, wife of Launcelot Bolton, gent., was on the rolls, and they had sons, Launcelot, died 1671, Thomas, died 1665, and Richard, born 1658. Launcelot died in April, 1701. In 1717 Elizabeth Bolton, of Eavesden, co. Lincoln, widow, registered as a Catholic non-juror demesne lands in Salesbury.

[4] She was, no doubt, one of the Sherburnes, of Wolfhouse, in Chipping, an estate obtained about 1513 by Roger Sherburne, younger son of Robert Sherburne, of Stonyhurst, with his wife, Isabel, dau. and heir of John Knolles, who had inherited it from the de Chepins. Roger's descendant and namesake married one of the heiresses of William Haydock, of Cottam Hall, and his son John sold Wolfhouse to his uncle, John Sherburne, whose son, Robert, married Dorothy, dau. of Sir Edward Mansfield, of Buckinghamshire, and she died at Marlow, in that county, in 1685. Robert returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, when he had a son, Edward, and two daughters. Soon afterwards Wolfhouse was sold to the Earl of Derby.

[1] Sailsbury or Salisbury was an old Chipping family.

[2] This ancient family derived from Sidgreaves, in Lea, near Preston, where they appear in the thirteenth century. In the following century they had acquired lands in Goosnargh, and later in Chipping. They were always staunch to the faith, and appear annually in the recusant rolls from 1591. Dom John Bernard Sidgreaves, born 1569, son of Christopher, of Inglewhite, in Goosnargh, left Caius College, Cambridge, for the English College at Rheims in 1587, and thence went to that at Rome in 1590, finally joining the Carthusians in Italy. His "Vita," with portrait, was published at Naples in 1671. His aunt, Anne Sidgreaves, married Sir —— Fitzsimon, of Dublin and Manchester, and was mother of Father Henry Fitzsimon, S.J., the eminent controversialist. The family continued to reside at Inglewhite Lodge till the death of James Sidgreaves in 1853. The latter's brother George, of Preston, was the father of Sir Thomas Sidgreaves, sometime Chief Justice of the Straits Settlements, who died in 1889, aged sixty. Another brother, Edward, of Grimsargh House, was father of Father Edward Sidgreaves, S.J. A very faulty pedigree is given in Fishwick's Hist. of Goosnargh.

[3] Anthony Ayrey was buried 16 June, 1681, and his wife Elizabeth 26 Nov., 1680.

[1] She was buried at Chipping 4 April, 1678. Her husband was no doubt a member of the ancient Catholic family of Skillicorne, of Prees Hall, in Weeton, William Skillicorne, of Prees Hall, who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1567, married Jane, dau. of Sir Richard Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower, and had five sons and three daughters. Upon his death, in 1601, he was succeeded by his son Nicholas, then thirty-nine years of age. The latter married Margaret, dau. of Sir Thomas Hesketh, of Rufford Hall, and was the father of seven sons. Of these, William, the eldest, married Elizabeth, dau. of Henry Preston, of Preston, and left two daughters and coheiresses, the Prees estate having probably been sold before his death. One of the younger sons, Nicholas, was a recusant at Osbaldeston 1620–1636, and possibly the father of the Richard mentioned in the text. Fishwick, Hist. of Kirkham, traces a pedigree of eleven generations, showing alliances with the best families in the county.

[2] The various Catholic families of Parker of Bowland-cum-Leagram, Chipping, and other places in this locality, are far too numerous to distinguish. Juliana was buried 1 Feb., 1680. Her's was a name peculiar to several Catholic families in this district. John Parker, of Lickhurst, whose will was proved in 1670, had a dau. Juliana by his wife Alice, dau. of Edmund Threlfall, of The Ashes in Threlfall Tything, Goosnargh, and Juliana, his wife, dau. of Cuthbert Hesketh, of White Hill, in Goosnargh.

[3] Richard Bleasdale, of Blackstick, in Chipping, was buried 2 Mch., 1672, and his wife Alice 28 Feb., 1671.

[4] In the registers the name appears as—Ayanson, Ih'anson, Hianson, Hanson, and other variations, under Briercliffe, Barrowford, and Habergham Eaves. Dom Wm. Alphonsus Hanson alias Hesketh, O.S.B., who was slain in cold blood near York by the Cromwellians in 1644, was a native of Barrowford. He figures in "De Vaux, A Tale," by D. S. L., in the Catholic Miscellany, Vol.IX. Dom Maurus Hanson, O.S.B., who died in 1630, was of the same family. Henry Hanson, son of Miles Hanson, of Briercliffe, was baptized 26 July, 1646.

[5] Probably an error of the transcriber for Cawthorne. The Christian name, Joseph, was exceedingly uncommon in the north at this period.

[6] Barnard Towneley, of Hurstwood, who died 1686, was a younger son of John Towneley, of Hurstwood Hall, by Eleanor, dau. of Simon Haydock, of Hesandforth Hall. The elder brother, John, died in July, 1664, and his son and namesake in the previous May. Hence the son's widow, Katherine, dau. of Geoffrey Rushton, of Antley Hall, a non-Catholic, brought up her young children Protestants. The son, John, died in 1704, when the estates were divided between his two daughters and coheirs, and the family came to an end in the male line. The estate was subsequently purchased by the Towneleys of Towneley. The family returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, and another appears in Whitaker's Hist. of Whalley. Barnard Towneley was still on the rolls in 1684. His grandfather and namesake, son of John, third son of Sir Richard Towneley, of Towneley, erected Hurstwood Hall.

[1] Rowley Hall, in Worsthorn, a fine old mansion, was erected by John Halsted in 1593. The family at that time retained the faith, one of his sisters married Simon Haydock, of Hesandforth Hall, and two others Hoghtons, and his eldest son a Towneley, of Hurstwood. The latter suffered heavily as a Royalist, and about this time ceased to be recusant. Thomas Halsted, named in the text, does not appear in the pedigree in Whitaker's Hist. of Whalley.

[2] The Birtwisles, deriving from Birtwisle, a hamlet in the adjoining township of Hapton, appear to have acquired the manor of Huncote through marriage with heiress of the Huncotes. They returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1567 and 1664. In 1575 Oliver Birtwisle, second son of Oliver Birtwisle, of Huncote Hall, stayed some time at Douay College. Another member of the family, John Birtwisle, was admitted into St Alban's College at Valladolid 9 Nov., 1594, having previously been at the English College at Seville. He was ordained priest, and on 1 Oct., 1600, left the college for the mission. He died 26 Feb., 1620, s.n., and was buried at Harkirke, within the park at Little Crosby Hall, the seat of the Blundells. Thomas Birtwisle, named in the text, married Margaret, dau. of Thomas Clayton, of Little Harwood Hall, by Bridget, dau. of Francis Tunstall, of Aldcliffe and Lentworth Halls. He was still on the recusant rolls in 1682–4. His eldest son, John, became a priest, and was serving Broughton Hall, Yorks, the seat of the Tempests, in 1655. In 1679 he was at Huncote Hall, but appears to have been chaplain at Croxteth Hall, the seat of Viscount Molyneux, where he died 26 Jan., 1680, aged about fifty-seven, and was buried at Harkirke. Joseph Birtwisle, the third son, James the second son apparently having died, seems to have succeeded to the estate, and according to the Visitation of 1664 married Anne Rawson. The text calls his wife Margaret, but possibly she was a second wife, as the Visitation was signed by his father, who would hardly make a mistake in the Christian name. Joseph Birtwisle died at Huncote Hall in 1687, soon after which date the estate seems to have passed from the family. He was most probably the father of Edward Birtwisle, who took the college oath at Douay in 1681, and in 1694 was professor of philosophy. In 1716 John Birtwisle and his wife were residing on the family property at Birtwisle in Hapton, and were convicted of recusancy. Richard Birtwisle alias Halliwell, whose mother was probably a daughter of William Halliwell, of Liverpool, was ordained priest at Lisbon in 1737, and died at Claughton Hall, the seat of the Brockholes family, 26 Jan., 1742–3. After this the name disappears from Catholic records. Huncote Hall was an ancient erection of many gables, replete with a fine banqueting hall, a chapel, subsequently converted into a bedroom, and the necessary priest's hiding-places. The estate eventually was purchased by the Towneleys of Towneley.

[3] William Winckley, of Billington, was the younger son of Thomas Winckley, of the same, a younger brother of Roger Winckley, of Winckley Hall, in Aighton. His elder brother, Capt. Thomas Winckley, was slain at Liverpool during the civil war in the royal cause. The family always retained the faith. Their mother was Rosamond, dau. of Edward Walmesley, of Banister Hall, in Walton-le-dale, fourth son of Thomas Walmesley, of Showley Hall, and upon the death of his uncle, Edward Walmesley, in 1673, the Banister Hall estate passed to William Winckley, who went to reside there. He married Isabel, dau. of Robert Elston, or Ethelston, of Higher Brockholes Hall, whose ancestor at an early period had acquired that estate through marriage with the heiress of the Brockholes family. His wife was buried at Walton 3 July, 1688, and he himself on 27 Dec., 1703. They had four sons and three daughters—two sons of the name of Thomas, who died infants in 1675 and 1677; Edward, doctor of physic, who succeeded to Banister Hall; William, born 1677, who was ordained priest at the English college at Rome in 1704, and served the chapel at Banister Hall, but after the forfeiture of the estate in 1716 removed to Gradell, Barbles Moor, in Ulnes Walton, the seat of his brother-in-law, Christopher Gradell, where he died and was buried in 1742; Rosamond died in 1676; Anne, wife of Christopher Gradell; and Dorothy, wife of Cuthbert Clifton, son of James Clifton, and grandson of Thomas Clifton, of Westby Hall. Edward Winckley, the eldest son, was outlawed for his part in the Jacobite rising of 1715, and though his estate was forfeited he recovered possession, and eventually sold it on 1 Feb., 1738–9, and withdrew to Preston, where he died in Dec., 1742. He was twice married, his first wife Mary was buried at Walton 7 Dec., 1709, and his second was Winifred, dau. of Thomas Tyldesley, of Myerscough Lodge, the Jacobite diarist. His three sons were—Thomas, who used the alias of Elston, was ordained priest at Douay, and died chaplain to the convent at Dunkirk, 9 Mch., 1740, aged forty-two; Edward, of Preston, who was buried at Walton 18 Mch., 1749-50; and James, who was buried at Walton 1 Mch., 1726–7. Of his two daughters, Isabel died an infant in 1697, and Jane, born in Dec., 1697, went to the Benedictine convent at Cambrai for a short time in 1720. The family thus came to an end. Banister Hall, formerly the seat of the Banastres, from whom the Walmesleys inherited it, was a very ancient erection, and mass was said there throughout the days of persecution.

[1] The Cravens, of Elkar in Billington and of Craven Fold in Dinkley, were relatives of the Winckleys, Richard Craven having married Anne, second dau. of Edward Walmesley, of Banister Hall. They appear annually in the rolls from the time of Elizabeth, and they were also non-jurors in 1717.

[2] Robert Chew, of Potterford, in Billington, died in 1667, and his widow Ann in 1676. Down to 1684 the family appears regularly in the recusant rolls, but lost its faith about that time. It is now represented by William Lawrence Chew, of Hankelow Court, co. Chester, J.P. and D.L. The del'Cho family were allied to the De Bilyngtons, lords of Billington, and held under them the manor of Cho. In the thirteenth century Hugh del'Cho married Avicia, dau. of Adam de Bilyngton.

[1] Bradley Hall in this township had just been sold, after the death of Hugh Bradley, in 1665, to the Earl of Derby. The family returned a pedigree at the Visitation of the county in 1567, and another at the Visitation of Westmoreland in 1615. They always retained the faith, as did the several collateral branches in a more humble position resident in the township.

[2] Richard Walmesley, of Showley Hall, in this township, born in 1598, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, as his cousin, Thomas Walmesley, of Dunkenhalgh, son of Sir Thomas Walmesley, the eminent judge, had done in 1613. He married Ellen, dau. of William Gerard, of Radborne, and had six sons and two daughters, one of the latter being the Margaret of the text, who died unmarried. His father and namesake was the second son of Thomas Walmesley, of Showley, the eldest son, the judge, settling at Dunkenhalgh, and this elder branch is now represented by the Petres. The Showley branch was continued by Richard's third son, Thomas, born in 1623, and the fourth son, John, was the ancestor of the Walmesleys of Westwood House, lords of the manor of Ince, which estate they acquired with an heiress of the Gerards of Ince Hall. Of the Westwood branch were Bishop Charles Walmesley, V.A—W.D., and his brother Dom Richard Peter Walmesley, O.S.B., grandsons of John, and several nuns. Richard Walmesley was still on the recusant roll for 1679, in which year his will was proved. Many of his descendants were secular priests, Benedictines, and nuns. Through a southern marriage of Richard's great-grandson, Thomas, and that of one of his sisters, the family gravitated to Essex, and other places in the south, and almost abandoned Showley Hall, which fell into decay, and the bulk of it was demolished shortly before its sale by Thomas George Walmesley in Feb., 1870. There were chapels in and adjoining the venerable mansion, with several hiding-places, which regularly sheltered priests from time immemorial, indeed, Bishop Francis Petre, V.A—N.D., resided here many years till his death in 1775. There are pedigrees of the family in Foster's Lancashire Pedigrees and The Visitations of Essex, Harl. Soc., Vol. XIV.

[1] From a remote period the Waltons resided at Little Walton Hall, an ancient structure, with central porch and gabled wings, originally erected in the post and pan style, but much altered in later times, the present gate-posts bearing the date 1675. Thomas Walton, of Little Walton Hall, married Priscilla, dau. and heir of John Cottam, of Tarnacre Hall (who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1613), and had issue William, his successor, John, and James. The third son, born at Walton in or about 1609, was ordained priest at the English College at Rome in 1633, and adopted the alias of Cottam. He died on the mission in Lancashire in Feb., 1671. William, the eldest son, married Dorothy, dau. of Christopher Anderton, of Howick Hall, who survived him and married secondly Edward Walmesley, of Banister Hall. His daughter, Sister Anne Joachim Walton, was professed at the convent of the Poor Clares at Gravelines, in 1640, and died in 1677, aged fifty-eight. Upon his death, Feb. 18, 1625–6, he was succeeded by his son Thomas, born in 1620, whose will was proved in 1673. He appears under Eccleston-juxta-Knowsley, with Mary his wife, in the text for March 23, 1667. The James of the text is not easy to identify; the name was a family one, but there is no reliable pedigree. Soon after this the heir, Thomas Walton, alienated the estate, in 1682, and took up his residence on another estate he possessed at Winder in Cartmel, and his will was proved in 1683. In Upper Holker in that parish there was an ancient mansion called Walton Hall, said to have been the residence of William de Walton, prior of Cartmel, possibly of the same family. The will of Elizabeth Walton, of Canon Winder, in Cartmel, was proved in 1691. Thomas Walton alias Westby took the college oath at Douay in 1700. He is probably the priest who was present at Bishop Williams' confirmation at Hexham in 1729. Elizabeth and Isabel, daughters of Francis Westby, of Myerscough and Mowbreck Hall, were recusants at Holker in 1683–4, and it is possible that one of them became the mother of the priest. Thomas Walton, who succeeded his father and namesake to the Winder estate, and also to an estate in Hambleton, was a relative of Thomas Tyldesley, the Jacobite, who frequently mentions him in his diary in 1711–13. He married Anne, dau. of George Leyburne, of Nateby Hall, Lancashire, and of Cunswick Hall in Westmoreland, by Elizabeth, dau. of George Preston, of Holker Hall. Thomas Walton was attainted of high treason after the rising of 1715, and his estates were confiscated. Mrs Walton's brother, John Leyburne, was also attainted in 1716, and as his two brothers, George and Nicholas, were priests, what was saved from the Leyburne forfeiture, including Nateby Hall, was inherited by his niece, Elizabeth Walton, the dau. and heiress of Thomas Walton. She married first, in 1745, Thomas Cholmeley, of Brandsby Hall, co. York, and secondly, George Anne, of Frickley Hall, co. York, by whom she had an only daughter and heiress, who died unmarried and left the Nateby Hall estate to her father, whose son by a second marriage, Michael Anne, sold Nateby Hall in 1806. There were several Jesuits of the name, who probably belonged to this family. Father John Walton alias Rigby, who died in 1677, aged fifty-three, a noted controversialist; Father William, who died in 1706, aged fifty-five; Brother Roger, who died a scholastic in 1683, aged 23; Father James, who died in Maryland in 1803, aged sixty-seven, and his brother Father Thomas Walton, who died at Irnham, in 1797, aged fifty-seven.

[1] Mary Cuerden's will was proved in 1677, and that of her husband, Matthew Cuerden, of Walton-le-Dale, in 1666. The Cuerdens of Cuerden, parish of Leyland, of Walton-le-Dale and Clayton-le-Dale, parish of Blackburn, and of Tarleton, parish of Croston, appear in the recusant rolls from their commencement, 34 Eliz. 1591–2. Father John Cuerden, Disc. Carme., born at Tarleton in 1696, was son of William Cuerden and his wife Jane Rymer. He was ordained priest at Louvain in 1720, and served the chaplaincies at Crosby Hall, Sefton Hall and Croxteth Hall, and died in London in 1761. William Cuerden, of Clayton-le-Dale, chapman, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, returned estates there, in Cuerden, and in Walton-le-Dale, all in his own possession. He mentions his infant sons Matthew and Thomas, the latter of whom, born in 1718, became a Jesuit, served Westby Hall for many years, and died at Scholes Hall, near Prescot, in 1793. Dr Richard Kuerden, the eminent Lancashire antiquary, returned a very long but thin pedigree of the family at the Visitation of 1664. Though the Doctor himself was a Protestant, the family alliances down to the time of his grandmother were Catholic.

[2] The Sergeants, of whom Abram gives some account in his Hist. of Blackburn, disappear from the rolls soon after this date. Leonard Sergeant, of Walton, was a recusant up to his death in 1640, and his grand-daughter Anne, dau. of his late son and heir Thomas, was his next heir. Leonard's dau. Katherine was the wife of Richard Sharrock, of Walton, an old Catholic family, of whom were a number of Benedictines, one being Bishop William Gregory Sharrock, V.A—W.D., who died in 1809.

[3] The Woodcocks of Walton were a branch of the family seated at Woodcock Hall in Cuerden, and always retained the Faith. The above John died in 1690. In 1663 he purchased the Lemon House estate in Walton, from William Lemon, of Preston, where the family resided till its sale by a descendant and namesake of John Woodcock some few years after 1733. The last John Woodcock was the Catholic non-juror of 1717. Abram gives a pedigree of the family in his Hist. of Blackburn.

[4] Richard Duddell's will was proved in 1667, and that of James, probably his son, in 1689. They were both coopers. Richard Duddell married Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Chorley, of Walton, by Isabel, dau. of William Serjeant, of Walton. One of this family, Sister Catherine Cecilia Joseph Duddell, was professed a Poor Clare, at Gravelines in 1744, and died in 1783, aged fifty-six.

[5] The Gregsons of Brindle, Hoghton, Walton-le-Dale, and Salmesbury, were always recusants, and in 1717 were Catholic non-jurors. A number of them became Benedictines.

[1] She was buried at Ribchester, Feb. 8, 1673. Her husband, at the age of sixty-two, built the present Buckley Hall in 1662, and his will, dated June 20, 1673, was proved Jan. 14, 1674. His father, Roger Sherburne, of Buckley, who died Oct. 16, 1605, was the son and heir of Richard Sherburne, of Buckley Hall, by Isabel, dau. of Thomas Denman, of Ordsall, co. Notts, which Richard was a younger son of Robert Sherburne, of Wolfhouse. Richard Sherburne left no issue, and Buckley Hall passed into other hands.

[2] The Cottams of The High House in Dilworth were an ancient Catholic family. There is a genealogical account of the family in Smith's Hist. of Ribchester, but it is very unsatisfactory. There is probably some confusion in the description in the text. Laurence Cottam, senior, married in 1627 Anne Burne, of Chipping, and Lawrence Cottam, junior, married in 1675 Mary Fairclough. The father died in 1682, and the son (who was a non-juror in 1717) in 1733. John Cottam, son of Lawrence junior, married in 1717 Elizabeth Cutler, of Chipping, and left the High House for the neighbourhood of Preston about the middle of the eighteenth century. There was another branch of the family living at this time at Knowle Green in Ribchester, their residence being variously called Cottam Hall, Knoll Hall, and Dilworth Hall.

[1] The Hayhursts, of Hayhurst, in Dutton, were of ancient lineage. Henry Hayhurst, of Hayhurst, in 1622 married Anne, dau. of William Browne, of Aintree, and relict of Richard Towneley of Dutton Hall, whose daughter Susan married Henry Hayhurst, junior. The Anne of the text was probably the widow of Henry senior. In 1717 Lawrence Hayhurst, of Dutton, was a Catholic nonjuror. The genealogical account of the family in Smith's Hist. of Ribchester is very confused.

[2] The Sherburnes, of Little Mitton Hall, were descended from Robert, younger son of Thomas Sherburne, of Stonyhurst, and brother to Sir Richard Sherburne, reader of Gray's Inn. Robert obtained Little Mitton through his wife Dorothy, dau. and coheiress of Thomas Catterall, of Catterall Hall and Little Mitton Hall, and his grandson and namesake married Katherine (of the text), dau. of Richard Lathom, of Parbold Hall, by Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Piers Legh, of Lyme Hall, co. Chester, and had four sons and seven daughters. The eldest son, Thomas, married, first, Jane, dau. of Judge Reeves, of Thwaites, and secondly, Katherine, dau. of John Jones, and relict of Edward Jones, of Glumandy, in Clavaris in Yale, co. Denbigh, the junior Katherine named in the text, who was living in 1674. As Thomas Sherburne had no issue by either wife, the estate, upon his death in 1664, passed to his brother Richard, who married Frances, dau. of Christopher Towneley, of Patrick Brompton, co. York, son of John Towneley, of Towneley Hall. He, too, died s.p. in 1665, and the estate was sold to Alexander Holt. The other two sons seem to have died young, and the family became extinct. The Sherburnes appear regularly in the recusant rolls. At one time, 5 Car. I, 1629–30, Robert, the husband of the elder Katherine was living at Catterall Hall. He died in 1657, as did his younger brother Dom Thomas James Sherburne alias Tunstall, O.S.B. Two other brothers were secular priests, Richard and Matthew, both ordained at Douay in 1622 under the alias of Tunstall. The latter was alive in 1667. Their mother was Margaret, dau. of Francis Tunstall, of Aldcliff Hall, their father Thomas Sherburne's first wife.

[3] Christopher Harries, of Torrisholme, in the parish of Lancaster, married Margery, dau. and heir of Robert Swindlehurst, of Fairoak House, in Bolland or Bowland), co. York, and thus obtained that estate. Harries was a Royalist, and took an active part during the civil wars. His son Charles Harries, of Fairoak, married Oct. 1, 1683, Bridget, dau. of Thomas Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, and left two daughters and coheiresses, Dorothy, wife of John Parkinson, of Sykes House, and Mary, wife of Henry Whittingham, of Whittingham Hall. Mr Parkinson died in 1725, leaving an only dau. and heir, Elizabeth, married in 1746 to Robert Parker, of Hareden in Bolland. Mrs Whittingham was married in 1705, and died May 8, 1741, having been the mother of eleven children, two of whom, Bridget and Mary, respectively became the wives of George Silvertop, of Minsteracres, co. Durham, and his brother Joseph Silvertop, whose descendant, the present inheritor of Minsteracres, now represents the Harries and Whittingham families. Both Christopher and his son Charles Harries were on the recusant roll for 1680–1. Evidence was given during the Jacobite trials at Manchester in 1694, that Charles Harries had been seen in company with other gentlemen at Dunkenhalgh, the seat of Mr Walmesley, at a secret meeting held there in King James II's interest. He died in 1719. His son-in-law, John Parkinson, of Myerscough, in 1716 was attainted and convicted of high treason for being out with the Chevalier de St George in 1715, and though he was never apprehended his estate was forfeited.

[1] The Southworths were one of the finest Catholic families in the county, at this time almost exhausted by fine and persecution, including long years of imprisonment and martyrdom at Tyburn. Originally of Southworth and Croft, in the parish of Winwick, they obtained the Manor of Samlesbury in the fourteenth century with the heiress of the D'Evyas family, which in like manner had acquired it through the marriage in the thirteenth century of Cicely de Samlesbury with Sir John D'Evyas. The Elizabeth Southworth named in the text was the daughter of Philip Langton, of Lowe Hall. Her husband returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, at which date he was aged 57, and had six sons and eight daughters, the eldest son, John, being then twenty-three years of age. The father died in 1675, leaving the estate heavily encumbered, and he was succeeded by his son Edward, who was compelled to finally part with his estate and the grand and picturesque old mansion of Samlesbury by indenture dated March 10, 1679. His name, however, continued to appear on the recusant rolls for some little time longer, till finally he withdrew to Balderstone, where he died in 1694. Croston, in his Hist. of Samlesbury Hall, says that he had two sons, John and Thomas, born in 1678 and 1690, and from the latter presumes that a family of the same name in London derived. This, however, is most improbable; the dates are hardly reconcilable, and the London family, a by no means uncommon name there, had no Catholic associations. There was a John Southworth of Highfield, esquire, in the Parish of Lancaster, in the same recusant roll with Edward, of Samlesbury, in 1680. He or a namesake, of the same place, died in 1727, and is described in the Autobiography of William Stout, p. 114, as the last of an ancient and wealthy family, but reduced to a small estate. He left a widow, but no child. He was a man of weak capacity, and made no will. He had an uncle Robert Southworth, settled in London, then deceased, and another uncle Francis Southworth, of London, also deceased in 1728, but the latter had left a son and namesake, Francis Southworth, who claimed the Highfield estate, and sold it to Robert Gibson, Esq. This was a younger branch, however, and was settled at Highfield in 1622, when George Southworth and Mary his wife were on the rolls. Another branch of the family settled in the neighbourhood of Preston, and of this Ralph Southworth, by his wife, Catherine Kay, sister of the Rev. Henry Kay, and grand-dau. of John Kendall, of Fulwood, was the father of five sons—(1) Richard Southworth alias Kendall, who arrived at Douay College Sept. 28, 1756, was ordained priest in 1769, became professor of philosophy, and vice-president and professor of divinity in 1773 till he left for the mission at Brockhampton, Hants, Aug. 25, 1786, where he died Nov. 19, 1817; (2) Henry, arrived at Douay Nov. 8, 1762, and died there Feb. 5, 1765; (3) Ralph, arrived at Douay with Henry, was ordained priest in 1774, was retained in the college as a professor till 1782, when he became chaplain to the Augustinian nuns at Louvain, accompanied them at the Revolution to Spettisbury, where he died July 13, 1810, aged 63; (4) Thomas, born in 1749, who went from Sedgley Park School to Douay in May, 1766, and after ordination was sent to assist his relative, the Rev. Hugh Kendall, president of Sedgley Park, whom he succeeded as second president in 1781, and so continued with an interruption between April, 1793, and Nov. 1797, till his death June 11, 1816; and (5) William, who accompanied Thomas from Sedgley, where they had both been from Dec., 1765, to Douay, was ordained priest, and came to the mission at Hathersage, co. Derby, in 1780, subsequently served other missions, and died April 28, 1814. In early times there were several priests of the family, of whom was John, son of Sir John, of Samlesbury Hall, who was ordained at Rheims, and about 1585 was reported as resident at Samlesbury Hall or in the Fylde. His brother Christopher went in 1580 from Rheims to Rome, where he was ordained priest in 1583, and came to England in 1586, was arrested in 1587, and committed to the Counter Prison, thence to Wisbeach Castle, in 1595 he was at Denbigh Castle, and finally, about 1598–9, he was removed to the Gatehouse, Westminster. Subsequently he was released, and in 1612 he was at Samlesbury Hall. He used the alias of Thompson. Another John Southworth, born in 1592, was condemned to death at Lancaster, on account of his sacred calling, and reprieved, but was again apprehended in later years, and martyred at Tyburn in 1654. There was always a chapel regularly served in Samlesbury Hall down to this period, and another in the Lower Hall, Samlesbury, which estate was sold by Thomas Southworth in the first quarter of the seventeenth century to Sir Thomas Walmesley, of Dunkenhalgh. In 1690, and probably earlier, it was served by the Franciscans, who continued to do so till 1816. An independent chapel was erected in 1817, since which it has been served by the secular clergy.

[1] John Shorrocke, of Samlesbury, yeoman, was a recusant in 1635, and the will of one of the same name and place was proved in 1679. A branch of the family settled at Walton-le-Dale, and from it came several Benedictines, including a bishop. Robert Sharrock, yeo., and his wife, Richard Sharrock and and his wife, James and Christopher, and John Sharrock and his wife, all of Samlesbury, were convicted of recusancy at the Lancaster Sessions on Jan. 15, 1716.

[1] The Talbots of Salisbury and Dinkley halls were descended from the Talbots of Bashall Hall, and returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1533, 1567, 1613, and 1664. They were always staunch recusants, and in consequence suffered much in fine and imprisonment. John, born in 1608, and George, born in 1612, both named in the text, were sons of Sir John Talbot, of Salisbury Hall, who was knighted by James I, at Lathom House, in 1617, and died in 1659. Their mother was Mary, dau. of Sir Alexander Barlow, of Barlow Hall. George fought on the Royalist side at the storming of Preston in 1642, and was taken prisoner. He married Anne, daughter of Robert Parkinson, of Fairsnape Hall, but the pedigrees are silent as to there being any issue. John, the eldest son of Sir John, married, first, Margaret, dau. of Thomas Westby, of Mowbreck Hall, and she dying in 1634, secondly, Dorothy, dau. of James Wilford, of Cranbrooke, co. Kent, and Quendon Hall, co. Essex, by Anne, daughter and heir of Thomas Newman, of Quendon Hall. John Talbot died in Oct., 1677, and his widow in Sept., 1684. Their only surviving child Dorothy married, about 1678, Edward Warren, of Poynton Hall, co. Chester, and carried the Talbot estates into that family. Mrs Warren and her mother appear in the recusant rolls down to 1684, and then resided at Dinkley Hall. The Warrens, who were not Catholics, continued to reside chiefly at Dinkley, and the extensive Talbot estates ultimately descended to the second Lord De Tabley, who sold them in 1866 to Henry Ward, of Blackburn. There were chapels in both of the halls at Salisbury and Dinkley, where Mass was said during the early part of Elizabeth's reign and later. Fr William Talbot, S.J., who died in 1660, aged 64, and Fr. John Talbot, O.S.F., who died in 1668, were of this family. The pedigree in Abram's Blackburn is the best.

[2] Two of this family became Benedictines, Dom Robert Austin Turner, born 1721, died 1757, and Dom John Thomas Turner, born at Walton, 1743, died 1802. Sister Grace Winefred Francis Turner was professed a Poor Clare at Gravelines in 1704, and died there at the age of thirty-eight.

[1] The Cornowes of Cornowe, or Cornorowe, in Greenhalgh-cum-Thistleton, were of ancient descent, Lawrence, Rowland and Henry being their favourite names. Laurence Cornoe died in 1668, and his son and namesake was a recusant in 1671. The will of the son's wife Ellen was dated March 25, 1681, and was proved in that year by her son John. Henry Cornoe, or Corney as the name began to be spelt, married Jane, daughter of Robert Worswick, of Todderstaffe Hall, her brother, Thomas Worswick, being the founder of Worswick's Bank in Lancaster, now represented by the Lancaster Banking Co. His wife was Alice, daughter of Robert Gillow, of Lancaster. One of Henry Corney's younger sons, Thomas, married Dorothy, daughter of William Mawhood, of London. Another of his sons, James, of Lancaster, whose wife, Anne Fell, was a cousin of the Rev. John Gillow, D.D., president of Ushaw College, was the grandfather of the late Charles Frederick Corney, of London, father of Dom Charles Wilfrid Corney, O.S.B., and Dom Vincent Corney, O.S.B. The pedigree of the family is fairly accurate from the reign of Elizabeth.

[2] Richard Blackburne was son of Robert Blackburne, of Thistleton, by Elizabeth, daughter of Ralph Longworth, of Tarnacre Hall, or St Michael's Hall, in Up Rawcliffe, and grandson of Richard Blackburne, of Scorton Hall, Thistleton, and Newton. His uncle, Thomas Blackburne, was ancestor of the Blackburnes of Orford Hall, and The Hutt in Hale, the Protestant branch of the family. Richard Blackburne married Perpetua, dau. of Francis Westby, of Myerscough Hall, son of John Westby, of Mowbreck Hall, co. Lancaster, and Westby, co. York, by his first wife, Perpetua, dau. of Sir Edward Norreys, of Speke Hall. He died in 1679, leaving several children, of whom were Robert, John, and Francis. Thomas succeeded to the Thistleton and Newton-cum-Scales property, of which he made a settlement in 1686. In the spring of 1695 he went up to St James's, and in April, 1696, he was falsely charged with conspiring to assassinate King William, and committed to Newgate. His case is almost without parallel for its hardship and injustice. Though there was no evidence against him, and he was never brought to trial, he was immured in Newgate for over fifty-three years, till death released him from his sufferings. Francis, the third son, living in 1704, was the father of Gregory Blackburne and several other children.

[1] She was the widow of William Sanderson, of Alston, whose will was proved in 1665. Her son Nicholas Sanderson, born about Easter, 1648, after studying at St Omer's College, was sent to that at Rome, where he was admitted Nov. 14, 1666, and assumed the alias of Singleton, probably his mother's maiden name. He was ordained priest Aug. 3, 1670. Several members of the same family entered the Society.

[2] William Hothersall was a younger son of Thomas Hothersall, of Hothersall Hall, by Bridget, dau. of William Haydock, of Cottam Hall, and his wife Bridget, daughter of Sir Richard Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower. His sister Elizabeth married Cuthbert Haydock, of Cottam Hall. Thomas Hothersall returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, being then about 80 years of age. His eldest son, Capt. John Hothersall was slain at the siege of Greenhalgh Castle in 1645, defending it in the Royal Cause. By Margery, his wife, dau. of James Wall, of Moorside, Preston, by Isabel, dau. of William Travers, of Nateby Hall, the captain left a son Thomas, named later in the text, who was aged twenty-one on May 10, 1665. He succeeded to Hothersall Hall, and made his will Jan. 2, 1719, and was buried at Ribchester on the 18th of the same month. His mother Margery, married, secondly, Robert Haydock, of Cottam Hall, Feb. 13, 1647. Thomas's son John joined the Chevalier de St George in 1715, and was taken prisoner at Preston, was attainted and convicted of high treason, and outlawed, but managed to escape, and lived quietly with his sister and coheir Anne, wife of William Leckonby, of Leckonby House, Great Eccleston, till his death, unmarried, some time before 1750. Hothersall Hall and manor then passed to the Leckonbys, the other surviving sister, Margery, wife of Edward Winstanley, of Pemberton, having other property for her share. The Hothersall pedigree can be traced from the twelfth century. The family suffered much for its faith, and Mass was said in the hall. George Hothersall, who went to Douay in 1585, and thence to Valladolid in 1590, where he was ordained priest, returned to England in 1593, and served the mission at or about Hothersall. He was imprisoned and exiled, after which he joined the Benedictines in 1615, returned to England, and probably died at Hothersall Hall in 1633. He was a younger son of John Hothersall and his wife Anne, dau. of John Talbot of Salisbury Hall, by Anne, dau. of Hugh Sherburne, of Stonyhurst. William Hothersall, named in the text, died in 1679, leaving several sons, of whom Thomas, the eldest, died in 1684, leaving sons, William and John. On Jan. 15, 1716, Fr Walter Vavasour, S.J., who resided in Alston, and used to say Mass at Hothersall Hall, was convicted at Lancaster as "Sir Walter Vavasor, a reputed Preist." Rather defective pedigrees appear in Smith's Ribchester and Longridge. A junior branch of the Hothersalls lived at Alston, of whom was Sister Margaret Mary Austin Hothersall, who was professed a Poor Clare at Gravelines in 1741, and died in 1765, aged fifty-three.

[1] Richard Bilsborrow, of the family of the Bilsborrows of Cottam, died in 1676. His wife was Margaret Albine of Alston, and they were married at Ribchester, July 16, 1628. Their grandson, Richard Bilsborrow, of Alston, joined the Chevalier de St George in 1715, and was attainted July 24, 1716, and the stock and effects on his farm were sold. The family was always recusant. The Bilsborrows had held leaseholds under the Haydocks of Cottam Hall from an early period. The will of Henry Bilsborrow was proved in 1593, and those of John, in 1618, Henry, in 1664, William, in 1669, and John, in 1688, all of Cottam. The last, on March 4, 1685, leased a farm under William Haydock, of Cottam Hall, for three lives. He married, probably as a second wife, Mary Higginson, widow, whose son Roger Higginson, of Barton, went to London after the Rising of 1715, and was a Catholic non-juror of St Giles in the Fields, co. Middlesex, gent., in 1717. Mrs Bilsborrow died in 1704, and her husband's will was proved in 1711. His son William Bilsborrow, of Bartle Quarter in Woodplumpton, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, It was he who let the barn in Bartle to the priest at Cottam Hall, about 1703, to establish an independent mission. His will was proved in 1725, and that of John Bilsborrow, of the same address, in 1728. From one of these was descended Richard Bilsborrow, of Bradkirk Hall, who died July 24, 1869, aged seventy-six, having issue, amongst others, by his wife Elizabeth, who died Feb. 15, 1860, aged fifty-nine—the Rt Rev. John Bilsborrow, Bishop of Salford, born March 30, 1836, died March 5, 1903; Henry, of Pendleton, who married, first, Eliza Anastasia, dau. of James Leeming, of Seedley in Pendleton, J.P., and, secondly, his deceased wife's sister, Mary Leeming, who survived her husband, and died at Salford, Nov. 8, 1882; Cecily, died Jan. 2, 1859, aged twenty-four; and Barbara, wife of Thomas Edsforth, of Bradkirk Hall. Henry Bilsborrow died at Pendleton, Feb. 25, 1876. The Revv. Richard O. Bilsborrow, of Hornby, Henry L. Bilsborrow, of Bristol, and James Romanus Bilsborrow, V.G. of Port Louis, in the Mauritius, are nephews of the late bishop.

[2] This name was originally Duckworth, but eventually became spelt, as it was locally pronounced, Duckett. George Duckworth, or Ducketh, was the father of John Duckworth alias Ducket, of Alston, yeoman, who married Anne Dewhurst, of Alston, and was a Catholic non-juror in 1717. The will of Thomas Ducket, of Alston, was proved in 1734. Bartholomew Duckworth alias Ducket, of Alston, married Anne, dau. of Henry Comaleach, of Elston, tanner, by Elizabeth, daughter of John Walmesley, of Elston, tanner, and was the father of the Rev. Henry Duckett, born July 15, 1729, ordained priest at the English College at Rome, March 9, 1754, and leaving Rome for the mission, April 27 following, died in Lancashire, Oct. 17, 1755. His mother was the nurse appearing in the family group entitled "The heiress of Hothersall Hall," reproduced from the original painting and published in Smith's Hist. of Ribchester. About this time some of the family removed to Claughton, in the parish of Garstang, where Richard Duckett died, and his will was administered to in 1729. He was probably the father of Dom George Edmund Duckett, O.S.B., born at Claughton, professed at Paris in 1760, and died in 1792. James Duckett removed from Claughton to Preston, where he died May 15, 1825, aged 79, leaving sons: Richard, an auctioneer in Preston, died May 1, 1861; James, born at Claughton, Oct. 26, 1791, educated at Sedgley Park and Oscott, ordained priest in 1820, and died at Wolverhampton, May 30, 1864; and Thomas, of Preston, whose son James, corn merchant, of Preston, was the father of the Rev. Canon Thomas Duckett, educated at Sedgley and Oscott, ordained priest in 1855, and died at Rugeley, March 5, 1906. Richard, the eldest son, had sons, Richard, auctioneer of Preston, who died April 20, 1886; Rev. Canon George Duckett, educated at Sedgley and Oscott, ordained 1851, and spent the whole of his missionary career at Wolverhampton till his death, May 5, 1898, aged 75; and Thomas, of Preston, sculptor, father of the Rev. Canon Richard Duckett, D.D., now of Norwich, who went to Lisbon in 1847, and was there ordained.

[1] The Bartons, manorial lords of Barton, were at this period represented by Richard Shuttleworth, of Gawthorp Hall, a Protestant, who died in June, 1669, aged 82. His wife was Fleetwood, dau. and heiress of Richard Barton, of Barton Hall, by Mary, dau. of Robert Hesketh, of Rufford Hall. Mrs Shuttleworth, whose ancestors were all recusants, died in 1664. The Bartons named in the text, farmers on the estate, appear for generations on the rolls, and may have derived from a younger son of a remote lord of the manor.

[2] She was probably a native of this locality, and widow of one of the Arrowsmiths of the Haydock district, as the name is not met with at an earlier date in this part. She died in 1681, and her son Richard was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and his will was proved in 1728. He was the ancestor of Richard Arrowsmith, banker, of Preston.

[3] Thomas Baldwin, a Lancashire man, took the oath at Douay College in 1671, was ordained, and died a professor there in 1684.

[4] The Beesleys at this time had but recently parted with their ancient estates of The Hill, in Beesley Tythe in Goosnargh, and The Brooks, in Bleasdale. They were always staunch to the faith, and suffered heavily in fine, imprisonment, and even martyrdom. William de Beselegh, son of John, was living in the fourteenth century. His descendant John Beesley, of The Hill in Beesley, had a younger son, Christopher, who settled in York, and was succeeded by his son Edward, who, by his second wife Bridget, dau. and heiress of William Nelson, of Skelton, N.R. of York, had two sons—William; and John, who matriculated at Douay in 1599, and probably became a priest; and three daughters, of whom Marie became the wife of Christopher Scrope, of Spenithorn, whose son Henry, born in 1605, succeeded to Danby. Edward, who suffered much for his recusancy and that of his family, and was still on the rolls in 1604, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of Yorks in 1584. His son William was the father of Father John Beesley alias Nelson, S.J., who went to the College at Valladolid in Dec., 1613, thence to that at Seville, where he was ordained priest, and joined the Society at Watten in 1622, dying Nov. 3, 1670, aged 77. Christopher's elder brother, of The Hill, had two sons, George, his successor, and John, who was a priest, and in 1585 was reported to be living at Leighton Hall, with the widow of George Middleton, Margaret, dau. of Sir Christopher Metcalfe, of Nappa, whose wife was a dau. of Henry Clifford, Earl of Cumberland. The eldest son, George Beesley, had five sons (1) Francis, of The Hill, who died Feb. 23, 1608–9; (2) George, ordained priest at Rheims in 1587, and martyred at Tyburn, July 2, 1591; (3) Richard, born 1570, ordained priest at Douay in 1595, having studied also in Spain and at Rome, suffered imprisonment and was exiled more than once, and was still serving the mission in Lancashire in 1632; (4) William, of The Brooks, in Bleasdale, recusant in 1607–8, who by his wife Margaret, dau. and coheir of John Parker of Aighton, had a son, John, born Feb. 2, 1609, who entered Douay College, Jan. 12, 1628, under the alias of Parker, was ordained priest, was known under the alias of Mollyns on the Mission, was rural dean of West Derby Hundred, and treasurer of the Lancashire Clergy Fund, died March 30, 1674, and was buried at the Harkirk Cemetery, and a dau., Ellen, wife of William Parker, eldest son and heir of John Parker, of Bradkirk Hall; and (5) John, of Barnacre, who had a son and namesake a recusant in 1607. Francis Beesley, of The Hill, was succeeded in 1609 by his son and heir George, who was then twenty-three years of age, and Henry, the second son, married and resided at The Brooks in Bleasdale, till that estate was sold with The Hill about 1648–9, when he removed to Ingolhead, and died in 1666. Francis may have had a third son, Edward Beesley, who went to Valladolid in 1622, under the alias of Hoghton, left to enter the Society in 1629, subsequently became procurator at the Jesuit College at Madrid, and died there in 1654. George seems to have gone to Brabant in 1632–3, but was back at The Hill and a recusant in 1635–6. His son Francis Beesley sold The Hill and The Brooks estates to Richard Blackburne, of Scorton Hall, Thistleton, and Newton, in 1648–9, after which the history of the Beesleys is difficult to trace. Henry of Ingolhead had a son, George, of the same place, whose will was proved in 1668, and he had sons Henry, of Ingolhead, will proved in 1702, Thomas, Ralph, Richard, of Goosnargh in 1685, and George. The Right Rev. Mgr John Beesley, of Stretford, ordained priest at Salford from Ushaw in 1862, is descended from this family.

[1] William Cardwell's will was proved in 1668, and that of Cuthbert Cardwell of Barton, in 1667. The family was numerous, and is difficult to trace. A pedigree was published in Foster's Lancashire Pedigrees in 1873 by the Right Hon. Edward Cardwell, who was created Viscount Cardwell of Ellerbeck in 1874, but it is most unreliable and incorrect in the earlier generations. The branch represented by Lord Cardwell, apparently lost its Faith early in the eighteenth century. Thomas Cardwell, of Barton and Goosnargh, whose will, dated March 9, 1692, and proved in 1693 by his wife Helen, probably a Taylor, was the father of Robert, of Barton, whose will was proved in 1730; William, of Barton, tanner, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, who registered a property originally leased by Richard Shuttleworth, Esq., in 1670 to Cuthbert Cardwell, then deceased, and afterwards assigned to the non-juror's father; Richard of Broughton, yeoman, non-juror in 1717, who registered a freehold and leasehold in Broughton and Whittingham, and whose will was proved in 1722; and John, who was admitted into the English College at Rome, Oct. 18, 1695, aged twenty, ordained priest March 26, 1701, and left Rome for St Gregory's Seminary at Paris, where he pursued his studies, and then came to the mission. In 1716 Peploe, the vicar of Preston, informed the Council that John Cardwell, a Popish Priest abroad, held an estate called Belle Living, in Broughton, under lease from Mr Shuttleworth. He died Sept. 17, 1728, aged 53. Elizabeth, dau. of William Cardwell, of Barton, yeoman, who died Feb. 21, 1697, from whom Lord Cardwell descended, married in 1671 Roger Gradell, of Barton, who died in 1700, descended from Roger, a younger son of Christopher Gradell, of Barbles Moor, in Ulnes Walton, by Jennet, dau. of Richard Charnock, of Charnock Richard. She subsequently removed to Fernyhalgh, within Broughton, where she was a non-juror in 1717, and by her will, dated Dec. 4, 1719, and proved in 1728, she left bequests to her daughter Margaret, wife of William Shepherd, of Fernyhalgh, father of William Shepherd, of Croxteth. One of the Cardwells married Elizabeth, dau. of James Sidgreaves, of Inglewhite Lodge, and had issue James Cardwell; Mary, wife of Mr Rigby, of Walton-le-Dale, and mother of the Rev. John Rigby and the Rev. Nicholas Rigby, who died respectively in 1871, aged 76, and 1886 aged 86; Isabel, wife of Mr MacNeal; and Nancy, wife of James Midgeall, of Blacke Hall, in Goosnargh, whose son Robert alienated that ancient inheritance in 1807.

[1] The Kitchens are on the recusant rolls from the commencement in, 1591. The will of Thomas Kitchen, of Barton, was proved in 1677. Anne Kitchen, widow, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717 at Barton, and her will was proved in 1732. They were spread about in neighbouring townships. Edward Kitchen alias Smith took the oath at Douay in 1670, was ordained priest, and succeeded Rev. John Langton alias Baldwin at Higher Shuttlingfields, in Walton-le-dale, in 1684, and thence succeeded Rev. George Crook at Bank Hall in Broughton in 1709, and whilst there on Jan. 15, 1716, was convicted at the Lancaster sessions as "a reputed Popish Priest." His nephew, the Rev. Edward Kitchen, educated at Douay and Lisbon, died a professor at the latter college in 1732. Rev. John Kitchen alias Marsden, born in 1741, ordained at Douay in 1768 and appointed a professor, left May 15, 1770, and was appointed to Chester, where he was succeeded in 1794 by Rev. James Lancaster. The Rev. Edward Kitchen alias Marsden, born in 1747, ordained at Douay in 1770, left Aug. 17, 1772, and was appointed chaplain at Lartington Hall, and there he remained till he was recalled to Douay to be President of the College, where he arrived July 30, 1791, but owing to the terrible effect produced on his nerves and health by the French Revolution, he resigned his office and left the College for England on the following October 3, and returning to Lartington died there Jan. 3, 1793. The Kitchens leased Catforth Hall, in Woodplumpton, early in the eighteenth century, and farmed it for some time.

[1] John Leckonby, of the Desmesne of Elswick, and subsequently of Leckonby House, Great Eccleston, estates inherited from his father Richard, a royalist engaged in the civil wars who had to compound for his estate, married Alice, dau. of Richard Gillow, of Bryning, but died sine prole, and was buried at St Michael's-on-Wyre, Dec. 31, 1690. Though described as yeoman in the roll, he always appears as gentleman in deeds. His grandfather and namesake, from whom the estates descended, was an active Royalist, married Alice, dau. of Thomas Singleton, of Staining Hall, by Cecily, dau. of William Gerard, of Ince Hall, and besides Richard, his son and heir, had a younger son George, whose son John, of Great Eccleston, by his wife Ann, dau. of William Hoole, of Staynoe, was the father of Fathers Richard and Thomas Leckonby, S.J., the former of whom died at Croston Hall in 1771, aged seventy-two, and the latter in Maryland in 1734, aged thirty-two. John Leckonby, the recusant named in the text, was succeeded according to the entail by his brother Richard, who married Ann, dau. of William Hesketh, of Maynes Hall, by Perpetua, dau. of Thomas Westby, of Mowbreck Hall. His daughters, Sisters Mary Aloysia and Anne Winefred, were professed Poor Clares at Gravelines in 1718 and 1729, and died respectively in 1751 and 1756, aged fifty-two and fifty; and his son and heir, William Leckonby, married Ann, dau. of Thomas Hothersall, of Hothersall Hall, and sister and coheiress of John Hothersall, and brought to the family the manor of Hothersall and other estates; and she and her husband with their five children are depicted in the family group entitled "The Heiress of Hothersall Hall," published in Smith's Hist. of Ribchester. The infant in the lap of the mother is the portrait of Fr Thomas Leckonby, S.J., born in 1717, who served Pontop Hall, Durham, from 1748 till his death in 1778. The eldest son Richard succeeded to the family estates, and with his wife Mary, dau. and eventual coheiress of William Hathornthwaite, of the Demesne of Catshaw, by Ellen, dau. and coheiress of Richard Blackburne, of Stockenbridge Manor, acquired the Demesne of Catshaw, adjoining Hathornthwaite, Livesey Hall in Sutton, the Luddocks estate, and land in Hale. Richard Leckonby, the last squire, died in 1783, his only son William having been killed whilst hunting in Wyresdale in the preceding year. Mary Leckonby, the son's daughter and sole heiress, born in 1777, became the wife of Thomas Henry Hele Phipps, of Leighton House, Wilts, J.P., D.L., High Sheriff of that county in 1804, and thus the Leckonby family became extinct in the male line. There were two secular priests who went by the name of Leckonby, probably that of their grandmother, whose real name was White, sons of John White, of Great Eccleston, and his wife Alice Southworth, Luke, born in 1708, who was ordained at Rome in 1731, and lived many years at Alston, where he died in July, 1765, and John, born in 1710, who, after studying at Fernyhalgh, went to Rome, where he was ordained in 1733, left for Douay to finish his theology in 1734, and on June 14, 1735, set out for the mission in Yorkshire, and resided with Mr Markham, whence in 1741 he removed to Euxton Hall, the seat of the Andertons, where he remained till his death, Feb. 7, 1778.

[2] Elizabeth Hoole, of Elswick, spinster, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717. The will of her father was proved in 1715. By will dated April 26, 1727, she charged a meadow in Elswick, which she gave to the Catholic chapel at Great Eccleston, with the annual payment of £3 to the poor of Elswick, and her will was proved in 1730. Her sister Ann, in 1682 married John Leckonby, of Great Eccleston, father of the two Jesuits. The Hooles were of ancient lineage. William Hoole, senior, was descended from John Hoole or Hulle, of Carlton, who in 1548 married Alice, dau. of William Gillow, of Bryning, and had issue a son John Hulle, of Carlton, whose wife was the only daughter and eventual heiress of Hugh Singleton (second son of George Singleton, of Staining Hall), by Margaret, sister and coheiress of Laurence Carlton, of Carlton, whose wife Margaret was Hugh Singleton's sister. Of this family was Sister Dorothy Clare Hoole, professed a Poor Clare at Gravelines in 1763, having been seventeen years an extern, and died in 1792, aged sixty-seven.

[1] The will of William Turner's father and namesake, also of Elswick, yeoman, was proved in 1631, and his own in 1668. His son and namesake, whose will was dated Oct. 29, 1703, and proved in 1704, by Margaret his wife, had issue John Turner, of Elswick, yeoman, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, Laurence, Anne, married to John Roe in 1722, and Elizabeth. John Turner sold his estate in Elswick to William Smith, of Elswick, likewise a Catholic non-juror in 1717, a younger son of the family settled at Cornerow in Greenhalgh-cum-Thistleton and at Forton, whose son Robert was the father of William, his eldest son, Alice, wife of Robert Haydock, of Leach Hall, in Bartle, and Richard. Richard's son Robert, of Larbreck, by his wife Ann, sister to the Right Rev. George Browne, first Bishop of Liverpool, had a son Richard, of Preston, father of the Rev. Robert Smith, D.D., formerly vice-rector of the English College at Rome, the Rev. Bro. Edward Gilbert Smith, Xaverian, who died at Mayfield, Dec. 3, 1907, aged seventy-seven, and Sarah, widow of Henry John Hansom, of London, eldest son of the eminent architect, Joseph A. Hansom.

[2] The will of Elizabeth Helme (Holme and Holmes were common corruptions of the name) was proved in 1690. The Helmes of Lea were a junior branch of the very old family of the name seated at Church House in Goosnargh, of whom John Helme, a priest, was living there in 1478, and another of the same name was curate of Goosnargh in 1583, whilst a third priest, says Col. Fishwick in his Hist. of Goosnargh, Nicholas Helme, was vicar of Kirkham in 1594. Dom Hugh Bede Helme alias Tapin, O.S.B., a native of Lancashire, whom Abbot Snow in his Benedictine Necrology confuses with Thomas Tunstall alias Helmes, the martyr, in 1600 was admitted into the English College at Valladolid, which he left to join the Benedictines in 1603, and died in Durham in 1629; Dom Gregory Helme, O.S.B., died in 1696; Dom Richard Helme, or Holmes, O.S.B., died at Sefton in 1717; and Dom Thomas Wilfrid Helme, O.S.B., of the Church House family, professed in 1699, died in 1742. There were several Franciscans of the family—Fr Thomas Willibrord Helme or Holmes was serving in the neighbourhood of Goosnargh, probably at White Hill, in 1728, and died in 1772 or 1773; Fr Germanus Helme or Holmes succeeded to White Hill in 1738, and from thence served Lee House till 1745, when he was thrown into Lancaster Castle, where he died a confessor of the faith in 1746; and Edward Helme or Holme, a novice at Douay in 1757, was assistant chaplain to the English nuns at Acre in Artois, subsequently came to the mission, and finally conformed, and as a reward for his apostasy received a living in Essex, but died the day he preached his first sermon, about 1773. And lastly may be named a direct descendant of the lady of the text, the Rev. Edward Helme or Holmes, son of Thomas Helme, of Lea, tanner, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and his wife Elizabeth Barton, born in Jan., 1725, who, after studying at Fernyhalgh and the Rev. Simon George Bordley's school at Salwick Hall, was admitted into Douay College, Sept. 25, 1737, ordained priest Sept. 21, 1748, after teaching syntax, poetry, and philosophy, came to the mission in 1753, and was appointed to Manchester, which he served till his death, Oct. 16, 1773. His brother's daughter became the wife of John Turner, an attorney in Preston, and was mother of the Rt Rev. William Turner, first Bishop of Salford, born 1799, died 1872, whose brother John succeeded to the small estate of the Helmes in Lea, which is now held by his son and namesake.

[3] His will was proved in 1667.

[1] The will of John Harrison, of Lea, yeoman, was proved in 1669, and that of his grandson and namesake, son and heir of John Harrison, of Lea, yeoman, was proved Aug. 7, 1723, by Elizabeth, his widow, dau. of Christopher Walmesley and his wife Margaret. The marriage settlement between John Harrison and Elizabeth Walmesley was dated Nov. 2, 1700. They were a very staunch recusant family. John Harrison, son of John and Elizabeth, born Sept. 21, 1714, went to Douay in Sept., 1729, was ordained priest Dec. 23, 1741, and was placed at Cottam, where his house and chapel were attacked in 1745 by a No-Popery mob, whom "he resisted with intrepidity," says an old writing, but both were burnt down by the ruffians. He then removed to Towneley Hall, the seat of the Towneleys, where he remained for thirty years, as long as his strength permitted him to serve, and then he retired to the house of his brother Lawrence in Friargate, Preston, where he died Jan. 16, 1780.

[2] The Sherringtons were recusants in Ashton temp. Jac. I. Francis Sherrington, Esq., died a prisoner for recusancy in Lancaster Castle about 1679, but he was of Booths, another family, and administration to his estate was granted in 1684. The will of Elizabeth Sherrington, of Ashton, was proved 1618–9, and that of Margaret Sherrington, of the same, in 1683. The family subsequently removed to Preston, where Henry Sherrington died July 12, 1834, aged sixty-three, father of the late Madame Lemens-Sherrington, the famous singer.

[3] The various spellings of this name have already been noted. The family originally came from Charnock Richard, and branches were settled at Euxton, Clayton, and neighbouring townships. The way they came to Lea is as follows. Roger Critchlowe, of Charnock Richard, married Margaret, natural daughter of Alexander Hoghton, of Lea Hall and Hoghton Tower, who died in 1581, leaving in his will considerable legacies to Margaret Critchlowe and her family, which, however, he afterwards revoked by codicil. Nevertheless, Roger Critchlowe probably received a grant of land at Lea from his wife's father. Both he and his wife appear as recusants from the commencement of the rolls in 34 Eliz. 1591–2 till 1613–14 or later, and for some years after 1622 Margaret appears as a widow. In 1614 Roger Crichlowe, junior, and his wife Margaret appear, and in 1627 William Crichlowe and his widowed mother Margaret, all of Charnock Richard. In 1613 William Critchlow, gent., was living at Lea; and it is said that during the civil wars the family residence at Lea was partially demolished, and was rebuilt by this William, or a namesake and grandson of Roger. In 1679 a clock was put up in the front of their residence, which struck the hour, and from which it was afterwards known as Clock House. In 1717 Ann Chritchlow, of Newsham, widow of William Chritchlow, of Lea, gent., registered her estate as a Catholic non-juror. The wills of three Williams (of Lea) were proved respectively in 1673, 1711, and 1748, the last leaving a widow Elizabeth. The family lost its religion towards the end of the eighteenth century, the last possessor of the estate being chiefly remarkable for his loose and profane language. It is said that James Critchley, son of William Critchley, as the name was latterly spelt, was a captain in the Liverpool Light Horse, and died in 1873. The Critchleys were distinguished for their size, being very tall and often of heavy build. Clock House, situated in Sidgreaves Lane, Lea, was sold, by the last of the family resident there, to George Gillow, of Moor House, Newton-cum-Scales, about the end of the eighteenth century, and by him it was transferred to William Smith, of Forton. A new house was erected slightly in front of the old one, but the remains of the ancient clock and its works were still in existence in the old building in the early years of the nineteenth century. In comparatively recent times the name has been changed to Lea Lodge.

[1] The will of James Hollinghead, of Ingol, was proved in 1668.

[2] This is an error for Margaret ffrance, of Greaves Town, in Ashton, a very ancient family which had resided there for many generations, and constantly appears in the rolls. John ffrance, of Greaves Town, married Margaret, younger daughter and coheiress of Richard Eccleston or Kerstone, of Little Eccleston Hall, who died in or about 1546, when that manor passed to the ffrances. Their son John ffrance, of Little Eccleston Hall and Greaves Town, married Alice, dau. of George Gillow, of Bryning, and on the same day, March 10, 1551, her brother Richard Gillow, of Bryning, married Alice, sister of John ffrance. The latter's grandson and namesake had three sons, John, Henry, and William. It is the family tradition that William obtained the Little Eccleston estate through apostacy. Anyhow, his descendants continued to hold that estate, and resided there till his greatgrandson, John ffrance, acquired Rawcliffe Hall, forfeited from the Butlers on account of the part they took in the Jacobite rising in 1715, through his marriage with Elizabeth, daughter and heiress of Thomas Roe who had purchased the estate. Their only son John ffrance, of Rawcliffe Hall and Little Eccleston Hall, died s.p. in 1817, aged ninety-one, when his extensive estates were devised to Thomas Wilson, of Preston, who assumed the name of ffrance, whose wife was a distant relation of John ffrance's grandmother. The descendants of the elder branch of the family continued to reside at Greaves Town. John ffrance, great grandson of the eldest brother of William, the ancestor of the Rawcliffe branch, married Anne, sister and coheiress of Dom Oswald Eaves, O.S.B. (descended from the ancient Catholic family of Eyves of Fishwick Hall, who died in 1793, aged fifty-four), and his grandson, John ffrance, of Greaves Town, married Mary, daughter of John Gillow, of Elswick Grange and Salwick Hall, and died in 1883, aged eighty-three, when the Greaves Town estate descended according to the entail to his eldest son and namesake, who disposed of it, and died unmarried. Greaves Town contained much antique oak furniture, old china and other ornamental effects of the early Stuart period, handed down from generation to generation, all of which have been dispersed, and the house itself has been turned into a farm.

[3] Will proved in 1673.

[4] Wills of two of this name, John Bisbrowne, of Thornton, were proved in 1688 and 1693.

[1] Robert Plesington, of Byreworth in Garstang, was buried Jan. 20, 1669–70, and the will of his widow Jane (of the text) was proved in 1670. He was probably a younger son of Robert Plesington, of Dimples Hall, by his second wife Jane, daughter of Christopher Parker, of Radham Laund. He had a son John buried at Garstang in 1611, another, Thomas, to whom in his will dated Jan. 25, 1665, he left his land in Great Eccleston known as Plesingtons, and daughters Anne, wife of George Whittingham (whose son Robert seems to have succeeded to Byreworth), Margaret, Grace, Jane and Katharine.

[2] This venerable old lady was the very last of the ancient race of Travers of Nateby Hall, in the parish of Garstang, and of Tulketh Hall in Ashton, in the parish of Preston. The Travers family came over with William the Conqueror, and obtained the manor of Nateby towards the close of the thirteenth century, when Thomas Travers, son of Lawrence, married Isabel, daughter and heiress of William de Nateby. Lawrence, son and heir of Thomas Travers and Isabel Nateby, married Elena, dau. and coheiress of John de Haydock, of Tulketh Castle in Ashton, an estate inherited by the Haydocks of Haydock and Cottam from the dau. and heiress of Marmaduke de Tulketh early in the twelfth century. Thus the two estates descended from father to son till the time of William Travers, and his son Richard, who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1613, each generation having intermarried with the oldest families of the counties of Lancashire, Yorkshire and Westmorland. They were true to the old Faith, and suffered heavily for their recusancy, both in fine and imprisonment. William Travers, who suffered imprisonment for recusancy in 1584, was the son of Richard Travers by Grace, dau. of Richard Redman, of Harewood Castle, Co. York. He married Annetta, dau. of Thomas Lathom, of Parbold Hall, by Isabel, dau. of Alexander Standish, of Standish Hall, and had three sons, Richard, Edward, and William, and five daughters, Isabel, Ellen, Dorothy (of the text), Eleanor, and Katherine. Edward, the second son went to St Omer's College, whence he proceeded to Rome, where he entered the English hospice, Sept. 20, 1619, under the alias of Francis Hill, and on the same date was admitted into the English College as a convictor, as Edward Hill vere Travers, but left on July 16, 1621, and eventually was admitted into the English College of Valladolid, in 1623, under the alias of Edward Risley alias Houghton. There he completed his third year's theology, and left for Flanders on Sept. 22, 1629, to enter the Society, but for some reason was not received till 1642, when he was already a priest, being at the time forty or forty-one years of age. He again visited the English hospice at Rome on Jan. 1, 1646, under his own name, but in the following April is entered as Fr Edward Risley. After this he became English Procurator at Madrid, and died there in 1654. Of William, the third son, nothing is known. Two of the daughters married—Isabel to Alderman James Wall, of Moor Hall, Preston (son of Thomas Wall, of the same by Jane, dau. of Oliver Tootell, of Lower Healey Hall), whose dau. Margery married (1) John Hothersall of Hothersall Hall, and (2) Robert Haydock of Cottam Hall; and Ellen to Maxey Nelson, of Fairhurst Hall, Captain of Foot in the King's Army, who was slain at the battle of Marston Moor, July 2, 1644. Richard, the eldest son, who was twenty-three years of age in 1613, joined with his father in 1626, in the sale of Nateby Hall estate to George Preston, of Holker Hall, whose grandson George conveyed it in 1654 to Walter Strickland, of Sizergh Castle, co. Westmorland, and his son, Robert, again sold it to George Leyburne, of Cunswick Hall in that county. About the same time the Tulketh Hall estate was sold to the Werdens. Thus the family came to an end, and the name disappears from the records of that part of the county. The chapel in Nateby Hall was almost continuously served from the time of Elizabeth till almost the close of the eighteenth century, for its owners were all Catholics till it finally passed into Protestant hands about 1807. The names of many of the chaplains are preserved. As for Tulketh Hall, at which the monks temporarily settled in 1124 before erecting Furness Abbey, Mass continued to be said in its domestic chapel during the reigns of Elizabeth and her immediate successors. From the Werdens it passed to the Rawstornes, and from them to the Hesketh, and during their residence, in 1687, Bishop John Leyburne confirmed 1,153 persons there and in the chapel at Preston. Some of the priests' names are on record. Tulketh Hall, planted on an elevated site overlooking the Ribble, close to Preston, and, in the writer's recollection approached by an avenue of ancient trees from the marsh below, was a large and very ancient structure, greatly altered in appearance under so-called restoration by the eminent architect, J.A. Hansom, in his younger days. It has recently been acquired by the Brothers of Charity and turned into a Home, but it is now surrounded by streets of small houses, and forms an integral part of Preston.

[1] Thomas Greene, of Bowers House, in Little Nateby, married Margaret. dau. of Edward Ireland, of Lydiate Hall. Thomas and William Greene appear in the roll for 1679. The family had long resided at Bowers House, a fine old mansion in the early seventeenth-century style of architecture, bearing the date 1627, and the initials R.G., and G.G., for Richard Greene and Grace his wife, who both appear in the rolls between 1613 and 1637. How the family became possessed of the estate has not been ascertained. In the reign of Edward III it belonged to Robert de Bower. Richard Greene was the surviving executor to Thomas Lord Gerard in 1618. His son Richard married Dorothy, daughter of John Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, and was the father of Thomas of the text. Dorothy's will was proved in 1661. Thomas Greene was buried at Garstang, March 23, 1708–9. His widow and her sons Thomas and William were living at Bowers House in 1711–14, and are often referred to by Tyldesley, the diarist.

There was a chapel in the mansion, with the necessary hiding places, approached by curious winding stairs. On Sunday, Oct. 26, 1712, Tyldesley went there for Mass, but his loyalty to "James III" was evidently sorely offended, for he adds, "but Sherdy did not pray for our master." Sherdy or Shirdley was probably one of the congregation and not the priest. In 1717 Thomas Greene's dau., Agnes Greene, was residing at Bowers House, and registered her estate as a Catholic non-juror. It was possibly her brother John Greene, of Bowers House, who married Ann, dau. of Thomas Westby, of Mowbreck Hall and Burne Hall, by Bridget, dau. of Thomas Clifton, of Lytham Hall, Westby Hall, and Clifton Hall. The estate seems to have passed from the family about 1745, and it then removed from the district. It was John Greene who was so successful in defending Lord Molyneux, Sir Thomas Clifton, Bart., and other Lancashire Catholics in 1694 and 1695, and his grandson Francis Greene married Elizabeth, dau. and eventual coheiress of Cuthbert Clifton, of Salwick, Sir Thomas Clifton's nephew. The issue of this marriage was Father Francis Greene, S.J., born 1748, died 1774; Thomas, born 1753, who was still alive, and resident in Liverpool, in 1833; and Frances, wife of Thomas West, of Eccleston, father of Father Francis West, S.J., who died in 1852, aged seventy.

[1] Richard Newsham was one of the purchasers of the manor of Forton in 1643–4. His will was proved in 1672, and that of his elder brother Robert in 1677. Their father was William Newsham, second son of Robert Newsham, of Newsham Hall, in Plumpton, by his wife Elizabeth Sherburne, of Greenhalgh Castle. William's elder brother Richard was living at Newsham Hall in 1632, soon after which the estate was sold. Richard married Barbara, dau. of Edmund Fleetwood, of Rossall Grange, by Elizabeth, dau. of John Cheney, of Chesham Bois, co. Bucks. Her brother, Sir Paul Fleetwood, of Rossall, was born about 1574. Of this family was probably Sister Anne Didacus Newsham, professed a Poor Clare at Gravelines, in 1692, and died in 1719, aged forty-three. The Newshams were once a powerful and influential family in Lancashire and Yorkshire, and had possessed Newsham from a remote period. The family returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1567, and another appears in Fishwick's Hist. of Goosnargh.

[1] William Baines, who appears in the rolls as early as 1635, married Margaret Sykes, and his son John was ordained priest at the English College at Rome, Aug. 13, 1662. Upon admittance to the College, in 1659, he said that his parents were of the middle class, but descended from an ancient stock, and that he had one brother and two sisters. His parents had suffered much on account of their religion, and were reduced to very slender means in consequence. He left the College for the mission, April 18, 1666. Mary Baynes, named in the text, is probably identical with Sister Mary Joseph, a Poor Clare, professed at Gravelines, in 1706, after serving twenty-two years in the extern quarters, who died in 1718, aged sixty-seven. The family had long been settled in Nether Wyresdale, and appears in the rolls from the commencement in 1591.

[2] The will of John Cawthorne, of Nether Wyresdale, was proved in 1671, and that of William Cawthorne, of the same, in 1692. The family subsequently lost its faith, and late in the eighteenth century the last of them, Elizabeth Cawthorne, married James Fenton, of Lancaster, who died in Nov., 1791, aged seventy-five. Their son, John Fenton, in 1781 assumed by Royal licence the name of Cawthorne, and resided at Fenton-Cawthorne House in Lancaster. He was Colonel of the Westminster Regiment of Middlesex Militia, represented Lancaster in Parliament for many years, and died in 1831, aged seventy-eight. In his person George III once contemplated the revival of the Barony of Wyresdale.

[3] The Parkinsons of Swineshead (or Swanshead) in Wyresdale, appear annually in the rolls. The will of Laurence Parkinson, of Swineshead, was proved in 1592, and that of Thomas, of the same, gent., in 1639. The latter and his son Laurence appear in the rolls between 1618 and 1633, after which Laurence alone appears, and his will was proved in 1664. Richard of the text, continues on the rolls till 1683, possibly being identical with the Richard whose will was proved in that year.

[4] Richard Blackburne, of Scorton Hall, was of course one of the Blackburnes of Scorton, Thistleton, Eccleston, and Stockenbridge, but his exact place in the pedigree is not shown. He married Margaret, daughter of Richard Nelson, of Mawdesley, a branch of the Nelsons of Fairhurst Hall, and in 1679 and 1682 Richard Blackburne was residing at Mawdesley. He died at Scorton, and his will was proved in 1686. His widow continued to reside at Scorton, and was a Catholic non-juror in 1717. By will dated Jan. 15, 1718, proved 1720, she made her bequests to the poor of Nether Wyresdale and Mawdesley.

[1] The Myerscoughs were old recusants in Wyresdale, Thomas, described as gentleman, being on the rolls between 1629–36.

[2] The will of John Pickering, of Scorton, was proved in 1670.

[3] The will of William Windress (or Winderhouse) of Lower Wyresdale was proved in 1678.

[4] His will was proved in 1670, and that of William Kendall, of Barnacre, in 1694.

[5] Andrew Maire was the fourth son of Robert Maire, of Hardwick Hall, co. Durham. He married Isabel, dau. of John Richardson, of Myerscough, gent., and according to Dugdale's Visitation of Durham in 1666 had issue—Thomas, John, Robert, Anne, Grace, and Mary. His will was proved in 1677. His son Robert, a recusant 1679–82, became a silversmith and watchmaker in Preston, and his will was proved in 1691.

[6] He would no doubt be a son of Roger Breres, of Barnacre, descended from the family seated at Walton Hall, near Liverpool.

[7] Probably son of Christopher Caton, of Barnacre, a recusant as early as 1610. There were several branches of the family settled in Claughton and neighbouring townships, and two of them were Catholic non-jurors in 1717.

[8] Later on under Claughton appear the names of Thomas Goose and Anne his wife. There were several branches of the family. Alexander, Robert, and Henry Goose held lands in Barnacre under Lord Gerard in 1604. Henry was a recusant in 1636, and his will, or that of one of his name, was proved in 1671. "Old cos Tom Goose," and "Young cos Tom Goose," of Catterall, are referred to by Tyldesley in his Diary in 1712. The son was "out" in 1715, and in consequence was attainted of high treason, and executed at Garstang, Feb. 14, 1716. It is the local tradition that he was arrested at Garstang for shouting out to the Jacobites as they marched through the town—"Hey ye on my lads and you 'll take the crown with a distaff." His father registered his estate at Sturzaker Houses in Catterall as a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and dying in 1721, was succeeded by his second son John, who had a son Thomas living in Over Wyresdale in 1746. Some of them were well-connected, for Christopher Butler, born in 1673, a younger son of Richard Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, married Agnes, dau. and heiress of Thomas Goose, of Stalmine Hall. The will of Alexander Goose, of Garstang, was proved in 1696. The name latterly was spelt Goss, and the Right Rev. Alexander Goss, second Bishop of Liverpool, who died in 1872, was descended from this family.

[9] The will of William Edsforth, of Parkhead in Barnacre, was proved in 1697. The family appears in the rolls from the commencement in 1591. Subsequently it removed to Myerscough Plank, and the will of Thomas Edsforth of that place was proved in 1729. His grandson and namesake married Mary, dau. of James Sidgreaves, of Inglewhite Lodge, and their son Thomas, born in 1777, married Alice, dau. and coheiress of Robert Haydock, of Leach Hall. The latter sold the small estate of Myerscough Plank, and was succeeded by his son Thomas Edsforth, of Bradkirk Hall, who married Barbara, dau. of Richard Bilsborrow, and sister of the Right Rev. John Bilsborrow, third Bishop of Salford, but dying sine prole in 1882, the family became extinct.

[1] George Whittingham, son of Richard Whittingham, of Barnacre, married (1) in 1656, Jennet Cowell, of Goosnargh, and (2) Anne, dau. of Robert Plesington, of Byreworth, in Garstang, by whom he had Robert, who seems to have succeeded to Byreworth, Richard, Elizabeth, Jane, and Margaret. George Whittingham's father, Richard, who settled in Barnacre, was the second son of Thomas Whittingham, of Whittingham Hall. His mother was Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Walmesley.

[2] By his will dated July 23, 1679, proved in 1686, he left considerable bequests to the poor.

[3] There is an evident omission here. The Plesingtons, of Dimples Hall, in Barnacre-with-Bonds were a very ancient Catholic family, and returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1567 and 1613. Richard de Plesington had conveyed to him the lands of Richard de Dimples in 1373–4. They intermarried with leading county families. Alice Plesington, named in the text, was the wife or widow of Robert Plesington, of Dimples, and dau. of Laurence Rawstorne of Newhall, by Holcroft, dau. of Robert Hesketh, of Rufford Hall. Her husband, who suffered much for his loyalty, died in Oct., 1668, at which date his son and namesake was forty-two years of age, and the will of the latter was proved in 1673. Mrs Plesington's youngest son, John, was sent to the school privately kept by the Jesuits at Scarisbrick Hall, and in consequence adopted the name of Scarisbrick. He was ordained priest at Valladolid, and was chaplain at Puddington Hall, Cheshire, at the time he was arrested during the Oates Plot ferment. He was indicted and condemned to death at Chester for being a priest, and was martyred at West Chester, July 19, 1679. The martyr's aunt Margaret, dau. of William Plesington, of Dimples, by Isabel, dau. of Richard Fallowfield, of Great Strickland, co. Westmorland, married John, younger son of Richard Walmesley, of Showley Hall, and ancestor of the Walmesleys of Westwood. Though not shown in the Walmesley pedigree, it is probable that from this match derived Father Joseph Walmesley alias Plesington, S.J., born in 1715, educated at Valladolid and Liège, who was at Oxburgh Hall, Norfolk, for some years before he removed to Callaly Castle, Northumberland, in 1749, where he remained till his retirement from duty in 1774, and died at Alnwick in 1781. The Plesingtons continued to reside at Dimples Hall till the attainder of the younger Robert's son John in 1716, after which the estates were sold by the Commissioners for Forfeited Estates. John's eldest son Robert was attainted and convicted of high treason at the same time, and his sister Alice's husband, Roger Muncaster, town-clerk of Garstang, was executed for high treason, for joining the Chevalier de St George in like manner, Jan. 27, 1716. After this the family seems to have been completely wiped out, and the hall is now a farmhouse. At this period the Rev. James Gaunt was residing at Dimples Hall, and attended to the chapel, also serving that in Nateby Hall. Subsequently he removed to Mowbreck Hall, the seat of the Westbys, and afterwards to Thurnham Hall, the seat of the Daltons, and died Oct. 28, 1734.

[1] The Bartons of Claughton and Bilsborrow were a branch of the Bartons of Barton Hall, descended from John, second son of Richard Barton, of Barton Hall, by Anne, dau. of Sir John Southworth, of Samlesbury Hall. Richard died Oct. 25, 1572, and his estates in Bilsborrow and Claughton passed to his son John. The latter, like his father, was a staunch recusant, and appears annually in the rolls till 1618–19. One of his name was a recusant in the roll for 1631–2, and the will of John Barton, of Claughton, was proved in 1631, and that of Hugh, of the same, in 1678. Alice, daughter of John Barton, of Claughton, gent., married William Butler, younger son of Henry Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, by his second wife Cecily, dau. of Edward Parkinson, of Westfield in Claughton, gent., a staunch recusant who died in 1631. Thomas Barton, of Claughton, gent., died in 1713. His eldest son and heir, Hugh, married Elizabeth, dau. of William Haydock, of Cottam Hall, by Jane, dau. of Hugh Anderton, of Euxton Hall, and the nuptial settlements were made in 1706. In Sept., 1716, Hugh Barton, who resided at Bilsborrow, was tried at Preston for high treason, but was acquitted, and in 1717 he registered his estate as a Catholic non-juror. His will was proved in 1719, when he was residing at Claughton. He does not appear to have left male issue, but administration to the estate of ffleetwood Barton, perhaps his dau., was granted in 1720. His younger brother, Thomas, was also a non-juror in 1717, and he would appear to have been the last of the family. There were several Lancashire priests of the name, but it is difficult to identify them with this family. The two ladies mentioned in the text may possibly be identified with Elizabeth and Jane Barton, of Claughton, whose wills were proved in 1710 and 1691 respectively.

[1] Cecily, dau. of William Butler and his wife Alice, dau. of John Barton, of Claughton, married within a few years of this date John Curwen, of Claughton.

[2] Richard Bayne or Baines, born 1607, was son of Edmund Bayne, of Catforth in Woodplumpton, by Alice, daughter of George Symcocke, and for some time after his marriage resided in Catforth. His wife, Jennet, was either a Blacow or a Kendall. He had two sons, Edmund and John. The latter, baptized by the priest at Cottam Hall, the Rev. John Hughes, Nov. 30, 1653, was ordained priest at Rome in 1678, and came to the mission in 1681, the delay having been occasioned by the frenzied state of the country caused by the Oates Plot. At Rome he used the alias of Peter Blacow, and on the mission was known as John Kendall. He served the chapel in Cottam Hall, the seat of the Haydocks, and about 1703 took a barn not far from the Hall and opened it as a chapel and dwelling house. This is the origin of the present independent mission at Cottam. There he died and was buried at Woodplumpton, April 5, 1727. His will was proved at Lancaster by his brother Edmund Baine, of Catforth, the inventory being sworn at £19. He was succeeded at Cottam by his relative the Rev. Henry Kendall. His brother was a Catholic non-juror in 1717. The family originally came from Caton, in the parish of Lancaster, and Dalton in the parish of Burton. An old Marian priest named William Banes died at Caton in 1586. Bishop Peter Augustine Baines, O.S.B., V.A-W.D., who died in 1843, and his nephew Mgr Peter Baines, D.D., President of the English College at Lisbon, who died in 1882, were descended from the Claughton branch.

[1] The Cottams of Bannister Hey in Claughton had held that estate from at latest the sixteenth century. They probably derived from the Cottams, lords of Bilsborrow. Lawrence Cottam, of Bannister Hey, died Feb. 26, 1606–7, leaving Anne, his widow, and a son Richard, aged twenty-one at his father's inq. post mortem, July 26, 1608, who would, no doubt, be the father of the Lawrence of the text, who married Anne, daughter of John Hothersall, of Hothersall Hall, son of Thomas Hothersall, of the same, by Bridget, dau. of William Haydock, of Cottam Hall, and Bridget, his wife, dau. of Sir Richard Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower. Administration to Lawrence Cottam's estate was granted in 1691. Richard, his son, of Bannister Hey, made his will, Jan. 19, 1693, proved in that year, and his widow Ellen, who afterwards resided at Broughton, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717. Their children were Laurence, of Bannister Hey, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, who subsequently went to Shifnal, co. Salop, and about that time commenced to spell his name Cotham; Thomas Cottam, who seems to have died unmarried; a daughter married to Thomas Golden, of Hardshaw Hall; and Anne, wife of Richard Parkinson, of Broughton, son of Richard Parkinson, of Leach Hall in Woodplumpton, by Anne, dau. of John Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, by his third wife Dorothy, dau. of Robert White of Cross House. Lawrence Cotham died at Shifnal, sine prole, his will being dated Sept. 11, 1734, and proved same year, his executors being Richard Parkinson and Elizabeth Cotham. Richard Parkinson, who died at Preston in 1746, had two sons, Thomas and James, who were admitted into Douay College in Sept., 1729, the former taking the alias of Golden, and the latter that of Cottam. Thomas Parkinson alias Golden, born July 27, 1713, after his ordination at Douay served the missions at Blackbrook, the seat of the Orrells, and Hardshaw Hall, near St Helens, and was killed by a heavy stone slate falling on his head, March 7, 1751, and was buried at Windleshaw. His brother, James Parkinson alias Cottam, born Jan. 24, 1715-6, after his ordination served the mission at Claughton, where he died Jan. 26, 1766. The descent of the Bannister Hey estate and the various families who have assumed the name of Cotham has been traced under Golden of Winwick.

[2] William Whittingham, of Westfield in Claughton, died in 1668. In his will, dated Oct. 14, 1662, he names his wife Ellen, sons Thomas, George and Matthew, and a daughter Catherine. He was probably son of Richard Whittingham, of Claughton, gent., who held Bayne House, and whose will was proved in 1649. Richard was a younger son of Richard Whittingham, of Whittingham Hall, by Anne, dau. of Sir Robert Dolman, of Pocklington, and his wife Eleanor, dau. of Sir William Mallory, of Studley, co. York, and was brother to Fathers Adam (alias Paul) Whittingham, S.J., born in 1589, and William Whittingham, S.J., born 1590, who was killed in the terrible accident at the French Ambassador's house in Blackfriars in 1623. Administration to the will of Thomas Whittingham, son of William, was granted in 1710, and he appears to have been the last of the family connected with that township. The Whittinghams of Whittingham Hall, do not appear in the roll of monthly fines, probably owing to the fact of two-thirds of their estate having been sequestrated at this period, for they come in other rolls. Many well-known recusants of property are omitted for the same reason. The family returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1567, 1613, and 1664, and came to an end in the person of Richard Whittingham, of Whittingham Hall, who sold the estate shortly before his death in 1779. His aunt Bridget married George Silvertop, of Minster Acres, co. Northumberland, and his descendant Francis Somerled Joseph Silvertop, of Minster Acres and Lartington Hall, now represents the Whittingham family.

[1] The name should no doubt be Freckleton.

[2] Robert Male, of Claughton, married Jane, dau. of Thomas Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, by his first wife Jennet, dau. of Edward Bradyll, of Portfield Hall, and administration to his estate was granted in 1680. Another of the same name lived in Claughton in 1689, and John Maile, of Claughton, and Richard Maile, of Great Singleton, were recusant convicts in 1716, the latter's will being proved in 1728. Male is the pronunciation of Maghull, and it is probable that they were descended from the ancient recusant family of that name seated at Maghull and Aintree.

[3] The will of Anthony Walker was proved in 1667, and administration to that of his widow Dorothy in 1679.

[4] The Reeders came from Forton and Cockerham, where they were tenants of the Abbey in 1451. Edward died at Cockerham in 1670. They lost the Faith about the end of that century.

[5] The will of John Tootell was proved in 1671, and that of his wife Elizabeth in 1676. They probably descended from the same stock as the Tootells of Lower Healey Hall. Christopher Tootell, of Catterall, was a recusant 1625–35, and John Tootell, senior, and Christopher Tootell, of Catterall, refused the protestation oath in 1641–2.

[6] Administration to his estate was granted in 1696. The family held the manor of Bilsborrow from a remote century. William Cottam, of Bilsborrow, temp. Hen. VIII, married Constantia, dau. of Christopher Barton, of Barton Hall, by Margaret, dau. of William Singleton, of Broughton Tower, and his grandson and namesake, likewise of Bilsborrow, married Anne, dau. of William Hesketh, of Maynes Hall, by Anne, dau. of Hugh Anderton, of Euxton Hall. Oliver Cottam, gent., of Bilsborrow was a recusant as early as 1629; and William appears in 1631. William Cottam, of Bilsborrow, and his son and heir Oliver, of the same, were Catholic non-jurors in 1717. The son was the father of William, who died in 1773, and whose dau. Anne, heiress to her brothers, married in 1766 George Haydock, of The Tagg, Cottam, and was mother of the Rev. James Haydock, who died at Lea in 1809, and the Rev. George Leo Haydock, the Biblical annotator, who inherited The Tagg, but died at Penrith in 1849, aged seventy-five.

[1] The Kirkhams appear in the rolls from 1591, but are too numerous to identify, and especially Henry, as it was a favourite name with the family. Father Henry Kirkham, S.J., born in 1573, and ordained at Rome in 1601, was probably the son of Henry Kirkham, of Larbreck, who died in 1629. The Jesuit died in Lancashire in 1646. Another member of the family, Father Richard Kirkham alias Lathom, S.J., born in 1671, died in 1708. Henry Kirkham, senior, son of his namesake of the text, and Henry, junior, his son, both of Larbreck, were Catholic non-jurors in 1718. The latter, who removed to Weeton, and whose will was proved July 19, 1725, by Elizabeth his wife, left a son, John, of Weeton, will proved Feb. 15, 1727, who by Elizabeth his wife was father of George Kirkham, of Poulton, who by his wife Elizabeth, dau. of George Gillow, of Singleton, was father of George Kirkham, born July 18, 1765. The last entered the English College at Rome in 1776, but left on account of ill-health in 1783. He subsequently married and was father of Richard Kirkham, of Lancaster, who died at Bombay, April 27, 1836, aged thirty-two, and of a dau. the wife of John Whiteside of Lancaster.

[2] Osward Whalley, the surname being locally pronounced O'Whoa, subsequently resided at Aldcliffe, where he died in 1693. In some capacity, perhaps as steward, he served Thomas Stanley, of Great Eccleston Hall. The Stanleys were all staunch recusants, and their omission from this list can only be accounted for on the supposition that they had come under the Act of 29 Eliz. Cap. 6, by which two-thirds of their lands and leases could be seized in default of the £20 per month fine for recusants over sixteen years of age, and £10 per month for wives. James was fond of feeding his hungry followers by granting them the benefit of such forfeitures, which were enlarged in the third year of his reign under Cap. 4. The recusant, however, was to be allowed to retain his mansion-house with the third share of his property. The present list of convictions does not seem to include the names of those who suffered such forfeiture of lands. The first Stanley of Great Eccleston Hall was Thomas Stanley, natural son of Henry Stanley, fourth Earl of Derby, who married Mary, dau. of Robert Hesketh, of Rufford Hall, and relict of Richard Barton, of Barton Hall. He appears annually in the rolls till his death in 1638. His son Richard, also a recusant, married Mary, dau. of Lambert Tyldesley, of Garrett Hall in Tyldesley, and sister and eventual heiress of Thomas Tyldesley. Richard died shortly before his father, and his son Thomas, named in the text, succeeded his mother and his grandfather to the estates of Garrett and Great Eccleston. Thomas married Frances, dau. of Sir Thomas Tyldesley, of Morleys Hall and Myerscough Lodge. He returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, and died whilst on a visit to Dr Kuerden, the eminent antiquary, at Cuerden, and was buried at Leyland, April 17, 1686. He was succeeded by his son Richard, born in 1661, who married Anne, dau. and eventual coheiress of Thomas Culcheth, of Culcheth Hall, by Anne, sister of Sir Roger Bradshaigh, of Haigh Hall, and at the time of the birth of his eldest son Thomas, Feb. 8, 1683, was residing at Culcheth. His second son, Father Henry Stanley alias Culcheth, S.J., born in 1688, served the mission in Liverpool, 1749, and for a year or two, then went to Leigh for a short time, and finally died at Culcheth Hall in 1753. The eldest son, Thomas, upon the death of his father in 1714, succeeded to the estates, and married Meliora, dau. of Thomas Gomeldon, of Summerfield Court, co. Kent, and relict of James Poole, eldest son of Sir James Poole, of Poole Hall, co. Chester, Bart. In 1715 he joined the Chevalier de St George at Preston, was convicted of high treason, and his estates of Great Eccleston Hall, Garrett Hall, and New Hall in the parish of Leigh, and his residence in Preston, were forfeited and sold. In 1732 he was living at Garrett Hall, and subsequently he inherited Culcheth Hall, where his wife died in June, and he himself in July, 1749. His only dau. and heiress married William Dicconson, fourth son of Edward Dicconson, of Wrightington Hall.

[1] He was descended from the Gradells of Barbles Moor, in Ulnes Walton. He subsequently removed to Out Rawcliffe, and his will was proved in 1676, and that of his wife in 1678. Richard Gradell, of Upper Rawcliffe, possibly his father, married Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Longworth, of Tarnacre Hall.

[1] The will of Richard Parkinson, of Leach Hall, in Bartle Quarter of Woodplumpton, now called Bartle Hall, was proved in 1677. He probably belonged to the old Catholic family of Parkinson, of Fairsnape Hall. There were several priests of the name about this period, but it is difficult to identify them. Mr Parkinson's son and namesake and his sons, the Rev. Thomas Parkinson alias Golden and James Parkinson alias Cottam, have been noticed under Laurence Cottam of Claughton.

[2] Butler Cowborne (Colborne, Colburne, Cowban, Cowbron, or Cowlbron as the name is variously spelt), of Freckleton Hall, married Anne, dau. of Gabriel Hesketh, of White Hill, in Goosnargh. The family was very ancient. An old Marian priest, Sir George Cowburne, formerly of Warley, in Yorkshire, died at Freckleton in Jan., 1596–7. John Cowburne, of Freckleton, died in or about 1587, leaving two sisters and coheiresses, Janet, then of the age of thirty-eight, wife of Richard Butler, and Helen, then aged thirty, wife of Henry Freckleton. Laurence and Henry were common names in the family. The Rev. William Couborne alias Johnson, born 1611, son of Henry Couborne, of Freckleton, was ordained priest at Rome in 1636. The Rev. John Cowban alias Butler, born in Sept. 1701, probably son of Lawrence Colborne, of Freckleton, arrived at Douay College from St Omer's College, Sept. 5, 1722, and was ordained priest March 27, 1728, served the missions at Cottam, Ladywell in Fernyhalgh, 1737–44, Eshe, co. Durham, Aug., 1744, till Nov., 1748, and finally at Crathorne, where he died Oct. 6, 1777. His relative, Richard Cowban, was the priest at Alston Lane from 1813 till his death in 1849.

[3] The Bambers of the Moor in Carleton were of ancient lineage. They appear annually in the rolls from 1591. Richard Bamber, of The Moor, about 1630 paid £10 as composition for refusing to take the order of knighthood. His will was proved in 1636. He had several sons, Thomas, died in 1667; John, a captain under Sir Thomas Tyldesley during the civil wars, who had a son Richard, named in his grandfather's will, and probably the one of the text; William, who died before 1636; Richard; and Edward. The last went to St Alban's College at Valladolid, where in the diary he may probably be identified with Edward Richardson, who was admitted in 1625, and adopted the alias of Walsh. If so he was ordained priest, and left the College for Belgium in 1628. He then passed over to England, but was arrested at Dover, and banished. Again he returned, and was in Lancashire in 1631, but after a time was rearrested in the neighbourhood of Standish, and was committed to Lancaster Castle, but escaped on the way, and sought refuge with Mr Singleton, of Broughton Tower. Finally he was apprehended for the third time, when he was using the alias of Reding, and was martyred at Lancaster, Aug. 7, 1646. The Bambers continued to reside at The Moor till the time of John Bamber, who removed to Aughton, and was a Catholic non-juror in 1717. His son, Thomas Bamber, the last of the family, married Catherine, daughter of John Trafford, of Croston Hall, by Catherine, dau. and eventual coheiress of Thomas Culcheth, of Culcheth Hall, and settled at Ormskirk, where he made his will April 23, 1737, and died sine prole shortly afterwards. He had two sisters, Anne, the wife of Mr Jump, who left five daughters, Mary, Margaret, Anne, Elizabeth, and Jane; and Elizabeth, the wife of Robert Brownbill, of Liverpool, who had three sons and two daughters, Thomas, who inherited The Moor estate from his uncle, John, Robert, Elizabeth, and Mary. The three brothers, natives of Gillmoss, in West Derby, near Liverpool, were probably of this family, Father Thomas Brownbill, S.J., born 1788, died 1844; Father Francis Brownbill, S.J., born 1793, died 1875, and Father James Brownbill, S.J., born 1798, died 1880. Colonel Fishwick gives some account of The Moor, with pedigrees of the Bambers, in his Hist. of Poulton-le-Fylde, but it is very confused and of little value.

[1] There were two branches of the family living on the original Bamber estate, one at The Moor, or the Lower Moor, and the other at the Higher Moor, James Bamber, of Higher Moor, a staunch recusant, like the rest of the family. by Mary, his wife, daughter of Roger Sherburne, of Wolfhouse, by Elizabeth, dau. and coheiress of William Haydock, of Cottam Hall, died in 1617, and was succeeded by his eldest son William Bamber, of Higher Moor, who died in 1662, leaving a son and successor, Richard Bamber, of Higher Moor, the gentleman named in the text. The latter, baptized at Poulton, March 7, 1630-1, married Anne, dau. of Thomas Singleton, of Staining Hall, by Cicely, dau. of William Gerard, of Ince Hall. His wife died in 1660, and he himself was buried at Poulton, June 6, 1671.

[2] The Whitesides were old recusants in this and the adjoining township of Marton. Gilbert Whiteside, of Marton, married in 1685 Mary, dau. of Richard Leckonby, of Leckonby House, Great Eccleston, and his son, James, by his wife Mary, dau. of Peter Bradshaw, of Normoss, was father of John Whiteside of Marton, who married Alice, dau. of Richard Gillow, of Singleton. John's son and namesake settled at Lancaster, and died at Dolphin Lee in 1811, aged sixty-eight. The younger John had two sons, John and James, and one dau., Margaret, wife of William Leeming, of Ridge, near Lancaster, who was the mother of the late Richard Leeming, of Greaves House, Lancaster, and Lentworth Hall in Over Wyresdale. John Whiteside, who died in 1856, aged sixty-two, married his cousin, a dau. of George Kirkham, of Poulton, by Elizabeth, dau. of George Gillow, of Singleton, and James Whiteside, the banker in Lancaster, married his cousin Margaret, dau. of Henry Whiteside, of London, by his first wife Jane, dau. of James Corney, of Lancaster (son of Henry Corney or Cornerow, of Cornerow and Rosaker, by Jane, dau. of Robert Worswick, of Todderstaffe Hall), and had an only child, Mary Catherine Whiteside, a nun at Princethorpe.

[1] The name is variously spelt Cossey, Cossney, Cossen, Cossnoe, Coseney, and finally Cosney. Thomas Cossney, of Grimsargh (adjoining Ribbleton) in 1602 had issue—Thomas, of Grimsargh, recusant with Margaret his wife in 1600; Ralph, of Grimsargh, who had issue Thomas, father of John, living in 1682, George, of Grimsargh, father of Thomas, in 1682, Ralph, of Grimsargh, in 1662, and of Fulwood in 1682; John, deceased in 1622, when his son John was living; Richard, father of Thomas and George; and George, who went to London, and was deceased in 1662, when his sons George and John were present at the Preston Guild. Thomas, the eldest son, had sons John and Thomas, the latter perhaps being the one of his name, a recusant in Grimsargh, with Isabel his wife, in 1605, seq., and variously denominated yeoman, husbandman, and gentleman. Another Thomas, of Grimsargh, appears in the rolls between 6 Jac.I, and 7 Car. I (1631–2), with Anne his wife. Thomas, the son of Thomas, had issue, John, senior, of Grimsargh in 1682, father of Thomas; Thomas, of Ribbleton, a recusant in 1679, whose will (then of Grimsargh) was proved in 1683; and George, of Grimsargh, in 1682, father of John, junior, and Thomas. The will of Alice Cosney, of Grimsargh, possibly the one named in the text, was proved in 1710. Thomas Cosney, of Fulwood, registered property in Grimsargh as a Catholic non-juror in 1717, as did likewise John Coseney, of Grimsargh, who married Dorothy, daughter of Henry ffinch, of Mawdesley, by Jane, dau. and heiress of John Cooper, and died in or about 1732.

[2] This is clearly an error for Anthony Windle, administration to whose estate at Stalmine was granted in 1680. The will of Francis Windle, of Melling House, was proved in 1736.

[3] Administration to his will was granted in 1690. The family appears in the rolls from 1591. George Waring, of Gotfield in Whittingham, chapelry of Goosnargh, and his wife Jennet, were recusants in 1613-4. Their son George married Elizabeth, dau. of John Singleton, of Dilworth, and his son Edward married Margaret, dau. and coheiress of John Harrison, of Lea, and had several daughters, of whom Ann was the wife of Mr Holland, and Martha of Thomas Crook.

[4] The Helme family has been referred to under Lea. Isabel Helme (or Holme), named in the text, may have been the widow of Thomas Helme, of Church House, in Goosnargh, to whose estate she administered in 1662. She was dau. of William Hoghton, of Grimsargh Hall, and relict of Robert Sherburne, of Wolfhouse. Her mother was Grace, natural dau. of Sir Richard Sherburne, of Stonyhurst, by Isabel Wood. Thomas Helme, born in 1575, was son and heir of Leonard Helme, of Church House (whose inquis. post mortem was taken in 1601), by Isabel, dau. of Edmund Parker, of Browsholme Hall, co. York, and Leonard was the son of Thomas Helme, by one of the daughters and coheiresses of Mr Riding of Riding. Leonard's younger son, William, married Frances, dau. of William Davenport, of Woodford, co. Chester, and his son Thomas may possibly be the one appearing in the text. The family held the manor of Chipping, and also an estate in English Lea. Thomas Helme, the husband of Isabel of the text, in 1642 had sons Leonard, William, John, and Thomas, besides several daughters.

[1] James Simpson's will was proved in 1707. Of this family were Dom Thomas Simpson, O.S.B., professed at Dieulward in 1737, died in 1764, and Dom John Benedict Simpson alias Daniel, O.S.B., professed at Dieulward in 1743, died 1775, whose mother was a Daniel, of Whittingham. Another branch of the family settled at Preston. Dom John Cuthbert Simpson, O.S.B., son of Richard Simpson, of Preston, and his wife Mary, dau. of Richard Withington, of Ribbleton, who was outlawed and suffered forfeiture of his estate in 1716, on account of the Jacobite rising, was born in 1724, and was sent to Douay to study for the Church, but left to join the Benedictines at Paris, Sept. 16, 1745, where he was professed in 1746, and died at Bath in 1785. His brother Dom Richard Benedict Simpson, O.S.B., was professed at Dieulward in 1753, and died in 1801. Their sister became a Blue Nun at Paris, where she was professed in her twenty-fifth year in 1770.

[2] The Keighleys of White Lee, in Goosnargh, were descended from the Keighleys of Keighley, co. York, and Inskip Hall, co. Lancaster, which ended in the male line with Henry Keighley, who, by Mary, dau. of Sir Thomas Carus, Justice of the Queen's Bench, left in 1567, three daughters and coheiresses, Anne, wife of Sir William Cavendish, of Hardwick Hall, co. Derby, first Earl of Devonshire, ancestor of the present Duke, Catherine, wife of Thomas Worsley, of Booths Hall, and another daughter who o.s.p., the wife of Robert Charnock of Charnock Richard and Astley Hall. The Inskip, Great Eccleston, and other estates are still in the possession of the Devonshire family. The Keighleys of White Lee also had estates in Whittingham, Claughton, Charnock Richard, and other townships. Robert Keighley, of White Lee, and Anne, his wife were recusants temp. Elizabeth. His half-brother Hugh was a recusant living at Bilsborrow in 1603, and died in that year, and his son John inherited White Lee from his uncle Robert about the same time. John's son Hugh married Elizabeth, dau. of Nathaniel Banastre, of Altham Hall, and relict of Thomas Richardson, of Myerscough, and was succeeded by his son Nathaniel Kighley, as the name was latterly spelt. Nathaniel, who lived at Myerscough, died in or about 1691, when administration of his estate was granted. Jennet Kighley, of the text, was probably his sister or near relative. Nathaniel's eldest son Hugh, born in 1665, married and had issue a son Hugh, and other children, got into difficulties, and sold White Lee, Harwood House in Goosnargh, and Claughton House, in 1694. He went to London, and was residing in Holborn in 1727. Hugh's brother John, of Gray's Inn, also had a son Hugh Basil Keighley, who was a surgeon in Holborn in 1726. In 1713 was proved the will of Richard Keighley, of Whittingham. The Keighleys were recusants, and at the south end of the mansion of White Lee was formerly a small chapel.

[1] The Albins of Cambrall in Whittingham and of Alston occasionally appear in the recusant rolls.

[2] Probably an error for Keighley.

[3] The ffishwicks were in Goosnargh and Whittingham much earlier than Col. Henry Fishwick was aware when he wrote his Hist. of Goosnargh. Henry ffishwick, of Goosnargh, was a recusant from the commencement of the rolls in 1591 till his death about 1619. His son Richard, who lived in Whittingham, married Margaret, dau. of Richard Snape, and appears regularly in the rolls. He had issue, Henry, probably the one named in the text, John of Goosnargh, a recusant in 1626–7, who had a son and namesake also a recusant, and James, who became steward to Charles Walmesley, of Stainer Hall, near Selby, co. York, son of Thomas Walmesley, of Dunkenhalgh, and was buried in Selby Church, March 9, 1650, and his wife Alice, Feb. 17, 1688. James ffishwick purchased Bulsnape Manor in Goosnargh, in 1649, and was succeeded by his son Charles, named after his patron Charles Walmesley, and it was about this time that the family lost the Faith. There were many other members of the family in the rolls.

[4] The Daniels of Whittingham, in Goosnargh, and of the adjoining hamlet of Durton, in Broughton, were an ancient Catholic family, and supplied many priests, secular and Benedictine, to the Church. John Daniel, of Whittingham and Durton, was tried for high treason at Preston, in Sept., 1716, after the Jacobite rising of 1715, but was acquitted. As a Catholic non-juror in 1717 he returned a freehold estate of fifty-six acres in Durton, and his will was proved in 1720. Thomas Daniel, a priest, was serving in Lancashire in 1631, probably a brother of the John of the text.Three of John Daniel's sons were secular priests, Edward, born in 1709, who used the alias of Bennet, was ordained priest at Douay, May 30, 1733, and left for the mission July 18, 1735, became chaplain to the Molyneux family at The Wood and Mosborough Hall, then went to serve Garstang and Wyresdale, and eventually died at York in 1765; Thomas, born 1714, ordained priest at Douay in 1739, left for England Aug. 5, 1740, and died at York in 1770; and William, born 1713, was ordained priest at Douay, Dec. 23, 1741, stayed in the College as a professor till July 1, 1748, when he left for Paris to be chaplain to the Blue Nuns, where he died Feb. 9, 1761, aged 47. Thomas Daniel, of Whittingham, son of John Daniel of the same, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and was probably brother to John above. He was, perhaps, father of Dom Robert Daniel, O.S.B., born at Whittingham, who was professed at Dieulward in 1735, and died in 1781. Another brother, Edward, of Crook House, in Durton, who died in 1706, by his wife Grace (died 1712), dau. of Henry Carter, of Durton (died 1704), was father of Richard Daniel, who was ordained priest at Rome in 1710, left the College to become confessor to the Carmelite nuns at Antwerp in 1712, subsequently removed to the Benedictine convent at Ghent, where he was assistant in 1718, and succeeded as head chaplain in 1723, and died in 1753. Edward's brother Thomas, of Durton, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, as likewise Edward Daniel of Catterall, who registered a freehold in Broughton, in which his wife, Elizabeth, and his sisters Elizabeth and Dorothy Daniel were interested, and also his freehold residence called Brighouse House in Catterall. John Daniel, born in 1745, the last president of Douay College, and Edward Daniel, born 1749, at one time professor there, were sons of Edward Daniel, of Durton, by Mary, dau. of William Penswick. The former's history is well known; the latter, Edward, who became a senior professor in 1778, left in Dec. 1778 for the mission, and was placed at Croston Hall in 1779 till 1792. He then became chaplain to the Gerards at Garswood, where he died in 1819. Their nephew John Daniel, born 1755, was educated at Rome and Douay, at the latter of which he was ordained priest in 1780, and left for the mission Feb. 5, 1781, and died at Stockton-upon-Tees in 1802.

[1] Gervase Clifton, of Warton Lodge, was son of John Clifton, of Stalmine Grange, and grandson of Gervase Clifton, of Much Plumpton (will proved 1638), younger son of Cuthbert Clifton, of Westby Hall, by Catherine, dau. of Sir Richard Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower. His younger brothers were Cuthbert, Peter, John and William, and he had sons John, (deceased in 1682, who had sons Thomas and John), Richard and James, both living in 1682. Gervase's grandmother's name was Isabel, and her husband, the elder Gervase, was own cousin to Dom Lambert Clifton, O.S.B., son of William Clifton, of Ballam, younger son of Thomas Clifton, of Westby Hall, by his first wife Ellen, dau. of Sir Alexander Osbaldeston, of Osbaldeston Hall. Dom Lambert was professed in Spain, and was living in Lancashire in 1631.

[2] Administration to her estate was granted in 1668, and to that of Thomas Abraham in 1672. The will of her son William was proved in 1670. The family constantly appears in the rolls.

[3] Thurstan Whalley's will was proved in 1668. Richard Whalley was still on the rolls in 1679–80. Thomas Whalley, son of Richard and Jane, was ordained priest at Rome, where he used the alias of Porter, in 1701, and left the College Oct. 2, 1702. He remained in Rome for half a year, and then left for England with Bishop George Witham, who had just been appointed to the Midland District, and was placed somewhere in Rutlandshire. At an earlier date one Thomas Whalley, of Lancashire, was admitted into St Alban's College at Valladolid, June 20, 1592, and was sent to that at Seville, Jan. 12, 1593, where he was ordained priest, and thence came to the mission. Besides the priest, Richard Whalley had an elder son, Thurstan, who succeeded him to his freehold estate at Warton, which had been entailed by his grandfather, the Thurstan of the text. The younger Thurstan registered this estate as a Catholic non-juror in 1717. He was probably the father of James Whalley, born May 27, 1710, who entered Douay College, Aug. 7, 1727, but left it in poetry, May 27, 1732, to recuperate his health in England, and does not seem to have returned. Father Alexius Whalley, O.S.F., who died at Osmotherley, July 21, 1811, aged about seventy-two, was probably a grandson of Thurstan, the non-juror.

[1] Sir Thomas Clifton, born July 7, 1628, was the second son of Thomas Clifton, of Westby Hall, who recovered Clifton through his wife Anne, dau. and eventual sole heiress of Sir Cuthbert Halsall, of Halsall Hall and Clifton Hall, whose grandfather Henry Halsall, acquired Clifton through his marriage with Anne, sister and heiress of Thomas Molyneux, of Clifton Hall, and dau. of Sir William Molyneux, of Sefton Hall, who had obtained Clifton in right of his wife, Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Cuthbert Clifton, of Clifton Hall. Sir Thomas Clifton was created a baronet March 4, 1660–1. He succeeded his elder brother Cuthbert, a colonel in the Royal army, who was slain at the siege of Manchester in Oct. 1642. In the previous year the colonel had married Margaret, dau. and heiress of George Ireland, of Southworth Hall, but left no issue. His widow married secondly Pennington Whalley, Esq. Sir Thomas married (1) Bridget, dau. of Sir George Heneage, of Hainton Hall, co. Lincoln, by whom he had four sons and four daughters, the only one to marry being Mary, wife of Thomas, sixth Lord Petre, and (2) Bridget, dau. of Sir Edward Hussey, of Hunnington Hall, co. Lincoln, by whom he had a son Thomas, who predeceased him in 1688, and a daughter Bridget, wife of Sir Francis Andrews, of Denton Hall, co. Northampton, Bart. On July 17, 1694, Sir Thomas was arrested at Wrea Green by one of the King's messengers, and guarded by Dutch troopers was carried to his own place, Lytham Hall, for the night. He was then sent to the Tower of London on a trumped up charge of high treason, and finally sent down to Manchester to be tried for his life, with a number of other Catholic gentlemen. The trial took place in the following October, but though Sir Thomas was acquitted, he was unable to stand the strain, and he died probably at the seat of Sir William Gerard, one of his fellow prisoners, and was buried with his ancestors at Kirkham, Nov. 13, 1694. The Rev. Richard Jameson preached the funeral oration, which is worthy of publication. The Clifton estates then passed to his nephew John Clifton, but the baronetcy expired. The Cliftons were staunch recusants, and a great many of the ladies became nuns. They abandoned the Faith for a couple of generations during the last century, but the present squire, like his grandfather, has returned to their ancient allegiance.

[2] Roger and James Charnley were recusants in 1679. A grandson of the former, Roger Charnley, of Lytham, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and his will was proved at Lancaster April 11, 1727, his executors being Peter Charnley and Richard Warbreck. The will of Margaret Charnley, of Lytham, widow, was proved by Peter Charnley, her son, March 9, 1727, and that of Roger Charnley, of Catforth in Woodplumpton, by Ellen Charnley, widow, Oct. 22, 1730.

[1] Probably an error for Ricardus Gillow.

[2] John Crookall's will was proved in 1670, and that of Ellen in 1680. The name appears annually in the rolls. Mary Crookall married Thomas Barrow, of Westby, and was mother of John Barrow, who from the Jesuit College at Bruges went to Douay, Dec. 10, 1768, and during the scholastic year, Oct., 1773 and '74, was sent to St Omer's College to teach, whence he returned a priest on Oct. 17, 1776, and left for the English mission Jan. 7, 1777. He was placed at Hazelwood Castle, co. York, till 1780. He was also at Ness Hall, Clintz Hall, and Frickley Hall, and in 1789 went to Garstang, which he served, with an interval between 1796–1800, till death in Dec., 1811, aged sixty. Jane, daughter of Ralph Crookall, married George Gillow, of Moor House, Newton-le-Scales, who died in 1808, and was mother of the Revv. Richard and Henry Gillow, who died respectively in 1867 and 1849. And John Crookall, of Turnover Hall and Larkham, married Anne, daughter of John Gillow, of Salwick Hall, and was father of John Crookall, of Fleetwood, J.P., and by a second wife, of Rev. Thomas Crookall.

[3] The Fairs were recusants on the Clifton estate from the earliest period. Latterly they spelt the name Fayer. The Rev. William Fayer, third son of William Fayer, of Westby, and his wife Mary Hodgson, born Dec. 4, 1814, was ordained priest at Ushaw, Dec. 4, 1840, and served Samlesbury from 1847 till 1875, when he retired to Kirkham, where he died Sept. 17, 1883.

[1] His will was proved in 1686. His son and namesake, also of Lytham, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and his will was proved in 1738. The latter was probably brother to Andrew Snape, of Moorhead, in Upper Wyresdale, whose will was proved in 1715, and whose widow Margaret was a Catholic non-juror in 1717.

[2] The will of Cuthbert Richardson of Tarnacre in Upper Rawcliffe, was proved in 1667.

[3] The Whites of Cross House in Great Eccleston, formerly considered to be in Tarnacre, were settled here as early as 1332. They appear in the recusant rolls from their commencement in 1591. Robert White, of Cross House, married Isabel, daughter of William Kirkby, of Up Rawcliffe Hall, and both were recusants between 1609 and 1635. He compounded for knighthood in 1632. Their daughter, Dorothy, married John Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, and their son Nicholas White married Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas ffyfe, of Wedacre Hall, and predeceased his father in 1639. Grismond White, of the text, was possibly another daughter of Robert. John White, of Great Eccleston, son of Nicholas, married Esther, daughter of Richard Leckonby, of Leckonby House, Great Eccleston, and of the Demesne of Elswick, now called Elswick Lodge, and had a son John, who married Alice Southworth, possibly the daughter of Thomas Southworth, of Highfield, in the parish of Lancaster, descended from the ancient family seated at Samlesbury Hall. They had two sons priests—Luke White alias Leckonby, born Oct. 17, 1708, ordained priest at Rome in 1731, and died at Alston, where he had been for many years, in July, 1765; and John White alias Leckonby, born May 18, 1710, ordained at Rome March 21, 1733, and left for Douay College on Sept. 23, 1734, thence left for the mission June 14, 1735, lived with Mr Markham in Yorkshire for many years, and thence, before 1752, removed to Euxton Hall, the seat of the Andertons, where he died Feb. 7, 1778. It is probable that Nicholas White had an elder brother Thomas, of Cross House, whose grandson Thomas White was baptized July 18, 1710. He is said to have kept a pack of hounds, and to have involved the estate in debt. His will was dated May 28, 1770, and after his decease his property went to John White, of Great Eccleston. The latter was apparently the father of Nicholas White, of Orotava, in Teneriffe, who married by proxy at Leyburn, Nov. 11, 1766, Barbara, daughter and coheiress of Roger Strickland, of Catterick, by Catherine, daughter of Simon Scroop, of Danby Hall. John White, a younger brother of Nicholas, born in Feb., 1744, studied at Fernyhalgh, under Dame Alice, and thence went to one of the Jesuit colleges and entered the Society in 1768, and died at Hammersmith in 1771. The estate was sold early in the last century, and Cross House is now a farmhouse. The occasional apparition of the "White Lady" at a small window, looking out of the attics into the garden, is still believed in by the country people, and strange and unaccountable noises are said to be frequently heard.

[1] Thomas Blackburne, second son of John Blackburne, of Stockenbridge Hall, died Aug. 9, 1667, and was buried at St Michael's, where a stone commemorates his memory. He does not appear to have left issue.

[2] The Catons of this and neighbouring townships were strong recusants, and several of them became priests. William Caton, son of Thomas and his wife Ellen, admitted into the College at Rome in 1694, aged nineteen, was ordained in 1699, left for Paris in 1701, and was placed at Great Eccleston, where he passed his missionary career till his death in 1749. His name appears in the tabella missarum at Scorton under Feb. 12. Thomas Caton, born in 1756, son of John Caton, of Broughton, and his wife, Anne Gregson, was ordained at Lisbon, and died at Cottam in 1826. His sister, Sister Anne Scholastica Caton, O.S.B., of Cambray, born in 1749, died in 1830. William, born in London in 1782, and son of Robert Caton, of Lancashire, and his wife Mary Thornborough, went to Sedgley Park School, and thence to Lisbon with the intention of becoming a priest, but left before taking orders. Laurence Caton, of Claughton, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and registered an estate in the parish of St Michael's.

[3] This family of Southworth (or Southert as the name was pronounced) was descended from the Southworths of Samlesbury Hall.

[4] Richard Blackburne, of Stockenbridge Hall in Tarnacre, and of Scorton Hall in Wyresdale, was the senior representative of this ancient Catholic family, which appears annually in the rolls from 1591. The family derived from John Blackburne, of Sandholme Milne in Barnacre, who was a recusant with his wife Marie in 1591. He had two sons, William and Richard. The latter purchased Newton from Sir Richard ffleetwood, of Calwich, co. Stafford. The elder brother married Elizabeth, daughter of William Kitchin, of Forton, and was aunt of Barnaby Kitchin, of Pilling, lord of the manor of North Meols. William resided at Great Eccleston and Thistleton, and had four sons—John, of Great Eccleston, whose descendants if he had any died out; Richard, of Scorton Hall, who sometimes resided at Thistleton and Newton, and died in 1641; William, ancestor of the two families of Bridge End and Blackley Hurst, the latter ending in the heiress, Sophia Gildard, wife of the Hon. Richard Jones, brother to Lord Ranelagh; and Thomas, who settled in Cheshire. Richard married Jane, daughter of William Aynesworth, of Newton, and was father of—John, of Eccleston and Newton, and lastly of Stockenbridge Hall in Tarnacre, of whom hereafter; Richard, who settled in Goosnargh, and founded the families seated at The Hill in Goosnargh and The Brooks in Bleasdale, the last of the Hill family being the Rev. James Blackburne, who died at the English College at Lisbon in July, 1754; Thomas, who married Margaret, daughter of Robert Norreys, of Bolton, a cadet of the family of Speke Hall, and was ancestor of the Blackburnes of Orford Hall and The Hutt in Hale, the Protestant branch of the family, of which a pedigree was returned at the Visitation of 1664; and Edward, of Stockenbridge, and latterly of Garstang, who was father of Thomas, of Upper Rawcliffe, who died in 1662, and John, born 1654, ordained priest at Rome, April 1, 1679, and left for the mission in 1681, was at Gorsuch Hall in 1704, being then rural dean of West Derby, and died at Moor Hall in Aughton, the seat of Mrs Wolfall, April 2, 1728, and was buried in the ruined chapel of St Katherine at Lydiate. John, the eldest son of Richard, had issue—Richard, of Scorton Hall and Stockenbridge Hall, appearing with his wife Margaret in the text; Thomas, who died in 1667, and has already been noticed; and Edward, born 1633, entered the English College at Rome in 1658 (after spending three years at St Omer's College), and assumed the alias of John Carey, was ordained in 1661, left for England in Jan., 1663, and served the mission in his native locality, perhaps at Stockenbridge (where the Rev. John Sefton baptized his cousin John in 1654), or at Claughton Hall, the seat of the Brockholes family, where about 1700, with his nephew and successor, the Rev. Richard Taylor alias Sherburne, he purchased the site of the present independent mission at Claughton, and died there, rural dean of Amounderness, in Sept., 1709. Richard, the eldest son and heir, made his will Sept. 10, 1686, and was buried at St Michael's Aug. 16, 1687, leaving two sons—John, of Stockenbridge Hall and Fylde Plumpton, whose will was proved in 1736, and Thomas. John had issue—Richard, of Stockenbridge Hall, Catholic non-juror in 1717, will dated March 27, 1725, who died before his father in 1726; Thomas, of Fylde Plumpton, Catholic non-juror 1717, but between 1728 and 1747 removed to Pemberton, where he is described as "gentleman" at the latter date; Edward, living in 1682; John, living in 1702; and Jennet, buried at St Michaels in 1704. Richard, the eldest son, married Mary, daughter of Laurence Livesey, of Livesey Hall in Sutton, and coheiress of her brother George, who died in 1712. The Liveseys were intermarried with the families of—Skillicorne of Prees Hall, Standish of Scholes Hall, Lancaster of Rainhill Hall, Stanley of Lydiate, Eccleston of Eccleston Hall, and others of ancient lineage. Richard Blackburne left four daughters and coheiresses—Ellen, born July 17, 1698, wife of William Hathornthwaite, of the Demesne of Catshaw, Margaret, born Sept. 9, 1701, wife of Thomas Eccles, of Dilworth, Anne, born March 10, 1702, wife of Henry Eccles, of Meanfield, in Winwick, and Jennet, born Feb. 19, 1704, wife of George Crooke, of Bank Hall in Broughton. Through the Hathornthwaites, Stockenbridge, Catshaw, and Livesey Hall, property in Hale, and other estates, passed to the heirs of Richard Leckonby, of Leckonby House, who married the daughter of William Hathornthwaite and sister and coheiress of John Hathornthwaite, of Catshaw.

[1] The estate of Christopher Swindlehurst, of Tarnacre, was administered to in 1699.

[2] The will of Richard Lightworke, of Tarnacre, was proved in 1670, and that of Margaret his widow in 1671.

[3] William Butler's estate was administered to in 1692. He was the fifth son of Richard Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, by Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Stanley, of Great Eccleston Hall.

younger sons of Christopher Gradell, of Barbles Moor, in Ulnes Walton, by Jennet, daughter of Richard Charnock, of Charnock Richard, and his wife Isabel, daughter of William Clayton, of Leyland. James Gradell of the text, who was living at Clifton in 1633, had, besides five daughters, four sons—Richard, born 1634, ob. inf.; James, born 1639, of Clifton, died 1715, who had two sons, James, born 1685, of Clifton, married in 1703 Anne Laurenson, of Newton, and died 1739, and Thomas, born 1688; Richard, of Clifton, buried Jan. 21, 1706–7, of whom hereafter; and John, of Clifton, died 1694, who had a son James living in 1701. Richard by his first wife, Anne, who died in 1689, had four sons—James, ob. inf. 1682, Robert, of whom hereafter, Henry, of Clifton in 1706, and James, died 1694. Robert, of Clifton, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, died 1746, and by his wife Alice Holden left a son Richard, of Clifton, born 1701, died 1751, who by Anne Holden, his wife, had four sons and three daughters—Robert, who died young; John, of whom hereafter; Christopher, died an infant in 1741; Christopher, died an infant in 1742; Helen, married in 1765 William Brown, of Clifton, and was mother of the Rt Rev. George Hilary Brown, first bishop of Liverpool, who died in 1856; Dorothy, married in 1768 Thomas Brown, of Clifton; and Alice, spinster, of Preston, who died in 1836, aged eighty-five. John Gradwell settled in Preston, married in 1774 Margaret, daughter and heiress of John Gregson, of Balderston, died in 1829, aged eighty, and left issue—Richard, of Balderston, born 1775, who married Jane, daughter of Peter Marsh, of Hindley, and had issue a daughter and heiress, Margaret, who carried Green House, Balderston, to her husband Richard Carr, of Preston, father of the Rt Rev. Mgr James Carr, V.G.; John, of Preston, J.P., who died unmarried in 1841; Robert Gradwell, D.D., bishop of Lydda, and coadjutor to Bishop Bramston, V.A—L.D., who died in 1833; George, alderman of Preston, J.P., and colonel of volunteers, of whom hereafter; and Henry, priest, who succeeded Bishop Gradwell to the mission at Claughton in 1817, and died there in 1860. Alderman Gradwell married Mary, daughter of Richard Ashhurst, of Puddington, co. Chester, and dying in 1849, left issue—John, of Platten Hall, co. Meath, who married Ellen, daughter of Peter Fitzgerald, of Soho, co. Westmeath, and had sons George, John, and Gerald; Richard, of Dowth Hall, co. Meath, who married Maria Theresa, daughter of James MacEvoy, of Tober Tinan, co. Meath, by Theresa, daughter and coheiress of Sir Joshua Collis Meredyth, Bart., and had issue—Robert Bernard Ashhurst Gradwell, of Dowth Hall, who married in 1884 Henrietta Maria, daughter of the tenth Earl of Fingall, Theresa, wife of the Hon. R. Nugent, son of the ninth earl of Westmeath, and Annette, wife of Edmund Athy, of Renville; the Rt Rev. Mgr Robert Gradwell, rector of Claughton, who died in 1906, aged eighty-one; and the Rev. George Gradwell, formerly of Preston, who died at Torquay in 1855.

[1] Thomas Clifton, of Clifton, and his elder brother Peregrine were sons of John Clifton, third son of Cuthbert Clifton, of Westby Hall, by Catherine, daughter of Sir Richard Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower. Thomas, whose will was proved in 1667, by his wife Margaret, who was a widow and a recusant of Clifton in 1679, had sons Thomas, living in 1642, Andrew, 1662, Francis of the text, Laurence, 1662, and apparently daughters Anne and Ellen of the text. The junior branches of the Cliftons were very numerous, and a great many of the daughters became nuns.

[2] The Hoskers, or Horsecarres as the name was originally spelt, were recusants in Clifton from the reign of Elizabeth, and they were intermarried with the Gradells, Clitheralls, and other Catholic families of the district. Administration to the estate of William Horsker was granted in 1680, the will of Elizabeth, his wife, was proved in the same year, and that of Thomas, their son, in 1703. Thomas lived at Chapel Houses in Clifton, and his son James, of Thistleton, whose will was proved in 1743, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717. Robert Horsecar, of Clifton, was also a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and his will was proved Nov. 6, 1727. His dau. Alice married George Gillow, of Singleton.

[1] Anne, wife of James Clifton, of Ward's House, in Salwick, was one of the Brents, of Larkstoke, co. Gloucester, a notable and wealthy Catholic family. Her husband was at this time in Maryland, but he appears to have returned before 1679, in which year he was living a recusant at Ward's House. He was the fifth son of Thomas Clifton, of Clifton Hall, Salwick Hall, and Westby Hall, and younger brother of Sir Thomas Clifton, Bart. He had four sons and three daughters, Cuthbert, who married Dorothy, dau. of William Winckley, of Banister Hall, by Isabel, dau. of Richard Elston, of Higher Brockholes Hall, and had issue Father James Clifton, S.J., born 1698, died 1750, Father Thomas Clifton, S.J., born 1700, died 1777, William, who married his cousin, one of the Brents, and was the father of Anne, wife of Col. Slaughter, of the family of Cheyney Court, co. Hereford, Anne and Eleanor, nuns, Elizabeth, wife of Francis Greene, and Mary, wife of her cousin, one of the Brents, by whom she had a son, Henry Brent, who married Ellen, dau. of Laurence Breres, of Walton Hall, and had a son, Laurence Brent, and two daughters; Thomas Clifton, born 1675, who entered the Society in 1698, but left it in 1699; Father William Clifton, S.J., born 1678, died 1749; Francis Clifton, born 1682, who was ordained priest at the English College at Rome, April 3, 1706, and left for England April 2, 1709; James, born 1683, who died an ecclesiastical student at Rome, Jan. 2, 1704; Mary, born 1679, became a nun at Gravelines, in 1696, and died in 1729; Bridget, spinster, of Lytham, who was a Catholic non-juror in 1717; and Catherine.

[2] She was probably the dau. of John Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, by his third wife Dorothy, dau. of Robert White, of Cross House. She became the wife of Richard Parkinson, of Leach Hall. She must have been very young when her father died in 1642, and at the date of this roll her half-brother Thomas Brockholes, born in 1613, was in possession of the Claughton estate, which would probably be under sequestration for recusancy at this time, and hence his name would be omitted from this list. Her own-brother, Augustine, lived at Myerscough, and died in 1679. A pedigree of the family was returned in 1665, but it was of an unsatisfactory character. Originally lords of the manor of Brockholes, which eventually passed with two daughters and coheiresses to the Singletons and Ethelstons (or Elstons) about the year 1400, the descendants of the younger son of Roger de Brockholes, of the thirteenth century, continued to reside at Claughton Hall, as well as at Heaton Hall, in the parish of Lancaster, which they acquired in 1440–41, till the family became extinct in the last half of the eighteenth century. Thomas Brockholes, half-brother to Anne of the text, had three sons, John, his successor, who died in 1719; Thomas, who was ordained priest at Douay, officiated at Whitehall during the reign of James II, and after the revolution in 1688 went to Sunderland Hall, the seat of the Osbaldestons, then went to Puddington Hall, Cheshire, the seat of William Massey, in 1717 was at Standish Hall, the seat of the Standish family, and finally settled at Burgh Hall, the seat of the Chadwicks, where he died in 1738; and Roger, who was ordained priest at Lisbon, and died at York in 1700. The eldest son, John, born in 1645, married (1) Anne, daughter and coheiress of Thomas Barcroft, of Barcroft Hall, and (2) in Oct., 1716, Mary, eldest dau. and coheiress of Michael Johnson, of Twyzel Hall, co. Durham, by Mary, dau. of William Eure of Elvet (grandson of William, Lord Eure of Wilton), and sister and heiress of Peter Eure. By the second marriage he left an only daughter, Catherine Brockholes, who, Nov. 15, 1739, married Charles Howard of Greystoke Castle, subsequently tenth Duke of Norfolk. The second Mrs. Brockholes married secondly, in 1724, Richard Jones, of Caton, and was mother of Michael Jones, and hence the barony of Scrope, lying dormant in the Eure family, became vested in that of Jones. By his first wife John Brockholes had issue—Thomas, ordained priest at Douay in 1706, died in 1758 at Chillington Hall, co. Stafford, the seat of the Giffards; John, who joined the Chevalier de St George at Preston in 1715, was convicted and outlawed, but escaped imprisonment, and died at Claughton, Sept. 25, 1717; Roger, ordained priest at Rome in 1708, died at Claughton in 1743; William, who succeeded to the estates; Charles, born in 1684, who joined the Society of Jesus, and died at Wigan in 1759; Anne, wife of Robert Davies; and Mary, wife of William Hesketh, of Maynes Hall. William Brockholes married Jane, third dau. and coheiress of Michael Johnson, of Twyzel Hall (sister of his father's second wife), and relict of John Owen, of Chester-le-Street, co. Durham, but dying without issue the estates passed to his sister Mary, wife of William Hesketh. The latter had issue—Thomas Hesketh, who succeeded his uncle, William Brockholes, assumed that name, and died unmarried in 1766; Roger Hesketh, born 1729, who went to Rome, and afterwards to Watten with the intention of becoming a Jesuit, but his health failing he returned home and died in 1767; Joseph Hesketh Brockholes, who succeeded his brother Thomas, married in 1768, Constantia, dau. of Basil Fitzherbert, of Swynnerton Hall, co. Stafford, but dying without issue in 1782, bequeathed the estates to his brother James with the recommendation to settle them on William Fitzherbert, his wife's younger brother; and James Hesketh Brockholes, who died unmarried, April 16, 1783. The estates accordingly passed to William Fitzherbert, who assumed the name of Brockholes, and since that date they have been held by various members of the Fitzherbert family, who have in turn assumed the name of Brockholes.

[1] The Clitherall (a corruption of Clitheroe) family appears in the rolls from the commencement in 1591. James Clitherall, of Clifton, died in 1648, and his son and namesake in 1668. The latter was the father of Thomas Clitherall, who by his wife Mary had sons, John, living at Clifton in 1710, probably identical with one of his name of Newton-cum-Scales, whose will was proved in 1715, and Richard Clitherall, of Clifton, deceased in 1714, who owned lands in Great and Little Eccleston. Elizabeth Clitherall of Clifton, by will dated Dec. 4, 1675, left charities to Clifton, Newton-cum-Scales, and Freckleton.

[2] The Barrows of Weeton were recusants in 1591, in which year John Barrow's will was proved. John Barrowe, of Weeton, and his wife Margaret were staunch recusants in the first quarter of the seventeenth century. They were probably the parents of Edward Barrow, on the rolls in 1625–6, administration to whose estate was granted in 1670, and Father Thomas Barrow alias Waring (probably his maternal name) and Harcourt, S.J., born in 1610, who was martyred at Tyburn in 1679. John Barrow, appearing later under Westby, was probably another brother of Edward of the text.

[1] Thomas Bennett alias Baines, born 1656, son of Thomas Bennett, probably the one of the text, was ordained priest at Rome Dec. 20, 1681, and came to the mission in 1683.

[2] His will was proved in 1679.

[3] The Pykes probably came from South Lancashire when the Langtree family left Langtree Hall and settled at Swartebreck (or Swarbreck) Hall in Weeton. Thomas Pyke and Jane his wife were recusants at Eccleston in the parish of Prescot in the reigns of James I and Charles I. Thomas died in 1629, and his widow remained on the rolls for some years. Edward Pyke, of Little Plumpton, and his brother Thomas Pyke, of Claughton, were living in 1762. The former, by Jennet his wife, had a son Thomas baptized at Westby July 29, 1765. Edward Pyke, of Claughton, whose wife Mary died March 22, 1857, aged eighty-five, was father of Edward Pyke, of Haighton, died Jan. 25, 1873, aged seventy-five, whose son Edward, of Blundellsands, died April 25, 1908, aged eighty-five; and Joseph Pyke, of Preston, J.P., who married Margaret, daughter of Dionysius Howarth, of Preston, died Dec. 23, 1885, aged seventy-five, and was father of Edward Pyke, of Southport, J.P., co. Lancaster, the Very Rev. Canon Joseph Aloysius Pyke, of Preston, and five daughters, of whom three were nuns. Edward married Hannah, daughter of Richard Carr, of Holme Slack, Preston, and of Green House, Balderston, and has, amongst others, the Rev. Edward Pyke, of Preston.

[4] This is an error for Grimbaldeston. The will of her husband, Thomas Grimbaldeston, was proved in 1667, and her own in 1673, Thomas was probably son of John Grimbaldeston, of Treales, whose will was proved in 1630. The family appears on the rolls from the earliest period. Thomas Grimbaldeston's sons John and William, of Treales, died in 1680 and 1681. A son of one of these was the father of—John, steward to Sir Robert Throckmorton, of Coughton Court, co. Warwick, Bart., will dated July 4, 1739, proved Feb. 16, 1742, who by Elizabeth, his wife, left a daughter Mary Grimbaldeston; Emir Grimbaldeston, steward to Ralph Standish, of Standish Hall, Catholic non-juror, 1717, of whose issue hereafter; Leonard Grimbaldeston, who had a son and namesake; Eleanor; Elizabeth, wife of Mr Briggs; and Alice, wife of Mr Bickliffe, who had issue John, Thomas, and Alice all living in 1739. Emir, by his wife Alice, had issue—John Grimbaldeston; William Grimbaldeston, born June 2, 1708, arrived at Douay College from the Fylde, June 4, 1726, ordained priest, Dec. 1, 1735, was a professor till Oct. 3, 1737, when he came to England, and was placed at Wrightington Hall, the seat of the Dicconsons, till his death, Feb. 1, 1770; Thomas Emir Grimbaldeston (used his second name only), born June 2, 1715, entered Douay July 11, 1730, ordained priest there Dec. 12, 1739, placed at Lytham Hall, and became travelling tutor to the young squire, Thomas Clifton, in 1746, and then chaplain at Lytham Hall, thence removed to Birchley Hall, where he was in 1751, and died there April 8, 1786; Mary; and Anne. John, the eldest son, had a son, William, who went to Douay Augt. 26, 1741, but was sent away on April 29, 1743.

[1] Edward Worthington, of Wharles, married Mary, daughter and coheiress of John Hoghton, of Charnock Richard, by Isabel, daughter of Henry Rogerlye, of Lytham, younger son of George Rogerlye, of Park Hall in Blackrod, by Ellen, daughter of William Clifton, of Westby Hall.

[2] Thomas Westby was of Burne Hall, a fifteenth century mansion, and his wife was Bridget, daughter of Thomas Clifton, of Clifton, Westby, and Lytham halls, and sister of Sir Thomas Clifton, Bart. He was born in 1641, and this, his first, marriage took place in 1661, and his wife died in 1675. He married, secondly, Margaret Braithwayte, of the family of Burneside Hall, co. Westmoreland, and died in March, 1699–1700. The Westbys returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1567, 1613, and 1664. They originally came from Westby, co. York, but acquired Mowbreck Hall, in Medlar-cum-Wesham, at an early period, and made it their principal seat, though they retained the manor of Westby, co. York, till well into the seventeenth century. They also possessed the manor called Westby Lands in Much Urswick, the manors of Burne, Holmes, and Heaton, besides that of Duffield in Yorkshire, and the junior branch of this period owned the manor of Up Rawcliffe. They were throughout the days of the penal laws most staunch in their adherence to the old Faith, and suffered every kind of imprisonment and imposition. They were intermarried with the best Catholic families of the county. The chapel in Mowbreck Hall was regularly served till the closing years of the eighteenth century. The walls of the domestic chapel in Burne Hall were ornamented with oaken wainscot, carved shields, small statues and foliage, and the ceiling with vine leaves and clusters of grapes. Over the mantelpiece was the inscription, "Elegi abjectus esse in Domo Dei mei, magis quam habitari in Tabernaculis peccatorum." Thomas Westby succeeded his uncle John to the Mowbreck, Westby, and other estates in 1661. Another uncle, Thomas Westby, M.D., was slain in the royal cause at Preston in Feb., 1642–3. By his first wife, Thomas had issue—John, born 1662, his successor to Mowbreck and Burne; Thomas, of Thistleton, who was buried in the Westby chapel at Kirkham in March, 1728–9, s.p.; William, s.p.; Cuthbert, buried in the Westby chapel at Kirkham in Nov., 1727, s.p.; and Robert, who succeeded his brother John to the Mowbreck estate, and died s.p. in 1762, the last heir male of this the eldest branch of the family; Francis, who died an infant; Bridget, spinster; Anne, wife of John Greene, of Bowers House; and Dorothy, wife of Alexander Parker, son of Christopher Parker, of Bradkirk Hall. The eldest son, John, married, Feb. 10, 1688, Jane, daughter of Christopher Parker, of Bradkirk Hall, and at his death, in June, 1722, left four daughters and coheiresses—Catherine, wife of Alexander Osbaldeston, of Sunderland Hall, Bridget, wife of William Shuttleworth, of Turnover Hall, Mary, wife of Rev. Thomas Alderson, a parson, and Anne, wife of Rev. John Benison, of London, a parson, the two last being the only Protestant alliances hitherto made by the family. The only child and heiress of the Shuttleworth marriage, Margaret, in 1744, became the wife of her distant cousin, Thomas Westby, of Up Rawcliffe Hall, commonly called White Hall, and their eldest son John Westby, as next heir in tail, succeeded to the Mowbreck, Westby in Furness, and Westby in Yorkshire estates, as well as to Turnover Hall and White Hall. His sister Bridget, in religion Austin, was prioress of the canonesses of the Holy Sepulchre at Liège. Upon John's death in 1811 the estates passed to his brother Thomas, who upon his death in 1829 bequeathed the estates to the grandson and namesake of his uncle George Westby. This gentleman died at Paris in 1842, aged fifty-four, whereupon his widow, a non-Catholic, sent her children to Protestant schools, and had them brought up in that faith. The eldest, the late Captain Jocelyn Tate Fazakerley-Westby, gradually parted with all the Westby estates, and was the last of the family to reside at Mowbreck Hall.

[1] The Lythams of Thornton and Poulton were staunch recusants from the earliest period. The will of Mark Lytham, then residing in Poulton, was proved in 1699.

[2] George Gillow, like all his ancestors and descendants, was staunch to the old Faith. His ancestors, Elias de Gillow and Thomas his son, were benefactors to Conishead Priory in the reign of Edward II. The latter's brother or son, Robert, became Vicar of York Minster, and dying in 1402, was buried in the Cathedral. The family followed him to Yorkshire. His nephew Henry was presented to the rectory of Pelham-Stocking, co. Hertford, in 1451, and the latter's nephew, Mr. Henry Gillow, was temporal chancellor of Durham, 1465–76, rector of Hoghton-le-Spring, 1470 till death, Master of Kepyer Hospital, prebendary of Tockerington in the Church of York, 1476, collated to Fridaythorpe 1479, installed sub-dean of York, 1477, and rector of Gilling, 1480. His will was dated Feb. 8, 1482–3. Henry's brother Ralph, of Hoghton-le-Spring, had issue, Thomas, of Uncleby, in the parish of Kirkby Underdale, Ralph, Seth, and Sir Robert, ordained priest 1481, admitted to the chantry at St Stephen's altar in York Minster, vicar choral, and made his will in March, 1504–5. will of Thomas, the eldest son, is dated May 19, 1506, and by his wife Isabel he had—Thomas, of Uncleby, who married Margaret, dau. of Robert Claxton, of Old Park, Durham, by Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Wandesford, of Kirklington, co. York, and whose son, Sir Henry Gillow, priest, left Yorkshire after the destruction of the monasteries by Henry VIII, and returned with his relatives to Lancashire, and died at Kirkham in 1561; Sir William, priest; Paulyn, who became freeman of York, 1495, chamberlain, 1509, sheriff 1514–5, alderman 1517, and died Lord Mayor in Nov., 1522; and Alice. One or more of Paulyn's sons returned to Lancashire, but from another descended the Gillows of Woodnesborough Manor, Stourmouth Court, Cooksditch Court, and Buckland Manor, co. Kent. From George, the eldest son, descended his namesake of the text. The recusant was son of Richard Gillow, of Bryning, who died in 1662, aged 57. He subsequently removed to an estate called Gillow, in Little Eccleston, and died there in June, 1697. He had two sons, Richard, of Great Singleton, and William. The descendants of the latter, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, continued to reside at Gillow till it was sold by the trustee (the writer's father) after the death of William Gillow in 1854. From the latter's younger brother Thomas descends Father Aloysius Gillow, S.J. Richard, the eldest son of George, non-juror in 1717, was convicted of recusancy at the Lancaster sessions on Jan. 15 of that year, and died on the following December 22. He had issue—George, of Singleton, of whom hereafter; Edward of Westby, ancestor of the Very Rev. Robert Gillow, of Ramsay, who died in 1900, aged 69, the Right Rev. Eulogio G. Gillow, D.D., Archbishop of Oaxaca, Mexico (son of Thomas Gillow, of the Castle of Chautla, and his wife Solidad del Rivero, Marquise de Selva Nevada), and Mary Anne, O.S.A. at Paris; William, ob. inf.; Thomas, ob. inf.; John; Thomas; and Robert, of Lancaster, who married Agnes, dau. of Mr. Fell, of Lancaster. Robert died in 1773, leaving issue—Richard, of Ellel Grange; Thomas, of London; Edward, died young; Robert, of London; John, D.D., Professor of Theology at Douay College, Rector of St Wilfrid's, York, and finally President of Ushaw College, where he died in 1828, aged seventy-six; and Alice, wife of Thomas Worswick, of Todderstaffe Hall and Lancaster, banker, whose son Alexander acquired Leighton Hall. Richard, the eldest son of Robert, who died in 1811, aged seventy-seven, had issue by Agnes, dau. of Robert Haresnape of Thurnham—Robert, of Clifton Hill, Forton, who left several daughters and coheiresses, of whom Margaret became the wife of Cuthbert Dunn, of Newcastle, and Anne became the wife of John Frederick Chadwick, of Burgh Hall, Chorley, and The Hermitage, Alston; George, of Hammersmith, who had eight daughters and coheiresses, of whom Mary was the wife of George Thomas Ferrers, second son of Edward Ferrers, of Baddesley Clinton Hall, co. Warwick, and Teresa became a nun at Taunton; several daughters, of whom was Sister Agnes Mary Joseph, O.S.F.; and Richard, who purchased Leighton Hall from his cousin Thomas Worswick, married Elizabeth, dau. and eventual heiress of Charles Stapleton, M.D., third son of Nicholas Stapleton, of Carlton Hall, co. York, heir to the barony of Beaumont, subsequently restored, died in 1849, aged seventy-six, and left issue, Richard Thomas, of Leighton Hall, J.P.; John, died 1829; Robert, priest, died during the fever epidemic in Liverpool in 1847; George, priest, died at Preston in 1894, aged seventy-nine; Joseph, of Clifton, ob. s.p. 1865; The Right Rev. Mgr. Charles, many years Professor at Ushaw, died 1896, aged seventy-seven; William, surgeon, died in 1899, aged seventy-two, s.p.; and seven daughters, of whom several were nuns O.S.F. Richard Thomas, the eldest son of Richard, married Mary Anne, dau. of Charles Eyston, of East Hendred, Berks, High Sheriff of that county in 1831, died in 1905, aged almost ninety-nine, and had issue—Richard Charles; Robert Joseph, died 1893, s.p.; George William, barrister-at-law, of London; the Very Rev. Mgr. Francis John, of Kirkham; and three daughters, of whom Mary Theresa married, in 1872, Henry Riddell, son of Ralph Riddell, of Felton Park, and Swinburne Castle, Northumberland. The eldest son, Col. Richard Charles, J.P., who predeceased his father in 1901, aged fifty-four, by his wife Agnes Mary, dau. of Charles Riddell, younger son of Ralph Riddell, of Felton Park, and Swinburne Castle, had issue—Charles Richard, the present owner of Leighton Hall, J.P., George, Walter, and several daughters. Reverting to George Gillow, of Singleton (the eldest son of Richard), who died in 1758, he left by his wife Alice, dau. of Robert Horscar, of Clifton—Richard, of Singleton, and of Moor House, Newton-le-Scales; Edward, of Westby, died unmarried 1779; William, of Singleton, died unmarried 1780; John, of Larbreck Hall, died unmarried 1803; Robert, who died 1783, leaving by his wife Anna, dau. and heiress of William Eaton, of Little Plumpton, Robert William Joachim and Winifred Frances Margaret, the former leaving at his death in 1821 an only child, Winifred, wife of John Morgan, of Latham House, Penwortham, by whom she was the mother of Father James Gillow Morgan, S.J.; Anne, spinster; and Elizabeth, wife of George Kirkham, of Poulton-le-Sands. Richard, the eldest son of George, married Isabel, sister and heiress of Henry Brewer, of Moor House, Newton-le-Scales, and dying in 1814, aged eighty-six, left—George, of Moor House, who by Jane, dau. of Ralph Crookall, of Lytham, left at his death in 1808, Richard, priest, sometime vice-rector of the English College at Rome, professor of theology at Ushaw, canon of Liverpool, who died in 1867, aged seventy-three, Henry, priest, of Appleton, died in 1849, Ralph, of Newton-le-Scales, died 1868, aged seventy-one, unmarried, Isabel, wife of Robert Middlehurst, of Wigan, and Jane, wife of William Liptrott, of Bold, and mother of Canon Peter Liptrott and Rev. Richard Liptrott; John, of Salwick Hall and Elswick Grange, of whom hereafter; William, of Singleton, who died in 1852, aged seventy-nine, leaving by Mary, dau. of Thomas Guest, of Euxton, Canon Richard, of North Shields, died 1853, Thomas of Foxcote, co. Warwick, died 1870, aged sixty, s.p., having married Mary, dau. of John Garnett, of the Quernmore Park and Wyreside family, who died at Hereford in 1904, aged ninety-four, William of Lilystone Hall, Essex, J.P., died s.p., in 1893, aged seventy-six, John Francis, of Lilystone Hall, died s.p. in 1894, aged seventy-two, Isabel, spinster, died at Lilystone Hall in 1893, aged eighty-five, and Mary, a nun, died in 1891; Thomas, priest, of North Shields, died in 1857, aged eighty-eight; and Joseph, of Newton-le-Scales, who died in 1843, leaving five daughters, of whom the eldest, Isabel, married Thomas Gillow, of Great Eccleston, and had a son Joseph, the father of Father Aloysius Gillow, S.J. Returning to John (the son of Richard), who died in 1845, aged eighty-one, he had issue by his wife Alice, dau. and coheiress of Henry Atkinson, of Little Poulton Hall—Richard, priest, died at Fernyhalgh in 1864, aged seventy; Henry, priest, died at Manchester in 1837, aged 41; Joseph, of whom hereafter; Edward, ob. s.p. 1860, aged fifty-eight; Thomas, of Preston, died 1872, aged sixty-four, father of Alice Mary Emanuel, O.S.F., died 1877, aged twenty, and Helen, wife of Albert Sibeth, of Wimbledon, son of Werner Sibeth; John, D.D., vice-president of Ushaw College, died 1877, aged sixty-three; and seven daughters, of whom Ellen, a nun of Syon, died at Lisbon in 1860, aged fifty-four, and Margaret, wife of Barthol.Brown, of Winckley Hall, was mother of Revs. Richard and William Henry Brown. Joseph Gillow (the surviving eldest son of John), of Preston and Ribby, J.P., died in 1872, aged seventy-two, leaving by his wife Jane, daughter of William Smith, of Clock House in Lea and of Forton, by Jane, dau. and coheiress of Robert Haydock, of Leach Hall,—Rev. John Gillow, died in Belgium, in 1881, aged forty-eight; Rev. William Gillow, of Berwick, and formerly of North Shields, died in 1880, aged forty-five; Canon Henry Gillow, of Blackhill, co. Durham; Joseph, the present writer; and six daughters, of whom Mary Anne, spinster, died in 1907, aged seventy-six, and Frances Elizabeth, wife of Matthew Kearney, of The Ford, Lanchester, co. Durham, J.P., D.L., and High Sheriff of that county in 1881, died Dec. 22, 1906.

of Anne, his widow, in 1693. His father was probably William Faile, of Singleton, whose will was proved in 1667.

[1] The will of Margaret Robinson, of Singleton, was proved in 1667, and that of her late husband, John Robinson, of Great Singleton, in 1661. They suffered both public and private spoliation of their property during the civil wars on account of their faith. They had five sons and two daughters. One of the sons, Thomas Robinson alias Shaw, was baptized by the priest of Great Singleton, the Rev. John Holden, Aug. 26, 1651, and was ordained priest at Rome in 1677. The father, John, was probably son of William Robinson, of Great Singleton, a recusant in 1613.

[2] James Butler, youngest son of Henry Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, by his third wife, Isabel Grimston, granddaughter of Thomas Grimston, of Grimston Garth, co. York, by Dorothy, dau. of Marmaduke Thwaites, of Smeaton, co. York, was educated at St Omer's College, and died at Cartford, in Little Eccleston, in 1709, leaving, by Jennet his wife, a daughter, Jennet, wife of William Gillow, of Little Eccleston.

[3] John Swarbreck was son of Edward Swarbreck of Great Singleton, who appears in the rolls up to his death in 1622, and his widow Agnes for some years later. His will was proved in 1667. One of his sons, James, was baptized by the Rev. Thomas Matthews, the priest at Great Singleton, in 1655, was ordained priest at Rome in 1678, using the alias of Singleton, succeeded to the charge of the mission at Singleton, and resided in the house of Richard Gillow, where he was apprehended in 1716, and died in Lancaster Castle, through the sickness prevailing there, in March of that year. John, son of Edward Swarbreck, of Singleton, and his wife Elizabeth, born 1679, was ordained priest at Rome in 1703, served New House in Newsham and Crow Hall in Woodplumpton, and died Sept. 15, 1729. Robert Swarbreck alias Walker, son of William Swarbreck and his wife Lucy, of Singleton, born 1675, was ordained priest at Rome in 1700, and died Feb. 24, 1736–7. James Swarbreck, of Great Singleton, as a non-juror in 1717, registered leasehold property in Weeton, and Thomas Swarbreck, of Weeton, was also a non-juror and died in 1719. John Swarbreck, of Wesham Hall, brother of the Rev. James Swarbreck, the priest at Great Singleton, as a non-juror registered leasehold estate at Wesham and Weeton, as well as a freehold estate in Hardhorn-with-Newton, which in reality he held in trust for the Singleton mission. The Swarbrecks, deriving their origin from Swarbreck Hall, in Weeton-cum-Preese, were recusants throughout penal times. One of the grandsons of John Swarbreck of the text settled at Nateby House, in the parish of Garstang, and his descendant, Thomas Swarbrick, in 1806 purchased Nateby Hall. The latter's son Edward Swarbrick, of Nateby House, by his wife Margaret, dau. of James Newsham, of Bell Fold in Newsham, was the father of the Rev. James Swarbrick, thirty-two years priest at Thurnham, who died at Hornby in 1898, aged seventy-five, and the Rev. Edward Swarbrick, who served Preston, Great Eccleston, and Clifton Hill, and died at Fulwood in 1893, aged 68. Another and probably the senior branch of the family was represented by John Swarbreck, surgeon, of Poulton-le-Fylde, who married Anne, dau. of Thomas Worswick, of Todderstaffe Hall and Lancaster, by Alice, dau. of Robert Gillow, of Lancaster, subsequently settled at Sowerby, in the parish of Thirsk, and was ancestor of the Rev. Thomas Oswald, O.S.B., and Charles Swarbreck.

[4] Administration to his estate was granted in 1671. The Ecclestons of Great Singleton appear annually in the rolls from the commencement. Thomas Eccleston, priest, born at Great Singleton, spent more than forty years of missionary labour in the parishes of Halsall and Aughton, and was buried in the Harkirk cemetery in 1700.

[1] The Gaunts of Great Singleton, descended from one of the followers of John of Ghent, who was Lord of Singleton, and is said to have sometimes resided there, appear annually in the rolls. John Gaunt's will was proved in 1697. William Gaunt, of Great Singleton, whose will was proved in 1606, had two sons priests, James, alias Sands, who went from Douay to Rome, where ordained priest in 1607, became archdeacon of the chapter, and died in Lancashire in 1658, and Thomas, alias Sands and Thornbrough, born at Singleton about 1587, went from Douay to Rome, where ordained in 1613, apprehended on the mission, and imprisoned in the Clink, whence released and exiled in 1630. Another priest, James Gaunt, probably son of Thomas Gaunt, of Singleton, the one of the text, whose will was proved in 1681, is met with serving Myerscough in 1712, Dimples Hall and Nateby Hall in 1714, Mowbreck Hall in 1727, and Thurnham Hall in 1729, and died Oct. 28, 1734. William Gaunt, born 1721, son of William Gaunt, of Great Singleton, and his wife Jane Jackson, was admitted into Douay College, Sept. 25, 1737, ordained priest May 27, 1747, came to the mission and served Mowbreck Hall, where in Feb., 1754, his Superiors had reason to be dissatisfied with him, and in 1760 he was sent with the Rev. Jerome Wilson to Raventofts, Yorkshire. Thence he was placed at Nidd Hall, the seat of the Trappes family, in 1763, but left and apostatized, preaching his recantation sermon at Manchester in 1769, when he was given a curacy at Brindle, and subsequently obtained that of Wrea Green, not very far from his old mission of Mowbreck Hall, where he passed an unhappy time, depressed with melancholy, till his death in 1773.

[2] The Charnleys of Great Singleton appear annually in the rolls. Beatrix, of the text, may have been a relative of Richard Charnley, of Little Poulton Hall, will proved 1710, whose wife was Margaret, dau. of William Hesketh, of Maynes Hall, in Little Singleton, by Perpetua, dau. of Thomas Westby, of Mowbreck Hall, who survived her husband, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and whose will was proved April 19, 1719.

[3] Dorothy, dau. of William Hesketh, of Maynes Hall, by Perpetua, dau. of Thomas Westby, of Mowbreck Hall, married Thomas Wilkinson, of Claughton, an old Catholic family, one of whom, Thomas, married Elizabeth, dau. of John Newsham, of Newsham Hall, in the reign of Elizabeth. Dorothy's dau., Perpetua Wilkinson, married John Fletcher, of Denton's Green, in Windle, son of Thomas Fletcher, of the same, and her son William Fletcher alias Wilkinson, born 1722, ordained priest at Douay, was a professor, and in 1762 became vice-president of St Omer's College, when it was transferred from the Jesuits to the secular clergy. He died at Bath, March 24, 1803. John Wilkinson, born 1703, ordained priest at Douay, and prefect there for many years, finally became chaplain at the Augustinian Convent at Paris in 1741, and died there in 1771. An earlier member of the family, Father Thomas Wilkinson alias Molyneux, S.J., born 1638, ordained priest at Valladolid, was thrown into the gaol at Morpeth during the Oates Plot ferment, and was poisoned by the prison surgeon in 1681.

[1] His will was proved in 1670.

[2] His will was proved in 1708.

[3] Robert Hornby, of Medlar, and Elizabeth, his wife, were recusants in 1612 seq., and William and James, of the same, in 1635 seq. The latter's will was proved in 1662, and that of Alice of the text in 1674.

[4] Emer Clayton, of Medlar, was a recusant in 1631. Administration to the estate of Jane Clayton, of Medlar, was granted in 1667.

[5] Thomas Eyves (latterly spelt Eaves) of Fishwick Hall, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, being then of the age of forty. He married Margery, dau. of Ralph Sherdley, of Farington, and his son Richard was born in 1659. Thomas was still a recusant of Fishwick in 1679–82, but soon after that date the family parted with Fishwick Hall. They had been seated there for many generations, and were recusants throughout. The father of Thomas of the text, Richard Eyves, lost his life during the civil wars in 1644. By his wife Jane, dau. of Richard Grimshaw, of Clayton Hall, he had two younger sons, and two daughters: James, father of Dom Thomas Eyves, O.S.B., born 1659, died 1747, and probably of Dame Mary Eyves, O.S.B., of Cambray, who died in 1732; Oswald, who settled at Ashton-super-Ribble, whose will was proved in 1715; Anne, wife of Thomas Dale, of Walton; and Jane, wife of William Shaw, of Preston. Oswald, whose widow, Elizabeth, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, had two sons, Oswald, of Ashton, and Robert. The former was the father of Dom Oswald Eyves (or Eaves), O.S.B., born 1739, who died at Brownedge in 1793; James; Ellen, spinster; and Anne, coheiress to her brothers, who married John ffrance, of Greaves Town.

[6] His will was proved in 1669, as likewise that of Elizabeth Bramwell.

RAWCLIFFE [ST MICHAEL'S]

Waldivus Butler,[1] gen	Jana ux eius

---

[1] The Butlers of Rawcliffe Hall returned a very full pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, and very elaborate MS. pedigrees are extant, but the name in the text is not found in them. They were always staunch to the Faith. Henry Butler, the Lord of Rawcliffe, died in this very year, 1667. His estate would probably be sequestrated for recusancy, and hence his name would not appear in this list. He was the eldest son of William Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, by Elizabeth, dau. of Cuthbert Clifton, of Westby Hall. He was thrice married (1), to Dorothy, dau. of Henry Stanley, of Bickerstaffe Hall, and sister of Sir Edward Stanley, Bart., ancestor of the Earls of Derby, (2) to Cecily, dau. of Edward Parkinson, of Westfield in Claughton, and (3) to Isabel Grimston, granddaughter of Thomas Grimston, of Grimston Garth, co. York, by all of whom he had issue. His eldest son, Richard, was slain at Manchester in 1643, but left a large family by his wife Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Stanley, of Great Eccleston Hall. Henry, the second son of Henry by his first wife, married Jane, dau. of Thomas Stanley, of Great Eccleston Hall, and it seems not improbable that he is identical with the "Waldivus" of the text. This Henry had a large family, of whom Charles, the eldest, was the grandfather of Richard Butler, of Pleasington Hall. The Butlers continued at Rawcliffe till the time of Henry Butler, who was thrice married, (1) in 1683 to Magdalen, dau. of John Girlington, and granddaughter and ultimately heiress of Sir John Girlington, of Thurland Castle, (2) to Anne, dau. of Mr Howard, of Barnard Castle, and (3) to Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Butler, of Kirkland Hall. By his first wife he had an only son, Richard, who was taken prisoner at the battle of Preston in 1715, condemned to death for high treason, but died in prison in London, Jan. 16, 1716, and his estates forfeited and sold, the father, Henry, having fled to the Isle of Man. By his wife Mary, dau. of Henry Curwen, of Workington Hall, co. Cumberland, Richard left an only child, Catherine, who only inherited the Thurland Castle estate. She married, in 1729, Philip Markham, of Ollerton Hall, co. Notts, but died under age and sine prole. Thus one of the most ancient families in the country was ruined, and practically came to an end in respect of their county position. A cousin of the last young lord of Rawcliffe, William Butler, of Myerscough, son of Edward, married Rosamond, dau. of Richard Longworth, of St Michael's Hall, engaged in the rising of 1715, was tried and convicted of high treason at Liverpool, Jan. 20, and executed at Preston, Jan. 28, 1716. There were several secular priests, Benedictines, and Jesuits, besides a great many nuns in the family, of whom were—John Butler, probably son of Nicholas Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, ordained from Rheims at Laon, in 1588; John Butler, baptized April 6, 1579, son of Alban Butler, of Nateby (younger son of John Butler, of Kirkland Hall), by Grace, his wife, probably a daughter of Richard Travers, of Nateby Hall, and his wife Grace, dau. of Richard Redman, of Harewood Castle, co. York, admitted into the English College at Rome in 1601, aged twenty, was sent to Belgium on account of ill-health in 1602, and died in England; John Butler alias Ellison, possibly the fourth son of William Butler, of Rawcliffe, and his wife Elizabeth, dau. of Cuthbert Clifton, of Westby Hall, came to the mission from Douay in 1626, and was serving in Lancashire in 1632; John Jerome Butler alias Berry, O.S.B., born 1714, died in Lancashire in 1792; Thomas Butler, S.J., born 1718, third son of Christopher Butler, of Stalmine (twenty-first child of Richard Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, and his wife Katherine, dau. of Thomas Carus, of Halton Hall), by Agnes, dau. and sole heiress of Thomas Goose, of Stalmine Hall, died 1779; Philip Butler, born Dec. 8, 1724, son of William Butler and his wife Dorothy Ashton, was ordained priest at Douay, Dec. 19, 1750, left for the mission, May 9, 1752, and was placed at Blackbrook, the seat of the Orrells, where he remained till his death, Dec. 19, 1777; Richard Bernard Butler, O.S.B., born 1748, second son of Henry Butler, of Stalmine

Hall (son of Christopher Butler and his wife Agnes Goose), by Mary, dau. of Richard Parkinson, of Westfield, in Claughton, died in 1825; and Thomas Butler, born 1734, son of Lancelot Butler, of Preston (son of Charles Butler, of Great Eccleston, by Elizabeth, dau. of Robert Newton, of Stocksfield Hall, co. Northumberland), died at Hornby in 1795.

[1] The Roskells appear in the rolls from the commencement in 1591. Alice Roskell, of Out Rawcliffe, widow, was a recusant in 1627 seq. The will of John Roskell, of Out Rawcliffe, was proved in 1721, and that of Thomas Roskell, of Hambleton, in 1722. About this date the family settled in Garstang, where George Roskell in 1732 married Mary Bleasdale, of Barnacre. He died in 1787, having had issue—Thomas, born 1737, ob. inf.; Thomas, born 1741; Nicholas, born 1744, who married in 1772 Jennet, daughter of John Fox, of Forton; George, born 1749; Anne, born 1734; Mary, born 1739; Mary, born 1747; and Catherine, born 1752. Nicholas died in 1800. The connection with Garstang, and the famous watch-making business, mentioned below, is alluded to in the Lancashire ballad, of which the following is a stanza:

> "And there lies little Garstang
> With houses all o' thatch,
> That gave arise to Roskells all
> And patent lever watch."

He had issue—George, born July 27, 1773, who married Jane, daughter of James Sidgreaves, of Inglewhite Lodge, by his second wife Martha, daughter of George Crook, of Bank Hall, in Broughton, and settled at Stokyn Hall, Holywell, co. Flint, J.P.; Robert, twin with George, of Gateacre, near Liverpool, who died Sept. 11, 1847; John, born 1780, who married Anne, daughter of James Sidgreaves, of Inglewhite, by his second wife, who became a banker of Preston, "Roskell, Arrowsmith and Kendall," and died in Preston, Nov. 6, 1859, s.p.; Thomas, born 1787, who died at the Benedictine Monastery at Ampleforth, co. York; and Mary, wife of Richard Arrowsmith, banker, of Preston. George, the eldest son had issue twelve children, of whom—Nicholas, captain in the P. and O. service, married Charlotte Jones, and left Bernard, Wilfrid, Arthur, and Agnes, who married (1) Fitzgerald Henry, commodore in the P. and O. service, and (2) the Vicomte de Vercelli-Ranzi; George Potts Roskell, of Stokyn Hall, married June 3, 1833, Ellen, daughter of Mr Wharton, of Netherton, who survived her husband, and died at Stokyn, July 16, 1900, aged ninety-two; Richard; John, went to the West Indies, married, and had two daughters, one a nun, and Marianne, married at Preston, Oct. 15, 1889, to James Emile Bridges, barrister-at-law, of the Bengal Civil Service, commissioner of the Eastern District of Upper Burmah; Elizabeth, wife of Michael Harnett, of Heswall, in Wirrall, co. Chester; Frances, the wife of John Markland (son of Thomas Markland, of Clifton Park, near Bristol), whose only sister married Dr William Gillow; and Mary Ann, wife of Richard Trappes, of Manchester, younger son of Francis Trappes, of Nidd Hall, co. York, by Elizabeth, daughter of James Lomax, of Clayton Hall. Robert, the second son of Nicholas, was twice married—(1) July 3, 1797, to Elizabeth, daughter of William Tarleton, and she died Aug. 4, 1807, aged thirty-two, leaving six children—Nicholas, born 1798; Robert, born 1804; Elizabeth, born 1800, married Jan. 9, 1849, Morgan O'Connell, and died s.p. at Brighton in 1890; Jennette, born 1802, spr, died 1863; Margaret, wife of William Leeming, of West Derby; and Catherine, born 1807, married John Kendall, of London and Bath, and died in 1858—and (2) Oct. 2, 1808, to Anne, daughter of John Kaye, of Liverpool, by whom he had six children—William, born 1811; John, unmarried, leaving his estate at Glascoed to his sister, Mrs Lynch; Richard Butler, D.D., born 1817, Bishop of Nottingham, who died in 1883; Joseph Kaye, of Coleford, died in 1880; Anne, born Sept. 14, 1809; and Mary, married, March 1, 1848, John Lynch, of Liverpool. [1] James Bradley, of Bryning Hall, married Mary, daughter of Nicholas Hesketh, of Hesketh cum Becconsall, who died in 1637, younger son of Robert Hesketh, of Rufford Hall, by Margaret, daughter of Alexander Standish, of Standish Hall. James Bradley's will was proved in 1669, and administration to his widow's estate was granted in 1680. He returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664. The family appears in the first roll in 1591 in the person of Margaret, wife of John Bradley, of Bryning Hall. The inquisition post mortem of their son James is dated 15 Jac. I, 1617–8. He married Helen, daughter of Lambert Tyldesley, of Garret Hall in Tyldesley, and she was living at Bryning Hall, a widow and a recusant, in 1623. They had issue—Edward, of Bryning Hall, a captain of foot under Sir Thomas Tyldesley, who was slain at the battle of Marston Moor, July 2, 1644; Thomas, o.s.p.; John, o.s.p.; Richard, S.J., confessor of the faith, born 1605, entered the Society, was apprehended and imprisoned in Manchester Gaol, where he died before his anticipated martyrdom, Jan. 30, 1645; Helen; and Jane and Anne, married in Ireland. Capt. Bradley married Katherine, daughter of Roger Nowell, of Read Hall, by Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas ffleetwood, of Calwich, co. Stafford, and sister of Sir Richard ffleetwood, Bart., and had issue—James, named in the text, Margaret, Elizabeth, and Mary. James had issue—Edward, born 1648, who sold Bryning Hall and estate prior to 1726; James, of Bryning Hall, whose will was proved in 1720, and whose wife Elizabeth was a recusant in 1679; John; Thomas; Richard, of Kirkham, a recusant in 1679; Alice; and Mary. Bryning Hall is now a farm house.

[2] The will of Matthew Roe, of Poulton, was proved in 1678.

[3] Administration to his estate was granted in 1670.

[4] The will of Nicholas Porter, of Little Poulton, was proved in 1719, and that of another of the same name and place in 1633.

[5] Administration to his estate was granted in 1671.

[6] The Barrows of Weeton and of Westby were apparently the same family. Fr Edward Barrow, S.J., born at Westby in 1660 was most probably the son of John of the text. He died priest at Westby Hall in 1721. His portrait, with the date upon it, was formerly in the possession of the Rev. Dr Hall, at Macclesfield, who was related to him. and his wife Elizabeth Swarbreck, born April 21, 1726, was ordained priest at Rome in 1751, succeeded the Rev. James Postlethwaite at Clints Hall in 1781, stayed there five or six years, then travelled with John Stapleton, of Carlton, and died May 27, 1800. John, son of Edward Barrow, of Westby, and Anne Hall his wife, born 1735, educated at Rome and Douay, died priest at Claughton in 1812. His brothers, Fr Richard, S.J., died in 1799, and Fr Joseph, S.J., died in 1813. A nephew of theirs, John, son of Thomas Barrow, of Westby, and his wife Mary Crookall, born 1751, was ordained at Douay, whence he went to St Omer's College to teach, returned to Douay Oct. 17, 1776, and left for the mission Jan. 7, 1777. He served Ness Hall, 1777, Hazelwood Castle, about 1777–80, Clints Hall, about 1780, and thence took charge of the double mission of Frickley Hall and Burghwallis Hall, about 1780–89, all in Yorkshire. In 1789 he came to Garstang till 1796, and again from 1800 till death in Dec., 1811.

[1] Gervase Clifton, of Much Plumpton, was a younger son of Sir Cuthbert Clifton, of Westby Hall and Lytham Hall, by his second wife Dorothy, daughter of Sir Thomas Smythe, of Wootton-Wawen Hall, co. Warwick. He married Dorothy, daughter of Hamlet Mascy, of Rixton Hall, by Dorothy, daughter of Roger Bradshaigh, of Haigh Hall, and had issue—Cuthbert, Gervase, Catherine, a nun, Winifred, a nun, and Elizabeth, a nun. He had six own-sisters, of whom Alice was the wife of Richard Mascy, of Rixton Hall, Dorothy, born 1623, died a nun at Paris in 1677, and Catherine was a nun at Antwerp. Of his three own-brothers, Lawrence, a major in the Royal army, was slain at Shelford House, co. Notts, Oct. 27, 1645, Francis, a captain in the Royal army, was slain at Newbury, Sept. 20, 1643, and John, a captain in the Royal army, slain at Shelford Manor House, Oct. 27, 1645. His two half-brothers were, Thomas, the eldest son of Sir Cuthbert by his first wife Anne, daughter of Thomas Tyldesley, of Morleys Hall, who married Anne, daughter and eventual sole heiress of Sir Cuthbert Halsall, of Halsall Hall and Clifton Hall, through which alliance the Cliftons recovered possession of Clifton Hall and Salwick Hall, which had descended to the Halsalls through the heiress of Cuthbert Clifton early in the sixteenth century; and Fr Cuthbert Clifton alias Norreys, S.J., who died at Garswood in 1675, the second son of Sir Cuthbert, whose father, Thomas, had married Mary, daughter of Sir Edward Norreys, of Speke Hall. Col. Cuthbert Clifton, the eldest son of Thomas, and Gervase's nephew, married in 1641 Margaret, daughter and sole heiress of George Ireland, of Southworth Hall, but was slain at the siege of Manchester in Oct., 1642, and left no issue.

He had three sons, John, Richard, living in 1682, and Fr James Bernardine, O.S.F., born 1680, who died at Bruges in 1738. The eldest, John, had two sons, Thomas and John.

[1] Administration to the estate of William Cowban, of Plumpton, was granted in 1675.

[2] John Lancaster has already been noticed under the schedule of recusants convicted at Wigan Jan. 20, 1668.

[3] The Stananoughts (variously spelt Standanough, Staninought, Stannynought, etc.) appear throughout the rolls as of Fazakerley and neighbouring townships. Lawrence Stannanought of Kirkby was a recusant in 1633. Two of the name were Catholic non-jurors of Much Hoole in 1717.

[1] Already noticed under the convictions of Jan. 20, 1668.

[2] In the 1668 conviction. His will was proved in 1676, and one of the same name, of Downholland, in 1664.

[3] Richard Quick evidently died between this conviction and that already recorded on Jan. 20, 1668. The Quicks annually appear in the rolls. Richard Quick, of Garston, weaver, was a recusant 1625–6, and Robert, of Much Woolton, 1626–7. Thomas Quick, of Warrington, George, of Much Woolton, and Robert and Thomas, of Halewood, were convicted in 1716. The last two were non-jurors in 1717, Robert naming his wife, Isabel, and sons Richard and William. The late Rev. Thomas Quick, who founded St Joseph's Orphanage and Industrial School at Manchester, born at Garstang, in the Fylde, was a descendant of one of the latter.

[4] There were several Benedictines of a family of this name, but it is not easy to assign them. Richard Naylor, of Rainford, John, of Orrell, John, of West Leigh, Richard, of Pemberton, and Richard, of Brindle, were recusants in 1679. Thomas Naylor, of Orrell, as a non-juror in 1717 registered property at West Leigh let to William Naylor, and he names his mother Martha. Thomas Naylor, of Ashton-in-Macclesfield, a non-juror in 1717, names his son and daughter Thomas and Mary. Dom William Placid Naylor, O.S.B., born at Scarisbrick, served Brindle from 1722 to 1769. He had two relatives nuns at Cambray, one of them, his sister, being Ellen Teresa, born in 1677. His nephew Dom John Placid Naylor, born 1741, died 1795, was evidently related to the Naylors of Orrell, for amongst his papers seized during the French Revolution was the marriage settlement between Thomas Naylor, of Orrell, and Mrs Alice Cardwell, of Goosnargh, relict of Thomas Cardwell, dated Nov. 22, 1752, and also the will of Thomas Naylor. A nephew of the latter Benedictine, Dom John Ambrose Naylor, born 1738, died in 1821.

[1] Evidently Roger and Alice his wife recorded under the convictions of Jan., 1668.

[2] See note under Walton-le-dale.

[3] John Hoghton, of Park Hall in Charnock Richard, acquired Ditton Hall with his second wife Elizabeth, daughter and sole heiress of Edward Ditchfield, of Ditton Hall, whose uncle, Edward Ditchfield, was ordained priest at Douay in 1619. His first wife was Mary, daughter of William Worthington, of Blainscow Hall, by whom he had no issue. The family returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1613 and 1664, showing its descent from Richard Hoghton, of Park Hall, natural son of Sir Richard Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower. Richard, who died about 1623, was a staunch recusant, and suffered much for the faith. He was thrice married, (1) to Mary, daughter of Roger Rishton, of Pontalgh Hall; (2) to Katherine, daughter of George Rogerlye, of Park Hall in Blackrod (by Ellen, daughter of William Clifton, of Westby Hall), and relict of Richard Tyldesley, of Garrett Hall in Tyldesley, son of Lambert Tyldesley, of Garrett, by Margaret, daughter of Alexander Standish, of Standish; and (3) Mary, daughter of Thomas Gerard, of Ashton, and relict of Miles Gerard, of Gerard Hall in Aughton, who after Richard Hoghton's death married thirdly Mr Gouldesbrough, and was living a recusant at Park Hall in 1638. By his first wife Richard Hoghton had a son John, of Park Hall, who married Isabel daughter of Henry Rogerlye, of Lytham, younger son of George Rogerlye, of Lytham, by Ellen, daughter of William Clifton, of Westby Hall, and had three daughters and coheiresses, Margaret, Mary, wife of Edward Worthington, of Wharles, and Catherine, wife of James Holland, of Dalton.

Hugo Rawson, husb Ester Entwistle

By his second wife he had William Hoghton, who succeeded to Park Hall, and a daughter Elizabeth, a recusant living at Park Hall in 1603. William was a lieut.-col. of horse under Col Thomas Dalton, of Thurnham Hall, and was slain at the first battle of Newbury, Sept. 20, 1643. He married, (1) Mary, daughter of Sir John Gascoigne, of Barnbow Hall, co. York, Bart., by Anne, daughter of John Ingleby, of Lawkland Hall, co. York, and after her death, Nov. 8, 1622, (2) Margaret, daughter of Nicholas Worthington, of Shevington Hall, by whom he had no issue. By his first wife he had—John, born 1619, appearing in the text; Dom Richard Bede Hoghton, O.S.B., who was convicted of recusancy in 1673, when he would appear to have been serving the chaplaincy at Park Hall, and died in 1687; Anne, probably a nun; and Dame Mary Eugenia, O.S.B., of Cambray, died 1701. By his second wife John Hoghton had issue—William, born 1659; Dame Dorothy Scholastica, O.S.B., Abbess of Cambray, died 1726; Jane, wife of Richard Walmesley, of Showley Hall, died Nov. 13, 1722; and Elizabeth, who entered the Benedictine Convent at Cambray, July 5, 1684, aged seventeen, but left as she found she had no vocation. The son, William, married Elizabeth, daughter and coheiress of Robert Dalton, of Thurnham Hall, marriage settlement dated Aug. 15, 1683, and had issue—John Hoghton, of Thurnham Hall and Park Hall, who assumed the name of Dalton about 1710; Dom Robert Edward Hoghton, O.S.B., died on the mission at Park Hall in 1751; William, an officer in the army, died Dec., 1712; Elizabeth, wife of Edward Errington, of Wallick Grange, Northumberland; and Anne. The eldest son, John Hoghton Dalton, married Frances, daughter of Sir Piers Mostyn, of Talacre Hall, co. Flint, Bart., and had issue—John Dalton, who married Catherine, daughter of Henry Whittingham, of Whittingham Hall, and had two daughters and coheiresses, Frances, and Mary, wife of George Thornborough; William, o.s.p.; Robert; Frances, wife of Humphrey Trafford, of Croston Hall; and Elizabeth obiit cœlebs. Robert Dalton was thrice married, (1) in 1740, to Cecilia, daughter of John Butler, of London, descended from a younger son of Henry Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, and she died in 1749; (2), in 1753, to Elizabeth Dempsey, of York; and (3) to Bridget, sister and coheiress of Thomas More, of Barnborough Hall, co. York. By the first marriage were—John, born 1746; William and Robert, ob. inf.; Anne, a nun at Liège; Mary, a nun at York, born 1743, died 1803; Frances, spr; and Dorothy, wife of Edward Sulyard, of Haughley Park, co. Suffolk. By the second marriage—Robert and William, o.s.p.; Jane, a nun at Liège; and Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Naylor, captain of royal marines and brother of Sir George Naylor, York herald. And by the third marriage—William Hoghton Dalton, upon whom his father settled Park Hall, which he sold, married Louisa, daughter of F. Smith, and had issue several children; and Bridget, wife of Sir James Fitzgerald, of Castle Ishen, co. Cork, seventh Bart. John, Robert's eldest son by his first marriage, married, in 1774, Mary, daughter of Sir Thomas Rookwood Gage, of Hengrave Hall, co. Suffolk, Bart., and died March 10, 1837, aged ninety-one, having had issue—John Dalton, who married Mary Anne, daughter of George Cary, of Torr Abbey, co. Devon, but died at Bath May 18, 1819, aged forty-one, s.p.; Mary, spinster; Lucy, married in Oct., 1816, to Joseph Bushell, of Preston and Myerscough Cottage, o.s.p.; Charlotte, spr; Elizabeth, of Thurnham Hall, spinster, died March 15, 1861, aged eighty-one; and Bridget, spinster. Upon the death of Miss Dalton in 1861, the estates passed to the grandson of Lady James Fitzgerald, Sir James George Dalton-Fitzgerald, ninth Bart, and upon his death to his brother, Sir Gerald Richard Dalton-Fitzgerald, tenth Bart. Upon the death of the latter, in Feb., 1894, the estates reverted to the eldest son of William Hoghton Dalton, of Park Hall, who died Jan. 13, 1838, a devout Catholic, as did likewise his widow at Hammersmith, Dec. 15, 1865, aged eighty. They had issue—William Henry Dalton, the first Protestant of the family, who married in 1876 Emma Mary, eldest daughter of J. T. Cook, of Santos, U.S.A., and dying at Thurnham Hall, May 12, 1902, aged sixty-seven, was succeeded by his eldest son, John Henry Dalton, and left besides, Charles John; Elizabeth; Margaret; and Bridget.

[1] The Tyldesleys of Ditton were descended from a younger son of the Wardley Hall family. Edward Tyldesley, of Ditton, died about 1616, and Ellen, daughter of John Ditchfield, of Ditton Hall, was the wife of Thomas Tyldesley, of Ditton. The will of Henry Tyldesley, of Ditton, was proved in 1677. Thurstan Tyldesley, lord of Tyldesley, obtained Wardley Manor with his wife, Margaret, daughter and coheiress of Jordan de Workesley, lord of Wardley. Edward Tyldesley, younger son of Thurstan Tyldesley, of Wardley Hall, by his second wife, Jane, daughter of Ralph Langton, baron of Newton, married Anne, daughter and heir of Thomas Leyland, of Morleys Hall in Astley, by Alice, daughter of Sir Edmund Trafford, of Trafford, and founded the family of Tyldesley of Morleys Hall and Myerscough Lodge. He had a large family, of whom were—Thomas, his successor; Thurstan, of Stansacre Hall in Myerscough, who married Mary, daughter of Robert Charnock, of Charnock and Astley, and had, Edward, of Douay College in 1585, Richard, Thomas, Robert, William, who married Alice, daughter of John Butler, of Kirkland Hall, and Cuthbert, who died at Stansacre Hall in 1667, probably the father of John Tyldesley, of Stansacre Hall, whose son and namesake sold the hall and estate and settled at Fornham St Geneviève, co. Suffolk, where he was a Catholic nonjuror in 1717, died Feb. 18, 1723, leaving by Catherine, his wife, daughter of John Stafford, of Bury St Edmunds, a younger son William, who died in 1729, aged twenty, Elizabeth, died 1727, aged twenty-seven, Mary, died 1728, aged twenty-five, and the eldest son John, of Bury St Edmunds, will dated Feb. 8, 1734, proved April 1, 1735, who by Jane, his wife, left daughters Frances, and Bridget, wife of Mr Hanne, of Deviock, co. Cornwall, brother to Fr Charles Hanne, S.J. Thomas Tyldesley, the eldest son of Edward, married Elizabeth, daughter of Christopher Anderton, of Lostock Hall, and had issue—Edward, of whom hereafter, Anne, wife of Sir Cuthbert Clifton, of Westby Hall, Dorothy, wife of John Poole, of Poole Hall, co. Chester, and Elizabeth, Abbess of the English Convent at Gravelines. Edward, born in 1585, of Morleys Hall and Myerscough Lodge, married at Cartmel Priory Sept. 15, 1605, Elizabeth, daughter of Christopher Preston, of Holker Hall, who after her husband's death in 1622 married Thomas Lathom, of Parbold Hall, and thirdly Thomas Westby, of Burne Hall. Edward Tyldesley entertained James I at Myerscough Lodge during his royal progress from Scotland. He had issue—Sir Thomas, of Morleys and Myerscough, formally christened by the parson at Cartmel Priory Sept 10, 1612, major-general in the royal army, governor of Litchfield, slain at the battle of Wigan Aug. 5, 1651, and buried in the Tyldesley chancel at Leigh; and Edward, ob. infans, and buried at Cartmel Priory June 8, 1621. Sir Thomas by his wife Frances, daughter of Ralph Standish, of Standish Hall, by Bridget, daughter of Sir Richard Molyneux, of Sefton, Bart., had—Edward, born 1635, of Tyldesley, Morleys, Myerscough, and Fox Hall, Blackpool; Thomas, aged twenty-two at the Visitation of 1664, who married Mary, daughter of Alexander Rigby, of Layton Hall, and sister and coheiress of Sir Alexander Rigby, settled at Preston Bardsea, and died in 1712; Ralph, recusant of Myerscough in 1682, and living in 1694; Bridget, wife of Henry Blundell, of Ince Blundell Hall; Elizabeth Christian, O.S.A., at Paris, born 1638, professed 1656, died 1719; Frances, wife of Thomas Stanley, of Great Eccleston Hall; Anne, O.S.A., born 1641, professed 1657, and Abbess of the Augustinian Convent at Paris from 1698 till her death in 1720; Dorothy, O.S.A., born 1645, professed at Paris 1662, died 1705; Margaret, died young; and Mary, wife of Richard Crane. Edward, the eldest son, was at Douay College in 1650, was in the list for the intended order of the knighthood of the Royal Oak, and married (1) Nov. 26, 1655, Anne, daughter of Sir Thomas ffleetwood, of Calwich Hall, co. Stafford, Bart, Baron of Newton, co. Lancaster, by Gertrude, daughter of Thomas Eyre, of Hassop Hall, co. Derby, and (2) Elizabeth, daughter of Adam Beaumont, of Whitley, by whom he had a daughter Catherine, of Preston, spinster. By his first wife Edward had issue—Thomas, born April 3, 1657, whose "Diary" was edited by the present writer in 1872 and 1873; Edward, recusant of Ribbleton, in 1679; James, living in 1713; Frances, buried at Leyland May 19, 1659; and Anna Maria, of Preston, spinster, will dated Mch 6, 1753, proved Dec. 5, 1755, and buried in the Tyldesley chantry at Leigh, Feb. 9, 1755. Thomas, the eldest son, of Morleys Hall, Myerscough Lodge, Astley Hall, and Fox Hall, an ardent Jacobite and a staunch recusant, was buried at Church Town, Garstang, Jan. 26, 1715, having been twice married, (1) in 1679, to Eleanor, daughter and coheiress of Thomas Holcroft, of Holcroft Hall (by Eleanor, daughter of Thomas Birch, of Birch Hall, who married secondly Henry Bunbury), who was buried at Church Town, Nov. 7, 1693, and (2) Agatha, whose identity has not been ascertained, and whose will was proved at Lancaster April 30, 1747. By his first wife he had issue—Edward; Thomas Holcroft Tyldesley, died young; James, who may be identical with Fr Anthony Tyldesley, O.S.F., who died in 1720; ffleetwood Tyldesley, who married and had issue a son Thomas, living in 1711; Eleanor Helena Augustine, O.S.A., entered the convent at Paris in 1701, took the veil in 1706, and died in 1760; Anne Cecilia, O.S.B., born 1688, professed at the English convent at Ghent in 1707 or 1708, Abbess from 1727 till death 1736; Frances, at York Bar Convent in 1712, and visited the Augustinian Convent at Paris in Dec., 1720; Elizabeth, at York Bar Convent in 1712; and Mary, visited the Augustinian Convent at Paris on her way to Flanders in 1717, died and her heart was interred at the convent in Paris in 1718. By his second wife Thomas had issue—Charles, baptized at Bispham May 9, 1706; Agatha, wife of John Bleasdale, of Goosnargh; and Winefrid, baptized at Bispham Oct. 8, 1702, who married Edward Winckley, M.D., of Banister Hall and Preston. Edward, the eldest son, succeeded to the family estates, which were greatly encumbered, and also to Holcroft Hall. In 1715 he raised a troop for the Chevalier de St George, which he commanded at the battle of Preston. He was tried for high treason before the Court of Admiralty in the Marshalsea, but pleading that he had been forced into the Jacobite rising, he was acquitted by the jury, for which they were reprimanded by the judge. He died at Myerscough Lodge, and administration to his estate was granted at Lancaster to his principal creditor, John Crouchley, July 12, 1736. By his wife Dorothy, living a widow at Holcroft Hall in 1725, who died Nov. 15, 1739, he had issue—James Tyldesley, of Holcroft Hall and Astley Hall, who served in the army of Prince Charles Edward in 1745, sold Morleys Hall in 1755, and died in Augt, 1765, his will, dated Feb. 8, 1765, being proved at Chester, April 23, 1768; Catherine, spinster, of Chester in 1720, then of Ormskirk, and finally of Preston in 1744; and (presumably) Mary Michael, O.S.B., of Ghent, professed about 1728–30, died 1759. James, by his wife Sarah, had issue—Thomas, baptized at Astley, Jan. 9, 1740, living in 1765; Charles, baptized May 12, 1747; James, bapt. Jan. 25, 1748; Edward; bapt. March 21, 1750, buried at Leigh, March 28, 1751; Henry, bapt. Oct. 6, 1752, living in 1765; Jane, baptized Augt 13, 1743, married at the Collegiate Church of Manchester, in April, 1767, to Charles Gossett, of London, merchant; and Anne, bapt. Sept 25, 1744, buried at Leigh Feb. 22, 1745-6. After this the family are lost in obscurity. There were chapels maintained by the family at Morleys Hall, Myerscough Lodge, and Fox Hall.

[1] The presumably elder and Protestant branch of the family returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664. They were seated at Huyton, till Jonathan Case, born in 1653, acquired Red Hasles and Whiston Hall with his wife, Elizabeth, heiress of Edward Ogle. She died in Oct, 1675, and subsequently Red Hasles was sold by Henry Case. His descendant, Thomas Case, of Huyton and Whiston, married a daughter of Giovanni Maurometti, who died a widow, and a Catholic, in Paris, Feb. 19, 1890, aged seventy-two. Robert Case, of Whiston, was a recusant in 1630, and his widow, Elizabeth, appears in the roll for 1635–6. Henry Case and Robert and Jane his wife were recusants of Whiston in 1679. Henry Case, of Whiston, registered his estate as a non-juror in 1717, and names his sons John and James, and William Case, of Whiston, son of Robert, then living, was a non-juror at the same date, and names his sons Roger, Richard, and Robert. The will of Roger Case, of Whiston, was proved in 1676.

[1] The Halsalls of Melling, descended from Richard, second son of Sir Henry Halsall, of Halsall Hall, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1665. Cuthbert, eighth son of Thomas Halsall, of Melling, by his second wife, Margery, dau. of Richard Maghull, of Maghull, died in 1666. His sister Anne, of Melling, appears earlier in the text, and his brother James later. Richard, the eldest brother, had a son and namesake aged about fifty-four in 1665, who was married and had issue. Henry, the second brother, married Margaret, dau. of Edmund Gascoigne, of Yorkshire, and dying about 1682, left a son, Thomas Halsall, who was contracted in marriage to Bridget, dau. and coheiress of Sir Cuthbert Halsall, of Halsall, which marriage, however, was dissolved, and he then married Elizabeth, daughter of a fourth son of Berington of Cowarne Court, co. Hereford, but recorded no issue at the Visitation of 1665, at which time he was sixty-two years of age. From one of these eight brothers descended James Halsall, of Aughton, who registered his estate as a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and names Ann, his wife, and his sons and daughters, Edward, James, Mary, and Anne. He registered property at Westhead, in the parish of Ormskirk, an ancient Halsall possession.

SCARISBRICK [ORMSKIRK]

ffrancisca Scarisbrick,[1] vid

[1] Frances, widow of Edward Scarisbrick, of Scarisbrick Hall, who died at London, Nov. 7, 1652, was the fifth dau. of Roger Bradshaigh, of Haigh Hall, and aunt of Sir Roger Bradshaigh, Bart. She was buried in the Scarisbrick chancel at Ormskirk, April 16, 1667. The family returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1567, in which, however, the descent of the widow's husband is not shown. Edward Scarisbrick, of Scarisbrick, great grandson of Gilbert, married (1) Margaret, dau. of Alexander Barlow, of Barlow Hall, and (2), Anne Singleton, probably of the Broughton Tower family, who died in March, 1603–4. By his first wife Edward Scarisbrick had issue—Edward, George, and Alexander, all died before their father; Mary, wife of John More, of More Hall and Bank Hall; Dorothy; Jane, died in May, 1599; Anne, wife of Christopher Anderton, of Lostock Hall; and Elizabeth, wife of Anthony Parker, of Radham Laund, in Chipping, whose dau., Anne, married July 28, 1599, Henry Scarisbrick, upon whom her grandfather Edward Scarisbrick settled the family estates. Henry Scarisbrick was the eldest son of Thomas Scarisbrick, of Barwick in Furness, son of Henry, whose father, James Scarisbrick, of Bickerstaffe, who acquired that estate with his first wife, Elizabeth, dau. and sole heiress of Thomas Atherton, of Bickerstaffe Hall, was the younger brother of the Gilbert Scarisbrick mentioned above. James Scarisbrick's second wife, the mother of Henry, was a dau. of Sir Thomas Gerard, of Bryn Hall. Henry Scarisbrick, the husband of Anne Parker, died Oct. 7, 1608, and had a posthumous son, Edward, baptized March 9, 1608–9, who married Frances Bradshaigh, of the text, March 24, 1631. He suffered much for his faith and loyalty, and his estate was under sequestration at the time of his death in 1652. He had issue—James, born 1635, who succeeded to Scarisbrick; Edward, alias Neville, S.J., born 1639, died at Culcheth Hall, and buried Feb. 10, 1708-9; Henry, alias Neville, S.J., born 1640–1, chaplain at Scarisbrick Hall, 1679–88, died 1701; Thomas, alias Neville, S.J., born 1642–3, died 1673; Francis, alias Neville, S.J., born 1643, died 1713; Anne, wife of Laurence Ireland, of Lydiate Hall, married in Jan., 1658, and he after her death, Dec. 28, 1663, joined the Jesuits, and died in 1673; Dorothy, spinster, died in Oct., 1662; Letitia, wife of Peregrine Tasburgh; and Elizabeth. The eldest son, James, married in 1659, Frances, fifth dau. of Robert Blundell, of Ince Blundell Hall. He died April 29, 1673, and his widow in Jan., 1720–1. They had issue—Edward, ob. inf. 1602; Edward, alias Neville, S.J., born Jan. 26, 1663–4, died 1735; James, ob. inf.; Joseph, ob. 1673; Robert, born 1668, who succeeded to the estate; Thomas Joseph, alias Neville, S.J., posthumous son, born July 11, 1673, died Jan. 20, 1728–9; Dorothy, ob. inf.; and Frances, ob. 1670. Robert, who was engaged in the Jacobite rising of 1715, and was imprisoned in Newgate in 1717, married in Oct., 1695, Anne, sister of John Messenger, of Fountains Abbey, and died in March, 1737–8, and his widow in June, 1744, aged sixty-five. They had issue—James, born Sept. 21, 1696, ob. ante pat.; Edward, alias Neville, S.J., born March 25, 1698, died 1778; Robert, ob. s.p. in Jan. 1739–40; William, who succeeded to Scarisbrick upon the renunciation of his brother Father Edward, married Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Ogle, of Huyton, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, had issue a dau., Elizabeth, baptized Oct. 10, 1748, wife of Sir John Lawson, of Brough Hall, co. York, Bart., and was buried at Ormskirk, July 24, 1767; Francis, alias Neville, S.J., born in April, 1701, died 1789; Joseph, born 1708, who succeeded his brother William to the Scarisbrick estates in 1767, and died unmarried about 1780; Henry. alias Neville, scholastic S.J., born 1712, died 1744; Basil Thomas, born 1713, of whom hereafter; Anne, wife of Bryan Palmes, of Naburne Hall, co. York; and Elizabeth, Frances (born 1707), and Mary, who became Franciscan nuns at Princenhoff. Basil Thomas Scarisbrick assumed the name of Eccleston upon the death, in 1742, of John Gorsuch, of Gorsuch Hall within Scarisbrick, who had acquired Eccleston Hall by settlement of the last of the Ecclestons, Father Thomas Eccleston, S.J., and assumed that name. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Edward Dicconson, of Wrightington Hall, and, dying in 1789, was succeeded by his son, Thomas Scarisbrick Eccleston, whose uncle, Father Francis Scarisbrick, S.J., died the same year, having settled the Scarisbrick estate upon him. Upon the death of his uncle, Edward Dicconson in 1807, Thomas Scarisbrick Eccleston succeeded to the Wrightington Hall estates, married Eleanor, dau. of Thomas Clifton, of Lytham Hall, and died Nov. 1, 1809, having had issue—Thomas Scarisbrick, who inherited Scarisbrick and Eccleston, married Sybella Georgiana, dau. of William ffarington, of Shaw Hall, and died s.p., July 11, 1833; Charles, who inherited Wrightington, and assumed the name of Dicconson, but upon his succession to the Scarisbrick estates in 1833, resumed the name of Scarisbrick only, and died unmarried at Scarisbrick Hall, May 6, 1860; William, died young; Anne, married in 1807 to Sir Thomas Windsor Hunloke, of Wingerworth Hall, co. Derby, Bart., and after the death of her brother Charles, in 1860, succeeded to the Scarisbrick estate, and assumed that name; and Elizabeth, wife of her cousin, Edward Clifton, younger son of John Clifton, of Lytham Hall and Clifton Hall, and succeeded to Wrightington Hall upon the death of her brother Charles Scarisbrick, and assumed the name of Dicconson. Upon Lady Hunloke-Scarisbrick's death, March 6, 1872, the Scarisbrick estate devolved upon her daughter, Eliza Margaret, wife of Léon Rémy de Biandos, Marquis of Casteja, who by royal licence assumed the name of Scarisbrick. The Marchioness died at Scarisbrick Hall, Nov. 13, 1878, aged sixty-eight, and was buried at Wingerworth.

[1] Hugh Worthington, who in later rolls is described as "gentleman," was apparently the son of Edward Worthington, of Scarisbrick, and his wife Alice, dau. of Gabriel Hesketh, of Aughton Hall. In 1717 James Worthington, of Scarisbrick, registered his estate as a Catholic non-juror, and names his wife Grace. It seems most probable that Edward was the eldest son of John Worthington, of Worthington, will proved 1667, who was second son of Thomas Worthington, of Worthington Hall, by Isabel, dau. of Gilbert Langtree, of Langtree Hall. The Worthingtons returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1613 and 1664.

[2] Jane, dau. of John Molyneux, of New Hall, married John Johnson, of The Moorside, in Great Crosby. In her will dated March 16, 1702, proved same year, she names among others her brother Edward Molyneux, sister Margaret Molyneux, and her nephews Edward Molyneux, of Formby, with Dorothy his wife, Richard Molyneux, of Alt Grange, Laurence Breres, priest, and her niece Catherine Breres, a nun at Gravelines. John Johnson, of Great Crosby, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717.

[1] The Grange, or Alt Grange, really in Altcar, was held by the Molyneux family, of New Hall, in West Derby, under a long lease from their kinsmen and namesakes of Sefton. John Molyneux, of the Grange, was a recusant in 1626–7, and he and his wife Margaret, dau. of John Whalley, appear in the roll for 1633–4. The will of Margaret Molyneux, of Alt Grange, widow, was proved in 1693. Their son, Edward Molyneux, born at Alt Grange, was ordained priest at Douay, and for thirty-eight years served the chapel at Alt Grange, where he resided with his brother Richard, and his son and namesake, till his death caused by a fall from his horse on Blundell sands, April 28, 1704, aged sixty-four. His sister, Jane Johnson, named in the text, left funds for the education of her grandnephew Edward Molyneux alias Harrington, born March 10, 1700, who, after his ordination at Douay, left the College for the mission, Sept. 25, 1728, and died at Moor Hall, Oct. 20, 1739. He was the son of Edward Molyneux, of Formby, by Dorothy, dau. of Alexander Hesketh, of Aughton. Bishop Smith confirmed upwards of one hundred persons at Alt Grange on Nov. 30, 1703. The mission subsequently merged into that at Formby. The family returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1665. Richard, the second son of Richard, of New Hall and Alt Grange, and his wife Elizabeth, dau. of Robert Harrington, of Huyton Hall, died at Alt Grange, Jan. 27, 1713. The family eventually succeeded to the estates of the Harringtons, and is now represented, through the Unsworths, by the Molyneux-Seels.

[2] The Melling family no doubt took its name from Melling in the parish of Halsall. One or other of the several Mellings of the text would be connected with the family, of which there were many priests. A Douay priest of the name came over about 1580. John Melling alias Maxfield was ordained at Douay in 1612, was lodging in Holborn in 1623, was apprehended, but released by Charles I in 1625, and returning to Lancashire died and was buried in the Harkirke cemetery, Ince Blundell, April 26, 1633. Richard Melling, ordained priest at Douay in 1620, came to England in the following year. Ralph Melling, ordained priest at Douay, March 10, 1629, left the college for England May 5, 1632, and was buried at Harkirke, Ince Blundell, May 2, 1660. Ralph and Thomas Melling were recusants at Skelmersdale in 1679. Ralph married Anne Tootell, sister of the Rev. Christopher Tootell, of Fernyhalgh, settled there or in the neighbourhood, and had two sons priests—Edward, born March 14, 1682–3, ordained at Douay, succeeded his uncle at Fernyhalgh, and died there April 16, 1733; and John, born Feb. 8, 1688–9, ordained at Douay in 1714, and left to become chaplain to the nuns at Louvain, in March, 1716, where he died May 10, 1745. James Melling, son of Richard Melling, of Broughton, and his wife Margaret Adamson, born June 10, 1748, was ordained at Douay, and died at Hazelwood Castle, co. York, April 26, 1806. In 1717, Elizabeth Melling, widow of John Melling, of Claughton, whose will was proved in 1715, registered her estate as a Catholic non-juror, and mentioned her son Edward, then an infant. The Rev. John Melling, now of Wrightington Hall, is probably descended from the same family.

[1] Vide earlier in the text.

[2] Richard Billinge, M.D., of Billinge Hall, returned a long pedigree at the Visitation of 1665, being then of the age of fifty-two. He visited Rome in 1642, and became a Catholic just before his marriage with Margery, dau. of Robert Molyneux, of the Wood, in Melling, by his second wife Ellen, dau. of John Westby, of Mowbreck Hall. Administration to his estate was granted in 1670. His fourth son, Thomas Billinge alias Westby, born about 1654, was ordained priest at Rome in 1686, and for some time remained in the service of his Excellency the Legate, subsequently laboured many years on the mission, but at length returned to Rome to end his days, and died there Jan. 9, 1739–40. The eldest son, John, aged seventeen in 1665, succeeded to Billinge Hall, and appears on the rolls down to 1684. Margaret Billinge, of Bedford, his widow, in 1717 registered her estate as a Catholic non-juror, devised to her by her aunt, Anne Mossock, dau. and coheiress of Richard Urmston, of West Leigh, and widow of Thomas Mossock, of Cunscough Hall. She was apparently Margaret, dau. and coheiress of George Bradshaw, of Greenacre, by Frances, dau. and coheiress of Richard Urmston, and relict of Richard Shuttleworth, of Bedford Hall. John Billinge, of Manchester, who also registered an estate in Bedford as a non-juror in 1717, was apparently her son. The latter's brothers, Father Richard Billinge, S.J., born in 1674 or 1676, was chaplain at Croxteth Hall in 1720, and at Bryn in 1721, where he died, and was buried at Winwick, May 22, 1732; and George Billinge, temporal coadjutor, S.J., born 1678, died in 1739. Father Richard Laurence Billinge alias Laurenson, S.J., born Feb. 15, 1713, was ordained priest at Valladolid, March 4, 1739, and died in 1769. Charles Billinge, nephew of Richard and George, born Dec. 16, 1735, entered the Soc. of Jesus 1753, and was prefect of St Omer's College in 1761, then came on the mission, and was chaplain to Francis Whitgreave, at Moseley House, in Staffordshire, for a few years, till his passion for music led him much into company, and gradually estranged him from his duty, caused him to conform first, and then to marry. He preached his recantation sermon in Lichfield Cathedral in the summer of 1767, but did not gain much respect in the Anglican Church, and received no preferment, though he occasionally officiated as a curate at Wombourn. He lived in Wolverhampton, and in 1767 was writing threatening letters to his former patron, Francis Whitgreave. He had a numerous family, was always wretchedly poor, earning a scanty maintenance by teaching French in Wolverhampton, where he came to a miserable end in 1805. "My townsman, Billinge," wrote Bishop Milner in the Appendix to his address to the Bishop of St David's, "finding himself summoned away, sunk into despair, starting continually, and exclaiming, 'I am a lost man! I am a lost man, and dream of nothing but of hell-fire!' "

[3] The will of Miles Ince, of Ince, yeoman, was proved in 1692. His daughters Dorothy, Anne, and Elizabeth, spinsters, and Ellen, wife of John Twiss, yeoman, all of Ince, registered a ninety-nine years' leasehold in Ince from April 26, 1678, as Catholic non-jurors in 1717.

[1] Alexander Leigh, of Ackhurst Hall, in Orrell, gent., was the son and heir of James Leigh, and his wife Margaret, of the same, who died in 1648, his armorial bearings being over the Wigan Free Grammar School, to which he contributed funds. He had sisters Alice, Jane, and Ellen. His will was proved in 1676. He married a dau. of Ralph Layton, younger son of Thomas Layton, of Saxhow, co. York, by Elizabeth, dau. of Sir James Metcalfe, of Nappa, co. York. Mrs Leigh's mother was Dorothy, dau. of Sir Thomas Gerard, of Bryn Hall. By this marriage Alexander Leigh had issue—James; Richard, who succeeded to Ackhurst Hall; Father John Joseph, alias Layton, S.J., born 1639, died 1703; Father Philip, alias Layton and Metcalfe, S.J., born Feb., 1650-1, died 1717; and probably others. Richard, whose will was proved in 1684, by his wife Emerentia, had issue—Father Alexander Leigh alias Layton, S.J., born 1681, died 1748; Margaret and Catherine, spinsters, and Anne, widow of Mr Sandford, of the family of Up Rossall, co. Salop, who were all residing with their mother at Ackhurst Hall in 1717 and registered their interest in the estate as Catholic non-jurors. Mrs Sandford subsequently resided at Preston, and in 1740 gave £100 to the mission at Crossbrook in Orrell, subject to requiem Masses to be said for her mother Emerentia on Sept. 4, for her sisters Margaret and Catherine, on Sept. 26 and July 5 respectively, and another for herself on the anniversary of her death. Previous to the establishment of the mission at Crossbrook, in 1699, the priest resided at Ackhurst Hall, and the Catholics of the district went to Mass there. It would appear that the hall eventually became known as Orrell Mount, and was occupied as a convent by some French Benedictines, driven from France in 1792, who removed to Orrell in 1821 from Heath Hall, near Wakefield, and remained till about 1840.

[2] The will of Alexander Barker, of Dalton, was proved in 1676, and that of Alexander Barker, of Langtree, in 1679. There were several priests of the family. Alexander Barker alias Parr was ordained at Douay, March 15, 1631, and served the mission at Little Crosby, where he died Oct. 11, 1665. James Barker alias Laurence Rigby, born 1675, educated at Douay, took the degree of D.D. at St Gregory's, Paris, returned to Douay as professor of divinity in 1707, became vice-president, and in 1713 came to the mission, was elected archdeacon of the chapter, March 10, 1711–2, was also secretary, lived many years at Wycliffe Hall, and died there Sept. 23, 1731.

[3] His will was dated 1672, proved in 1676. He returned a long pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, when he was eighty-four years of age. His wife was Margaret, dau. of George Norris, of Bolton, and they had issue—John Culcheth, slain at the battle of Newbury, Sept. 20, 1643, in the royal cause; William, cornet in the royal army, slain at Newbury, Sept. 20, 1643; Thomas, aged forty-four at the Visitation of 1664, married Mary, dau. of Ralph Taylor, of co. Worcester; Roger, slain at Wirrall, in Cheshire, in 1643; George, of Towneley in 1682, and later of Abram, will proved 1702; Ralph, married Elizabeth, dau. of Richard Tonge, of Tonge Hall; Alexander, of Abram, administration granted to his estate in 1685; Margaret, wife of William Crouchley, of Golborne, appearing in the text; Elizabeth, wife of William Bolton, of Platt Bridge, in Ince; and Anne, wife of Robert Hunt, of near Frodsham in Cheshire. Thomas Culcheth, the eldest surviving son, who probably lived at Wappenbury, co. Warwick, had issue—Roger, of Abram, Catholic non-juror in 1717, but later of

[1] The will of Hugh Platt, of Abram, was proved in 1673.

[2] The Ryce (or Rice) family appear throughout the rolls in Crosby and Speke. The latter branch attained some position. The will of Percival Ryce, of Speke, was proved in 1663, and those of Margaret and James, of the text, in 1670. Percival Ryce, of London, apothecary, was a non-juror in 1717, and registered the reversion of property in West Derby, held under a surrender by Thomas Ryce. Percival Ryce, M.D., and Thomas Ryce, both of Liverpool, as non-jurors, registered Fazakerley Hall, and property in Speke, Halewood, etc. Fazakerley Hall, in the parish of Walton-on-the-Hill, a venerable mansion taken down in 1823, was long the seat of the mission there.

[1] His will was proved in 1671. The family constantly appears in the rolls. Edmund Tristram, of Ince Blundell, was a non-juror in 1717, and he names Ruth Tristram, John and Ellen Tristram, deceased, and Joseph and Anne Tristram. His dau. Jane married William Sale, of Hopcar in Bedford, her marriage covenant being dated April 22, 1718. Father Joseph Tristram alias Cross, S.J., born at Ince Blundell in 1766, died in 1843. His brother John Tristram alias Cross, born 1767, one of a number of priests educated by the Jesuits who never joined the Society owing to its temporary suppression, died at Spinkhill, co. Derby, in 1835.

[2] Bridget Lathom, widow, was mother of Richard Lathom, of Aintree, surgeon, whose wife Judith opened a school at Liverpool, and received a royal mandate in its favour in 1686 after she and her husband had been prosecuted for keeping a Catholic school under the penal laws. Dr Lathom died in June, 1713. He had a chapel in his house, which was regularly served.

[3] Thomas Worthington would appear from the text elsewhere to have removed to Worthington Hall in 1668. According to the Visitation pedigree of 1664, his father, then aged sixty-five, married Margaret, dau. of John Halsey, of Altcar. Thomas Worthington, aged thirty-four in 1664, died at Worthington Hall, and his will was proved in 1670.

[1] The will of Robert Tasker, of Downholland, probably her father, was proved in 1661.

[2] The Molyneux family of The Wood in Melling returned a very long pedigree at the Visitation of 1567, and a short one at that of 1664. Thomas Molyneux, of the text, must have been the fourth son of Robert Molyneux, of The Wood, by his second wife Ellen, dau. of John Westby, of Mowbreck Hall. His father was slain at the first battle of Newbury, Sept. 20, 1643.

[3] He was the seventh son of Thomas Halsall, of Melling, grandson of Sir Henry Halsall, of Halsall Hall.

[4] Thomas Kay was a glover in Warrington, and administration to his estate was granted in 1668. There were several priests of the family. Peter Kaye was ordained priest at Lisbon, and became professor of philosophy there in 1703.

Dom James Ambrose Kaye, O.S.B., professed in 1735, died in 1777. Peter Kaye, born in Warrington, ordained priest at Rome in 1829, died at Blackburn in 1856. John Peter Kaye, ordained priest at Lisbon in 1842, died 1884.

[1] The Dunbabins were a Warrington family.

[2] He was probably a relative of Richard Booth, of Woolston-cum-Poulton, named later in the text, whose son Edward was baptized by the martyr, Dom Edward Ambrose Barlow, O.S.B., Dec. 15, 1639, and hence assumed the alias of Barlow at Lisbon, where he was ordained priest in 1664, and died at Park Hall in 1719. He was the inventor of the repeating watch. His father died in 1673. John Booth, probably a nephew, was ordained priest at Lisbon in 1696, and died in 1722; and Dom Robert Ambrose Booth, O.S.B., professed in 1673, died at Dieulward in 1679.

[1] Administration to the estate of Robert Kenyon, of Lowton, was granted in 1673. The Kenyons were an offshoot of the territorial family of that name, and constantly appear in the rolls. Edward Kenyon went to Rheims in 1587, thence was sent to the school at Eu in 1588, whence he returned to Rheims in 1590, received minor orders in 1592, and was transferred to the college at Douay in 1593. In the following year he went to Valladolid, where he was ordained priest, and came to the mission. He is possibly the priest whom Gee reported to be about London in 1623. Two Benedictine nuns of this family, Margaret and Helen, were professed at Cambray in 1604, and died respectively in 1645 and 1657. Dom Thomas Anselm Kenyon, O.S.B.,born at Warrington in 1770, died in 1850. Edward Kenyon arrived at Douay College, Oct. 13, 1781, from Lancashire, was ordained priest in 1790, and was professor of poetry till he left for the mission, March 26, 1792, and died in Liverpool in 1837.

[2] The Mosse family probably came from Skelmersdale, where they were recusants from the commencement of the rolls in 1591. They seem to have settled in Stretford about this period. One of them, Bro. Joseph Mosse, O.S.B., born in 1625, died in 1702. Another, Peter Mosse, married Catherine, dau. of Thomas Middleton, of Leighton Hall, by Catherine, dau. of Thomas Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower. She was sister to Sir George Middleton, of Leighton Hall, Bart. It was probably her grandson, Peter Mosse, who found the money and entered into partnership with John Holker, the pioneer if not the originator of cotton manufacture in France. Both were Catholics and strong Jacobites. In 1745 they joined the Manchester Regiment under Col. Francis Towneley, Peter Mosse receiving a captaincy, and John Holker a lieutenancy. They were taken prisoners at Carlisle, and sent to Newgate prison in Feb., 1746. The trial was fixed for the following June 23, but the night before they both effected their escape. Captain Mosse went to Spain, and died there in 1776, leaving all his estate, with some pictures and plate, to his grandson, John Gartside, of Crumpsall Hall, whose father had married the captain's only dau. In 1776 John Gartside married Catherine, dau. of Philip Howard, of Corby Castle. The Gartsides had suffered severely for their loyalty to the Stuarts in 1715. Besides his Stretford property, Capt. Mosse owned a considerable estate near Bolton, which escaped confiscation owing to his not having been brought to trial. The Holkers through some accident do not appear in this list, though they were always recusants and had been settled at Monton, in the parish of Eccles, for some generations. Of this family were, George Holker, who went to Douay in 1590, but left on account of his inability to undergo laborious study; and Richard Holker alias Nowell, son of Laurence Holker, of Monton, and his wife, a dau. of Roger Nowell, of Read Hall, who went to the English College at Rome in 1631, aged twenty-four. The Holkers, originally of Cheshire, obtained an estate at Read in 1409, through the marriage of Richard Holker with Katherine, dau. of John del Holt, of Read. In the reign of Elizabeth, John Holker, of Read, married Margaret, dau. of Richard Towneley of Dutton Hall. Richard Holker, after receiving minor orders, had to return home on account of his father's death in 1631. John Holker, the friend of Captain Mosse, after his escape served in Flanders, and was engaged in various battles and sieges till 1751. After the battle of Lanfeld he was presented with a handsome sword by Prince Charles Edward, which is still preserved by his descendants. In 1753 he patriotically notified the English Government of certain offers made to him by the French Government in connexion with the introduction of works at Rouen, and stated that if his pardon was granted he would forego the great advantages offered to him. No notice, however, was taken of the petition, and therefore, in 1754, Holker accepted the offer, quietly crossed to England, and engaged twenty-five hands in Manchester to instruct the French operatives at Rouen in the English methods of manufacture. In 1755 he was appointed by the French Government to be inspector-general of foreign manufactures, a post which he retained till his death, at Montigny, near Rouen, April 27, 1786. In 1770 he was nominated a Knight of the Order of St Louis. His first wife, Elizabeth, dau. of John Hulton, of Manchester, to whom he was married by the Rev. Henry Kendal, the priest at Manchester, died in Jan., 1776, and was buried in the cemetery attached to the English Convent at Gravelines. Subsequently he married the widow of Jean Testart. He had a son John (Jean), who became consul-general at Philadelphia, and died at Springsburg, Virginia, in 1822, and whose son, Jean Louis, born April 2, 1770, died at Paris, Aug. 18, 1844, having been head of the chemical works at Rouen, founded by his grandfather, during the Empire. The latter was the father of Henri Holker, of the French Navy, who published pamphlets on marine tactics and the manning of the Navy in 1842 and 1846 (vide Crofton's Hist. of Stretford, vol. iii).

[1] Penelope, fourth daughter of Adam Byrom, of Salford, by Helen, dau. of Edmund Prestwich, of Hulme Hall, married Robert Haye, or Heyes, of Monkes Hall, fourth son of Ellis Haye, of Monkes Hall, in the parish of Eccles, by Alice, dau. of Robert Holden, of Holden Hall. Her brother, John Byrom, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, as did likewise her husband's nephew, Ellis Haye, of Chorlton Hall, whose wife, Katherine, was the dau. of Thomas Standish, of Duxbury Hall.

[1] His will was proved in 1671, and that of a namesake, of the same place, in 1660.

[2] The will of Thomas Anderton, of Horwich, was proved in 1669. In 1642 (Preston Guild) he had sons, Christopher, Thomas, William, and Laurence. He was one of the Andertons of the Lostock Hall branch, and probably son of Christopher Anderton, of Horwich, whose will was proved in 1629. He was no doubt a near relation of the famous "silver-mouthed" Anderton, son of Thomas Anderton, of Horwich, who took his B.A. from Christ's College, Cambridge, in 1596–7, subsequently became a secular priest, eminent as a controversialist and poet under the alias of "John Brereley, Priest," and finally joined the Society, and passed on the mission under the aliases of "John Hart" and "Scroop." The Anderton pedigrees, printed and in MS., are all very unsatisfactory concerning the Horwich branch of the family. There were very many priests and nuns connected with the various branches, including that of Horwich, and it is difficult to identify them all.

[3] The Hon. Sir Rowland Belasyse, K.B., was the third son of the Hon. Henry Belasyse, M.P. for co. York, by Grace, dau. and heiress of Sir Thomas Barton, of Smithells Hall, in Halliwell. He married Anne, eldest dau. and sole heiress of J. Davenport, of Sutton Hall, co. Cheshire, and dying at Smithells in 1699, was succeeded by his eldest son Thomas, of Sutton Hall, who seised his uncle, Sir Thomas Belasyse, as third Viscount Fauconberg, of Yarum, co. York, in 1700. The latter died in 1718, and three years later the fine old mansion of Smithells Hall, with its ancient chapel, was sold, some funds being reserved for the support of the Catholic mission in the district.

[4] Mary Standish may have been the second dau. of Edward Standish, of Standish Hall, whose estate was probably under sequestration for recusancy at this period, as his name does not appear in this list. He married Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Francis Howard, of Corby Castle, co. Cumberland, and his son William was twenty-six years of age at the Visitation of 1664. The Standish family were always staunch recusants, and suffered much for their loyalty. William married Cecilia, dau. and sole heiress of Sir Robert Bindlosse, of Borwick Hall, Bart., and his son, Ralph Standish, married the Lady Philippa Howard, dau. of Henry, Duke of Norfolk. Their son Ralph died without surviving issue in 1735, when the Standish and Borwick Hall estates passed to his sister Cecilia, wife of William Towneley, of Towneley Hall. Through the marriage of the latter's dau. Cecilia with Charles Strickland, of Sizergh Castle, co. Westmoreland, the Standish estates passed to her son, Thomas Strickland, who assumed the name of Standish, whose descendant is the present lord of Standish.

[1] Highfield House, in Aspull, passed through various offshoots of the Gerards of Bryn Hall, but "Miles" was a distinctive name of the Gerards of Ince Old Hall, who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1613, in which, however, no Miles appears likely to be living in 1667. All the printed Gerard pedigrees are very incomplete. The Gerards of The Ince, or Ince Old Hall, also registered a long pedigree at the Visitation of 1567, claiming descent from a younger son of the Gerards of Bryn. William Gerard, of Ince Old Hall, married Jane, dau. of Sir Alexander Osbaldeston, of Osbaldeston Hall, by his second wife, Helen, dau. of Thomas Tyldesley, of Wardley Hall, and had issue—Myles; Thomas, a Douay and Rheims priest, who died a confessor of the faith in Wisbeach Castle; and Alexander, ordained priest at Laon, April 5, 1586, came to England 1587, and served Lea Hall, a seat of the Hoghtons of Hoghton Tower, Rixton Hall, the seat of the Mascy family, and elsewhere. Myles, the eldest son, according to the 1613 pedigree, had only one son, Thomas, then of the age of twenty-two, who married Ellen, dau. of Edward Langtree, of Langtree Hall, and had an only dau. and heiress Anne. He is said to have sold Ince to his kinsman, Lieutenant-Colonel Richard Gerard, second son of Sir Thomas Gerard, of Bryn, Bart., and he died in 1673. Colonel Gerard, who was born in October, 1613, married (1) Frances, dau. of Sir Ralph Hanley, of Tickhill Castle, co. York, by whom he had a son, who died in infancy, and (2) Judith, dau. of Sir Nicholas Stewart, of Pateshall, co. Northampton, by whom he had seven children. He took an active part in the civil wars, and upon the restoration was sworn cup-bearer in ordinary to the queen-mother. He died at Ince, Sept. 5, 1686. He had issue by his second wife—Thomas, born May 21, 16 . . , who resided at Highfield House, lord of Aspull, Ince, Southworth, etc., who married Mary (born Oct. 28, 16 . . , died May 30, 1724), dau. of John Wright, of Kelvedon Hall, co. Essex, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and died in 1724; Richard, apothecary, of Wigan, who married Jane, dau. of Samuel Prescott, of Orrell, and was living in 1731, of whose issue hereafter; William, novice S.J., born 1656, who died at Liège in 1676; John, S.J., who died at St Omer's College, Oct. 10, 1696; Frances Scholastica, O.S.B., abbess of Ghent, died Sept. 6, 1711; Anne, a nun at Liège; and Juliana, ob. infans. Thomas, the eldest son, had issue—Richard, born May 1, 16.., Catholic non-juror in 1717, of Highfield, who married, in 1730, Margaret, dau. of John Baldwin, made his will Feb. 1, 1734–5, and died s.p., being the writer of certain obituaries and nativities used in this pedigree; William, born Nov. 9, 16.., probably identical with the Jesuit of his name born 1687, died in Maryland, according to Foley, April 16, 1731, though the writer of the obituaries places his death under Jan. 5; Thomas, born Oct. 5 (according to his brother's note, though Foley says 14th), 1692, entered the Society in 1714, succeeded his distant kinsman, the Rev. Ralph Gerard, at Bamfurlong Hall in or about 1698, and was serving the chapel there in 1702, went to Maryland in 1733, returned about 1737, and in 1744 was at Belgrave, co. Leicester, formerly the seat of the Beaumont family, but then of John Beaumont Byerley (whose mother was coheiress of Sir Thomas Beaumont, Bart.), and died in 1761, having sold Southworth Hall and manor to his cousin, William Gerard, of Ince Hall, in 1744; Caryll, born Nov. 18, 1695, ordained priest at Rome 1720, left 1723 to be chaplain to the convent O.S.A. at Bruges, an office which he resigned in 1761, but stayed at the convent till his death, Sept. 12, 1779; Frances, born Jan. 22, Bridget, born July 15 (living 1734–5), Clare, born Feb. 28 (living 1734–5), Elizabeth, born March 15, died Jan. 25, Anne, born May 5, (living 1734–5), and probably Mary, all according to their brother's notes. Richard, the second son of the Colonel, had issue—Richard Gerard, junior apothecary, of Wigan, who married Isabella, dau. of John Baldwin, and sister to his cousin Richard's wife, and had issue, Thomas, S.J., born July 23, 1667, was serving the family chaplaincy at Highfield in 1701–4, and died at St Omer's College in 1715; and William. The eldest son, Richard, died in 1743, and had issue—William, heir to his cousin Richard Gerard, of Ince Hall and Highfield, died s.p. in 1743; Mary, eventual heiress, married John Walmesley, second son of John Walmesley, of Wigan, grandson of Richard Walmesley, of Showley Hall; and Elizabeth, spinster. John Walmesley died in 1780, and his wife, the heiress of Ince and other estates, in 1795. Their son Richard Walmesley, born 1752, abandoned Ince Hall, and in its place erected Westwood House, in Ince, which has since been the seat of the family.

[1] The Hultons of Westhoughton were descended from a younger son of the Hultons, of Hulton Park, in the same parish, who returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1567 and 1664. A very long pedigree traced from the reign of Henry II appears in Foster's Lancashire Pedigrees, 1873. Adam Hulton, of Hulton Park, by his wife Clemence, dau. of Sir William Norreys, of Speke Hall, was succeeded, at his death 15 Eliz. (1572–3), by his son William, who married Margaret, one of the daughters and coheiresses of Henry Keighley, of Inskip Hall, by Mary, dau. of Sir Thomas Carus, Judge of the Queen's Bench. Her eldest sister and coheiress, Anne, married Sir William Cavendish, of Hardwick Hall, co. Derby, Baron Cavendish, ancestor of the Duke of Devonshire, the present lord of Inskip. William had issue—Adam, of Hulton Park, ancestor of the late Sir William Wilbraham Blethyn Hulton, of Hulton Park, who was created a baronet, and whose son is the present representative of the family; William of Over Hulton, buried in 1653; Cuthbert, of Over Hulton, who appears annually in the recusant rolls, with his wife Mary, between 1591 and 1635; Rowland, of Westhoughton, a recusant till death in June, 1648; Henry; Elizabeth, wife of Robert Dalton, of Thurnham Hall; Katherine, wife of Assheton Potter, of Croston and Over Hulton; Martha; and Margaret, vixit 1624. Adam, the squire, conformed, and henceforward the pedigree records no Catholic alliances. The Hultons of the text were probably sons or grandsons of Rowland. Administration to the estate of Adam Hulton, of Westhoughton, was granted in 1687, and the will of William Hulton, of the same, was proved in 1672, and that of Jane Hulton, of Over Hulton, widow, in 1679.

[1] George Martincrofte subsequently removed to Bedford, near Manchester, where he was a recusant, described as "gentleman," in 1682–4. He was probably the son of Richard Martincrofte, of Manchester, who, with his wife Elizabeth, appears in the roll for 1626–7, and is described as a joiner. In 1634–5 and later years, Richard Martincrofte, of Manchester, and his wife Anne appear, and the will of Richard Martincrofte, of Wickleswick (now Trafford Park), joiner, was proved in 1666. Subsequently the family removed to Croft, in Winwick, where John Merry Martincroft, of Croft House, died July 9, 1839, aged fifty-nine.

[2] Assheton Potter, said to be of Croston in the Hulton pedigree, but of Over Hulton in the recusant rolls between 1617 and 1630, married Katherine, dau. of William Hulton, of Hulton Park. It is probable that he belonged to the recusant family seated at Ashton in Makerfield, where Ellen Potter, probably a Gerard of Bryn, and her son Gerard Potter, were convicted of recusancy, as well as Oliver Potter, in 1633 seq. Assheton Potter's father was probably Henry Potter, whose dau. Margaret married first, John Lathom, of Mosborough Hall, and second, Alan Hulton, of Farnworth. Henry Potter, of the text, was doubtless son of Assheton Potter, and remained on the rolls till his death at Worsley in 1681. John Potter, of Ashton, whose will was proved in 1619, had a dau., Emma, wife of John Chaddock, of Chaddock Hall, and a son, John Potter, of Ashton, administration to his estate granted in 1647, who married Elizabeth, dau. of Alexander Radcliffe, of Leigh. Henry Potter's descendant, John Potter, of Manchester, contributed largely to the erection of the old Catholic chapel dedicated to St Chad, in Rook Street, Manchester, in 1776. Religious controversy ran high at that time, and prejudices were strong. It was on this occasion that Mr Potter is said to have written a pamphlet under the ludicrous title of "A Ball of Wax against a Ball of Soap."

[3] Administration to the estate of Lambert Scott, of Astley, was granted in 1688. His name has apparently been omitted by the transcriber. The Scotts came from Pemberton, where they regularly appear in the rolls from 1591, Gilbert, Cuthbert, Ralph, and Roger, being their principal names.

[4] The Jenyons obtained Park Hall in Blackrod from the Rogerleys, who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1613, when George Jenyon, upon whom the estate was entailed, was of the age of four years. George Rogerley, of Lytham, married Ellen, dau. of William Clifton, of Westby Hall. His widow continued on the rolls till her death in 1604. They had issue—George Rogerley, of Park Hall, in Blackrod, a staunch recusant till his death in 1616; Richard, of Lytham, a recusant in 1595–6; Henry, of Lytham, recusant in 1595–6, whose dau. Isabel married John Hoghton, eldest son of Richard Hoghton, of Park Hall in Charnock Richard, and had three daughters and coheiresses, Margaret, Mary, wife of Edward Worthington, of Wharles, and Catherine, wife of James Holland, of Dalton; and Katherine, wife of Richard Tyldesley, eldest son and heir of Lambert Tyldesley, of Garret Hall, lord of Tyldesley. The eldest son, George Rogerley, married Margaret, dau. of William Skillicorne, of Prees Hall, who was still a recusant at Park Hall in 1638. They had issue four daughters and coheiresses—Ellen, who married (1) Dr John Jenyon, who resided with his wife at Park Hall, till his death in 1613, and (2) Laurence Worthington, of Crawshaw Hall, by whom she had no issue; Jane, spinster, recusant in 1612–3; Katherine, wife of John Osbaldeston, of Sunderland Hall; and Elizabeth, wife of John Parkinson. Ellen, by her first husband, Dr John Jenyon, had issue a son, George Jenyon, upon whom Park Hall was entailed by his grandfather. He was living a recusant there with his wife Mary in 1626–7, subsequently appears on the rolls with his wife Elizabeth, and was still a recusant in 1679. He had issue—John Jenyon, of Park Hall, who conveyed Park Hall in trust Aug. 11, 1684, and his widow, Lucy, assigned it, Nov. 12, 1700, to Thomas Lucas, citizen of London, after which all trace of the family is lost; George Jenyon (or Janion), S.J., born 1646, died 1698; and William, S.J., born 1652, died 1685. The manor of Blackrod was subsequently purchased by the Earl of Balcarres.

that of Isabella, of the same, in 1663. The name also appears at Cantsfield and Whittington. They probably derived from Newton in Allithwaite.

[1] She no doubt belonged to the Blackburnes of Over Kellet or Capenwray, who appear in the rolls from 1591, and were people of position. Thomas Blackhouse, appearing just above in the text, is clearly an error for Blackburne.

[2] Vide later on, under Josias Morley.

[3] The Beckbaynes, of Gunnerthwaite, in the parish of Melling, were old recusants. The wills of George, John, and Robert Beckbayne, all of Gunnerthwaite, were proved respectively in 1633, 1715, and 1727.

[4] Hathornthwaite, vide later.

[5] Administration to his estate was granted in 1675.

[6] She was still on the recusant rolls in 1680–4, when her husband, whose will was proved in 1703, was described as yeoman.

[7] There were Catholic families of this name both at Quernmore and Nether Wyresdale. Of the latter family Edward has previously appeared in the text. One of that name was a recusant there in 1603, and Margaret, wife of Edward, in 1626. The Quernmore family came from Caton, and all probably derived from High Winder, in Melling parish, where the territorial family of the name ended in an heiress, who became the wife of John Dowbiggin, of Westminster, attorney-at-law, formerly of Ewer Clough, in Tatham, whose daughter and heiress, Anne Winder Dowbiggin, of Winder, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717.

She married Thomas Benison, of Hornby, agent for the Hornby Castle estate, then belonging to Lord Morley and Monteagle. In 1730 he began to erect Hornby Hall, which was reared in 1735. Upon his death in 1738, his daughter, Anne, born in 1724, became sole heiress to the estate, and married John Fenwick, of Burrow Hall. Thomas Winder of the text was probably one of the children of William Winder, of Quernmore, and Alice his wife, who were recusants in 1625–6 with their daughter Barbara. William Winder appears to have come from Caton, and his wife Alice was probably daughter of Peter Bradley, of Little Eccleston-cum-Larbreck. Their son Peter Winder alias Bradley was ordained priest at Douay, and subsequently went to the English College at Lisbon, whence he came to the mission in 1644. He served the chapel at Dolphin Lee, in Bulk, an estate belonging to the Daltons of Thurnham Hall, and also that at Quernmore Park, then belonging to the Prestons of The Manor of Furness. Previous to this he is thought to have served Robert Hall, in Tatham, the seat of the Cansfields. In 1682-4 he lived in Quernmore, and he was still alive and serving the mission in 1697. The will of Peter Winder, of Baibrigge, was proved in 1721, and that of Edward Winder, of Quernmore, in 1742.

[1] The Hathornthwaites were very numerous in this part, no doubt deriving from Hathornthwaite, one of the twelve vaccaries of Over Wyresdale. The name appears throughout the whole series of rolls, 1591 to 1684. There were Hathornthwaites resident in Hathornthwaite, but probably the principal family was that of the Demesne of the vaccary of Catshaw, in the forest of Wyresdale. This family also owned part of the Abbeystead vaccary. The will of William Hathornthwaite, of Catshaw Hall, was proved in 1592. His descendant John Hathornthwaite registered his entailed estate of Catshaw as a Catholic non-juror in 1717. He also possessed part of the Abbeystead and Calder vaccaries, and property in Bleasdale and other places. He names his wife Phœbe, but he left no issue, and his nephew and namesake became his heir. The latter, John Hathornthwaite, was the only son of William Hathornthwaite by his wife Ellen, daughter and coheiress of Richard Blackburne, of Stockenbridge Hall. He died unmarried, his will dated Nov. 26, 1753, being proved May 19, 1766. He had six sisters and coheiresses—Mary, wife of Richard Leckonby, of Leckonby House in Great Eccleston and of Hothersall Hall, whose son William Leckonby inherited the Catshaw estate; Margaret, wife of Robert Walker, of Forton; Agnes, wife of William Caton, of Carr House, in Cabus, whose will, dated Nov. 7, was proved Dec. 28, 1751, and that of his widow, dated Oct. 15, 1767, proved Sept. 3, 1772, sine prole; Sarah, spinster, of Garstang; Jane, wife of Mr Crook; Elizabeth, wife of Mr Alston; and a daughter, wife of Mr Roe, and mother of the Rev. John Roe, born Feb. 1, 1757, died at Black Ladies, co. Stafford, June 28, 1838. Margaret Walker had a daughter and heiress Elizabeth, who married James Smith, of Forton, son of William Smith, of Forton, by Anne, daughter of Robert Haydock, of Leach Hall, and they had issue—William, who died unmarried leaving his estate at Forton to his second cousin William Smith, of Clock House, Lea, who married Jane, daughter and coheiress of Robert Haydock, of Leach Hall; and Margaret, wife of George Blanchard, of Alston, whose son James Blanchard, of Alston and of Grimsargh House, married Anne Teresa, daughter of Richard Butler, of Pleasington Hall, and his two daughters, Elizabeth and Anne, were the wives respectively of Evan Richard Gerard, of Gerard's Hall in Haighton, and James Sidgreaves, of Inglewhite Lodge.

[2] James Anderton, of Bardsea Hall, in the parish of Urswick, and of Clayton Hall, in Leyland parish, the fourth of his name, born 1602, was the eldest son of James Anderton, of Clayton Hall, by his first wife Dorothy, daughter and heiress of Nicholas Bardsea, of Bardsea Hall (who was slain during the civil war in 1642), by Anne, daughter of William Banastre, of Easington, in Bolland, and his wife Anne, daughter of Thomas Preston, of Preston Patrick and Levens

Hall, co. Westmoreland. His wife Jane, daughter of Richard Assheton, of Middleton, was a recusant widow at Bardsea Hall in 1683. They left no issue, and the estate went to his half-brother, Dom Thurstan Celestine Anderton, O.S.B., whose elder brothers, Captains Nicholas Anderton, born 1613, and Thomas Anderton, born 1617, were slain fighting in the Royal cause in 1644 and 1646 respectively. Another brother, Capt. Matthew Anderton, born 1621, was also slain in the same cause at Sherburn fight in 1642. Their mother, the second wife of James Anderton, senior, married in 1610, was Anne, daughter of Thomas Shuttleworth, of Smithells Hall, younger brother to Sir Richard Shuttleworth, of Gawthorpe Hall, and she died at Park Hall, the seat of John Hoghton, in 165–. Dom Thurstan Anderton, born 1619, was ordained a secular priest in 1646, afterwards joined the Benedictines, and died chaplain to Lord Molyneux at Sefton Hall in 1697. The manor of Clayton was redeemed by Caryll, Viscount Molyneux of Maryborough, in his behalf and that of his brothers Christopher and William Anderton in 1672. Christopher, born at Clayton Hall in 1626, died unmarried at Bardsea Hall in 1695. Christopher and William sold their right to the lordship of Clayton to Lord Molyneux, and retired to Bardsea Hall, and eventually the manor of Bardsea was purchased by Lord Molyneux and was used as a hunting-lodge. Their sisters were: Dorothy, born 1615, who married Capt. Thomas Singleton, of Stayning Hall, who was slain at Newbury in 1643, and she was living a recusant widow at Stayning in 1679-80; Anne, born 1622, spinster, living 1660; Eleanor, born 1623, living unmarried in 1660; Alice, born 1625, died 1654; Elizabeth, born 1628, living 1660; and Mary, born 1629, spinster, living with her brother William, and both recusants, at Clayton Hall in 1682, whence she apparently removed to Aldcliffe, her will being proved in 1708. Some of the sisters were probably nuns. The Andertons of Clayton were descended from the Andertons of Anderton and Horwich, the first to acquire the manor of Clayton being Hugh Anderton, of Euxton Hall, who was twice married, (1) to Grace, daughter and coheiress of John Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, by whom he had a son James, aged twenty-four at the death of his father in 1566, and on whom he settled Clayton, and (2) to Alice, daughter of Alexander Standish, of Standish Hall, by whom he had—William, on whom he settled Euxton Hall, where his descendants are still seated; Dorothy, wife of Edward Rigby, of Burgh Hall; Jane, spinster; Anne, wife of William Hesketh, of Maynes Hall and Little Poulton Hall; and probably another son Robert, ordained priest at Rheims in 1584, who was martyred in the Isle of Wight, April 25, 1586. James Anderton, the eldest son of Hugh, was entered at Gray's Inn in 1562. His wife, Elizabeth, daughter and heir of Richard Elston, of Elston Hall and Higher Brockholes Hall, married secondly Ralph Holden, of Holden Hall, and thirdly Nicholas Banastre, of Altham Hall, and died in Dec., 1611. They had issue—James, lord of Clayton, who was admitted to Gray's Inn, May 14, 1593, was a staunch recusant, and died in 1614; Hugh, born 1579, admitted to Gray's Inn, March 10, 1592–3, having been previously at Oxford, and after studying at Gray's Inn for six years went to the English College at Rome, where he was admitted under the alias of Henry Courtney in 1600, received minor orders, but died before he was ordained priest in 1603, aged about twenty-five; Thurstan, late of Barnard's Inn, was admitted to Gray's Inn Feb. 5, 1600, was a recusant at Clayton Hall, 1603–1625; William, late of Barnard's Inn, was admitted to Gray's Inn Feb. 2, 1587–8; Dorothy, wife of Thomas Woodcock, of Leyland, and mother of Fr John Woodcock, O.S.F., the martyr; and another daughter whose name does not appear. The eldest son, the second James, married Dorothy, daughter of Sir Richard Assheton, of Middleton Hall, by his first wife Mary, daughter of Sir John Byrom, of Clayton Hall, and had issue—James, the third of his name, lord of Clayton, who married first Dorothy Bardsea, and secondly Anne Shuttleworth, as related above; Hugh, living 1602; Thurstan, who in the Old Chapter records is said to have been ordained priest at the English College at Rome, but does not appear, at any rate, under his own name, in Foley's copy of the Diary, which unfortunately has a great many omissions, was at Clayton Hall in 1676, assisted the mission at Stayning Hall, died at Clayton Hall, and was buried at Leyland Augt 29, 1683; and Matthew, a captain in the royal army, was slain at Sheriff Hutton in 1642. James Anderton, the eldest son, suffered greatly for his loyalty and recusancy, sold to many of his tenants their own holdings, and mortgaged the lordship to the Dicconsons of Wrightington Hall. The subsequent history of the family has already been related. It is possible that there were other priests, besides nuns, of this branch of the Anderton family, as several of the name have not been otherwise assigned.

[1] Thomas Duckett was a cadet of the ancient family of Duckett of Grayrigg Hall, co. Westmoreland. He is probably identical with Thomas Duckett, of Winder, in Cartmel, to whose estate administration was granted in 1670. His widow, Jennet, was a recusant at Ashton-cum-Stodday in 1680, as well as James Duckett, gent. Apparently there were three Ducketts bearing the name of James in 1680, the other two being James Duckett, of Holker, gent., identical with the one described as "husbandman" in the text, and James Duckett, of Cartmel. James Duckett, of Grayrigg Hall, a recusant in 1667, returned a pedigree of sixteen generations at the Visitation of Westmoreland in 1664, being then fifty years of age. He was the son of Anthony Duckett, by Elizabeth, daughter of William Leyburne, of Cunswick Hall, co. Westmoreland, and grandson of Sir Francis Duckett, of Grayrigg, by Marion, daughter of Alan Bellingham, of Helsington Hall, co. Westmoreland. James Duckett was thrice married, (1) to Magdalen, daughter of Sir Henry Curwen, of Workington Hall, co. Cumberland, by whom he had Anthony, and Margaret, wife of John Girlington, of Thurland Castle, co. Lancaster; (2) to Mary, daughter of William Sanders, of Sutton Court, co. Middlesex, by whom he had William, Richard, Elizabeth, and Bridget; and (3) to Elizabeth, daughter of Christopher Walker, of Workington, co. Cumberland, by whom he had Thomas, John, who apparently is identical with the one of his name of Lancaster whose will was proved in 1742, Marion, Ellen, and Anne, of Dalton, spr, whose will was proved in 1703. Anthony, the eldest son by the first wife, aged twenty-eight in 1664, married Elizabeth, daughter of John Dalston, of Acornbank Hall, co. Cumberland. He sold the manors of Grayrigg and Docker to the Lowthers in 1690. There were a number of priests of the family not named in the pedigree. James Duckett, of Gilltwait Rigg (will proved 1565), second son of Richard Duckett, of Grayrigg Hall, by Agnes, daughter of John ffleming, of Rydal Hall, was father of Richard Duckett, of Gilfortriggs, in Skelsmergh, whose son James went to London and after suffering imprisonment for his faith in Bridewell and the Compter prison in Wood Street, and subsequently passing nine years in gaol in the same cause out of his married life of twelve years, finally was tried and sentenced to death for privately publishing Catholic books, his martyrdom being at Tyburn, April 19, 1601. His second son, Fr John Duckett, matriculated at the university of Douay in 1607, was ordained priest at Douay College in 1615, was many years procurator, and finally left the college on April 6, 1628, to become a Carthusian at the English monastery at Nieuport, where he was clothed on April 15, and in 1644 became ninth prior, in which office he died Augt 21, 1647. Another John, born in 1613, third son of James Duckett, and his wife Frances, daughter of John Girlington, of Thurland Castle, co. Lancaster, by Christian, daughter of Sir William Babthorpe, of Babthorpe Hall, co. York, was ordained priest at Douay in 1639, then spent three years at Arras College in Paris, and coming to the mission at Durham, was apprehended, sent to London, tried and condemned to death for being a priest, and was martyred at Tyburn Sept. 7, 1644. James Duckett, ordained priest at Douay in 1623, came to England in 1624, and was still serving the mission in Westmoreland, probably at Skelsmergh Hall, a seat of his relatives, the Leyburnes, in 1632. Another John Duckett was admitted into the English College at Valladolid in 1652, and after being ordained priest, came to the mission and resided as chaplain with Col. Touchet and Mr Stonor.

[1] In 1567 the Tarbocks, of Tarbock Hall, in the parish of Huyton, returned a pedigree of fifteen generations, ending with Sir Edward Tarbock, who was knighted by James I at Whitehall Nov. 1, 1606. Sir Edward married Margaret, daughter and heiress of Sir William Norreys, of Speke Hall, and had sons Edward and George, who joined with him in the sale of the manor of Tarbock. William Tarbock, of the text, was probably son of Edward, and his will was proved in 1689, and that of his son Edward, also of Holker, in 1720. The Tarbocks were a knightly race, lamentably reduced in circumstances.

[2] The Buskells were old recusants. The will of Ellen Buskell, of Park House, in Dalton, was proved in 1696.

[3] Oliver Tootell is probably identical with the "gentleman" of his name, of Lower Healey Hall, near Chorley, who died May 5, 1698, his widow, Jane, daughter of Francis Trappes-Byrnand, of Nidd Hall, co. York, being a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and then resident at Arundel Castle, co. Sussex. The family unfortunately did not return a pedigree at any of the Visitations, though they had been the manorial lords of Lower Healey for a long period. Hugh Tootell, of Lower Healey Hall, married Alice, daughter of Thomas Anderton, of Horwich Hall, sister of the eminent "silver-mouthed Anderton," Fr Laurence Anderton, S.J., alias "John Brereley, Priest." William Tootell, of Lower Healey Hall, married Elizabeth, daughter of John Gillibrand, of Chorley Hall, subsequently known as Gillibrand Hall, and his daughter Catherine, married Ralph Critchlow, senior, of Charnock Richard. Jane, daughter of Oliver Tootell, married Laurence Wall, of Moor Hall, Preston. Bro. Oliver John Tootell, O.S.B., professed at Dieulward in 1625, died before his ordination, Jan. 8, 1626. Christopher Tootell, priest, was serving the mission in Lancashire in 1632. Thomas Tootell, priest, is said to have been at Bryn Hall in 1663. Oliver, John, Edward, and Hugh Tootell were recusants at Lower Healey in 1682–4. Christopher Tootell alias Blacoe, ordained at Lisbon in 1685, died at Ladywell, Fernyhalgh in 1727. His nephew Hugh Tootell alias Hesketh, priest, probably son of Hugh Tootell and his wife Elizabeth Hesketh, of the White Hill family, born in 1671, and died Feb. 27, 1742–3, is better known as "Charles Dodd," the Church historian. His kinsmen, Fr William John Evangelist Tootell, O.S.F., and Fr Charles Tootell, O.S.F., were in turn at White Hill, and died respectively Oct. 13, 1758, aged eighty-one, and in 1771, the latter being the former's nephew.

[4] The Prestons appear in the rolls from the commencement. They were originally seated at Preston Richard and Preston Patrick in Westmoreland, subsequently resided at Under Levens Hall, and soon after the dissolution of the monasteries Sir Thomas Preston purchased Furness Abbey, in Dalton, and other extensive estates, including Holker Park, in Cartmel. By Anne, daughter of William Thornburgh, of Hampsfield Hall, Sir Thomas had issue—John, his heir, born 1511; Christopher, on whom he settled Holker Hall, and from whom the Prestons of Holker descended; George, o.s.p.; Anne, wife of William Banastre, of Easington Hall, in Bolland, co. York; Ellen, (1) wife of Sir James Leyburne, of Cunswick Park, co. Westmoreland (by whom she had Elizabeth, married first to Thomas, fourth Lord Dacre, of Gillesland, and second to

Thomas Howard, fourth Duke of Norfolk, K.G.), and (2) wife of Thomas Stanley, second Lord Monteagle; Jane, wife of William Lamplugh, of Dovenby Hall, co. Cumberland; Dorothy, wife of William Travers, of Tulketh Hall and Nateby Hall; Elizabeth, wife of Robert Cansfield, of Robert Hall and Cantsfield Hall; and Catherine, wife of Sir Thomas Carus, justice of the Queen's Bench, and mother of Mary Carus, wife of Henry Keighley, of Inskip Hall, one of whose daughters and coheiresses married William Cavendish, first Earl of Devonshire, ancestor of the Dukes of Devonshire, who eventually became possessed of the vast estates of the Prestons. Sir Thomas Preston died in 1523, and was succeeded by his son John, who made his principal residence at the Abbey of Furness, in a manor-house which he erected on the north of the precincts, his family thenceforth being termed of the Manor. He was sheriff of Lancashire in 1569, and M.P. for Lancaster 1592–3. He married (1), Ellen, daughter of Sir Christopher Curwen, of Workington Hall, co. Cumberland, by whom he had issue as hereafter, and (2) Dorothy, daughter of Sir Bryan Layton, of Dalemain Hall, co. Cumberland, and relict of Richard Redman, of Harewood Castle, co. York, by whom he had no issue. By his first wife he had—Thomas; Nicholas, a lawyer, o.s.p.; John, of Ellel Grange, in Cockerham, whose descendants appear later in the text; and Margaret, wife of Roger Kirkby, of Kirkby Ireleth Hall. Thomas, the eldest son, sheriff of Lancashire in 1585, married Anne, daughter of John Westby, of Mowbreck Hall, and dying May 14, 1604, had issue—John, who with his father appears in the recusant rolls from 1591 till his death March 27, 1643; Francis, of Dalton, who was a recusant with his sons Thomas and John in 1620; and Thomas, a recusant in 1621. John, the eldest son, married Frances, daughter and coheiress of Richard Holland, of Denton Hall, by Margaret, daughter and coheiress of Sir Robert Langley, of Agecroft Hall, and both he and his wife appear in the rolls as early as 1617. They had issue—Thomas, died young; John, born 1617, who succeeded to the estates; Anne, died young; Margaret, wife of Sir Francis Howard, of Corby Castle, co. Cumberland, second son of Lord William Howard, "Belted Will," of Naworth Castle; Agnes, wife of Christopher Anderton, of Lostock Hall, the marriage being commemorated by a poem by his kinsman Fr Laurence Anderton, S.J., alias "John Brereley, Priest"; and Frances, wife of Francis Downes, of Wardley Hall, who died March 25, 1642–3. The only surviving son, John, took an active part in the Royal cause upon the breaking out of the civil wars, and was created a baronet, April 1, 1644. He raised a regiment at his own expense, and received a wound in an engagement in Furness of which he died in 1645. He married in 1637 Jane, daughter and sole heiress of Thomas Morgan, of Heyford Hall, co. Northampton, and of Weston-sub-Weathley, co. Warwick, and by her, who brought him a vast estate, had issue—Sir John, second Bart, who died unmarried in April, 1661; Thomas, ob. infans; Sir Thomas, third Bart, born 1643; Jane, ob. infans; Anne, wife of Sir William Gerard, of Bryn Hall, Bart; and Elizabeth, wife of William, eleventh Lord Stourton. Sir Thomas, third Bart, of the Manor in Furness, Preston Patrick and Under Levens Hall, in Westmoreland, and Heyford Hall, co. Northampton was twice married, (1) to Elizabeth, daughter of Mons. Peter de Planzye, of France, by whom he had no issue, and (2) to the Hon. Mary Molyneux, daughter of Caryll, third Viscount Molyneux of Maryborough, by whom he had issue—Francis, obiit infans, 1672; Mary, wife of William, Lord Herbert, second Marquis of Powis; and Anne, wife of Hugh, second Lord Clifford of Chudleigh. Lady Preston died June 6, 1673, whereupon Sir Thomas decided to renounce the world and embrace a religious life. He entered the Society of Jesus at Watten June 28, 1674, under the alias of Saville, but having scruples regarding holy orders, owing to his having been twice married, he declined to be ordained priest, though he had received a special dispensation, and he died at Watten, a formed-scholastic, May 27, 1709, aged sixty-six. Administration to his estate was granted in 1710. When Sir Thomas went to join the Jesuits, he settled his Westmoreland and Northamptonshire estates upon his two daughters and coheiresses, and the Manor and Abbey of Furness was presumably to revert to his kinsmen, the Prestons of Ellel Grange, with the exception of three small farms which were given as the foundation of a novitiate for the English Province S.J., but that being impracticable, the income was for many years devoted to the mission supplying Furness, a sum of £1,500 being eventually expended upon the chapel and presbytery at Ulverston. It was then that Thomas Preston, of Holker Hall, who had hitherto been a recusant like all his family, apostatized with the idea of obtaining the estates, and undertook to prove that Sir Thomas had settled the Furness estates on the Jesuits, and that therefore they were forfeited to the crown. In this after some years of litigation he was successful, and the estates were seized by the Government. The next heirs, the Prestons of Ellel Grange, in Cockerham, were staunch Catholics, and hence they had but little chance of establishing their claim, upon which the apostate relied. He had considerable interest in high quarters, and his services having been duly represented, he obtained from the crown a long lease of the whole estate upon the most advantageous terms. He subsequently represented Lancaster in Parliament. He died Jan. 31, 1696, in London, but was buried at Cartmel Priory. He married first, Mary, daughter of George Dodding, of Conishead Priory, by whom he had no issue, and secondly, Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Roger Bradshaigh, of Haigh Hall, Bart, by whom he had an only daughter and sole heiress, Katherine, who married Sir William Lowther, Bart, of Marske Hall, co. York. They had issue Sir Thomas Lowther, Bart, who married in July, 1723, Lady Elizabeth Cavendish, daughter of William, second Duke of Devonshire, by whom he had issue Sir William Lowther, third and last baronet, who, dying unmarried in 1753, devised the Furness Abbey and Holker Hall estates to his cousin, Lord George Augustus Cavendish, after whose death in 1794 the estates passed to the Duke of Devonshire and the Earl of Burlington.

[1] Administration to the estate of Robert Lacy, of Newbarnes, in the parish of Dalton, was granted in 1680. In the same year John Lacy, of Dalton, gent., appears as a recusant. Robert Lacy was probably a son of Thomas Lacy, of Cromwellbotham Hall, co. York (by Anne, daughter of Roger Winckley, of Winckley Hall), who sold that estate and other possessions, and settled at Longworth Hall, in the parish of Bolton, co. Lancaster, which he purchased from the Longworths. The family returned pedigrees at the Visitations of Yorkshire in 1585 and 1612 and at that of Lancashire in 1664. Thomas Lacy's son and namesake, aged thirty-six in 1664, resided at Longworth Hall, and by Anne, his wife, daughter of Adam Hulton, of Hulton Park, had issue—Roger, aged nine in 1664, who was living at Hacking Hall (on the opposite bank of the Ribble to Winckley Hall), belonging to the Walmesleys of Dunkenhalgh, to whom he was probably steward, in 1688 and 1705, at which latter date he had a son and namesake baptized at Great Harwood; Thomas, aged six; Adam, aged four; John, aged two; Anne, aged twelve; and a daughter called Hulton, aged eleven, all in 1664. Latterly the Lacys were evidently estate agents or stewards to large estates, Robert probably being for that of the Prestons. It is likely that John, the son of Thomas, is identical with John Lacy, of Harmsworth, in the parish of Alresford, co. Southampton, a Catholic non-juror in 1717. Henry Lacy, of London, by his wife Mary Elston, probably a daughter of Robert Elston, of Higher Brockholes Hall, was the father of Francis Lacy alias Elston, who was ordained priest at Rome in 1710 or 1711, and served the mission in London till his death, when he was senior capitular, Dec. 3, 1774, in his ninetieth year. Margaret and Jane Lacy, sisters, of Harmsworth, were non-jurors in 1717, the former's will, dated July 19, 1740, being proved Dec. 4, 1746. They were aunts of Henry Lacy (who died shortly before the probate of his aunt Margaret's will), steward to Lord Arundell, at Wardour Castle, co. Wilts, Thomas Lacy, Margaret Lacy, of Winchester, and William Lacy (who by his wife Margaret, a widow in 1758, had two daughters Frances and Margaret).

[2] The Knipes, of Rampside Hall, were an ancient family, and appear in the rolls from the commencement. Thomas Knipe and Jane his wife were recusants in 1616 seq., and Thomas Knipe and his wife Isabella in 1634. John Knipe, of Rampside Hall, and Jane his wife appear in 1634 seq. He was a captain in the royal army, and was slain at Brindle, Augt 23, 1651. His son James Knipe, of Rampside Hall, married Susan, daughter and coheiress of Henry Butler, of Hackinsall Hall, by Margaret, daughter and coheiress of William Garnett, of Leigh, co. Westmoreland. The will of James was proved in 1694, and that of Susan in 1676. Their kinsmen, the Knipes of Wood Broughton, in the parish of Cartmel, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664.

[1] Administration to the estate of John Kirkby, of Leighton, in the parish of Warton, was granted in 1701. He appears on the rolls for 1680–4 as of Silverdale and of Yealand, is described as "gentleman," and was apparently steward to Sir George Middleton, Bart, of Leighton Hall. He was the second son of Roger Kirkby, of Kirkby Hall, in the parish of Kirkby Ireleth, by Agnes, daughter of Sir John Lowther, of Lowther Castle, co. Westmoreland. The Kirkbys returned pedigrees at the Visitations of 1613 and 1664, and also at the Visitations of Cumberland in 1530, and of Yorkshire in 1563 and 1584. They were descended from Roger de Kirkby, lord of Kirkby, temp. Ric. I. Seven generations later, Sir Richard de Kirkby, by his wife Isabel, had issue—Sir Alexander, ob. vita patris, who by Joan, his wife, daughter of Sir Thomas Tunstall, of Thurland Castle, had issue a daughter and heiress, Isabel, wife of Sir Robert de Ogle, first Lord Ogle, of Ogle Castle, co. Northumberland; Sir Roger, lord of Kirkby, who married Isabel, daughter of Sir Robert Lawrence, of Ashton Hall; Richard, o.s.p.; John de Kirkby, who married Joan, daughter of Sir Robert Urswick, of Up Rawcliffe Hall (second son of Robert Urswick, of Urswick Hall, by Ellen, daughter and heiress of William Southworth, lord of Up Rawcliffe), and sister and heiress of John Urswick; Rowland de Kirkby, of Cross House in Kirkby, who by Margaret, his wife, had issue a son John; Elizabeth, wife of Hugh Curwen, of Workington Hall, co. Cumberland; Alice, wife of Sir William de Hoghton; Margery; and Joan. Sir Roger had issue—Sir Richard, lord of the manors of Kirkby and Coltshall, who married Anne, daughter of Sir Roger Bellingham, of Bellingham Hall, co. Westmoreland; Alexander; Thomas; Roger, of Cross House, whose son Henry married his cousin Anne Kirkby. The eldest son, Sir Richard, had issue—Henry, lord of Kirkby, ob. s.p., 16 Hen. VIII; Alice, Elizabeth, and Margery, wife of Nicholas Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall; and Richard, who succeeded to Kirkby, and by Dorothy, his wife, daughter of John le Flemyng, of Rydal Hall, co. Westmoreland (by Jane, daughter of Sir Hugh Lowther, of Lowther Castle, co. Westmoreland), had a son John, who died 5 Edw. VI, aged eight, and a daughter and heiress, Anne, who married her cousin Henry as above. The latter had issue—Roger, aged thirty-six in 1567, who married Margaret, daughter of John Preston, of Preston Patrick, co. Westmoreland, and of the manor of Furness; and Margaret, wife of James Ambrose, of Lowick Hall. Roger, who died in 1627, aged ninety-five, had issue—Roger, ob. vita patris, who married Bridget, daughter of Ralph Latus, of Latus Hall, in Goosnargh, by Anne, daughter of John Huddleston, of Millom Castle, co. Cumberland; Ellen, wife (1) of Thomas Musgrave, of Heston, co. Cumberland, and (2) of Lancelot Carleton, of Brampton Foot in Gillesland; Dorothy, wife of Mr Ireton, of Ireton Hall, co. Cumberland; Elizabeth, wife of Gabriel Crofte, of Claughton Hall; Anne, spr, recusant at Kirkby Hall in 1612; Margaret, wife of Alan Sandford; Mary, wife of Mr Poole, of the family of Poole Hall, Cheshire; and Bridget, wife (1) of Christopher Philipson, of Conishead, and (2) of Mr Buskell, of Haversham, co. Westmoreland. Roger, the son, had issue—Roger, lord of Kirkby Ireleth, who married Jane, daughter of Edward Rigby, of Burgh Hall, by Dorothy, daughter of Hugh Anderton, of Euxton Hall; Anthony, of Kirkby Ireleth, recusant 1621 seq. with his wife Jane, by whom he had a son Ralph; Ralph; and Margaret. Roger, the eldest son, had issue—Roger, aged twelve at the Visitation of 1613, who married Agnes, daughter of Sir John Lowther, of Lowther Castle, co. Westmoreland; John, of Coniston Hall, who died in 1680; Alice, wife of William Fleming, of Rydal Hall, co. Westmoreland; and Margaret, wife of Hugh Anderton, of Euxton Hall. Roger died in Ireland in Augt, 1643, probably in the royal cause, aged thirty, and his children were brought up Protestants by his wife. One of them, however, Agnes, became the wife of Hugh Dicconson, of Wrightington Hall, and she was living at Culcheth, a Catholic nonjuror in 1717. The Kirkbys continued to reside at Kirkby Hall till it was seized by the mortgagees of Col. Roger Kirkby, early in the eighteenth century. A branch of the family, however, continued to own Ashlack, in Kirkby Ireleth, for another century. Kirkby Hall was a low strong building of dark red stone, in the Tudor style, and an upper room served as the chapel, with a small sacristy leading out of it, whence access was obtained to a secret hiding-place. The junior branch settled at Up Rawcliffe Hall, or as it was afterwards called White Hall, retained the faith till the family was entirely wiped out through its loyalty during the civil wars. John, the founder of this family, through his marriage with the heiress of the Urswicks, was succeeded by his son William, of Up Rawcliffe Hall, who by his wife Isabel, daughter of Sir Roger Bellingham, of Bellingham Hall, co. Westmoreland, had issue—John, who married (1) Clemence, daughter of Sir John Pudsey, of Arnforth Hall, co. York, and (2) Elizabeth, daughter of Sir Thomas Broughton, of Broughton Tower, in Kirkby Ireleth; Isabel, wife of Gilbert Barton, of Barton Hall; and Margaret, wife of Richard Banastre, of Bank Hall. By his first wife John had issue—William, born about 1 Hen. VII (1485–6), married, 22 Hen. VII (1506–7), Elizabeth, daughter of William Thornburgh, of Hampsfield Hall; Eleanor, wife of John Westby, of Mowbreck Hall; and Anne, wife of William Thwaites, of Thwaites Hall, co. Westmoreland. William had issue—John, o.s.p.; George, who married Helen, daughter of Thomas Rigmayden, of Wedacre Hall, by Jane, daughter of Sir Thomas Langton, baron of Newton, but o.s.p., Augt 13, 1558, and his widow married Edward Horsfall; William, of Up Rawcliffe Hall, who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1567, and whose will was proved in 1594; Richard, vixit 1576; Henry, of Lewth, in Woodplumpton; Anne, married (1) to Richard Pallady, of Brough, co. Cumberland, and (2) to Gervase Middleton, of Leighton Hall; Elizabeth, wife of John Curwen, of Workington Hall, co. Cumberland; Isabel, wife of Thomas Calvert (or Calverley), of Cockerham Hall; Jane, married (1) to Richard Kirkby, of Ireleth, (2) to Robert Lamplugh, of Dovenby, co. Cumberland, (3) to Henry Tolson, of Bridekirk, co. Cumberland, and (4) to Anthony Patrickson, of Stockhow Hall, co. Cumberland; and Dorothy, wife of William Burrowe, of Lubeck. William, the third son, who succeeded his brother George to Up Rawcliffe, married (1) Isabel, daughter of John Butler, of Kirkland Hall, by Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas ffarington, of Farington Hall, by whom he had no issue, and (2) Isabel, daughter of William Normanville, of St Mawes, co. York (who married secondly Gabriel Crofte, of Claughton Hall), by whom he had—William, whose name appears on the recusant rolls till 1633; Edward, of Up Rawcliffe, recusant 1613 seq.; John; George; Dorothy, wife of John Harrison; Isabel, wife of Robert White, of Cross House, in Great Eccleston; and Anne. William, the eldest son, of Up Rawcliffe Hall, married Jane, daughter of Thomas ffleetwood, of Calwich Hall, co. Stafford, baron of Newton, co. Lancaster, by Mary, daughter of Sir Richard Sherburne, of Stonyhurst. Her brother Sir Richard ffleetwood was created a baronet in 1611. They had issue a son, Thomas Kirkby, a staunch recusant throughout his life, who married Anne, daughter of John Langtree, brother of Edward Langtree, of Langtree Hall, and had issue—William, born 1621, became a gentleman volunteer in the royal army, and lost his life in the cause; Thomas, an officer in the royal army, slain in Lancashire; Edward, also a gentleman volunteer, and slain in the same cause about 1643; Isabel; and Anne. The father, Thomas Kirkby, sold the manor of Upper Rawcliffe to the Westbys of Mowbreck Hall, and retired to Great Eccleston, where he died about 1661–2. The purchaser, George Westby, a major in the royal army, suffered much for his recusancy and loyalty and had his estates forfeited and sold by the Parliamentary party in 1653, though Upper Rawcliffe was bought in for him by his friends. He rebuilt the old hall of the Kirkbys, Domina Anna ux Georgij Middleton,[1] mil et Bart which contained a domestic chapel, and in which Mass had been long said, and which was continued in the new one throughout the days of persecution. The Westbys changed the name from Upper Rawcliffe Hall to White Hall, the better to distinguish it from Rawcliffe Hall, the seat of the Butlers.

[1] The Middletons, of Leighton Hall, were descended from a younger son of the Middletons, of Middleton Hall, co. Westmoreland, and returned pedigrees at the various Visitations of Westmoreland and Lancashire. Sir Geoffrey Middleton, third son of John de Middleton, of Middleton Hall, married Alison, dau. and coheiress of James Crofte, of Dalton, in Furness, whose ancestor, Robert Crofte, had obtained Leighton Conyers through his marriage with Isolda, dau. and heiress of Robert Conyers, whose wife was Alice, dau. and heiress of Adam de Redmayne, of Leighton Hall, and his wife Ellen, dau. and heiress of Adam de Avranches, of Leighton. Sir George Middleton, son and heir of Thomas Middleton, and his wife Catherine, dau. of Thomas Hoghton, of Hoghton Tower, and sister of Sir Richard Hoghton, Bart, who appears in earlier recusant rolls, was a brave and active colonel of royalists during the civil wars, and was knighted by Charles I at Durham, June 26, 1642, and created a baronet by letters dated the following day. On the decline of the royal cause he had to compound for his estate, but after the restoration he served the office of sheriff of Lancashire, 14–15 Car. II. He married (1) Frances, dau. and heiress of Richard Rigg, of Little Strickland, co. Westmoreland, and (2), Anne, dau. of George Preston, of Holker Hall. by whom he had an only son, Thomas, who died young. Sir George died Feb. 27, 1673, aged 73, and his widow Anne survived him till April 12, 1705. By his first wife Sir George had a son Geoffrey, who died young, and a dau. Mary, who became sole heiress. She married Somerford Oldfield, of Somerford Hall, co. Chester, and had issue—George Middleton Oldfield, who after the death of Lady Anne Middleton resided at Leighton Hall; Anne, who married in Nov., 1679, Edmund Gooden, of Pendleton and Little Bolton, who died in 1706; Katherine, wife of Thomas Fletcher, of Moresby Hall (upon whom Sir Henry Fletcher, Bart., of Hutton Hall, co. Cumberland, settled his estate when he retired to the Franciscan Convent at Douay in 1710), who apostatized after the Rising of 1715, and turned general informer against Catholic Charitable Trusts, but died s.p.; and three daughters who died unmarried. By Lady Clarke, his wife, George Middleton Oldfield, who died in 1708, had an only son, who died young in 1705, and hence the Middleton estates in Lancashire and Westmoreland passed to the heiress of Mrs Gooden. The Goodens (or Goldens) had been long settled at Little Bolton and at the Old and New Halls in Pendleton, and Edmund Gooden's brother, Peter, was chaplain to Lady Middleton at Leighton Hall, and it was through this circumstance that he had been introduced to his wife. They had issue an only son who died young, and a daughter Dorothy, the eventual heiress of the Middleton estates, who married Albert Hodgson, of the ancient Catholic family seated at Hebburn Hall, co. Durham. Albert Hodgson was actively engaged in the Jacobite rising of 1715, and suffered a long imprisonment, and confiscation of his life interest in the Leighton estate. This remained in the hands of the Commissioners for Forfeited Estates till 1722, when it was sold by auction, and purchased by a friend for Mr Hodgson, who again took up his residence at Leighton Hall, where he was living in 1740. His wife's will was dated 1751. He left two daughters and coheiresses, Anne, wife of George Towneley, fourth son of Charles Towneley, of Towneley Hall, who rebuilt Leighton Hall, and resided there till 1782, and dying in 1786, aged eighty, devised the estate to his nephew, John Towneley, of Towneley Hall; and Mary, who married in 1737 Bryan Hawarden, of Wigan, surgeon, younger son of John Hawarden, of Lower House, in Widnes, but o.s.p. John Towneley sold the estate to Alexander Worswick, of Ellel Grange, son of Thomas Worswick, of Todderstaffe Hall, by Alice, dau. of Robert Gillow, of Lancaster. Alexander died in 1814, and his son Thomas Worswick sold Leighton Hall to his cousin Richard Gillow, of Ellel Grange. There was always a chapel in Leighton Hall, which was continuously served by a chaplain till 1782, when Mr Towneley, before leaving the hall, settled his domestic chaplain, the Rev. Michael Wharton in a house and chapel at Warton. In 1852 Richard Thomas Gillow, of Leighton Hall, lord of the manor of Warton, erected a new church from the designs of E. G. Paley, and it was opened Aug. 5 in that year. The list of priests serving the chapel commences with George Beesley in 1588, and his relative John Beesley died at Leighton in 1661.

[1] The Washingtons had been seated at Warton for many generations, and were the ancestors of George Washington, the first President of the United States. Ralph Sheldon, the antiquary, in his Miscellaneous Pedigrees MSS in the writer's possession, compiled about 1680 to 1684, gives a descent of the Washingtons of Warton, which is included in the following notes. John Washington, of Warton, had issue—John; and Robert, of Warton, who married (1) a Westfield of the parish of Cartmel, and (2) a dau. of Thomas Whittington, of Borwick Hall in Warton. Robert, by his second wife, left issue—John Washington, of Warton, who married Margaret, dau. of Robert Kytson, of Borwick, and sister of Sir Thomas Kytson, of Hengrave Hall, co. Suffolk, Lord Mayor of London, whose dau. and heiress Mary became the wife of Thomas Darcy, Earl Rivers, whose dau. and coheiress, Lady Penelope Darcy, carried the Hengrave estate in marriage to her second husband, Sir John Gage, of Firle, co. Suffolk, Bart, whose third son, Sir Edward Gage, inherited Hengrave, and was created a baronet in 1662; Thomas Washington; and Helen, wife of John Mason. John Washington had issue—Laurence, of Gray's Inn, who received a grant of Sulgrave, parcel of the dissolved monastery of St Andrew, co. Northampton, who died in 1585; Nicholas; Leonard; Peter; Thomas; and Joan, wife of Humphrey Gardiner, of Glasson, whose will was proved in 1561. From the younger sons descended several families of Washington resident in Warton and Dalton, Laurence, Nicholas and Robert being favourite names, some of whom appear in the recusant rolls. Laurence the eldest son, of Sulgrave, married Anne, dau. of Robert [Sheldon says Laurence] Pargiter, and she died in 1564, leaving issue—Robert Washington; Anne, wife of Edmund Forster; and Frances, wife of John Thompson, of Sulgrave. John, a younger son of Robert, emigrated to America in 1657, and was the father of Laurence, whose second son, Augustine, was father to George Washington, the first President of the United States.

[2] Robert Middleton, of Warton, was a younger brother of Sir George Middleton, Bart, of Leighton Hall. He married Jane, dau. of Thomas Kytson, of Killington, co. Westmoreland, and at the Visitation of 1664 was forty-six years of age, and had three children—Thomas, aged twenty-six, George, and Anne. Robert Middleton remained on the rolls till his death in 1681. The roll for 1680–1 gives "Maria uxor Georg' Middleton de Warton, gen." His two sons must have died without issue, otherwise the Leighton estate would have gone to them according to the entail.

[3] The Hubberstys were substantial yeomen, long resident in Yealand Conyers, and were always recusants.

[4] Mary, wife of Christopher Carus, of Halton Hall, was the youngest dau. of Richard Stanley, of Great Eccleston Hall, by Mary, dau. of Lambert Tyldesley, and sister and sole heiress of Thomas Tyldesley, of Garret Hall, in Tyldesley. Her husband was aged twenty-eight at the Visitation of 1664, the pedigree being signed by his father, Thomas Carus, then fifty-two years of age. The family also returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1567, as likewise at that of Westmoreland, whence they derived, in 1615. The manor of Halton was purchased in 1583 from Philip, Earl of Arundel, and Lady Anne, his wife, one of the daughters of Thomas, Lord Dacre, by Sir Christopher Carus, a younger son of Sir Thomas Carus, of Kirkby Lonsdale, co. Westmoreland, Justice of the King's Bench. Sir Thomas married Katherine, dau. of Thomas Preston, of Preston Patrick, and resided at Halton Hall before it was purchased by his son. His eldest son, Thomas, resided at Quernmore Park, an estate belonging to his maternal relatives, the Prestons, of Preston Patrick and the Manor of Furness. Christopher Carus, named in the text, had issue—Thomas Carus, born in 1661; George, of Lancaster, and sometime of West Hall, in Whittington, who died in 1727, having married Frances, daughter of Henry Blundell, of Ince Blundell Hall, and had issue, Thomas, George, and a dau. Frances, who married her second cousin Richard Butler, son of Christopher Butler of Rawcliffe; Mary; Katherine; Judith, ob. infans; and Bridget. Thomas Carus, the eldest son, of Halton Hall and West Hall, had issue—Christopher, who joined the Chevalier de St George in 1715, was taken prisoner, and was tried and condemned to death, Feb. 2, 1716, but no time fixed for execution; George, of Lancaster, who was outlawed for his part in the Jacobite Rising; Thomas, who apostatized and publicly attended service at Halton Parish church on Feb. 14, 1714; and Mary, who died in 1690. Halton was seized by the Commissioners for Forfeited Estates, but seems to have been partially recovered by the apostate Thomas Carus, who resided at West Hall, married a Wilson of Casterton Hall, and had issue—Thomas, born Oct. 5, 1712; Wilson, bapt. April 1, 1720; George, bapt. Aug. 7, 1721; William, bapt. Aug. 7, 1722; and Grace, bapt. Sept. 13, 1723.In 1742 administration was granted to the estates of the three brothers, Christopher, George, and Thomas, and in the following year the last's son, Thomas, sold his interest in the Halton estate to William Bradshaw. Thus this ancient family, annually appearing in the recusant rolls, came to a lamentable end. Bryan Carus, of Wennington, named later in the text, was the third son of Thomas Carus, of Halton Hall, by his wife Anne, dau. and heiress of Myles Huddleston, of West Hall,Newton, in the parish of Whittington.

[1] Christopher Rigmaiden was of Lancaster, and a recusant in 1680. He was no doubt descended from a younger son of the Rigmaydens of Wedacre Hall, who returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1567. There were two Benedictines and a Jesuit belonging to one of the junior branches of this family—Dom John Maurus Rigmayden alias Smith, O.S.B., born 1672, died 1759, and his nephew Dom Simeon Benedict Rigmayden, O.S.B., born 1707, died 1749, and Fr John Rigmayden alias Rothwell, S.J., born 1709, who was residing in Mr Anderton's house in Preston, belonging to Caryll, Lord Molyneux, in Dec., 1745, and in 1746 passed to the Durham district, and in 1749 was placed at Kilvington Hall, where he died in 1782.

[2] Some of this family resided at Catforth Hall, in Woodplumpton, where Robert Kellet was a Catholic non-juror in 1717. His will was proved Sept. 15, 1726, by his executors, Leonard and Henry Kellet. By his wife, Jane, he had issue—John, Robert, Ralph, Ellen, and Margaret. The will of the eldest son John, of Catforth Hall, was proved by his executors, Jane, his widow, and Robert Kellet, his brother, March 22, 1747. Robert, the second son of Robert, appears to have been the father of Dom Robert Augustine Kellet, O.S.B., who was born in 1732, and died in 1809. Other grandsons of Robert Kellet, the non-juror, were—Rev. Henry Kellet, of Burscough Hall, who died there in 1808; and Robert Kellet, of Catforth Hall, who married Elizabeth, daughter of Robert Haydock, of Leach Hall (now Bartle Hall). The last had issue—Robert Kellet, of Woodplumpton, who married Elizabeth Walton, and had five children; Rev. Richard Kellet, fifty-four years chaplain to the nuns at St Clare's Abbey, Darlington, who died at an advanced age Oct. 26, 1877; and Anne, spinster, of Preston.

[1] She was a daughter of Henry Remington and his wife Margaret, recusants in 1650 seq. The family was long settled at Bolton Head, in Melling, where the estate of Reginald Remington was administered to in 1599. His son, Robert, was father of Reginald Remington, who died in March, 1681, and had issue, by Anne his wife, Robert, John, Thomas, Henry, Elizabeth, and Jennet, who all died intestate, and also a son William, of Melling, who died in 1702. By his first wife, M. T., the latter had—Reginald, of Melling, who married Elizabeth Wilson and died in 1712; Elizabeth, wife of Robert B., and Anne, wife of Leonard C. By his second wife William had issue—John, Robert, and Elizabeth. Reginald, the eldest son, was the father of Henry Remington, of Melling, who, by his wife, Isabel Bainbrig, had issue a son Reginald Remington, of The Crow Trees, in Melling, J.P., born in 1770, the friend of Lingard the historian, who married in 1796 Catherine, daughter of Thomas Machell, of Aynsome, and had issue Henry, of The Crow Trees, J.P., born 1797. Henry married, in 1826, Mary, only child of George Ashburner, of Holm Bank, Ulverston, and had issue—Reginald, born 1827, a Protestant clergyman; George, Henry, Thomas-Machell, Agnes, wife of Rev. Thomas Edmund Petty, of Bardsea, and Catherine. The family lost the faith towards the end of the seventeenth century.

[2] Two brothers of this family became priests—James, born Sept. 8, 1707, son of Richard Layfield and his wife Elizabeth Atkinson, who was ordained priest at Rome March 16, 1726, and Christopher, born Sept. 13, 1713, who was ordained priest at Douay, Dec. 22, 1742, and after remaining as prefect-general, left for the mission July 7, 1745, and was placed at Tixall, in Staffordshire, the seat of Lord Aston, where he died Sept. 27, 1761. James, the elder brother, left Rome Sept. 9, 1728, to be chaplain to the nuns at Liège, and afterwards came to the mission at Wolverhampton, and finally removed to Oscott, where he died Feb. 5, 1756. He was elected to the Old Chapter on Nov. 29, 1752. Administration to the estate of Richard Layfield, of Claughton, was granted in 1684, and to that of Richard Layfield, of Lancaster, probably the father of the two priests, in 1717.

[3] William Sweetlove, of Claughton, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and administration to his estate was granted in 1719. His son, Thomas, was also a Catholic non-juror in 1717, and his will was proved in 1734.

[4] The Croftes, of Claughton Hall, had been the manorial lords of Claughton in Lonsdale from a remote century, and yet they did not return a pedigree at any of the Visitations. They appear in the rolls from 1591, Edward, Gabriel, and Henry being favourite names with the family. Eventually an heiress carried the estate to the Cansfields, of Robert Hall. The chapel in the hall, however, which had been regularly served throughout the days of persecution, was maintained by the Cansfields and their successors, the Gerards of Bryn. Claughton Hall, dating from the time of Henry VII, was a most interesting example of an early manorial residence. A low gateway, with an oriel window above, opened into the quadrangle. The terrace front was flanked with two quaint towers, with long transomed windows above. A younger branch of the family resided at West End, or Claughton House, and of this branch were no doubt the Croftes of the text. In 1717 Margaret Crofte, of Claughton, widow, and her son William were Catholic non-jurors. She was probably the widow of Henry Crofte, whose will was proved in 1710. West End eventually passed with the daughter and heiress of Henry Crofte to Mr Knowles, of Claughton, and through his son Henry's daughter and heiress to Samuel Still, of London.

[1] Mary Girlington was the youngest daughter of Sir John Girlington, of Thurland Castle, in Tunstall, a major-general in the royal army, slain in 1645.

[2] The ffaithwaites, or ffarthwayte as the name was more usually written, had long resided at Littledale, in Caton. The inquisition post mortem of Henry Farthwaite, of Littledale, gentleman, was taken March 16, 1627, when it was found that he was seised of considerable estate in fee, that he died April 30, 1624, and that Thomas, then aged thirteen years and seven months, was his son and heir. The will of Anthony ffaithwait, of Littledale, was proved in 1606, and that of a namesake, of the same, in 1639.

[3] The Townsons had resided at Littledale, in Caton, for a very long period. Christopher subsequently removed to Melling, where administration to his estate was granted in 1701. There were several Benedictines of this family. Dom John Townson, D.D., was professed at Lambspring in 1674, and died in 1718, Dom Thomas Augustine Townson was professed at Lambspring in 1688, and died in 1722, and Bro. William Andrew Townson was professed at Douay in 1695, and died in 1711.

[4] The Copelands, probably descended from the ancient Lancashire family of their name, were agents to the Daltons, of Thurnham Hall, for their Bulk, Aldcliffe, and other estates. They resided at Dolphin Lee, over the entrance to which is still a stone inscribed with the initials L C E, standing for Laurence Copeland and his wife. He was steward to the Daltons in 1641 and died at Dolphin Lee in 1651. Administration to the estate of his son, Robert Copeland, named in the text, of Dolphin Lee, was granted in 1670, and to those of Thomas Copeland in 1676 and John Copeland in 1697, both of Dolphin Lee. Mary Copeland, widow of Thomas, of Aldcliffe, whose will was proved in 1697, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717, residing on the Dalton estate at Aldcliffe, as also her son Henry Copeland, whose will was proved in 1746. The family always retained the faith. John Copeland alias Street, of Lancashire, took the oath at Douay College in 1638. Mass was said in the old chapel in Dolphin Lee from a very early period. The pre-Reformation chalice, from the parish church of Caton, was the one in regular use at Dolphin Lee till the service there was discontinued, when it was handed over to the priest serving Claughton Hall and Robert Hall by the successors of the Copelands at Dolphin Lee, the Balls, whence it was transferred to Hornby mission. The Balls, who regularly appear in the recusant rolls, are strangely omitted from the present list. They were long tenants of the Daltons on their Thurnham and Cockerham estates. Administration to the estate of Rudolph Ball, of Cockerham, was granted in 1685, and one of his books with his autograph was formerly in the possession of the Rev. William Ball, of Westby. William Ball, of Cockerham, by his wife Cicely, who was probably a Worthington, had issue—Robert, of Scale Hall, near Lancaster, who seems to have been the first to succeed the Copelands at Dolphin Lee; Thomas, of Thurnham, Catholic non-juror in 1717; and George, born 1678, who was ordained priest at Rome in 1704, served Mosborough Hall, the seat of the Molyneux family, for many years, till he removed in 1728 to Moor Hall, the seat of Mrs Wolfall, where he seems to have died in Nov., 1734. Robert, the eldest son, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, by his wife, Winefred, daughter of Mr Taylor, of Park Hall, Quernmore, had issue—William, of Dolphin Lee; George Ball alias Worthington, born Jan. 2, 1703, s.v., who went to Douay, where he was admitted June 15, 1717, was ordained priest April 2, 1729, and after teaching syntax left the college for the mission June 25, 1730, is thought to have served Dolphin Lee for a time, then Warwick Hall, Cumberland, the seat of the Warwicks, and was rural dean, till his death, April 26, 1748; Edward, born Augt 5, 1717, who went to Douay in 1730, assumed the alias of Worthington, was ordained priest Sept. 23, 1741, and retained as a professor till Augt 6, 1747, when he was placed at Ugthorpe, co. York, thence in 1750 was transferred to Great Eccleston, in the Fylde, which he left for Paynesley, co. Stafford, in 1757, was transferred to Wolverhampton in 1759, after several years became chaplain at the Sardinian Chapel, was there 1773–4, and finally went to teach at St Omer's College, where he died Feb. 16, 1789; John, born March 13, 1722, who was admitted at Douay under the alias of Worthington, Aug. 3, 1735, ordained priest March 26, 1746, left Feb. 26, 1747, lived many years at Brailes, the seat of the Bishop family, which he left on account of the persecution of Mr Holland, an attorney of Cleobury, and brother to Mrs Bishop, and became confessarius at the Augustinian convent at Bruges in 1775, but was recalled by his bishop in 1778, and became chaplain to Sir Richard Acton, Bart, at Aldenham Hall, co. Salop, where he died Jan. 6, 1781; Robert, who married and had Elizabeth, spr, of Lancaster, and Alice, wife of Mr Ward; and Winefrid, O.S.B., of Cambray, who died Oct. 27, 1774. William, the eldest son of Dolphin Lee, had issue—Robert, of Dolphin Lee, who married Agnes Roe, sister of the Rev. John Roe, of Blackladies, co. Stafford, and she died Dec. 26, 1801; William, who had several children; Winifred, wife of Robert Croskell, of Bulk; Cecily, wife of John Varley, of Worcester, formerly of Lancashire, and mother of the Rev. Robert Varley, who died at Hales Place, Canterbury, June 27, 1821; Alice, wife of Mr Walmesley, of Lancaster; Nancy, wife of Mr Dobson, of London; and Mary, wife of Signor Pierelli, of Naples. Robert, the eldest son, had issue—William, of Bulk, who married Sept. 29, 1798, Mary, daughter of Mr Layfield, of Lancaster; Robert, who married in Jan., 1806, Agnes, daughter of Mr Corless; Agnes, wife of Mr Robinson; Mary, wife of Mr Slezack; Dorothy, who married Nov. 13, 1795, Randolph Penswick, agent to the Gerards of Bryn, brother to Bishop Thomas Penswick, V.A.—N.D., and the Rev. John Penswick; Alice, who married William Frith, of Sheffield, and was mother of Rev. Randolph Frith, ordained at Ushaw in 1835, who died at New Brighton in 1893; and Sarah, wife of Mr Bone. Later members of the family were—the Rev. John Ball, of Doncaster, who died at York in 1847, aged forty-six, the Rev. John Ball, who died in 1854, and the Rev. William Ball, ordained at Ushaw, Sept. 21, 1850, who served successively Thurnham Hall, Kirkham, and Westby, and died at Dolphin Lee, June 27, 1880.

[1] The Croskells, of Bulk, the name in early times appearing as Cross-gill and Crosskill, were leaseholders under the Daltons of Thurnham. Most of them resided at Ellel about this period, and it would seem that Christopher of the text, son of Robert Croskell, removed there before his death, administration to his estate being dated 1680. He had issue amongst others—Robert, of Bulk, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, whose will was proved Nov. 4, 1727, by his executors, Robert Birkett and Thomas Bennison, gen.; Thomas, of Ellel, will proved by Thomas Gardner, his son-in-law, and Thomas Croskell, his grandson, Dec. 8, 1739; Christopher, of Lancaster, who had a daughter Anne, living in 1717; and Dorothy, of Scotforth, spr, administration to whose estate was granted to her brother Robert in April, 1725. Robert, the eldest son, had issue a son John, of Bulk, whose widow, Elizabeth, administered to his estate July 9, 1747. John's son, Robert, of Bulk, married Winifred, daughter of William Ball, of Dolphin Lee, died at Bulk July 3, 1814, and left issue—John, who went to Sedgley Park School in 1777; William, who went to Sedgley in 1779, thence to Douay, where he arrived Oct. 1, 1783, was imprisoned at Dourlens during the French Revolution, and after release was ordained priest at York in 1795, and died grand-vicar of the Northern District in 1838, aged seventy; Thomas, who went to Sedgley in 1788, and died at Bulk, Feb. 1, 1860, aged eighty-one; Charles, of Holme-on-Spalding Moor, agent to Lord Stourton, whose son Charles, born in 1813, settled in York, represented the Guildhall ward in the Council from 1862 till his death, Aug. 2, 1891, and was the father of Canon Charles Croskell, of Leeds, and James Croskell; and Elizabeth, who married April 8, 1793, George Corbishley, of Claughton in Lonsdale and Cockersand Abbey, grandson of Samuel Corbishley, of Claughton, who died in 1720, and father of Robert Corbishley, of London, who died in Dec., 1857, aged fifty-two, leaving by Anne, daughter of Henry Wolfe, of Peel, near Lytham, William Wolfe Corbishley, of London, Rev. Robert, of Manchester, Very Rev. Canon Thomas, died 1905, Charles, and Mgr Joseph Corbishley, V.P. of Ushaw College. Thomas Croskell, who died in 1860, by his wife, a daughter of John Coulston, of Lancaster, had issue—the Rt Rev. Mgr Robert, born at Liverpool, Jan. 20, 1808, ordained priest at Ushaw, June 13, 1835, provost of Salford, died at Levenshulme, Manchester, Dec. 12, 1902, aged almost ninety-five; Gabriel, of Lancaster; and Thomas, ordained priest at Ushaw, Sept. 21, 1850, many years procurator there, and died at Lancaster, Jan. 2, 1901, aged eighty. Gabriel, who was named after his uncle Gabriel Coulston, married, in 1843, Margaret, daughter of John Leeming, of Ridge, near Lancaster, and left issue the Rt Rev. Mgr Thomas Croskell, now of Rusholme, Manchester, who went to Sedgley Park School 1856–59, and thence to Ushaw, where he was ordained priest, Nov. 1, 1872.

[2] Margareta uxor Henrici Rivington de Claughton, husb., was on the roll for 1 Car. I (1625–6).

[3] The Sergeants of Aldcliffe and Ellel were wealthy yeomen. The will of Robert Sergeant, of Aldcliffe, was proved in 1697, and that of Thomas Sergeant, of the same, in 1690. Roger Sergeant, of Aldcliffe, was a recusant in 1679. The estate of William Sergeant, of Ellel, appearing later in the text, and also in the rolls till 1684, was administered to in 1708. One of them was the father of John Sergeant, of Hessam (or Hesom) Sike, in Ellel, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, who registered estate there, and in Lancaster, Wyresdale, Skerton, Gressingham, and Claughton in Lonsdale Hundred. By his wife, Dorothy Thornton, he had issue—Robert, of Hessam Sike in Ellel, administration to whose estate was granted in 1745; John, born Jan. 3, 1714, s.v., who was admitted into Douay College, Sept. 30, 1735, ordained priest March 19, 1744, left for the mission Augt 2, 1745, met the Prince's troops at Preston, was seized and taken to Lancaster Castle, but liberated, and placed in charge of the mission of Wyresdale and Scorton, where he died Augt 31, 1795, and was buried at Cockerham. He had a controversy with Thomas Hunter, the vicar of Garstang in 1753, and he also published a book entitled The Turk and the Pope. Another John Sergeant, supposed to be of the same family, went to Sedgley Park School in 1791, thence to Valladolid, where he was ordained priest, was many years chaplain at Spanish Place, London, but died at Liverpool, Sept. 1, 1825. He was a frequent contributor to the Orthodox Journal, and other Catholic periodicals, under the signature of J. S.

[1] The Girlingtons, of Hackforth Hall, co. York, descended from the Girlingtons, of Girlington Hall, co. York, acquired Thurland Castle, in Cantsfield, by purchase from Francis Tunstall, who removed to Scargill Castle, co. York, between 1600 and 1604, at which period John Girlington first appears as of Thurland Castle in the recusant rolls. Pedigrees of Girlington, of Girlington Hall and of Hackforth Hall, appear in the Visitations of Yorkshire, and of Thurland Castle in the Visitations of Lancashire in 1613 and 1664. The Lancashire returns are unsatisfactory, many names being omitted, and the issue of younger sons entirely ignored. John Girlington, the purchaser of Thurland Castle, was the fourth son of Nicholas Girlington, of Hackforth Hall, by Dorothy, daughter of Robert Meynell, of Hawnby Hall, co. York, serjeant-at-law, and her sister Joan Meynell was the wife of Ninian Girlington, of Girlington Hall. By his wife Christian, daughter of Sir William Babthorpe, of Babthorpe Hall, John had issue—Nicholas, of Thurland Castle, who married Jane, daughter and coheiress of Josias Lambert, of Calton, co. York, son of John Calton, by Anne, daughter of Richard Redman, of Harewood Castle; William, of Cantsfield, who, with his wife Margaret, was a recusant in 1625 seq., and was probably the father of Dom John Girlington, O.S.B., professed at Paris in 1653, prior of Dieulward, 1677–81, who subsequently came to the mission; John, of Gray's Inn, whose will was proved in 1626; Anthony, of Thurland Castle, a captain in the royal army, who was slain at or near the castle during its siege in 1643; Dorothy, wife of William Salvin, of Newbiggin Hall, co. York; Frances, wife of Mr Collingwood, of Bawtry, co. Notts; and Faith, wife of Ralph Carre. Nicholas, the eldest son, had issue—Josias, aged one at the Visitation of 1613, who died young; Sir John, knighted by Charles I, who defended Thurland Castle, the last stronghold of the King in Lancashire, during a siege of eleven weeks till its surrender in Oct., 1643; Nicholas, living unmarried in 1664; Christian, unmarried in 1664; and Mary, wife of Cuthbert Collingwood, of Dalden, co. Durham. Lieut. William Girlington, slain in the royal cause during the civil wars, was either a brother or cousin of Sir John, though he is omitted from the pedigrees. Sir John was a major-general in the royal army, and lost his life in the battle near Melton Mowbray, co. Leicester, in 1645. He married his cousin, Katherine, daughter of Thomas Girlington, and had issue—Nicholas, living in 1642, who seems to have died young; John, aged twenty-seven at the Visitation of 1664; William; Anne, wife of Robert Cole, of Beaumont Cote; and Mary, the spinster named earlier in the text. John, the eldest son, married Margaret, daughter of James Duckett, of Grayrigg Hall, co. Westmoreland, by Magdalen, daughter of Sir Henry Curwen, of Workington Hall, and probably was the John Girlington, of Hornby, whose will was proved in 1706, as Thurland Castle had been demolished in 1643. He had issue four daughters—Magdalen, aged eight at the Visitation of 1664; Katherine; Elizabeth; and Margaret. Magdalen, the eldest daughter and eventual sole heiress, became the wife of Henry Butler, of Rawcliffe Hall, her marriage articles being dated Dec. 13, 1683. Henry Butler about 1709 conveyed all his estate to his son Richard, who was taken prisoner at the battle of Preston in 1715, condemned to death, and his estates forfeited, but died in prison in London in 1716. The Thurland Castle estate, however, was settled upon Richard's infant daughter and heiress, Catherine Butler, who married in 1729 Philip Markham, of Ollerton Hall, co. Notts, but died under age and sine prole, when the Thurland estate was sold. John Girlington, son of one of the younger sons of John Girlington and Christian Babthorpe, was living in 1662, and had issue—Richard, of St Worth, appearing earlier in the text under Hoghton, who married Anne, daughter of Thomas Gillibrand, of Chorley (or Gillibrand) Hall, by Anne, daughter of William Blundell, of Crosby Hall, and relict of William Hesketh, of North Meols Hall; and John, born at Thurland, who was ordained priest at Lisbon, and came to the mission in 1684, and died Augt 13, 1729, at Sunderland Bridge, Durham, the last of his family. The latter has been confused by Abbot Snow (Necrology O.S.B.) with his namesake the Benedictine. Richard Girlington, of Withnell, had issue a child buried at Brindle Augt 22, 1654, and a daughter Elizabeth buried there Jan. 26, 1693, whom he followed to the same grave on March 23, 1698.

[1] The Cansfields, or Cantsfields, had possessed Cantsfield Hall, in Tunstall parish, and Robert Hall, in Tatham parish, from a remote period, but through some cause or other did not return a pedigree at any of the Visitations. Early in the 16th century Elizabeth, daughter and sole heiress of Robert Cantsfield, of Cantsfield Hall, married William Charnock, of Charnock Hall and Leyland Old Hall, but Cantsfield reverted to the younger branch seated at Robert Hall. Thomas Cansfield, of Robert Hall and Cantsfield Hall, married Frances, daughter of Brian Fowler, of St Thomas' Priory, co. Stafford, and had issue—Sir John Cansfield, the Royalist, who was badly wounded at Newbury, in 1643, and after spending some time on the Continent, during which he visited Rome in 1646, died from the effects of his injuries; Brian, baptized at Tatham, Dec. 17, 1580, entered the Society of Jesus at Rome in 1604, and used the alias of Christopher Benson, subsequently came to the mission, was seized at the altar and imprisoned in York Castle, whence he obtained his discharge only to die from the effects of his ill-treatment Aug. 3, 1643; Dame Mary Anne, who become a nun at the Benedictine convent at Brussels in 1598, and died in 1611; Elizabeth, Blanch of the text, and Mary, all spinsters and recusants at Robert Hall in 1621. Sir John, by his wife Isabel, daughter of Thomas Ashton, of Croston Hall, had issue—John, of Robert Hall and Cantsfield Hall, who married Elizabeth, daughter and heiress of James Anderton, of Birchley Hall, by Anne, daughter of Sir Walter Blount, of Sodington Hall, co. Worcester, Bart.; Charles, who was admitted into the college at Rome March 17, 1639, aged twenty-six, and adopted the alias of Ashton, was ordained priest July 5, 1643, came to the mission in 1645, became a canon of the Old Chapter in 1667, and died in 1694; and several daughters, some of whom became nuns. John, the eldest son, died Augt 29, and his wife Elizabeth Feb. 19, 1680, and were buried at Tatham Church, where a monument commemorates them. They had issue two daughters and coheiresses—Anne, wife of Richard Sherburne, of Stonyhurst, who died s.p., and Mary, ultimately sole heiress to the Cansfield and Anderton estates, who married Sir William Gerard, of Bryn, fifth Bart, whose descendants still own Robert Hall and Cantsfield Hall, now degenerated into farm-houses. The ancient chapel at Robert Hall, which was served continuously throughout penal times, is now in a very dilapidated condition.

[1] The Garnetts of Cantsfield were an ancient family, and appear annually in the recusant rolls. Stephen Garnett, of Lancashire, was ordained priest and came to England from Douay in 1581. The will of William Garnett, of Cantsfield, was proved in 1604. Richard Garnett, son of William Garnett and Mary his wife, was born at Cantsfield about 1680, took his degree of B.A. at Trinity College, Cambridge, and was received into the Church by Mr John Redman, the priest at Robert Hall, and afterwards lived for some time with another priest, Reginald Battie, who at this time was probably at Cantsfield Hall or Over Burrow Hall. He sent him to Rome, where he was admitted in 1605, and assumed the alias of Fisher. He was ordained priest in 1606, and went to Douay College in 1609, whence he left for England in 1610. Edmund Garnett, of Lancashire, went to the college at Valladolid in 1670, and was ordained priest in 1674. Nicholas Garnett, of Cantsfield, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717.

[2] Administration to the estate of Evan Pilkington, of Sturzaker, in Garstang parish, was granted in 1668.

[3] Mary Carus was the young daughter of Thomas Carus of Halton Hall, and of West Hall in Whittington, by his second wife Mary, daughter of Thomas Stanley, of Great Eccleston Hall (natural son of Henry Stanley, Earl of Derby), by Mary, daughter of Robert Hesketh, of Rufford Hall, and widow of Richard Barton, of Barton Hall. Mrs Carus was the widow of Captain John Butler, of Kirkland Hall, who was slain at Marston Moor, July 2, 1644, whose young children in consequence were brought up Protestants by the trustees, all his ancestors and relations having previously been staunch Catholics. George Carus, own-brother to Mary of the text, was baptized at Whittington, Oct. 6, 1651.

[4] Lucy, widow of Richard North, of Docker Hall, in Whittington parish, was the second daughter of Thomas Carus, of Halton Hall, who acquired West Hall, in Whittington, with his wife, Anne, daughter and heiress of Miles Huddleston, who erected West Hall. The Norths were living at Docker Hall in the reign of Queen Mary. They appear annually in the recusant rolls from 1591. John North, of Docker Hall, his wife Margaret, and his children, Richard, Thomas, John, Margaret, Alice, and Ellen, all appear in the rolls temp. Jac. I and Car. I. John, the son, was ordained priest at Douay April 5, 1631, using the alias of Lancaster, and thence sent to Lisbon to be prefect of studies. He is probably the North mentioned by Dr Southcote as serving some mission in Westmoreland in 1632, and later found serving Thurnham Hall and the vicinity in the last quarter of the seventeenth century. His brother Richard, the husband of Lucy Carus, seems to have died in 1627, and his next brother Thomas succeeded to Docker Hall, whose descendant and namesake died in July, 1790, when the estate was sold. Like many others, the Norths did not return a pedigree at any of the Visitations, though fully entitled to do so.

[5] Anne Batty's will was proved in 1677. She was apparently the widow of Thomas Battie, who died about 1661. The Battys were descended from the ancient family of Battie of Over Burrow Hall, in Tunstall, of which parish Robert Battie died vicar in 1592. Reginald Battie, born in or about 1569, arrived at Douay College in 1590, and left for Rome in 1591. There he was ordained priest March 12, 1594, and left the college for England Dec. 16, 1597. In 1605 he was serving Over Burrow Hall or Cantsfield Hall, probably both. John Battie was a recusant living at Over Burrow Hall in 1620.

[1] Administration to the estate of Anne Apeley, of Poulton-le-Sands, was granted in 1684. The Appleys were a local family.

[2] The Knipes of Burblethwaite Hall were descended from William Knipe, of Burblethwaite Hall, and his wife, a daughter of the ancient family of Broughton, of Broughton Tower, in the parish of Kirkby Ireleth. The will of Thomas Knipe, of Burblethwaite, was proved in 1664. His namesake of the text was no doubt his son. Thomas Knipe, of Burblethwaite Hall, married Isabel, daughter of John Bradshaw, of Scales Hall, and relict of George Smith, of Stalmine Grange. The family appears annually in the rolls down to this period.

[3] Hampsfield Hall, in East Broughton, in the parish of Cartmel, a venerable mansion, was long a residence of the Thornburghs, or Thornboroughs, of Selside Hall, co. Westmoreland, who returned pedigrees at the Visitations of Yorkshire (nominally in 1584–5 to 1612), and Westmoreland in 1615, but none at those of Lancashire. From Rowland de Thornborough, living in the time of Edward I, descended William Thornborough, of Thornborough, co. York, who married a dau. of Sir John Croker, of London, and his son, Sir William Thornborough, of Thornborough, married Anne, dau. of Richard Maleverer, who had issue, William, o.s.p., John, of Hampsfield, co. Lancaster, and Anne, wife of Christopher Curwen. John Thornborough, of Hampsfield, married Elizabeth, dau. of Sir Henry Pierpoint, and had issue, William, who married Catherine, dau. of William Hilton, Thomas, John, and Margaret, wife of William Easton. According to the pedigree in Nicholson's Hist. of Westmoreland, which is not as reliable as it might be, William, the eldest son, had amongst others a son Thomas, who married Jane, dau. of Sir John Dalston, of Dalston, co. Cumberland, and was succeeded by his son Henry, who, by his wife, Elizabeth, dau. of Matthew Booth, had issue—William Thornborough, of Hampsfield Hall, co. Lancaster, and Selside Hall, co. Westmoreland, with whom the pedigree in the Yorkshire Visitations commences; John; Henry; Jane, wife of William Bradshaigh; Catherine, a nun; and Elizabeth, wife of Pierce Starkey. William, the eldest son, married Eleanor, dau. of Sir Richard Musgrave, of Musgrave Hall, co. Westmoreland, and had issue—William, of Hampsfield Hall, who married Elizabeth, dau. and heiress of Sir Thomas Broughton, of Broughton Tower, and had issue—Rowland, who married Margaret, dau. of Sir Geoffrey Middleton, of Middleton Hall, co. Westmoreland; Thomas; Nicholas; Eleanor, wife of Richard Curwen, of Workington Hall, co. Cumberland; Anne, wife of Sir Thomas Preston, of the Manor of Furness; Elizabeth, wife of William Kirkby, of Up Rawcliffe Hall; and Isabel, wife of William Clifton, of Westby Hall. Rowland, the eldest son, had issue—Sir William Thornborough, of Hampsfield Hall, and Selside Hall, who married Thomasine, dau. and coheiress of Sir Robert Bellingham, of Whitwell Hall, co. Westmoreland, whereby the manor of Whitwell was united with that of Selside; Rowland; Eleanor, wife of Thomas Beck; Elizabeth, wife of Thomas Warcop, of Smardale Hall, co. Westmoreland; Anne, wife of Thomas Roos; and Alice, wife of Thomas Kellet, of Winder. Sir William, whose wife died in 15 Eliz. 1572–3, had issue—William who married Etheldred, dau. of Sir Thomas Carus, of Halton Hall, Justice of the King's Bench; Rowland, o.s.p., buried at Cartmel, July 12, 1605; Nicholas, married Isabel, dau. of Robert Salkeld, of Thornemonby, of whom hereafter; Margaret, wife of Richard Fallowfield, of Melcanthorp, co. Westmoreland; Thomasine, wife of Hugh Dicconson, of Blackrod in Aspull; Cicely, married July 23, 1581, to John Wharton, of Kirkby Thore, co. Westmoreland; and Dorothy, wife of Henry Middleton, of Threlkeld. William, the eldest son, who was buried at Cartmel, Oct. 7, 1608, and his wife, Feb. 19, 1596, had issue—Rowland, of Hampsfield Hall, who married Jane, dau. of Thomas Dalton, of Thurnham Hall, by Anne, dau. of Sir Richard Molyneux, of Sefton; Anne; and Thomasine. Rowland, the son, had issue—William, who married Catherine, dau. of Edward Langtree, of Langtree Hall, and Swartbreck Hall in Weeton, by Isabel, dau. of Christopher Anderton, of Lostock Hall; John; Rowland; Francis; Nicholas, buried at Cockersand, Jan. 29, 1622; Etheldred, wife of John Gregson, of Moor Hall; Jane, wife of John Knipe, of Rampside Hall; Anne, married at Cartmel, May 6, 1629, to Henry Bigland, of The Grange; and Thomasine. William Thornborough, the eldest son, who sold parts of the manors of Whitwell and Selside, and also Selside Hall, to his cousin and namesake, the son of Nicholas Thornborough, third son of Sir William, had issue—Rowland, of Methop, co. Westmoreland, who married his kinswoman, a dau. of Hugh Dicconson, of Blackrod in Aspull; Edward, buried at Cartmell, June 7, 1623; James, buried Nov. 23, 1635; Richard; Charles; Elizabeth; and Catherine. Rowland, the eldest son, had issue—Rowland, of Methop, who married Jane, dau. of Thomas Brockholes, of Claughton Hall, by Mary, dau. and heiress of John Holden, of Chaigley Hall; James; and William. Rowland Thornburgh, the eldest son, had issue—Thomas, who died unmarried; Elizabeth, who married John Trafford, of Croston Hall, but ob. s.p.; and several children who died young. Rowland's will was dated Nov. 5, 1708; his widow, who resided at Skelsmergh, co. Westmoreland, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717. After the death of Mrs Trafford, the elder line of the Thornburghs seems to have become extinct. When the family ceased to reside at Hampsfield Hall is not recorded. It was eventually purchased by the Rawlinsons, and is now a farmhouse. The family was continued by the descendants of Nicholas, of Whitwell Hall, third son of Sir William Thornborough, who had issue—William, of Whitwell Hall, who purchased Selside Hall from his cousin and namesake; Thomas; Dorothy; and Thomasine. William married Catherine, dau. of Jerome Hawley, of Brentford, co. Middlesex, and had issue—several children who died unmarried; James who sold Whitwell Hall and Selside Hall to his brother Francis, married a sister of Walter Nicholson, of Grisedale and Whelpside, and had issue two sons, Nicholas and John, and four daughters, whose descendants died out, a dau. of one of the sons probably being Margaret Winefred Thornburgh, Canoness Regular of the Holy Sepulchre at Liège, who died March 25, 1785, aged seventy-one; and Francis, who purchased Selside and Whitwell from his brother, & married Frances, dau. of George Waite, of Leyburn, co. York. The latter had issue—William Thornburgh, of Selside Hall and Whitwell Hall, of whom hereafter; George, who married Rebecca, dau. of Thomas Thornburgh, of Wolston or Wilson House, co. Lancaster, and had, besides a dau. Susanna, a son John, who by his wife Mary, sister of William Newman, of Froyle, co. Hants, had Francis, and Margaret, wife of Gaspar Conti, a professor of Italian in the French military school at Paris; Catherine, spr; Agnes, wife of Thomas Radcliffe, of Dilston, co. Northumberland; Margaret, spr; and Isabel, spr. William Thornburgh, of Selside Hall, the eldest son, a Catholic non-juror in 1717, married Mary, dau. of Captain William Huddleston, of Hale Grange, Kirkby Thore, co. Westmoreland, brother of Dom John Dionysius Huddleston, O.S.B., who received Charles II into the Church, and had issue—Francis Thornburgh, of Selside Hall, and of Leyburn, co. York, who married Katherine, dau. of Thomas Sudell, of Windlass Park and West Witton, co. York; William Thornburgh, ordained priest at Douay, Sept. 20, 1724, took his degree of D.D., May 10, 1731, left the college for the English mission, Jan. 30, 1738, elected president in place of Dr Robert Witham, deceased, Feb. 24, arrived back at the College, July 28, 1739, & revisited England, on account of ill-health shortly before death, which occurred at his brother's house at Leyburn, March 4, 1750, n.s.; George Thornburgh, a druggist, who married Mary, dau. and coheiress of John Dalton, of Thurnham Hall, by Catherine, dau. of Henry Whittingham, of Whittingham Hall, and had issue as hereafter; Frances, wife of Ferdinando Johnson, of Middleton in Teasdale, co. Durham, and was mother of the Rev. Robert Johnson, who died in charge of the mission of Dodding Green, co. Westmoreland, June 2, 1799; Agnes, a nun at Antwerp; Mary, wife of Mr. Huntback, of Essex, o.s.p.; and Ellen, wife of Joseph Tufton, chemist, of London, o.s.p. Francis, the eldest son, joined the army of the Chevalier de St George on Nov. 5, 1715, with his father, who provided him with a servant, as he wore scarlet uniform, and had the title of captain. Notwithstanding, their estate by some means escaped forfeiture. They ceased, however, to reside at Selside Hall, and settled at Leyburn, in Yorkshire, where Francis died in 1774, sine prole.The third son, George Thornburgh, had issue, a son Francis, who died unmarried in 1769, and a dau. and sole heiress, Mary, who married, in 1769, Ralph Riddell, second son of Thomas Riddell, of Swinburne Castle and Felton Park, co. Northumberland, by Mary Margaret, dau. of William Widdrington, of Cheeseburne Grange, co. Northumberland. Ralph Riddell succeeded his maternal uncle, Ralph Widdrington, to the Cheeseburne Grange estate, which is still the seat of his descendants. Selside Hall and the Thornburgh estate thus passed to the Riddells. The greater part of the old hall has been pulled down, and what remains is now a farmhouse. On the first floor of the central block of the mansion, between the two towers, is a priests' hiding place, contrived in the thickness of the cross-wall carrying the chimney of the banqueting hall. It was approached through an aperture under the roof, and under the flooring of the room was another aperture, 2½ ft by 1½ ft, leading by a passage three ft. long into the secret chamber, which apparently was intended to afford ventilation, and by which provisions could be passed.

[1] Bigland Hall had been the seat of the Biglands from time immemorial. They had intermarried with many leading Catholic families, but did not return a pedigree at any of the Visitations, as the heralds did not visit this part of Lancashire, north of the sands. They appear in the recusant rolls till about this period. Henry Bigland, of The Grange, named in the text, baptized at Cartmel, May 18, 1607, was the only son of James Bigland, of The Grange, second son of Henry Bigland, of Bigland Hall, and his wife Isabel Bellingham. He married, May 6, 1629, Anne, daughter of Rowland Thornburgh, of Hampsfield Hall, by Jane, daughter of Thomas Dalton, of Thurnham Hall, and dying in 1667, had issue—Henry, who died in 1646; James, of the text; George; Thomasine, buried March 2, 1645; and Anne, of the text.

[2] The will of Henry Liptrott, of Thurnham, was proved in 1667.

[3] The Haresnapes came with the Daltons to Thurnham from their Bispham estate in the parish of Croston, where they were leaseholders, and appear in the rolls from 1591. Of the Bispham branch were two Benedictines, Bro. Benedict Haresnape, who died in 1760, and his nephew, Dom Thomas Placid Haresnape, who died in 1807, both natives of Ormskirk. William Haresnape, named in the text, died in 1682, leaving two sons—Robert, of Thurnham, a Catholic non-juror in 1717; and William. who died at Thurnham in 1720. Robert's will was proved Feb. 22, 1728, by his son William who, dying in 1759, left a daughter Agnes, wife of Richard Gillow, of Ellel Grange.

[1] The will of Thomas Clarkson, of Heysham, was proved in 1685. The family had long been settled at Heysham.

[2] John Cansfield, of Ellel, was a recusant in 1625, and Robert Cansfield, of the same, in 1625–35 seq. The will of Margaret Cansfield, of Ellel, was proved in 1671. They were probably of remote descent from the Cansfields of Robert Hall.

[3] The pedigrees of the Prestons of Ellel and Cockerham appearing in Baines' Hist. of Lancashire, IV, 658, and Burke's Extinct Baronetage, are absolutely untrustworthy and of little value. They are supposed to have been descended from John, the third son of John Preston, of Preston Patrick and Under Levens Hall, in Westmoreland, and the Manor of Furness, in Lancashire, who is said to have married Margaret, daughter and heiress of Roger ffytche, of Ellel, and to have had sons William, Nicholas, John, Roger, Thomas, and Christopher. The parish registers of Cockerham and the recusant rolls prove the inaccuracy of the printed pedigrees. The Prestons of Hillom, in Cockersand, yeomen and farmers, were unable to prove their priority of descent from the Prestons of the Manor at the time that Thomas Preston of Holker apostatized in order to obtain the estates when Sir Thomas Preston, the third and last baronet, became a Jesuit. The Prestons of Ellel Grange, who were of higher social position and staunch Catholics, were undoubtedly the nearest male heirs. Nicholas Preston, of Ellel Grange, was a recusant in 1607–1619, and Alice Preston, widow, of Ellel Grange, in 1621, seq., and with her son William in 1633. The widow's will was proved in 1638. John Preston, of Ellel, appears in the rolls for 1621–2, and William, of Ellel Grange, and his wife Mary, in 1625–6. The latter appears to be the same with the widow of the text, administration to whose estate was granted in 1699. Her son Christopher, named in the text, remained on the rolls to the end, and his will was proved in 1689. There were a great many wills of Prestons, of Ellel Grange, proved at Richmond. The present owners of the Grange, which they acquired by purchase in the last century, cannot be shown to be descended from the original stock. The name was very common in Cockersand and district, and the registers do not corroborate the printed pedigree. It is very probable that Bro. Benedict Preston, O.S.B., who was professed at Douay in 1639, and died before his ordination in 1640, was of the Ellel Grange family.

[4] Margaret Corles was the widow of William Corles, of Ellel, who died in 1664. The will of William's father, John Corles, of Ellel, was proved in 1617, and that of his mother in 1634. The will of John Corles, of Ellel, was proved in 1732. The family appears on the rolls from the commencement in 1591. The name was subsequently spelt "Corless." The Rev. George J. A. Corless, D.D., descended from this family, died at Cottam in 1865, aged seventy-three. His mother married secondly John Carter, of Little Poulton Hall, father by his first wife of the Rev. William Carter, of Samlesbury.

[5] The Morleys of Wennington Hall, in the parish of Melling, returned a pedigree at the Visitation of 1664, and a very full one appears in Foster's

Lancashire Pedigrees, 1873. Josias Morley, named in the text, was the second son of Francis Morley, of Wennington Hall, by Cassandra, daughter and co-heiress of Josias Lambert, of Calton, in Craven, and he was born Nov. 1, 1612. He married Dorothy Thompson, July 8, 1642, who died at Hornby, Oct. 10, 1693, and had issue—Francis, born 1643, died 1663; William, born 1645, died 1664; Valentine, born 1650, died 1653; Ignatius, born 1653, died 1699, having married in 1675 Mary, daughter of John Colthurst, of Hornby, by whom he had two sons and two daughters, who all died young; Cuthbert, born 1657, steward to the Daltons, who died at Thurnham s.p., in 1714; Cassandra, born 1648, died 1653; and Dorothy, born 1655, died 1658. Thomas Morley, of Wennington Hall, the eldest brother of Josias, returned a pedigree of three generations in 1664, when his son and heir, Robert, was fourteen years of age. Thomas died in 1666, and a few years later, in 1673, Wennington Hall was sold to the Marsdens. Hitherto the family had always been staunch to the faith, and appears annually in the recusant rolls, but an unfortunate circumstance deprived the two sons of Francis Morley, the younger brother of Josias, of their heritage. Francis, born in 1614, having engaged in the royal cause during the civil wars, was forced to take refuge in France. His wife, Jane Buskill, of Capel Side, co. Westmoreland, supposing that he was dead, and over-persuaded by her Protestant relatives, remarried a Cromwellian captain. Francis Morley subsequently returned to England incognito, and finding what had happened returned in disgust to France, where he died a Catholic. His sons, Josias and Francis, had been sent to a Protestant school, and thus were robbed of their faith. The pedigree does not help to identify the Thomas Morley of Yealand-cum-Silverdale, Francis, and Dorothy Morley, of Tatham-cum-Ireby, named earlier in the text.

[1] The will of William Chivall, of Hornby, husband of Margaret, and father of Henry, was proved in 1662.

[2] The Coulstons, of Hornby, Heylot, and Wray, in the parish of Melling, annually appear in the rolls. The wills of Gabriel Coulston, of Wray, and Henry Coulston, of Heylot, in Roeburndale, were proved in 1690, and that of John Coulston, of Heylot, in 1705. John Coulston, of Heylot, was a Catholic non-juror in 1717. His son John, of the same, had issue—John, of Barkinsgate, who married Mary Croft and had issue—John, of whom hereafter; Joshua, bapt. Sept. 3, 1769, who had issue John, of Hawkshead, Bolton-le-Sands, banker, o.s.p., Elizabeth, spr, and a daughter married to William Knowles, whose son, John Knowles, of Well House, in Scotforth, was father of the present Mr Knowles, who inherited Hawkshead from his great uncle, John Coulston, the banker; Thomas, of Well House, in Scotforth, born in April, 1772, who married Elizabeth, sister of William Knowles, and dying May 21, 1848, had issue John, baptized Jan. 10, 1799, ob. inf., John, bapt. Apr. 29, 1801, ob. young, and Thomas, of Well House, baptized Sept. 29, 1809, who died a bachelor in 1856, having founded a chantry chapel in St Peter's Church at Lancaster; William, of Lancaster, baptized Augt 18, 1776, who by his wife Grace, who died Feb. 9, 1815, had issue a son John, baptized Jan. 28, 1811; Gabriel, of Lancaster, born Dec. 24, 1779; and a daughter married to Thomas Croskell, of Bulk. John, the eldest son of John, of Bowrem House, Lancaster, married Margaret, sister of Seth Walmesley, of Preston (she died at Lancaster Feb. 2, 1864), and had issue—Gabriel, born Nov. 5, 1818; Joseph, born Dec. 18, 1819, who died unmarried; Rev. [1] From its position Newsholme, in the parish of Wressle.

[2] William Langdale, of Langthorpe in Ellerby, petitioned to compound for two-thirds of his estate in 1652, saying there was "never any charge or cause of delinquency against him," only his recusancy. The result is not stated, but of that there can be little doubt.

[3] The name of William Young, of Elsternwick, yeoman, appears in the Royalist Composition Papers, but no particulars are given.

[4] See page 266 note.

[5] Query Brackenholme in Hemingborough parish.

[6] In 1653 Peter Fussey, of Beeford, husbandman, petitioned to be allowed to contract for two-thirds of his forty shilling interest, on account of his recusancy. A "no Papist or delinquent" was allowed to have a sequestration off, having married the granddaughter of Robert Fussy or Fussie, a recusant lately deceased in the same parish.

[2] George Acklam, of Bewholm, gentleman, had fines of £386 13s. 9d. assessed against him in 1653. The result is, perhaps, shewn here as "Agric." And it was proposed to fine him and his wife £360 per annum further.

[3] Robert, son of Thomas Dolman, of Badsworth, and his wife (second) Barbara, dau. of Sir Thomas Metham. He was aged thirty-nine in 1665, and married Catharine, dau. of Edmund Thorold of Hough, Co. Lincoln, and had on September 7, 1665, Robert, æt. 6; Thomas, æt. 1; Catharine, Barbara and Frances. He had been in arms against the Parliament and the fine for his delinquency was £1,145 15s.

[4] Query Bolton in Bishop-Wilton parish.

[5] The frontispiece of C.R.S. vol. I. is the permit to Thomas Owst to visit his sick wife. It is pleasant to come across nine members of his family equally staunch to the Faith. The name is repeated in other convictions. It may be the same as Aust, Co. Gloucester, and Hoste.

[6] Vol. IV. C.R.S. has reference to this family. The spelling of the name is doubtful, and seems to be Awdas or Audas. It will be found as Audhus lower down, implying Old House; but in a gazetteer of Yorkshire of 1828, there is mention of Audzus hamlet in the township of Woodsetts and parish of South Anston, which may supply a solution. See Cath. Rec. Soc. IV, 358–9.

[3] Osgodby in the parish of Hemingborough.

[4] There is in 1653–4 a short notice for his petition to compound for an estate of £13 13s. 4d. for his recusancy. Thomas Watkinson, of Menthorpe, who suffered martyrdom with Robert Thorpe, priest, whom he had entertained, May 31, 1591, was probably of the same family. Robert Watkinson, priest and martyr, April 17, 1602, was born in Hemmingborough, and probably of the family.

[5] A Simon Tasker (indexed as Stephen, C.R.S., IV, 373), a wheelwright, of Acaster-Malbis, query Naburn in that parish. Mr W. M. Baines, in his Old Naburn, p. 87, gives his father's name as Joseph, and five later generations. But he says that in the Hemingborough registers there is, "Simon Tasker, of Menthorpe, buried 10 January, 1680," presumably the one in the text, the Rev. W. Peter Wright informing me that the wife Anne, was buried 28 Dec. 1679, and that the name of Simon T. is common after 1609. Elizabeth Tasker, lay-sister at York, may be related.

[1] In the parish of Stanwick St John.

[2] Challoner says that Edmund Catherick, priest and martyr, is of this family. Anthony Caterick, of Stanwick St John, and his wife Joyce Pennington appear in the lists of recusants of 1604, 1614, 1616, etc. In 1623 Anthony C., junior, is said to be an escaped outlaw. It is his wife Isabell Grey, wife of Anthony C., gentleman, a recusant in 1641, together with Joyce, widow, and probably four of her children, William and John, yeomen, Bridget and Margaret, spinsters. (N.R. Rec. IV, 198.) The names are in Foster's Yorks Visitations. William Penington, gentleman, is also mentioned as a recusant. In 1638 Anthony C. and his son John sold the manor of Stanwick St John to Hugh Smithson, haberdasher of London (perhaps the Hugh, of Tottenham, Middlesex, for which county he was M.P., and Armin, Snaith, W.R. York, who left his estates to Sir Hugh, his nephew, who apostatized and was father of the first Duke of Northumberland of that family. John C. (whose wife Isabell is mentioned) applied to contract for his sequestrated estate in January, 1653–4 (Yorks. Archæl. Rec. Ser. xx. 188).

[3] Fourteen Manfields or Mansfields of the parish were recusants in 1641.

[1] Heworth in North Riding.

[2] The designation of "labourer" is often used to people of good condition. The Thwings of Heworth were such. They had probably no profession or trade, and the persecutions they endured must have reduced them to labour for a living. The family is referred to in vol. IV.

[3] Hinderskelfe now known as Castle-Howard.

[4] The name of "Anne wife of Philip Kendall of Hinderskelfe, yeoman, appears as a recusant, May 4, 1641." To this the late Canon Atkinson puts a footnote, "Beyond doubt the notorious Informer, etc." This Philip K. seems to have made a living by informing against tradesmen for engrossing and such offences against the law, and his wife is proceeded against for recusancy.

[5] In N. Riding.

[4] The family of Hanson (not Hansom), of Rastrick, in the parish of Halifax, commences with Roger "Hanson" or "de Rastrick," temp. Henry III. Mr John William Clay, F.S.A., who contributed a pedigree to Dugdale's Visitation Continued, Vol. 1, and has transcribed and printed the Registers (1559–1640) of Elland, at his own expense for the restoration fund of the church, expresses his surprise that any of the family should be Catholic, that they were more in the dissenting line. He says there are two of the name—one bap. September 28, 1628, son of Robert H. and Sarah Thorpe his wife, mentioned in his father's will 1634; and another of Slead Hall, son of Arthur H., of Brighouse, bap. November 8, 1629, who had a son Richard, and was perhaps a Quaker. This may be one of the "fanaticks" mentioned by Christopher Barnard in the preamble above, but Henry Hanson, of Halifax, was reported as a Papist in 1691 (J. H. Turner's Nonconformist Registers, 163). Foster tried to connect the Hanson family of Osmondthorpe and Adel with that of Rastrick; but in Adel Registers in 1668 "Hansum" appears; in Leeds Registers in 1692 ' Hansome of Osmondthorpe" (Thoresby Soc. v. 54 and x, 287). Paver gives the marriage licence of "William Hansome (of that family) to Mary Portington" in 1709, his second and her third marriage, his first wife being Grace Whipp. Mary Newsome's marriages to William Bucktrout in 1690 (omitted by Foster), and to Henry Por-

[2] Sir Thomas Gascoigne's name, and his great efforts to revive the faith, his infamous trial and great sufferings, render his name one never to be forgotten. Our oldest convent at York is his monument. Mr George Denison Lumb, Hon. Sec. Yorks Par. Reg. Soc., has brought out the Registers of Barwick in Elmet, as this is in the press, too late for use.

[3] The Rev. Zachary Steward, D.D., rector of Easington in Cleveland, had a son of the same name, Governor of Mulgrave castle, in the parish of Lythe, during the Civil War. He surrendered his trust to the parliamentary forces in 1644, taking precaution that his own estate and property should not suffer. He was about fifty-eight at the Visitation of 1666, his daughter Mary being the only child named. The property, at Lofthouse, or Loftus in Cleveland, came into the hands of Zachary Steward Moore, who squandered it in riotous living, and was probably the Zacharie Steward Moore, of whom there is a double entry in the Hackness registers (Yorks. Par. Reg. Soc. XXV, 98) born 23 and bap. 24 Sept. 1672, the son of Thomas Moore, of Hackness, gent., by "his second wife, the only daughter of — Stewarde the parish minister." Thomas Moore had had a son James bap. Sept. 10, 1661, "privately, it is supposed, by a popish preist, being a straunger then at the mannor Mr Thomas Moore was then at London."

[1] Knowing, as we do, the numbers of secret baptisms and marriages, of the latter taking place in other parishes, and the way that registers were kept or not kept, we may congratulate ourselves on obtaining a few fragments about this Catholic labourer from the Hackness registers. Our work is not so much to re-chronicle the acts of the great, as to preserve the memory of such humble, unknown confessors.

1669. Two Children of James Boyes of Hackness were borne the 23rd of November, unbaptized, he being a Papist.

ing parish of Kirkby Malzeard, appear in Peacocks' Yorkshire Catholics in 1604. This applies to many other names in this list. The parish registers of Hampsthwaite have been printed by the Yorkshire Parish Register Society, Vol. XIII. Buck seems a common name, and there are two Roberts, but his burial shows that at the time of his death he was resident in the parish of Ripley " 1672–3. Robert Buck de Clint papist, Feb. ye 19."

[1] There are few Shaws in the Hampsthwaite Registers, and no Frances.

[2] Mary wife of Silvester Hebden was buried August 8, 1684; he 29 March, 1694. He only appears in the Registers in 1658, but their descendants are recorded.

[3] Seems a mistake for Hopperton. Her burial is registered March 24, 1680–1.

[4] She was buried at Hampsthwaite, October 25, 1673.

[5] The registers contain the baptism, with others, of Catterin, dau. of Steven Smith, August 28, 1659; the burial of Stephen Smith of Feliscliffe hamlet, May 11, 1671; the marriage of Tho. Rundall and Katharine Smith, May 8, 1690; and " 1738 Catharine Rundall, wid. aged 102, bur. Sep. 23."

[6] " 1672–3 Ann Gratewood, buried February ye 6th, she was a papist." This and the civil marriage of Marie Graytwood to William Milner, May 15, 1656, are the only times the name appears in the registers.

[7] The burials of three Robert Fairburns from 1669 to 1676 make this confusing.

[8] In Knaresborough.

[9] Robert Plumpton, of Plumpton, was aged twenty-one at the Visitation 1665, but is not shown to be married, their pedigree going back to the Conquest.

[2] The old Catholic family of Tempest of Broughton is with us still with a pedigree of eight centuries. Mrs Tempest of Broughton, who has made a careful study of it, obliged with this section of her elaborate collections, by which it appears that Richard was third son of Sir Stephen Tempest of Broughton (1553-1625), second by his second marriage to Katharine, dau. of Henry Lawson, of Nesham, Co. Durham. He mar. Elizabeth, dau. of Nicholas Grimshawe, of Clayton-le-Moors, Lancashire, and was quarter-master in the royal army, and had to claim allowance from the indigent soldiers' fund in 1663. His residence at Broughton seems to be subsequent to his sale, before 1648, of a farm at Bracewell, where a branch of the family resided. His children were: Stephen, slain in the King's service; Richard, said to be a lieutenant in Sir Thomas Tyldesley's regiment; John, in the text below; Robert, secretary to his cousin, Sir Stephen Tempest (1617-72), died unmd; Katharine (York) in the text below; perhaps Elizabeth, ob. inf.; Ellen and Elizabeth. Richard Tempest died 1670, his wife surviving him.

[2] John, son of William York and his wife Agnes Simpson, and nephew of Sir John York of Gowthwaite. His wife was Katharine, eldest dau. of Richard Tempest, of Broughton, above. They had—Richard, steward to the Broughton estates, his wife's baptismal name only, Elizabeth, being known; John, who became a Jesuit; and Stephen.

[3] Thomas, third son of Stephen Tempest of Broughton (son and heir of Sir Stephen, 1553-1625), and Susan, dau. of William Oglethorpe, of Roundhay, in Whitkirk and Thorner parishes, by his first wife Susan, dau. of Edward Tyrwhitt, of Stainfield, Co. Lincoln. His father left him the Oglethorpe property at Roundhay, subject to annuities of £30 each to his sisters—Elizabeth, a Franciscan nun at Nieuport, and Mary, a Benedictine at Cambrai, and other charges. Sir Ralph Hansby, of Tickhill, and Lady Hansby laid claim to Roundhay. There seems no reason why he did not succeed his brother Stephen in the Broughton estates in 1672, as they were on friendly terms. Mrs Tempest thinks that some mutual understanding existed why his son Stephen should succeed. From his brother he had a money allowance of £40 per annum and other benefits, whilst his son added another £50. He married, about 1651, Anne, dau. and heir of Henry Scrope of Danby, by Anne, dau. of Sir Edward Plumpton, of Plumpton, and had five sons and five daughters.

[4] Recusant in 1678.

[5] Elizabeth Pearson, widow, was a recusant in 1691.

[6] Lawrence and Katharine Champney and their dau. Katharine appear as recusants in 1670, whilst Thomas Champney and Anne his wife and Catharine, widow, are in 1691.

[7] Cridling Stubbs in the parishes of Darrington and Womersley.

[8] Mary, George, Elizabeth and Frances Briggs were recusants in 1691.

[9] In 1680 Michael Talbott and Katharine his wife were recusants; and in 1691 Mr Tallbot and his son Dowderst [sic].

[1] Thomas Empson and Isabell his wife with Mary his dau. and Anthony his son, were recusants in 1680, whilst in the previous year only the wife, and Thomas Empson and Mary his wife appear.

[2] Anthony Empson and Dorothy his wife appear in 1679 and 1680, in the latter year with William E. and Catharine E., spinster. In 1691 Dorothy with her sons William and Gregory.

[3] Recusant in 1680 and 1691.

[4] The only known registers of Felkirk commence in 1701 and have been printed. Frances and Katharine C. are not mentioned.

[5] In Cath. Rec. Soc. IV, in relation to the Knight family, the very Protestant Lincolnshire Bilcliffes appear. Here we find seven recusants of the name, nearer the homes of the Anne family, so closely related to the Knights. Recusants at Houghton in 1680 are Margaret B., Mary B. the elder, Matthew and Anne. In 1691 are Matthew and Anne his wife, Margaret and Mary.

[1] Purston-Jackling.

[2] George, æt 29, 1665, son of Thomas Hippon, of Newhall, Fetherston, and Anne, dau. and heiress of John Horncastle of Featherstone. In 1670 "Mr Thos. Ippon, Mr John Ippon and Mr[sic] Aleis Ippon were suspected popish recusants." In 1679 Mr Thomas Hippon and Mrs Alis Hippon were bound to appear for their recusancy. Whilst "As for Mr John Hippon, Margaret Thimbleby and Alice, the wife of John Spinke they are non est Inuentes. As for John Spinke and Mrs Briggit Scholey I have given them notice to be heare according to Order." The Constable, William Mallinson, signs with a mark (J. H. Turner's Nonconformist Registers).

[1] There are several entries of the Grocock family in the Kippax Register (Yorks. Par. Reg. Soc. x). These seem to apply, " 1670, Gulielmi [sic] Grocoke sepultus eodem die [Aug. 4] Magister carbonarium," colliers or charcoal burners. " Francisca uxor Gulielmi Grococke sepulta sexto die Septembris 1670." " 1683 Richardus Grocock sepult. May 4°." " 1698. Elizab. Grocock sepult. Romæ [Aug.] 7°"

[2] Prince is the commonest name in the registers but it would be hazardous to conjecture that the " Uxor Thomæ Prince " buried May 18, 1695, referred to her.

[3] The conjunction of Gerard and Salvin so common in the old Catholic family seems curious so described, and there is a burial of Mr Ralph [?Soliene] November 28, 1641; and a civil marriage of Anthony F[o]ulshurt of Barnbow, p. of Barwick in Elmet to Ann Salvin of Kippax, July 10, 1656, at which the above William Growcocke was a witness. There seems a connexion with the Gascoigne collieries and those at Allerton Bywater near Kippax.

[4] The name is very common, and it may be well only to refer to the John Atkinson of Ilkeley, C.R.S. IV. 362.

[5] Eleanor, dau. of Joscelyn Percy of Beverley, whose estates were sequestrated during the Commonwealth for his recusancy. She left no issue. Her mother was Elizabeth, dau. of William Fitz-William of Mablethorpe, E.R. York, and Clixby, Co. Lincoln.

[1] Perhaps connected with Sir Martin Frobisher, the navigator.

[2] "John Thymelbye," as he signs his name, of Syndall in Normanton declares his son Charles's age as twenty-three in 1612. The father was son of John Thimbleby of Irnham, Co. Lincoln, mar. Mary, dau. and heiress of Charles Jackson, of Snydall. Charles's fine for delinquency (he had perhaps conformed to the Puritan Covenant, as his recusancy is not mentioned) was £2,083 13s. 9d. If the recusant is this one, he would be seventy-eight at the time.

[1] The old Catholic family of Thelveton or Thelton is no longer seated at Thelveton, the last squire of the family having sold the estate about 1870. Thomas Havers of Winfarthing purchased the manor in 1592. The recusant in the text was his grandson, being son of John Havers and Elizabeth, dau. of John Tindall of Banham. His wife was Susan Brook of Whitchurch, her name following his. The earliest known members of the family served important offices to the first dukes of Norfolk. The minutes of the Catholic Club, 1793-8, of which William Havers was Hon. Secretary, have been transcribed for printing by this society. The representative of the family, Kenneth Havers, is an active Catholic in London, and his sister Dorothy, the wife of Professor George Simonds Boulger, has written several novels.

[2] Later as Symmonds.

[3] T[h]ompson is not a personal name, but that of a parish in Norfolk, formerly Thomeston, a dozen miles from Brandon Parva.

[1] Bradfield-Combust, Bradfield St. Clare and Bradfield St. George are three parishes in Suffolk.

[2] Beyton or Beighton.

[3] Francis, in the seventh generation of the family at Linstead, a younger son of Thomas Everard, and Agnes, dau. of Francis Mannock, of Stoke-juxta-Nayland, who succeeded to the estate, an elder brother William having only daughters, Jeromye, Agnes and Dorothy. In the Visitation of 1612 the father Thomas, if the same, is called Gawdy, after his mother, Katharine dau. of Thomas Gawdy, sergent-at-law, 6 Edw. VI, and one of two half-brothers, both Elizabethan judges and both named Thomas, the other being known as Francis.

[4] The Yaxleys of Yaxley took their name from the place, their original patronymic being Herberd (Metcalfe's Visitations of Suffolk). Charles was probably eldest of seven sons of Henry Y., of Bowthorpe, Norfolk, who married Frances d. of Charles Waldegrave, of Stanninghall, Norfolk, and grandson of William Yaxley, of Yaxley, and Eva d. of Sir Henry Bedingfeld, of Oxborough. Anthony, grandfather of this William Y. had a second son William, who settled at Boston, Co. Lincoln, and mar. Rose, dau. of John Langton, of Langton, in that county, they being the parents of Richard Yaxley, priest, who was martyred at Oxford, July 5, 1589. (Harl. Soc. LII. 1124).

[1] Francis, third son of Thomas Chetwynd, of Denston, and Dorothy dau. of Thomas Madeley, of Denston, and grandson of Anthony C., of Rugge and Grendon, Co. Warwick. No marriage shown in the Visitation of 1663 (William Salt Soc. v. Pt ii).

[2] Anthony, brother of the last, being second son of Thomas Chetwynd above (the elder brother William C., of Ingestre, being aged three in 1614), seemingly also unmarried. They were descendants of the de Chetwynds, of Chetwynd, Shropshire, temp. Hen. III.

[3] Several baptisms of William and Jane Ginder appear in the Rocester Registers from 1634-1651 (Staffs. Par. Reg. Soc.).

[4] Anne dau. of Henry and Anne Ginder, bap. Nov. 2, 1647, seems to follow her father.

[5] Baptisms of children of Robert and Margaret Hyron or Hyarne appear in 1635 and 1637; but the spelling in the text is more general.

[1] Evidently of the family of the Earls of Huntingdon [Cath. Rec. Soc. IV]. See the following note. See first names on p. 284.

[2] Query Kinver, formerly Kinfare.

[3] Catharine Winford, who was of the Hastings family, earls of Huntingdon, in her will of 1698, mentions Mr Hammerton, of Dunsley, in Kinver parish; also Anthony, Catharine, Elizabeth, John, Olivia and William Hammerton [Payne's Records of English Catholics, 1715. 111 and 112]. A connection may be made with the Hammertons of Purston-Jackling, W.R. York. [Surtees Soc. XXXVI and Payne's Nonjurors 1715].

[4] Perhaps Edward, fifth son of Peter Giffard, of Chillington and Frances dau. of Walter Fowler, of St Thomas's Priory near Stafford. He mar. Winefride dau. of Alban Draycote, descendant of the Draycotes of Paynsley.

[5] Wolverhampton was a great centre of Catholicity, being at one time known as "Little Rome." At the same time it ought to be stated that many of the names given below are those of the old county gentry. In legal documents it was usual to describe persons as "lately of" or "nuper de" to avoid the possibility of an indictment being made invalid by removal.

[6] Robert, younger son of William Moseley, formerly Molesley, of Bilston, and Lucretia, dau. of Thomas Whitgreave, of Bridgford. At the Visitation of 1663, his wife is described as Elizabeth dau. of Thomas Skrimshire of Johnson.

[7] Perhaps son of Edward, third son of John Erdeswick, and Mary Griffith, mentioned in his uncle Sampson's will.

[8] Mr H. Sydney Grazebrook, editor of the Visitation of 1663-4, points to a pedigree by Mr Joseph Morris [Herald and Genealogist v. 33] showing that these Grosvenors were really Gravenors, taking their name from High Gravenor in the parish of Claverly. His father was Solomon; he had an uncle Josuah and relatives Jonas, etc., so his name may belong rather to Puritan genealogy.

[1] Catharine dau. of Sir Walter Leveson of Wolverhampton, who married Andrew, fifth son of Walter Giffard, of Chillington, a family illustrious by descent and services to Church and State. The names following are Thomas, her eldest son; Augustine, the second; Anne, the elder daughter; Katharine does not appear in the pedigree, but there is a daughter Mary. Her saintly sons, Bonaventure, later Vicar Apostolic and Bishop; and Andrew, who declined the Western Vicariate and a see in partibus, were engaged on their priestly work. Their father's death on the field of battle attests his loyalty.

[1] The martyr Swithin Wells, fifth son of Thomas Wells of Brambridge and Mary Mompesson, had two great-nephews named Swithin, the first the grandson of the eldest brother Gilbert, probably the one in the text; the second a grandson of the second son, Henry Wells of the island of Purbeck, Dorset (Berry's Hampshire Pedigrees). Members of the family are mentioned in Mr Orlebar Payne's Nonjurors, 1715, and till 1762 in the Registers of Winchester (Cath. Rec. Soc. 1).

No. IV

THE CATHOLIC REGISTERS OF THE DOMESTIC CHAPEL FORMERLY AT CRONDON PARK, ESSEX. WITH SOME NOTES RELATING TO HOPCAR, LANCASHIRE.

CONTRIBUTED BY FRANCIS A. R. LANGTON AND JOSEPH S. HANSOM. INTRODUCTION BY THE REV. WILLIAM H. COLOGAN.

CRONDON PARK, now a farm in the parish of Stock, or Stock Harvard, is situated four miles from Ingatestone and five miles from Chelmsford. As is clear from the registers the priest at Crondon served the villages of Stock, Ramsi (Ramsden) Heath, the Hanningfields (West, East and South), Downham and Chelmsford. It is singular that no mention is made of the little town of Billericay which is but two and a half miles distant.

The following extracts from the parish registers of Stock-cum-Ramsden Bellhouse have reference to Catholics within the mission of Crondon Park. The old register book of Stock embraces the period from 1568 to 1804, while that of Ramsden Bellhouse contains entries of which the earliest is dated 1562 and the latest 1779.

FROM THE STOCK PARISH REGISTER.

George Stathum a recusant of Buttsbury drowning himself in one of the Park ponds was buried the 24th May (1655).

Four sons of John Maskell in June 1745.*

Richard Billing from Crondon Park a Romish priest ye 3rd of March 1769.

The above refer to burials.

Mary Dr of William Butt born Sep. 14 1700. William son of William Butt born aug. 24 1792. Ann the dr of William Butt & Ellen his wife was born Nov 21 1707. memd. These children were born in Stock Parish but not baptised by ye minister their parents being Papists.

The following Mason and Berington burial entries are from the same registers.

1654 Ap. 28. Elizabeth Mason, d. of Thomas & Elizabeth his his wife, buried at Buttsbury.
1656 Mar. 26. Ann Mason, an aged woman, buried Buttsbury.
1729 Nov. 22. Michael Mason of Crondon Park.
1731 June 5. Margaret Mason.
1741 May 26. Mrs Mason.
1747 July 26. Mrs Mason of Crondon Park.
1770 May 25. Margaret Mason wife of John Mason.
1770 May 14. George Mason son of John & Margaret.

1805 Nov. 2. Rev. Thos* Berington [aged 75]
1811 July 16. Thos. Berington
1818 Ap. 21. Philip Berington son of Thos, died at Stock

From the Ramsden Bellhouse Registers.

THE first entry among the burials is

Father Spacye was buried the XV day of February, A° 1562.

This Father Spacye was not Rector of Ramsden Bellhouse, for the Rector at that time was John Forrest who had succeeded to the living in 1549, during the Calvinistic ascendancy, and continued in possession till his death in 1577, but doubtless one of the many unfortunate monks expelled from their monasteries by Henry VIII, and given hospitality by some pious Catholic family in or near Ramsden Bellhouse.†

The following notes on Crondon Park have been supplied by Mr Joseph Gillow:

"Crondon Park had long been the property of the Barons Petre, though the family do not appear ever to have occupied it. It is said that the Catholic family of Mason were tenants for 250 years. The chapel which was part of the ancient banqueting hall, was preserved until 1832. It was then dismantled, subsequently the house was razed to the ground, and no traces of a park remain.§

The following names appear as incumbents at Crondon Park:

Father James Blair, S.J., here 1744 for some time.

---

* Nephew of Thomas (1673-1755) Berington, priest, son of Thomas Berington of Moat Hall, Shropshire, and Anne, dau. of John Berington of Winsley, co. Hereford (Gillow's Dict. Eng. Caths., I. 199).

† This may be received with caution. If Spacye were a priest, his designation at that time would probably be "Sir" or "Dan" or other abbreviation of "Dominus." "Father" is more likely to be a term of familiarity, reverent or irreverent, as "Paterfamilias," "Widow," "Gossip," "Good-wife," "Uncle," etc., with which register searchers are familiar.—J.S.H.

§ There are some remains of walls and some fine trees are still growing near the modern farm house.—W.H.C.

Father Adam Pigott, S.J., younger son of Adam Pigott of London, and brother to Nathaniel Pigott, the eminent Catholic barrister of the Inner Temple, succeeded Father Blair, and died here April 30, 1751, aged 78. He was a friend of Pope, who wrote at his request the well-known version of the hymn of St Francis Xavier, O Deus amo Te:

> O God I love Thee, not to gain
> The joys of Thy eternal reign.

Father Luke Pippard alias Stanfield, S.J., died here Jan. 5, 1761, aged 45.

Father Robert Eyston, S.J., according to his own entries was here in 1759, if not before, till death, Jan. 16, 1766, aged 36.

Father Richard Billinge alias Laurenson, S.J., a native of Billinge, co. Lancaster, succeeded Father Eyston, and died here Feb. 28, 1769, aged 56; and was buried at Stock, March 3.

Father Robert Cole, S.J., came 1769 till December, 1805. The Rev. Thomas Berington, whose name appears as officiating between the years 1788 and 1792, may have supplied from Ingatestone Hall, where he died Oct. 24, 1805; but the fact that he baptized three of the Wood family may have meaning.

Père Jean-Baptiste Aubert, a French refugee from the Diocese de Coutances, succeeded Father Cole and remained till 1818. He was subsequently at Thorndon Hall.

Père Albin Danneville, another French emigré, signs the registers from April 3, 1818 to July 15, 1822. It will be noted that he signs himself Archpriest.

Rev. James Dunn signs July 31, 1825, to June 29, 1826.

Rev. P. J. Mark O'Reilly, 1827, and left for Ingatestone Hall.

Rev. Daniel O'Leary took charge of the congregation, in all sixty-four souls, Sept. 20, 1827, till July 2, 1831."

One of the oldest inhabitants of Stock says that in 1835 there was a cottage in the lane leading to Crondon from the Stock road, which was the residence of the Catholic priest. At that time the priest was a Frenchman, and my informant states that a field close to Stock Common is still called "Frenchman's Field," from the fact that the French priest, being a resident of Stock, claimed a portion of the then rather extensive common land and cultivated it. Who this French priest was I have not been able to discover, as the diocesan records are very scanty with regard to Essex, and of the priests serving Crondon Park only the Revv. James Dunn and D. O'Leary are named.

Yet at the time when Father O'Leary left Crondon in 1830 there, must have been a nucleus of Catholics—"in all sixty-four souls." The Masons of Crondon Park, impoverished by many fines for non-attendance at the parish church, found themselves unable to continue the tenancy, but there were other members of the family at Foxburgh, Forest Lodge (both in Stock), Great Maskells* and Baddow, six miles distant. And Stock Hall—now called "Greenwoods"—was held by the Eldridges, also Catholics. The Eldridges succeeded the Beringtons in the possession of Stock Hall. Thomas Berington of Moat Hall, Salop, married Ann, daughter of Mr Bates of Stock Hall, and on the death of the latter the property passed into the possession of his daughter, and the Beringtons came to Stock. Here, in 1748, was born Charles Berington, afterwards Bishop of Hieroecæsarea and co-adjutor to Bishop Talbot, and, on the death of the latter, Vicar-Apostolic of the Midland District. Tombs of the Mason, Berington, and Eldridge families are in the Stock churchyard. But sometime between 1832 and 1840 the mission at Crondon Park was discontinued, and the district was served from Ingatestone by the Rev. George Last (afterwards Canon). In 1852 the mansion of Lilystone Hall was tenanted by the Hon. Arthur Petre. On his removal to Coptfold Hall in 1862, Lilystone was bought by Mr Thomas Walmesley, and in 1869 it became the property of Isabella, William and John Gillow, of Singleton, Lancashire.* From the time that Mr Arthur Petre came to Lilystone Hall there was a private chapel in the house. Soon after the advent of the Gillows, this became a public oratory, and on July 16, 1880, the small but handsome church erected by Miss Isabella Gillow was blessed and opened by Cardinal Manning. Twelve years later Mr William Gillow built the fine schools in the village. On March 1, 1893, Isabella, the eldest of the three, went to her reward. She was quickly followed by her brother William on May 18 of the same year, and John, the last of the family, died on April 17, 1894. Almost the whole of the property was left for ecclesiastical purposes. Lilystone Hall with the adjoining estate was sold to Mr William Dunn, the chapel, schools and site for the Presbytery remaining in the hands of the Gillow Trustees for the use of the Mission of Stock.

* See Gillow's Dictionary of the English Catholics, Art. Berington (Charles).

The following is the list of incumbents since the re-opening of the Mission at Stock:

1868-69 Very Rev. John Walker (Canon of Westminster).
1869-71 Rev. Henry Soerwyn.
1872-75 Rev. Thomas Fallside.
1875-76 Very Rev. John Walker
1876-77 Rev. Peter J. Van Schie.
1877 (Oct. 4) Rev. William H. Cologan.

The first book is a common half-penny paper cash or memorandum book in a marbled paper back, $6\frac{1}{8} \times 3\frac{7}{8}$ inches. The second book is of paper $7\frac{3}{4} \times 6\frac{1}{4}$ inches, and bound in vellum. They belong to the present mission at Stock.

HOPCAR

Hopcar, within Bedford, in the parish of Leigh, co. Lancaster, was the seat of the ancient Catholic family of Sale, of whom several were priests and Jesuits. The estate of Hopcar was sold July 4, 1770, by Gilbert Sale, whose younger brother Father John Sale, S.J., served the mission for some years, but died in Furness in 1791, aged 69.

The book was evidently commenced, with lists of communicants, etc., at Hopcar at Easter, 1739, by Father Robert Petre, S.J., who appears at Hopcar in Bishop Dicconson's list in 1741, and removed subsequently to Eccleston, Chorley, and Preston. He died at Dunkenhalgh, in the same county, in 1766, having been chaplain to Lord Petre there for some years, and this is probably the way it got to Crondon Park, which was another estate belonging to his lordship.

Bedford Leigh has been served by the Society from at least the seventeenth century, and a record of most of the incumbents' names is in the writer's possession. After the Sale family left Hopcar, the congregation assembled in the old chapel in the house occupied for centuries by the ancient family of Shuttleworth, but finally an independent chapel was secured, which continued till 1778, when a new one was erected owing to the old one being unfit for use. This was visited Oct. 27, 1784, by Bishop Matthew Gibson, who confirmed 135 persons, and Father Jno. Shaw, S.J., the incumbent, returned the communicants at 240. On Feb. 10, 1816, during Father Wm Poole's incumbency, the recently attached burial ground was consecrated, and on Sept. 19, 1825, Bishop Penswick made his visitation and gave confirmation. In 1855 the present church was opened. The Bedford Leigh register was commenced by Father Jno. Shaw, August 26, 1778. (Note by Joseph Gillow).

[1] The writer, Fr Robert Eyrton, S.J., clearly refers to the Society of Jesus, but includes one lady in red ink. The footnotes added by Mr Joseph Gillow make this evident. In his Dict. Eng. Caths, V. 242, he mentions Fr John Panting, S.J., 1732-83.

REGISTERS OF THE CATHOLIC CHAPEL, LULWORTH CASTLE, DORSET.

CONTRIBUTED BY MISS J. H. HARTING.

The registers, now at Somerset House, and copied by me for the Society, by permission of the Registrar-General, are numbered "Dorset No II." They are in a thick rough paper book 16½ × 10½ inches, bound in vellum. From their position in the book, it must have been intended to use it for other purposes, and probably the missing pages may have been so used. They come in this order—one folio blank, one cut out, forty-one blank, ten cut out, thirty-seven blank, seventy-three pages of registers and eleven blank. The book is in an excellent state of preservation.

Although the greater part of the entries appear in the handwriting of the different priests in charge of the mission, some of the earlier notices are all by one hand, showing that they are not the originals, but copies only, and abbreviated to the narrowest limits. They commence in the year 1755, but no priests' names appear until the year 1785, when the Rev. Charles Plowden, S.J., was in charge. This is generally found to be the case owing to the penal troubles and penalties.

The formal blank certificate is filled in as follows by italics:

"The annexed or accompanying Book is the original Register Book of Births, Baptisms and a few burials, which has been kept for the Roman Catholic Chapel, called Lullworth Castle chapel, situate near Wareham in the County of Dorsetshire founded about the year 1786: ✠ N.B. The first registers of births and baptisms do however date from the year 1755, prayers being then said and baptisms administered within the Castle.

The Book sent has been from time to time in the custody of the Priest for the time being, of the Chapel; and is sent to the Commissioners from the immediate custody of E. B. Moutardier of Lullworth Castle in the County of Dorsetshire who has kept it since 1817 as Chaplain to the Weld family. Signed the Twenty second day of March 1837*

E. B. Moutardier Clergyman or Officiating Minister. Joseph Weld Proprietor"

A marginal note reads: "N.B: As burials, with the exception of a few in the family Vault, are in the Parish Churchyard, no regular register has been kept."

Mr Joseph Gillow has supplied the following.—J. H. H.:

BRIEF HISTORICAL ACCOUNT OF THE CHAPLAINCY AND MISSION AT LULWORTH

THERE are apparently no records of the earlier chaplains at Lulworth, though Dr Oliver (Historical Collections, p. 40) informs us, that "Certainly, from the time of purchasing this estate of the Howards of Bindon, by Humphrey Weld, Esq., a chaplain has been attached to the family."

---

* Although dated "22 March 1837" and marked, "Rec^{d} 25 March," it will be observed that registers are continued to September 29, 1840. The volume was probably sent up to the Commissioners for enquiry in 1837, returned by them to Lulworth, and, after the issue of their report to Parliament, finally deposited, like most of the other Catholic registers, in 1840.

Mr Weld acquired the Lulworth Estate in 1641. At this time the Rev. William Hyde, D.D., subsequently president of Douay College, resided with Mr Weld at his town house, Weld House, in the parish of St-Giles-in-the-Fields, and it is most probable that this good priest accompanied Mr Weld to the castle before his return to Douay College in October of that year.

Very frequently there was a private chaplain or family tutor residing in the castle as well as the missioner, and the position is not always defined, hence such names as have been traced have been put down in chronological order.

Father Richard Smith alias Saville, S.J., according to Foley (Records, S.J., v, 801), resided here from about 1685 until about 1708. In January, 1718, he is found at Culcheth Hall, Lancashire, where he is supposed to have died in 1735, aged 75.

Father Thomas Fetherston, S.J., a Lancashire man according to Foley (ib. VII, 251), but more probably belonging to Cumberland, was appointed chaplain here in 1702, went to Ghent in 1704 for his third year's probation, but apparently returned to Lulworth, was superior of the district in 1716, and finally died at Ghent in 1724, aged 53.

Father Richard Caryll alias Paul Kelly, S.J., son of John Caryll, of West Grinstead, Sussex, second Lord Caryll, of the creation of the exiled James II, seems to have succeeded Father Fetherston in 1722, and to have withdrawn to his family seat of Ladyholt, Harting, in 1723.

Father Thomas Ingleby, S.J., succeeded in 1723, and probably remained till shortly before his death at Paris, November 12, 1729, aged 45.

Father William Beaumont, S.J., born January 29, 1697, son of Joseph Beaumont, of Stone Easton, co. Somerset, Esq., and his wife Hannah Harding, apparently succeeded Father Ingleby in 1729, but how long he stayed is uncertain. He eventually withdrew to his home at Stone Easton, where he died in 1764, aged 67.

Father Robert Richardson alias Garbot, S.J., seems to have come to Lulworth in 1733, and in the following year was declared rector of the district, in which office he died in 1737, aged 66.

Father Henry Whetenhall, S.J., born in 1694, son of Henry Whetenhall, of East Peckham, Kent, Esq., and his wife Lettice, daughter of Sir Henry Tichborne, of Tichborne, 3rd Bart. (by Mary, daughter of Charles Arundell, and niece of Thomas, second Lord Arundell of Wardour), succeeded Father Richardson, and died in London in 1745, possibly having gone with the Welds to their town house.

Father Francis Hulme (or Holme) alias Howard, S.J., born in 1724, son of William Hulme, of Eccleston, in the parish of Prescot, Lancashire, maltster, and grandson of Edward Hulme, of the same, and his wife Jane Howard, seems to have succeeded Father Whetenhall, and possibly remained till 1755. Subsequently he served Richmond, co. York, and Alnwick, co. Northumberland, where he died in 1802, aged 78.

Father William Boucher, S.J., was chaplain at Aston Hall, co. Stafford, an estate acquired by the Welds, whence he came with them to Lulworth, and died Sept. 28, 1757, aged 57. It was probably he who commenced the registers in 1755. The name of his immediate successor is not recorded.

Father Edward Church, S.J., came sometime between 1764 and 1773, at which latter date he is found as missioner here. He left for Garswood, co. Lancaster, the seat of the Gerards, where he was in 1783, and he died at Rixton Hall, in the same county, in 1820, aged 92.

Father Richard Reeve alias Haskey, S.J., previously with the Stanley-Masseys at Puddington Hall, Cheshire, a chaplaincy which the Society vacated sometime between 1775 and 1780, came to Lulworth for a time, and his name appears in the register in January, 1777. He died at Stonyhurst in 1816, aged 76.

Father John Couche, S.J., served here some time before 1791, in which year he withdrew. He died at Greenwich in 1813, aged 69.

Father Thomas Stanley-Massey, S.J., born 1716, a younger son of Sir William Stanley, 3rd Bart., of Hooton Hall, Cheshire, succeeded to the estates of William Massey, of Puddington Hall, Cheshire, Esq., in pursuance to whose will he assumed the additional name of Massey, but upon entering the Society assigned them to his elder brother John. The latter likewise assumed the name of Massey, but upon succeeding his nephew, Sir William Stanley, as 6th Bart., he re-assumed his patronymic, and became known as Sir John Stanley-Massey-Stanley. Father Thomas Stanley-Massey, after being a professor at the English College at Rome, came to the English Mission, and was appointed chaplain to the Bedingfelds at Oxburgh Hall, Norfolk, in 1755 After the marriage of his niece, Mary Massey-Stanley, eldest daughter of Sir John, with Thomas Weld in 1772, Father Thomas came to Lulworth, and subsequently acted as tutor to Mr Weld's sons. He was not the missioner, but generally assisted him when at Lulworth, his name appearing in the registers as late as 1802. He remained at the castle till his death, June 2, 1805, aged 90.

Father Alexander Mackenzie alias Clinton, S.J., became chaplain in 1781, and remained till 1794, when he removed in consequence of Mr Thomas Weld informing him that "he wished to continue friends, which could only be by his leaving." He died in 1800, aged 70. Many spiritual works proceeded from his pen. It was through him, at Mr Weld's invitation, that the Abbé Grou was induced to accept a private chaplaincy at Lulworth.

It was during Father Clinton's time, by which name he was generally known, that Mr Thomas Weld erected St Mary's chapel within the grounds attached to the castle. When the idea was first contemplated Mr Weld asked special permission of George III, who told him to build it as little like a chapel as possible. It was therefore erected more like a mausoleum, classical in style, with a dome and a lantern, and measured seventy-six feet long by sixty-one feet broad. The foundation stone was laid on February 2, 1786. Eventually, after Mr Edward Weld came into the estate in 1863, the eminent architect, Joseph Aloysius Hansom, was called in to give the building a more ecclesiastical character. George III and Queen Charlotte visited the castle in 1789, and George IV frequently at subsequent dates. On August 15, 1790, Dr John Carroll, the founder of the episcopacy in North America, was consecrated within the chapel bishop of Baltimore, U.S.A., by Bishop Charles Walmesley, V.A—W.D. and young Thomas Weld, the future Cardinal, was one of the acolytes on the occasion. Here also the same prelate consecrated, on the following December 5, Dr William Gibson bishop of Acanthus, after his appointment to the Northern Vicariate. A fortnight later the new Bishop of Acanthus performed the like rite on Dr John Douglass, bishop of Centuriæ and V.A—L.D.

In August, 1794, a colony of six Cistercian monks from the Abbey of Valsainte arrived in London under their superior Dom Jean Baptiste de Noyer. Their intention was to proceed to Canada, but Mr Weld invited them to Lulworth, where they arrived in October, and placed them in the chaplain's house near the castle, recently vacated by Father Clinton.

The names of the original brotherhood were: Father John Baptist, the prior, Father Hyacinthe, Father Desitheus, Brother Bernard, a novice, and two convers brothers. In the following year they were joined by three novices, Anne Nicolas Charles Saulnier de Beaureaund, D.D., Nicholas Rousselin (Father Palemon in religion), whose name appears in the register in 1825, and Francis Hawkins of Wardour, who became Father Stephen, and finished his career at the Abbey of Mount St Bernard in Leicestershire. In March, 1796, the Community removed into a new monastery in East Lulworth, about half a mile from the castle, which Mr Weld had provided for them. It was dedicated to the Holy Trinity under the patronage of St Susan, its style being plain early English, with cloisters surrounding the quadrangle of the burial-ground in accordance with Cistercian custom. The first prior, Dom I. B. de Noyer, left England in 1801, and was succeeded by Dom Marie Bernard Benoît, who died in 1805; Dom Maur Adam, who died in May, 1810; and Dom Antoine Saulnier de Beaureaund, a quondam canon of Sens Cathedral, who was raised to the rank of abbot in May, and as such was blessed by Bishop Poynter in London in August, 1813. Occasionally the monks did duty in the chapel at Lulworth, as shown by the register, with the approbation of the bishop of the vicariate. In 1817 the abbot purchased the ancient Cistercian abbey and domain of Melleray, Brittany, in the diocese of Nantes, and on July 10 of that year the Lulworth community, to the number of fifty-nine, besides five attendants, embarked at Weymouth on board the French frigate La Revanche, and sailed to France. During their stay at Lulworth they buried twenty-seven of their brethren, viz., seven priests, thirteen choir-religious, and the remainder postulants or lay-brothers. Whilst at Lulworth, a valet of Mr Thomas Weld and a convert, John Palmer, entered the monastery, where he was professed in 1810 under the name of Bernard. He was eventually ordained priest at Oscott in 1838, and became the first abbot of Mount St Bernard, where he died in 1852, aged 70. In 1831, sixty-four of the British subjects in the Abbey of Melleray came over to Ireland, and established the new Abbey of Mount Melleray within the county of Waterford, under the superiorship of one of the old Lulworth monks, whose name appears in the register in 1817. This was Dom Vincent Ryan, who became the first mitred abbot in Ireland since the Reformation, and who died at Mount Melleray, December 9, 1845.

Father Charles Plowden, S.J., seventh son of William Ignatius Plowden, Esq., of Plowden Hall, co. Salop, by the Hon. Frances Dormer, daughter of Charles, Lord Dormer, became private chaplain and tutor at the castle in 1784, and wrote several of his works here. He left in November, 1794 to rejoin his confrères at Stonyhurst. He appears again in the registers in August and September, 1800, during a visit to Lulworth. He died at Jougnè in 1821, aged 77.

Father Leonard Brooke, S.J., appears to have come to Lulworth from Slindon Hall, in Sussex, as missioner in or about 1793. He remained till his death, July 7, 1813, aged 63, and was interred in the vault of the Weld family, his epitaph being written by his confrère, Father Charles Plowden.

Father James Jenison, S.J. seems to have supplied for some time in 1793-4. He had previously been chaplain to the Porter family, who rented Admiral Sawbridge's house near Wellington. He died at Bath in 1799, aged 62.

Pére Jean Nicolas Grou, S.J., a native of Calais, having been driven from France by the Revolution, was charitably received by Mr Weld at Lulworth as a private chaplain in December, 1792. He wrote several literary and spiritual works, some of which were translated into English and edited by his confrère Father Clinton. He remained at Lulworth till his death, December 13, 1803, aged 72, and was interred in the Weld family vault.

Father John Joseph Reeve alias Power, S.J., practically succeeded to Father Brooke's charge as missioner in November, 1812. He was a nephew of Father Richard Reeve alias Haskey, who was here in 1777. He was educated at Stonyhurst, ordained priest in 1807, and came here from Bristol, where he had been socius to Father Robert Plowden, S.J., since July, 1811. He remained till the end of October, 1816, when "he was removed from this important mission, for which he was unsuited," says Dr Oliver, "and placed at Pontefract." Subsequently he left the Society, and died at Chelsea in December, 1848, aged 66.

Father Joseph Tristram, S.J., succeeded Father Reeve, but left in 1817 to become socius to the provincial. He died at Newhall Convent, April 4, 1843, aged 77. Foley was under the impression that his real name was Cross, the alias used by his brother John, but Tristram was his paternal name.

Father Vincent Ryan, O.C., already noticed, very efficiently served the Lulworth congregation during the time which elapsed before the appointment of a permanent missioner in the person of—

Father Louis Benjamin Moutardier, S.J., a native of Normandy, but educated and ordained priest at Stonyhurst. He was appointed and took charge of the mission on July 19, 1817, and served it for nearly thirty-seven years, until May, 1854, when he was transferred to Pontefract, thence retired to Stonyhurst, and finally to St Acheul, Amiens, where he died in 1857, aged 71.

As the registers here printed end during Father Moutardier's ministration, it is not thought expedient to continue the list of missioners down to the present time.

Constitutions

1. Name. The name of the Society is "THE CATHOLIC RECORD SOCIETY."

2. Objects. The objects are the transcribing, printing, indexing and distributing to its members the Catholic Registers of Baptisms, Marriages and Deaths and other old Records of the Faith, chiefly personal and genealogical, since the Reformation in England and Wales.

3. Management. The affairs of the Society are managed by a Council consisting of twelve members and four honorary officers, viz., The Recorder, Bursar, Legal Adviser and Secretary—four forming a quorum. It has power to appoint a President and Vice-Presidents, its Chairman and Officers, and to fill vacancies on its own body, and has power to refuse or take away membership. One-third of the twelve members and all the honorary officers retire each year, but are eligible for re-election. Nominations of New Members of the Council must be sent to the Secretary fourteen days before the Annual Meeting. The representation and management are reserved to Catholic Members.

4. Subscription. The subscription is one guinea per annum, which entitles members to the publications for the year, but the names of any members whose subscription shall be two years in arrears will thereupon be removed from the Society, and not be readmitted until all arrears are paid.

Subscriptions are due on June 1 in each year, and no work is issued to any member whose subscription is unpaid. A member wishing to retire from the Society must intimate his intention to the Bursar or Secretary before the 1st day of June, or be held liable for his subscription for the ensuing year.

5. Privileges. The members are entitled to the Volume or Volumes printed for the year of subscription, no Volume being issued to any member whose subscription is unpaid. They may also, on prepayment, obtain back numbers (if in stock) on such terms as the Council may direct.

6. Meetings. An Annual Meeting is held in the month of June or July, of which at least seven days' notice is sent to all the members. At this meeting a report of the work of the Society, with a statement of the income and expenditure, is presented. This is issued together with the list of members and the Constitutions of the Society.

7. Audit. The Bursar's accounts are audited by a member of the Society appointed by the Council, at the close of the financial year, which expires on May 31.

N.B.—The Bursar deals with Membership and Subscriptions.

FOURTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE CATHOLIC RECORD SOCIETY

THE fourth year of the Society has been one of material progress and consolidation. There have been losses; but they have been overbalanced by the gains. Delays have had to be complained of; but in the long run important books, teeming with information of great moment, have appeared on subscribers' tables. Quietly but surely the Society adheres to its motto to "Gather up the fragments lest they be lost."

Since last year there have to be recorded the deaths of the Rev. Charles P. F. Collingridge, a descendant of an old Recusant family in Oxfordshire; Ernest Reuter Wyatt-Davies, a member of Council for one year; the Rev. James Forbes-Leith, S.J.; Henry Singleton Threlfall, whose name calls for special notice elsewhere; John Warrington; Sir Joseph Percival Pickford Radcliffe, third Baronet; Captain James Cumming Dewar, K.M.,K.H.S.; the Right Rev. Samuel Webster Allen, fourth Bishop of Shrewsbury ; James Tisdall Woodroffe, K.C.S.G. ; and the eminent judge, Sir John Charles Day, P.C.

Nine resignations have been received; and it has been necessary to remove three names under Constitution 4. With the ten deaths recorded above, there is a severe total loss of twenty-two.

On the other hand it is matter for congratulation that forty-four members have joined or rejoined. The net gain is therefore twenty-two; so that the membership, which a year ago stood at 333, is now 355.

It has been matter of great satisfaction that Catholic Lancashire has contributed considerably to the advance, and the Council have to thank the Rev. George Huggins, S.J., and Mr Arthur Ashton Slater, to whom this increase is largely due. Another satisfactory feature is the steady increase of municipal public libraries, including one from Australia.

Special mention must be made of the fact that one exceptional honorary membership has been granted, and that by acclamation. Having ascertained that the books issued by the Society would be acceptable to "The Apostolic Vatican Library," the Council voted that they should be sent, and the Society is thus honoured by their resting in the official library of the Holy Father.

On Tuesday in Low Week, the Archbishop and Bishops, at their annual assemblage, passed a vote of commendation of the Society's work accomplished. Individual written approvals had been given; several of the Bishops had subscribed; but hitherto no collective approval had been given, or could be expected. Now that five volumes stand as evidence,on which judgement can be founded, this commendation is most welcome.

Volume IV was, after too long delay on the part of the printers, issued to members for the third year, 1906-7. Volume V has been issued for the fourth year, 1907-8; and the Council proposes to give Volume VI as the second for the latter year, thus maintaining the standard of three volumes in two years; the fairly satisfactory increase in membership not yet justifying an output of two volumes in each year. Those issued become more substantial in bulk.

Our Recorder undertook to annotate the Lancashire part of the Recusant List of 1667 for Volume VI. His ill-health impeded progress; but such work from Mr Gillow's pen will be ample compensation to members, who will sympathize with him in illness, and rejoice in his recovery. His illness also caused The Annals of the English Blue Nuns of Paris to be deferred to a later volume than intended, and Volume VII, which has been begun, will consist of papers relating to the old Catholic family of Bedingfeld of Oxburgh, kindly placed at our disposal by Sir Henry Paston Bedingfeld, Bart. It may possibly be supplemented by other papers and issued for the fifth year, 1908-9.

The Bursar's statement shows that, besides other expenses, Volumes IV and V and the excerpt, Lord Burghley's Map of Lancashire, have been paid for, and yet the balance is increased from £396 5s. 7d. to £433 17s. 11d. Satisfactory in itself it may be mentioned that the material remaining to be printed is so extensive that many times the amount could be spent. The balance only represents work in progress, undertaken with discretion, and keeping a small amount for reserve or contingencies.

The late Henry Singleton Threlfall, of an old Catholic Lancashire family, was the nineteenth Founder of the Society and wrote several letters to the originator in 1904, manifesting his solicitude for its sound formation and promising special financial support. His death reveals that his promise took another form; for, by his will, he left the Society the reversionary bequest of five hundred pounds. At present we have only to regret his loss, and to trust that, as a benefactor, he may obtain the special prayers of the members of the Society. But, in the event of the sum becoming payable, it will help to put the Society on a sound basis, as he so much desired, if the capital is invested as a reserve fund, whilst the interest will form a stable addition to the working income.

The deaths of two non-members call for special mention. The Right Rev. Monsignor Wrennall set a special example of devotion to duty by undertaking in his eighty-sixth year to supply the transcript and edit the registers of Robert Hall and Hornby in Lancashire, and he lived to see the work completed, as it appears on thirty-four pages of Volume IV.

George Bernard Maycock was the fifty-fifth Founder, and joined the Society, as he avowed, to give it support at a time when every name was of importance to the cause, retiring two years later. He gave the preliminary sketches for the Society's badge.

The Council still desires to enlist the services of a gentleman, resident in London, who would undertake the office of Honorary Secretary, and thus lighten Mr Hansom's labours.

Approval is sought for some alterations of the Constitution No. 4, and renumbering others, of which notice has been sent to members with that for the General Meeting.

At the last General Meeting the Rev. John Hungerford Pollen, S.J.; Mr Henry Farnham Burke, C.V.O., Somerset Herald; Mr John Hobson Matthews; and Mr Carlisle James Scott Spedding, whose term of office on the Council expired, were re-elected. During the year the Council availed itself of the right of co-opting two members, the Marquis de Ruvigny and Dr George Charles Williamson. Nine Council meetings have been held during the year.

Four members now retire by rotation: the Rev. Edwin Burton, D.D., the Rev. J. Gilbert Dolan, O.S.B.; Mr Joseph S. Hansom, and Mr Francis A. R. Langton. They are eligible for re-election.

NOTICES

Members are requested to call the attention of their friends to the Society and its work. The present membership is nearly adequate for the issue of two volumes yearly, and it is highly desirable to make this the minimum.

Transcripts of interesting unpublished documents ready for the press, together with the loan of the originals for the purpose of collation, are invited. It is desired to have material for half a dozen volumes ready for printing, as special donations for printing may enable the output to be increased.

Offers of help in transcribing documents, especially in the Public Offices in London, where the greater part of documents relating to the country are stored, are invited. A few trustworthy transcribers have already started work at their own homes. Parish Priests are especially invited to provide exact copies of the old registers, or give facilities for this being done.

The Constitutions provide that "no work is issued to any member whose subscription is unpaid." By this necessary regulation we prevent any claims by the five privileged libraries (The British Museum Library, The Bodleian at Oxford, The University Library at Cambridge, Trinity College, Dublin, and The Advocates Library at Edinburgh) claiming free copies, and it is hoped they will all become members of the Society, as three already are. Both their names and subscriptions are desired. No books are for sale to outsiders, except a few copies of Lord Burghley's Map of Lancashire, by Joseph Gillow, at eight shillings, post free.

Members desirous of paying through their banker will be supplied with a "Banker's Order" on application to the Bursar or Secretary. It saves trouble to members and the Bursar.

Hon. Bursar.

TRANSACTIONS OF THE FOURTH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

The Fourth Annual General Meeting of the Catholic Record Society was held in the Archbishop's House, Westminster (by the kind permission of the Archbishop, Patron), on Thursday, June 25, 1908.

There were present, The Rt Rev. Abbot Gasquet, D.D., O.S.B., the Rev. Edwin Burton, D.D., the Rev. J. H. Pollen, S.J., the Rev. W. O. Sutcliffe, M.A.; Major Raleigh Chichester-Constable; Mr Joseph S. Hansom, Mr Francis A. R. Langton, Mr Leonard C. Lindsay, Mr Charles J. Munich, K.S.G., F.R.Hist.S., the Marquis de Ruvigny, Mr Carlisle J. S. Spedding, Captain Charles Vaughan, Mr John B. Wainewright, Mr Frederick Underdown Walford and Dr George C. Williamson.

The Press was represented by The Times, Daily Telegraph, London News Agency, Universe and Catholic Times.

The Rt Rev. Abbot Gasquet, Vice-President, took the Chair.

The Archbishop sent word that he was unable to attend owing to his Grace's being away, making visitations. Messages of regret at inability to attend were received from the Lord Herries (President), Colonel the Lord Edmund Talbot (Vice-President), Admiral the Lord Walter Kerr (Vice-President), Miss Robinson, Mr Henry Brierley, M.A. (Hon Secretary, Lancashire Par. Reg. Soc.), the Very Rev. John Canon Caswell, the Rt Rev. Mgr Canon Crook, Mr George F. Engelback, Mr E. M. Greenway, Mr N. J. Hone, Mr W. M. Hunnybun, M.A., Mr J. Orlebar Payne, M.A., Mr Richard Duncan Radcliffe, M.A., Mr Orby Shipley, M.A., Mr Arthur Ashton Slater and the Rt Rev. Mgr Canon Ward.

Abbot Gasquet, who took the chair in the absence of Lord Herries, opened the proceedings with a cordial vote of condolence (put to the meeting and carried unanimously) to Lord Herries on the serious illness which prevented his Lordship from being in London for this meeting, and expressing a hope that he may soon be able to take part again in the proceedings of the Society, in which and all archæological work he had always taken such a warm interest.

Referring to the annual Report submitted to the members for the past year, he congratulated the officials of the society on its flourishing condition proved by the figures representing the number of members. For example the Catholic Record Society had 355 members, whereas the Surtees Society which was considered one of the most flourishing and numerous of such societies in England, limits its membership to 350, whilst the Canterbury and York Society, in which he was interested, could only boast of 205 members. Also from the good balance at the Bank he thought we might judge that there have not been many arrears in Members' Subscriptions. We have gained forty-four Members against twenty-two lost in last year, so that the loss was amply compensated.

The Society should be especially thankful to Father Pollen, amongst those who contributed matter for the five excellent and interesting volumes he had helped to produce, and he knew from personal experience how much time and trouble were required to compile so many memorials. For the last Volume alone over a hundred documents had to be prepared for publication.

There were some who thought it unwise to delve among the dark pages of history, and an old lady had been known to declare that she thought "by-gones should be by-gones," and the darker deeds of history should not be raked up. But he considered, whatever might be said to the contrary, that it was well and right to consider as heroes those who laid down their lives, or suffered grievous penalties for the sake of their religion, and to lose no opportunity in publishing the history of those brave deeds of old. Those called "Recusants," because they stoutly refused to be present at heretical services in Protestant Churches, were entitled to our utmost respect. The heavy fines imposed on them were recorded, and proved by the receipts which were preserved, and these records should be widely known and read.

Our forefathers teach us in these volumes that we must stand up for our Faith even though the duty be most unpleasant and entails severe penalties from the Law. They won the battle of Freedom, so it is only right that we should be made acquainted with their names. The Abbot gave examples of lists of Recusants in a Church in Hampshire which he visited, and said he would like to see such lists in every Church in England. As regards a complete history he thought we must wait a little while before a full account of the terrible days when the Catholic Religion was kept alive at the imminent risk of death to those who made such brave efforts in its behalf; but when the proper time comes it must be told calmly and fully.

He concluded by moving the adoption of the Report.

Dr Williamson seconded, and referred to the officials of the Society being cheered in their work by the encomiums of Abbot Gasquet and the approval of the members present.

Father Pollen, in a few well-chosen words, thanked the Abbot, and said his praise was indeed precious, and he wished to keep up as far as possible the rate of advance so as to be able to keep abreast of the knowledge of past history. He thanked Abbot Gasquet for much assistance. The Douai Diaries would shortly be undertaken. The work was scattered over a broad area and was difficult to get together. Seven convents have kept consecutive chronicles of their communities.

This Society, although a Catholic one, was really interesting to all, because at one or another time it was found all old families which can be traced back six or seven generations have had Catholic members amongst them, and therefore Catholic records. The lists of recusants and the chronicles of convents will supply useful records in history and genealogy to all in the United Kingdom. A long list of recusants will be included in Volume VI.

The Report was then put and unanimously adopted.

Mr Leonard Lindsay spoke as to certain proposed alterations in the Constitutions of the Society, Nos 4 and 5; and Abbot Gasquet read and explained these alterations, which Mr Lindsay moved should be adopted.

Le Marquis de Ruvigny seconded, and the alterations were carried as in the revised Constitutions printed with the Report.

Major Chichester-Constable proposed the re-election of the following four members of the Council: The Rev. Edwin Burton, D.D.; the Rev. J. Gilbert Dolan, O.S.B.; Joseph Stanislaus Hansom; Francis Albert Romuald Langton.

Mr Munich seconded their re-election and expressed his pleasure at the volumes he had obtained. The motion was carried.

Mr Wainewright proposed, and Captain C. Vaughan seconded, a vote of thanks to the Council and officers of the Society.

The Rev. Dr Burton proposed, and the Rev. W. O. Sutcliffe seconded, a vote of thanks to Abbot Gasquet for the time and trouble he had devoted to taking the chair and speaking at this meeting, to which Abbot Gasquet briefly replied.
